HORRIBLY MUTILATED REFUGEES CROSS TO U. S. FROM OJINAGA

Mexican Federals Already Have Had 500 Killed in Battle.

John Lind and President Wilson May Meet at Sea.

Fighting in Progress at Nuevo Laredo—Huerta Extends Bank Holiday.

Presidio, Tex., Jan. 1.—The battle at Ojinaga, Mex., between the northern division of the Federal army and rebels, continued this morning after having been in progress all night. Five or six hundred Federals had already been killed and the wounded will be far in excess of that number.

Horrible sights were witnessed on the American side before daylight. The wounded soldiers with shattered arms, legs shot off or injured that later proved fatal, struggled through the river and pleaded to the American soldiers for help. All the physicians and medical supplies available here were placed at the service of the disabled Federals.

The fight on the border here had the appearance of being the most sanguinary conflict of the present revolution. Federal deserters also came to the river in great numbers, indicating that the bulk of Huerta's army was disposed to give up. All the deserters who were not wounded, however, were dismissed on this side and sent back by Maj. McNamara, commanding the United States border patrol. Children, children, and non-combatants of Ojinaga came to the river and were taken to the American side.

Lind Reaches Schedule.
Press Christian, Miss. Jan. 1.—John Lind, presidential representative of President Wilson in Mexico, en route here from Vera Cruz on the scout cruiser Chester, had not yet arrived at 9 o'clock this morning. The president immediately.

SUGAR TRUST SAID TO SEEK FOR VIRTUE

McReynolds Talks About It
With Federal Attorney.

New York, Jan. 1.—Attorney General McReynolds in a conference here today with United States District Attorney H. Snowden Marshall to discuss, among other things, the disposition of the American Sugar Refining company, which, it is rumored, is seeking terms of a voluntary liquidation. Mr. McReynolds declined to discuss the outcome of the conference.

CLAIM MAJORITY IS RESULT OF FRAUDS

Opposition Attacks the People's Party in Newfoundland.

St. John's, Nfld., Jan. 1.—Petitions designed to overturn the majority by which Premier Sir Edward Morris will control the new legislature to be convened on Jan. 14, have been filed by members of the opposition, headed by Sir Robert Bond. The unsuitability of seven people's party members of the assembly, the superior of the assembly, is sought through allegations of illegal election practices. The people's party has a majority of six in the legislature.

TWO MEN BLOWN TO BITS BY DYNAMITE

Workmen Near Scene of Explosion Escape
Uninjured.

Downingtown, Pa., Jan. 1.—William Kennedy, a contractor of this place, and Thomas Allison of Conestoga were blown to pieces near here today by the explosion of dynamite which they were hauling out for use in road repair work. Several workmen who were nearby were not injured.

BRAVE GOLD TO EAT GRAPES TO GET RICH

Madrid People Defy Weather and Cling to Old Practice.

Madrid, Jan. 1.—Spain is experiencing one of the heaviest snow storms in many years. In some places the snow is over three feet deep. The cold is more intense at Madrid than ever before experienced as far as memory goes.

Nevertheless joyful crowds with guitars and mandolins assembled last night in the Puerta del Sol, the largest plaza in Madrid, to see the old year out. All were provided with bunches of grapes which they ate as the hour of twelve boomed out from the belfry of the ministry of the interior. In accordance with the ancient legend that whoever eats a grape at each stroke of the clock, will become wealthy in the new year.

RETIRE AS OFFICER OF LABOR FEDERATION

JOHN MITCHELL.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 1.—John Mitchell, whose term as vice president of the American Federation of Labor expired last midnight, announced today that his retirement from official life in the federation does not mean that he will cease his activities in the interests of labor. He said he would devote his time largely to writing for "the cause."

As the clock struck twelve, Mitchell was standing on the platform in Central Labor hall, reading in behalf of the striking miners in the Copper country.

"It is with a tinge of regret," he said, "that I step out as an officer in the American Federation of Labor, but I am glad that I have had the opportunity to be fighting for organized labor during the last hours of my official connection with the organization."

BRYAN LION AT CAPITAL

White House Reception Is Abandoned for First Time Since Monroe.

New York Dances New Year in—Cleveland Has Community Fete.

Washington, Jan. 1.—New Year's day in the capital passed over without a White House reception for the first time since the days of President Monroe. In the absence of President Wilson, a breakfast to the diplomatic corps by Secretary and Mrs. Bryan was the principal social function of the day. More than 300 guests gathered with the secretary of state at his home. Practically all the ambassadors, ministers and members of the embassy and legation staffs, with the women of their families, were present. The Central and South American countries were brilliantly represented.

Secretaries Daniels and Garrison kept open house all day and much of the splendor and brilliancy which usually attends the visit of army and navy officers to the White House was transferred to their homes. One of the largest receptions of the day was at Speaker Clark's home, where Miss Genevieve, the only daughter of the speaker and Mrs. Clark, made her formal bow to society.

"PHANTOM BANDITS" TERRORIZE DISTRICT

French Peasants Barricade Homes—Fear to Go Out at Night.

Cannes, France, Jan. 1.—A further daring attempt at assassination was made early today by the criminals known as the "phantom bandits," who are infesting the country districts around Cannes. They fired two shots through a window of a large villa in the suburb of Ranguin, belonging to a prominent Parisian banker, and the bullets just missed two ladies seated at a table.

The bandits then disappeared and no further trace of them was discovered, although the district swarms with detectives specially detailed from Paris and Marseilles.

The police authorities believe the bandits are part of a gang which terrorized the district for years and whose operations were stopped a year ago by the arrest of several of their leaders who are now awaiting trial.

TAKE STRIKE OVER HEAD OF M'NAUGHTON

Copper Miners Want Governor to Appeal to Quincy Shaw.

Union Leaders Have Hearing With Ferris—Darrow at Meeting.

Coroner's Jury Clears Citizens of Blame for Calumet Panic.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 1.—Representatives of state labor unions still were working today on a plan whereby they hoped to effect a settlement of the strike in the Copper country. At a long session last night they failed to complete a draft of the scheme which they want Governor Ferris to present to President Shaw of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company. By making their appeal direct to the largest producer involved in the labor war, the unionists hoped to induce the employers to submit the differences to arbitration.

It was expected the labor men would present their plan to the governor some time today.

Darrow Blames Nobility.
Clarence S. Darrow, counsel for the Western Federation of Miners, in a hearing before Governor Ferris yesterday, declared he knew that the panic at Calumet Christmas eve was directly chargeable to no one, and expressed the hope that the name of the man who gave that false alarm of fire would never be known. Darrow, with other officials representing the miners, was in conference with the governor in the hope of reaching some method of solution of the copper strike troubles.

Although efforts have been made to capitalize the tragedy of Christmas eve, when so many little children lost their lives, I know perfectly the calamity is chargeable to none," asserted Darrow. "Neither side should try to blame the other for that, and I perceive the necessity of some method of solution."

FORMER AMBASSADOR BRYCE MADE VISCOUNT

Four Canadians Are Given Knighthoods By British King.

London, Jan. 1.—James Bryce, formerly British ambassador at Washington, is given the title of viscount in the New Year's honor list. Sir Francis Charles Langhorne, lieutenant governor of Quebec, and Douglas Colville Cameron, lieutenant governor of Manitoba, are made knights. Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, Chief Justice Horace Archenbault of Quebec and Henry Kelly, Esq., of Ottawa, received knighthoods.

In addition to Mr. Bryce four politicians were given peerages. These were Sir Rufus Daniel Isaacs, former attorney general and now lord chief justice; Alexander Ure, lord president of the Scottish court of sessions; Sir Charles Cripps, Unionist member of parliament for Buckinghamshire, and Sir Harold Harmsworth, a brother of Lord Northcliffe.

IT ALL DEPENDS ON HOW YOU SPENT LAST NIGHT.

GREET NEW YEAR WITH LAUGHTER AND HYMNS; CHEERS AND PRAYERS

MISSIONS UP TO COLLEGES

John R. Mott Makes Statement to Student Volunteers.

Says Opportunities of the Present Year Were Equalled.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 1.—Extension of missionary study week in state universities and higher educational institutions under government control was urged in the report of the executive committee presented at today's session of the Student Volunteer convention by Dr. John R. Mott, its chairman.

"The most critical battlefield from the standpoint of the Volunteer movement," said the report, "is not the Moslem world, not the educated classes of China, not the citadels of Hinduism, but our own American and Canadian colleges."

"The state universities and other higher educational institutions under government control should be made far more largely than at present, missionary strongholds. Most of the state universities are in a plastic condition owing to their comparative youth and rapid growth. Each should furnish an increased number of missionaries."

Great Opportunities.
"Christianity has never before had such a combination of opportunities among both primitive and cultured races of the Far East and the Near East. There is so much to do in the post-Christian world today that the task cannot be accomplished save by a vast enlargement of active Christian missionaries."

JERUSALEM STIRRED BY FLYING MACHINE

Gen. Bonnier of France Stops on Way to Cairo.

Jerusalem, Jan. 1.—Gen. Francois Xavier Bonnier, another French aviator making a flight from Paris to Cairo, landed near the Pool of Siloam on New Year's eve. The arrival of Gen. Bonnier's aeroplane, the first ever seen by the inhabitants of the Holy City, created great excitement. The fire population of the city held the machine and welcome the aviator.

Is 56 Years Old.
Port Said, Jan. 1.—Gen. Bonnier started in his aeroplane from Jerusalem this morning and arrived here about noon. After a brief stop he proceeded on his flight to Cairo.

Gen. Bonnier is probably the oldest French aviator. He is 56 years old and is brigadier general of French colonial troops in West Africa. He received his certificate as an aerial pilot in July, 1910.

ARKANSAS BEGINS THE NEW YEAR DRY

New Law Requires Court Ruling on Liquor Licenses.

Fort Smith, Ark., Jan. 1.—Under a new liquor law, which became effective at midnight, all saloons in Arkansas closed and must so remain until the courts can pass upon petitions asking for licenses. Most of the saloons already have filed petition for licenses.

In anticipation of having to remain closed for several days, possibly several weeks, most of the saloons held "bargain sales" of liquor yesterday.

SHOOTS WIFE FIVE TIMES; WOUNDS SELF

Pittsburg Mill Worker May Survive Shot in Head.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 1.—Andrew Miller, a mill worker, this morning shot his wife, Helen, five times and then fired a bullet into his head. The woman was fatally wounded, but at the hospital it was said Miller would recover. They had quarreled.

FRAUD CHARGED IN POLITICS IN BOSTON

Both Candidates for Mayor Accused Before Commission.

Boston, Jan. 1.—Charges of fraud in the filing of nomination papers for candidates for mayor in the coming city election were given official attention today when the ballot commission began an investigation. Irregularities in the signatures of the papers of both candidates, Congressman James H. Curley and Thomas J. Kenny, are alleged in petitions laid before the commission.

NOT AVAILABLE FOR RECLAMATION WORK

Income From Swamp Land Fund Cannot Be Utilized.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Assistant Attorney General Hilton says that the claim made before the public domain committee of the state efficiency commission, that the income from the swamp land fund might be used as a revolving fund for reclamation purposes, is not correct. He holds that the constitutional prohibition applies to the interest on the fund as well as to the principal.

State Auditor Iverson, in answer to questions by the committee, stated squarely that a great department with such divisions as forestry, highways and drainage, lands and immigration, including reclamation, and waterways whenever the legislature shall add a bureau of water to the state's functions, all coupled under one head in a budgetary system, with model civil service requirements, would be the best possible provision for the administration of the public domain.

STOLEN RADIUM MAY KILL ILLEGAL OWNER

Bit Big as Pinhead and Worth $4,500 Gone
From Hospital.

Chicago, Jan. 1.—Search both by police and hospital authorities has failed to disclose any clue to the missing five milligrams of radium lost or stolen several days ago, it is thought, while being used in the treatment of a cancer patient. Unless the person having the precious particle of radium is half the size of a pin's head and is worth $4,500—in his possession knows how to protect himself from its influence, it may kill him, according to the hospital people. If, instead of being stolen, it is mislaid, it will declare its presence by its influence on whatever substances are around it.

The speck of radium was imported from France by St. Luke's hospital. It was kept for use in a platinum capsule an eighth of an inch in diameter, three-quarters of an inch long. Its last appearance was when the capsule was placed in an incision in the arm of a woman patient.

After several treatments, it was found that the capsule was inactive. The capsule was opened and it was found that the radium was gone.

Duluthians Bid Farewell to 1913 and Welcome the Newcomer.

Crowds in Cafes Hilarious
But Orderly at Midnight Hour.

Many Dance New Year in—Watch Night Services Held.

The birth of the new year and the passing of the old did not lack observance in Duluth last night.

Thousands greeted 1914 and said good-bye to 1913 in a spirit of cheer, laughter and hilarity; others celebrated the joint event with prayers and religious services.

The whole city was wide awake with the rest of the world as the clock at midnight tolled the knell of the departing year and welcomed the arrival of its successor.

The night's observance centered in the downtown section. In the crowded cafes and hotels mirth reigned supreme. Songs and shouts and gaily unrestrained mingled with the popping of corks, the jangling of bells and the tooting of whistles as 1913 was laid away in the vault of history and 1914 was ushered into the arena. The press was greatest at the three leading hotels, the Spaulding, St. Louis and Holland, where orchestras and special entertainers added to the night's merry-making. The crowds were merry and even hilarious, but it was an orderly hilarity.

New Year's Balls.
New Year's balls were given by the Duluth Elks and Shriners, the former at their home on West First street and the latter at the Masonic temple, Lake street.

GREAT STRIDES GOVERNMENT IN LAST YEAR

Changes Made Are More Far Reaching Than Any for Years.

Include the First Constitutional Amendment
Since 1870.

Washington, Jan. 1.—The twelve months of 1913 wrought changes in the American government—political, economical, financial—probably more far reaching than any other year of the last quarter century. This is apparent in a backward glance over the memorable events of the last year in all its branches of governmental activity.

A Democratic administration in national affairs came to power in this twelve months, with a Democratic president and a Democratic congress at its back, for the first time since Grover Cleveland occupied the White House.

The first constitutional amendments since 1870 were perfected, providing two radical changes in the functions of government—an income tax and the direct election of United States senators.

The national bank and currency system, devised to float the debt of the Civil war and which has operated ever since, was reorganized into a Federal reserve system in which the central bank plan, the dominant system (Continued on page 3, first column.)

New York's Health Statistics Show Reduced Birth and Death Rates.

New York, Jan. 1.—Fewer births, marriages and deaths are a feature of this city's health statistics for 1913. The births decreased from 136,655 in 1912 to 108,356; the marriages from 61,125 to 51,257; the deaths from 15,000 to 12,257, a decrease of 25 per cent per thousand of population.

This is the fourth year in succession that a new low record in the death rates have been established.

PROSPEROUS YEAR IS PREDICTED BY LOCAL JOBBER AND BANKERS

BEGINS NEW YEAR ON MARCH FOR ST. PAUL

"GENERAL" ROSALIE JONES.

New York, Jan. 1.—"Gen." Rosalie Jones, the suffragette leader, veteran of marches to Washington and Albany, marshaled her soldiers at New York city's northernmost boundary early today and started on another foot journey to the state capital. She plans to make the 175-mile trip, at the rate of twenty-five miles a day. The previous march, a year ago, occupied two weeks.

On her arrival she will deliver a message to Governor Glynn, as she did at the former Governor Sulzer, asking him to support the "cause."

The suffrage army, which includes such veterans as "Capt." Ida Craft, "Corporal" Martha Klatschken, and Mrs. Olive Schuler, the "official scout," will journey this time up the west bank of the Hudson, crossing the river today at Dobbs Ferry.

OPTIMISTS IN WEST END

Business Men Say 1913 Was Best Year They Have Had.

Look Forward to Even Better Things in Coming Year.

That the prosperity enjoyed by the people of the West end during the past year is only a forerunner of more prosperous times this year, is the opinion of West end merchants in interviews given this morning. The past year was one of the best in the history of the West end, they say, and indications point to more business for the merchants, better and more employment for the working men and one of the greatest years in the history of industries for Duluth.

"The departed year, 1913, was the most prosperous year we have ever enjoyed," said E. H. Olson of Enger & Olson, furniture dealers. "We can see only a bright future for the West end. The business outlook is exceedingly good. Future factories' representatives say that the manufacturers have all they can do to keep up with the demand for goods. The West end looks better to me today than it ever did before."

"The business outlook for 1914 is very encouraging," said John J. Moo of J. J. Moo & Sons Co. "The prosperity is not local but extends throughout the entire Northwest. We look forward to seeing the West end enjoy the most prosperous year in its history this year."

"The West end looks better to me every day," said Carl E. Longren, cashier of the Duluth State Hotel. "Everybody here is doing well and looks forward to the biggest year in the history of this district. The large number of industries settling in this end of the city, providing employment for hundreds of people, is an indication that there is nothing that can stop its progress."

"The departed year has been prosperous, but nothing like what we may expect to see in the West end during this year," said A. Lofgren this morning. "Continued prosperity is predicted on all sides."

"We can only view the future with pleasure in anticipation of one of the best years in our history," said A. O. Anderson of the Anderson Furniture company. "The outlook is certainly bright for business."

"Everybody in the West end is an optimist when looking into the future after carefully recalling the prosperity of the past year," said Sanford W. Hill of the S. H. Hill Clothing company. "The year 1914 will be a record year for the entire country."

MANY CELEBRATE NEW YEAR'S EVE

Churches and Lodges Are Scenes of Appropriate Programs.

Thousands of people of the West end celebrated the close of the old year last night and the beginning of the new year in an appropriate manner at the halls and West end churches. In nearly every church in this end of the city crowds of worshippers gathered to pay homage to the new year.

Prior to the devotional services, which were held during the last hour of the old year, entertainments were held in the church parlors by the young people's societies. The programs included musical selections, readings, tableaux, games and games followed by refreshments.

In many of the public halls of the West end, celebrations were held by some of the secret societies. The affairs were held principally for the members and their families. The celebration of the incoming new year was same and orderly in this end of the city. No carousals nor disorders occurred.

PETITION FOR NEW BLUE LODGE

West End Masons Want Meetings Nearer Their Homes.

Members of the Masonic order residing in the West end are circulating a petition for the instituting of a new blue lodge to be located in this end of the city. It is claimed that nearly 100 West end Masons have already signed it.

There are nearly 200 Masons living in the district commonly called the West end and many of these would be regular attendants of meetings if they did not have to go far to lodge meetings.

It is expected to have the petition ready within a short time in order that it may be forwarded to the grand lodge. A meeting of the members will be held within a few days to elect temporary officers.

TALK ON PALESTINE.

Dr. Lehnberg Will Speak at Swedish Methodist Church.

"Palestine and its Holy Places" will be the subject of a lecture given this evening by Dr. Karl von Lehnberg of Stockholm, Sweden, at the Swedish Methodist church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street this evening. The visitor has resided for a number of years in Palestine, making his headquarters in Jerusalem.

The evening program will also include the following:

Song—"The Earth is the Lord's".... M. E. Oetel.
Lecture—"Palestine and Its Holy Places".... Dr. Karl von Lehnberg.
Announcements.... Rev. Carl W. R. Worme.
Refreshments will also be served.

West End Briefs.

The French Naturalization club will plan its annual installation of officers tomorrow night at the French hall, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street.

The annual meeting of the congregation of the Swedish Mission church in the church parlors, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street.

Rev. H. A. O'Connell, pastor of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church will speak this evening at a celebration to be held in the Norwegian-Danish Methodist church of Superior.

Willard E. Hinkley of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, is spending the holidays visiting relatives in this end of the city.

Rev. and Mrs. George B. Silfver, 310 North Twenty-second avenue, returned last evening from Minneapolis, where they had been spending a few days visiting relatives. Rev. Mr. Silfver will conduct mid-week services this evening in the Grace Methodist church, Twenty-second avenue and Third street.

BREACH OF CONTRACT.

Electrical Company Sues Contractor for Loss of Profits.

Suit was started in district court yesterday afternoon by the Duluth Electrical company against George H. Lounsbury, contractor, for $3,167 damages. The action is based on an alleged breach of contract. The electrical company claims that it submitted the contractor a written proposal to furnish the electrical fixtures necessary for the 175 houses which are being erected by Lounsbury for the Minnesota Steel company. The figure submitted was $15,325.

The proposal was accepted and later rescinded. The company claims a loss of $3,167 in profits and is suing the contractor for that amount.

ELLIOTT HAS PLAN FOR B. & M. ROAD

Would Form Voluntary Trust Company to Segregate Interests.

Boston, Jan. 1.—The formation of a voluntary trust company to take over the stock and bonds of the Boston Railroad Holdings company, which owns more than 50 per cent of the stock of the Boston & Maine railroad, is the plan which Chairman Howard Elliott and the directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad have decided upon as a means of segregating the Boston & Maine and the New Haven systems, according to a statement which the Globe prints today. The Globe says it is proposed that this voluntary trust shall extend over a 10-year period, to permit the rehabilitation of the Boston & Maine and its restoration to a dividend-paying basis.

Chairman Elliott is expected to call on Attorney General McInerney at Washington next Monday to present this plan, which the Boston & Maine directors are expected to approve. The plan is outlined as follows:

The New Haven will transfer to the trustees of the voluntary trust the capital stock and bonds of the Boston Railroad Holdings company, nearly all of which it owns, which will carry possession of the control of the capital stock of the Boston & Maine.

The New Haven will receive nothing at the transfer. At the end of ten years, or whatever time is fixed for the termination of the voluntary trust, the Boston & Maine stock owned by the Boston Railroad Holdings company is to be sold and the proceeds are to be distributed pro rata among the then stockholders of the New Haven railroad.

The details of the plan are to be worked out so as to preclude the New Haven directors or stockholders from interfering in any way in the management of the Boston & Maine through the trustees or the directors whom they and the minority stockholders select.

Object of the New Haven directors in suggesting this arrangement is said to be the means it will offer of deferring the sale of millions of dollars of stock bought with New Haven funds until such time as the market price of Boston & Maine securities will provide a sufficient sum to compensate the New Haven shareholders.

PSYCHOLOGICAL TIME

TO CUT ARMAMENTS

Lloyd-George Declares It the Best Moment in Years.

London, Jan. 1.—In the form of a report of long conversations which Chancellor Lloyd-George has had with close friends during the holidays, the Daily Chronicle publishes a sort of New Year's message from the chancellor to his supporters, throwing interesting side lights on the chancellor's views on the armaments question.

Pointing to the enormous burden which armaments impose on the taxpayer and to the fact that the growth of armaments is nothing but a race in the same relative strength, Mr. Lloyd-George thinks the present is the most favorable moment in twenty years for a policy of retrenchment.

He cites three reasons. First, Great Britain's relations with Germany are more friendly than for many years, both realizing there is nothing but everything to lose by a quarrel; second, all the nations are now directing their attention to strengthening their land forces, Germany having realized her exhaustive attempts to devote her naval power must give place to improving the army, which is vital to the existence of the empire; third, the spread of revolt against military oppression throughout Christendom, certainly throughout Western Europe.

The third reason Mr. Lloyd-George considers the weightiest of all, and he believes that this is the right moment for a bold step toward the restriction of the growth of armaments, and thinks it is imperative that, in the highest interests of civilization, he should seize it.

TWIN CITIES HAVE NEW YEAR'S REVEL

St. Paul and Minneapolis Welcome Advent of New Year.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 1.—A wine supply sufficient to furnish a fleet of dreadnaughts was imbibed by revelers at crowded restaurants of St. Paul last night while the usual New Year's eve watch services were held in most of the churches of the city. Following the usual custom, Chief of Police Gehring issued an order that "drunkenness" should be placed under arrest at 11 p. m. and that all violators of the order should be placed under arrest.

The "tango," "hesitation waltz," "jelly wobble" and other new dances were very much in evidence at restaurants and hotels while street crowds ushered in the new year with tin horns, whistles and confetti. Hotel and cafe reservations this year broke all previous records and long before the celebration began none of the larger eating houses had any unreserved tables.

"Standing room in the cellar is all we have to offer," said one cafe proprietor when questioned as to reservations.

A dinner will be served newsworthy of that city at a popular cafe tomorrow.

Mill City Revels

Minneapolis, Jan. 1.—The advent of the new year was more generally observed in Minneapolis than ever before. Reservations had been received for tables in the leading hotels and cafes for the past two months.

The state law, which generally obeyed as in the past, no wine being served after 11 p. m. All of the clubs of the city entertained large crowds the principal event of the night being the passing of the Minneapolis Commercial club, which was consolidated with the new Minneapolis Athletic club. The final act of the consolidation took place as the big clock in the Commercial club rooms marked the hour of 12.

Practically all of the churches of the city held old-fashioned watch meetings, accompanied by varying entertainments.

The usual street crowds helped to make the night a lively one.

Milwaukee Is Wide Open.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 1.—Milwaukee was "wide open" last night there being no ordinance providing for early closing.

Thousands of people had made reservations in the downtown cafes and clubs, and for a week, some have been purchased at a premium. Theaters raised their prices, but all reported sold out early in the evening. There have been no orders from the police or mayor calling for a "safe and sane" New Year's and the cafe owners planned to keep open all night.

The larger clubs, and in all of the leading hotels tango and vaudeville specialists furnished amusement for those who ushered in the new year with the spirit of joy.

Watch night services were held at most of the churches.

HIS WIFE'S HAPPY NEW YEAR

My Dear Edith:

I have been looking for some way to make sure you have a Happy New Year, and I've found it. I am going to take you away from that horrible, steamy wash day. It spoils your complexion and temper and fills the house with unpleasant odors. I have been quietly looking the thing up, and I find that it is more sanitary and more satisfactory in every way to have all that work done at a laundry. Besides, it saves the trouble of finding and keeping a washwoman. It may not be true in other cities, but the Duluth laundries are exceptionally good and exceptionally reliable, and their rates are so reasonable that there is really no excuse for your having this wash day muss to bother with. So pick your laundry, and after this always send your washing there and tell them to send the bill to me.

Your loving husband,

Duluth, Minn.

Walter.

DON'T LET YOUR WIFE DRUDGE ALL DAY IN THE WASH TUB

Resolve today never to let your wife do any more washing. Send it to us, it will be returned as white as Mary's little lamb, and there will be no more frown for hubby—nothing but smiles when you return home. It costs no more.

"Secretive" Government

(By Sanford.)

Washington, Jan. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—That poet we all love, Thomas Moore, wrote some delightful verse and one of his tales was named "Lalla Rookh," a more or less thrilling narrative. I have not read it since my school days, but I recollect there was a fellow in the story that was a "Veiled Prophet," whose name I do not now recall, and could not spell if I remembered it. And here my old sin of discursive interposures, takes me captive, and makes me quote this from the memory of more than half a century ago:

"O, if there be, in this earthly sphere, A boon, an offering heaven holds dear, 'Tis the last libation liberty draws From a heart that bleeds and breaks in her cause."

But even that, precious though the offering, did not open the gates of Paradise to the disconsolate Peri as I now recollect the record according to Tom Moore.

But, later, she got there all the same, just as you and I may reach there by the payment of even a more precious toll.

This Veiled Prophet that Tom Moore told us about was a very secretive cuss. He did all sorts of wicked things—I believe his name began with a "K." He played the devil with the state and sent dismay among the people. Let some of my young readers look him up; the elders need not go "projecting" wild him.

A Mr. James Creelman has descended upon this town and delivered himself of a revelation to the "yallers." He is a gentleman of "anaquosity and general understanding throughout the neighborhood." In a minor way he was one of the authors of the late glorious Spanish war. He first appeared here in 1893 and made a marvelous discovery touching some awful shortcomings he laid at the door of that delightful old gentleman, Adlai E. Stevenson, then vice president of the United States, and of which that gentleman was as innocent as you or I, or the coal heaver across the street over there as I write.

On that occasion, a habit he is inveterate in the practice of, Mr. Creelman was doing the act of Edie Pinkston's dog that Proctor Knott used to tell us about—"sitting on his haunches till he wore out a thousand tales barking up a tree there's nothing in," and without meaning any offense, may I say that in the journalistic back this here Mr. Creelman is not exactly a beagle; he is a coon dog, eternally "treeing" the varmint in a sapling the coon has never taken refuge in.

And Mr. Creelman comes down here and writes a very garrulous article, printed in the New York Mail, a paper that the late Bob Ingersoll told me about. A year or so before he died, in which Mr. Creelman would have the world believe that Woodrow Wilson is a statesman after the order of Tom Moore's "Veiled Prophet." Creelman, as usual, is all wrong about that.

It seems that the president of the United States, according to Creelman, did not feel called on to have private seance with some magnates of the New Haven railroad. When Martin Schenck, the unspeakable ruffian, harrided his country in the struggle against Philip II, he was not more relentless and not more ruthless than when "High Finance," two centuries later in Wall Street in the Western Hemisphere, made a raid in New England, grabbed the New Haven railroad consolidated it with the Boston & Maine, acquired every subordinate avenue of transportation and wrecked the savings of 20,000 moderate investors, many thousands of them New England factory girls.

In that elder day it was blood they took; in our more civilized and more selfish age it is money they grab. Mr. Wilson did not find it his duty to give private audience to these people, if we are to believe Creelman, and that is to be imputed to the president for "secretiveness." They are the secretive. Let them proclaim what they want to see Wilson about. He will give them speech, I make no doubt, and more than they will relish.

Then again, Mr. Creelman tells us that it is a "secretive" president, walking in darkness, and he suspects there will be waste at noonday, because Mr. Wilson refused, as Creelman says, to have a secret conference with the head of John D. Rockefeller's bank. Lord Hervey tells us that on a certain occasion the then king of England asked a very pertinent "Wherefore?"

Why should Mr. Wilson go in secret seance with Mr. Vanderbilt? Mr. Wilson had not been president a month before it was found that Mr. Rockefeller's had paid clerk in the treasury department—had been there under Roosevelt and Taft—to find out certain things.

The devil! Whenever you see a bank paying a clerk to do nothing, draw your money out of that bank. It will break sooner or later. Now, seriously, do you believe that John D. Rockefeller and Charles Glover paid a clerk to sit at a desk in the United States treasury—for fun? If so, they are easy money, and I advise a "confidence" man in the business to hunt up Rockefeller and Glover.

Before long I shall tell you how "open" the administration is, and has been.

AND POOR JOB HAS TO STAND FOR THIS, TOO.

To the Editor of The Herald: In Duluth, the Zenith City, On Lake Superior's shore, Are many wondrous things to see And beautiful sights galore. Its towering hills with wooded slopes And boulevard so grand Make Duluth, the Zenith City, The fairest in our land.

The trip to Minnesota Point On the aerial bridge so high, The harbor filled with splendid ships We see while passing by: Its ore docks—largest in the world—And elevators tall, Make Duluth, the Zenith City, The finest of them all.

Our schools are celebrated, Our churches known to fame, Our beautiful new courthouse Has a most illustrious name. Our steel plant and our factories Wholesale houses, small and great, Make Duluth, the Zenith City, The pride of all the state.

The wireless towers, the incline roads, The lighthouses on the piers Make a picture grand that in our minds will remain for years. The parks are nature's beauty spots The scenery is sublime and great, And Duluth, the Zenith City, Is famed in every clime.

We have a form of government Known as "commission plan" And the city's in an uproar On account of one lone man. From Fond du Lac to Lakeside You can hear the mighty shout—"That Hicken man will get you If you don't watch out!"

There used to be some red lights Within this city fair Where lumberjacks and sailor boys Fell into many a snare. But now those lights they shine no more—Up rose the fearful shout—"That Hicken man will get you If you don't watch out!"

Our parks are ideal spooning spots Where lovers used to meet And gently hold each other's hands And bill and coo so sweet. But now their love has changed to fear; From afar they heard the shout—"That Hicken man will get you If you don't watch out!"

And now, dear reader, good bye. My song I'm going to cease. In hopes that these few simple lines Some one at least will please. And so to you and Hicken I'll bid a long farewell, And in peace and harmony May you in future dwell.

For my excuse in writing this read Job xxxii, 18-20. ELHIC, Duluth, Dec. 31.

REDFIELD SAYS MEN NEED THE 8-HOUR DAY

Secretary of Commerce Talks to Labor Legislation Association.

Washington, Jan. 1.—Secretary Redfield of the department of commerce expressed the belief it would be "far better for the pockets as well as the peace of mind of employers" if they would work their men only eight hours a day. He was speaking before the American Association for Labor Legislation, which is meeting here with the National Political Science association.

"I believe," said the secretary, "that when our factories are run on the workmen go home without being fatigued, over-long hours, and not less, will be able to compete successfully against all comers in the market for the work. Men who are half sick, who come to work after having had bad breakfasts, who are partly poisoned, they would be economically unprofitable. And yet fatigue is part poison."

Austin B. Garrison, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, told the association that in 1912 there had been the working of a trainman more than sixteen hours in one day. The law of averages, he said, would show that this was but a small proportion of men employed by the railroads.

CORPORATIONS NOW ENLISTING HEALTH AIDS FOR EMPLOYEES

A very significant and hopeful move has been recently made by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company. A permanent medical bureau has been inaugurated to look after the health welfare of the employees of the company. Where illness occurs among the operating employees these are afforded medical attention by the bureau and free treatment afforded. Work along similar lines, but upon much larger scale has been in progress for several years past by the United States Steel corporation. This character of health effort augurs well for the rapidly growing ranks of our industrial army, for the health of an employee is as close to his business as is his food and water, and without health no corporation's business can permanently grow and prosper.

CANT YOU SLEEP OUT OF DOORS? FIX YOUR WINDOW.
An 18-year-old rooming says: "I seem to have a very poor circulation of my blood. When I get up in the morning I am very pale. Although I always feel well, yet I do not believe my skin should be the pale color it is. I am practicing deep-breathing exercises, but when I exhale, things grow black before my eyes. I also have many pimples."

Answer: Sleeping out of doors would do you a lot of good. Can't you rig up some sort of a scheme whereby you could utilize the window of your bedroom, build a small porch, and have the latter screened so you would be in privacy? Write your editor and procure the former Doctor's Helps articles, "YOU CAN OVERDO YOUR HEALTH PRECAUTIONS" and "ABOUT RELIEF-FIX YOUR WINDOW." Study and apply the principles of treatment laid down in these two articles. You can be helped very promptly through the information contained in them.

A RECURRENT HYDROCELE.

A reader asks: Question—Please tell me what to do. I have been operated on for a rupture and hydrocele. My rupture operation was very successful, but my hydrocele came back. It is now the size of a large apple. I don't care to go under an additional operation if I can help it, for I hate that ether. Will you please tell me what is best to do?

Answer: Before I could intelligently decide about your condition I would have to know whether the entire sac of your hydrocele was removed or not. As to the ether, there is a better way to avoid the unpleasant after-sickening effects. It is by the use of Nitrox Oxide and Oxygen. When the method is skillfully used there are no bad after-effects, such as from ether.

compulsory insurance against" accident and sickness. The bill was introduced last year and is now being followed quickly by other forms of social insurance laws. The declaration of Joseph P. Chamberlain of New York, he said, was hopelessly expensive.

Prof. Charles L. Jones of the University of Wisconsin said there was need of a more radical method in legislative methods and that a method of centralizing the control of measures introduced was much to be desired.

TELL OF WORK FOR INDUSTRIAL PEACE

Officials Discuss Proposal to Extend Erdman Act Terms.

Washington, Jan. 1.—In connection with the proposal to amend the Erdman act, so as to enable the commissioners, under that law, to mediate in all labor difficulties, in addition to those which affect railroads, officials point out the progress made by the department of labor in effecting settlements of labor disputes. Although the department is yet in the midst of its annual report, the forthcoming annual report will show important results in the adjustment of labor troubles.

"These include," said the secretary, "a settlement between the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad and its clerks; of the strike in the Erie Railroad; of the strike in the Pennsylvania Railroad; of the strike in the Reading, Pa., Hardware company's works, and prevention of strikes in the shops of the Baltimore & Ohio railroads, the Western Maryland railroad and the Chicago & Alton railroad."

"The work of the department includes also the adjustment of the Indianapolis street car strike. Efforts have been made by the department to adjust the strikes in Michigan and Colorado, but the mine owners have not been willing to accept offers of mediation made."

The report of the department of labor will not be issued probably for three weeks; its completion having been delayed because of the absence of both Secretary Wilson and Commissioner Carmichael of the bureau of immigration.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

A full pint of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.00—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of the ordinary cough more quickly, usually conquering it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for spasmodic croup, whooping cough, bronchial asthma and bronchitis.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This is just laxative enough to help relieve a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant. The effect of pine and sugar syrup on the inflamed membranes is well known. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualiac and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination. This Pinex and Sugar Syrup remedy has often been imitated, but the old successful mixture has never been equalled. It is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

REVENUES OF PORT OF NEW YORK LOWER

Receipts in 1913 Were $3,267,806 Less Than in 1912.

New York, Jan. 1.—The customs revenues and other receipts at the port of New York were $3,267,806 less than in 1912, last year, as shown by a statement made public by Dudley Field Malone, collector of the port. The total for 1913 reaches $208,694,182 as against $212,961,988 in 1912. Of the total revenues for 1913, $204,261,126 was derived from import duties.

Exports and imports handled through the port in 1913 are reported as follows: Gold and silver imports $4,532,236, as against $4,682,429 in 1912. Exports of bullion exports, 1913, $15,854,330; 1912, $16,546,694; gold and silver of foreign origin, 1913, $5,091,631; 1912, $7,291,608.

Merchandise imports in 1913 had a total value of $991,100,438 as against $1,068,296,330 in 1912. Exports of domestic merchandise for the year amounted to $899,070,148.

LAW PROTECTS ALL WORKERS IN STATE

New Connecticut Statute Takes Effect With New Year.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 1.—Connecticut wage earners received substantial New Year's present today when a workmen's compensation act and a law making fifty-five hours the maximum work week for women and minors in manufacturing concerns, became effective. The compensation act requires employers to compensate workers for occupational injuries, regardless of liability. Non-acceptance of the act takes from either employer or employee his common law defense of contributory negligence, fellow servant or trade hazard. Death which follows an injury brings to beneficiaries compensation for a term of years, with $100 for funeral expenses. Injured employees receive hospital and surgical care.

The state itself and cities and towns have assumed their own risks, on the strength of a certificate of solvency. Many large manufacturing concerns have assumed their own risks, but the greater number have accepted the law.

Even Affects Newspaper Men.
Beginning today, the working population of the state, from the governor down to the humblest wage earner, will be covered by the new law. Churches have insured their sextons, preachers and chorists, and newspaper editors and reporters now have a measure of protection they never had before.

In the case of the so-called fifty-five-hour law, employers are meeting it, especially in the textile industries, by continuing the present wage scales, and in some instances by slightly increasing the wages of piece workers so there will be no loss in the pay envelopes.

GLOVER ADMITTED TO $15,000 BAIL.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 1.—Roy L. Glover, a land agent of San Antonio, Tex., charged with the murder of Daniel De Villiers, a South African soldier of fortune, has been admitted to bail in the sum of $15,000. Glover's preliminary examination was continued to Jan. 18 to give him an opportunity to obtain evidence from Texas.

Glover, according to the charge against him, killed De Villiers late on the afternoon of Dec. 21, when the South African was on his way into the Glover household to see Mrs. Glover, who formerly was Mrs. De Villiers.

Chilean Destroyer Launched.

Sailed for the new Chilean submarine destroyer Antofagasta, 147 feet long, built at the yard of the Scott Construction & Drydock company, was launched yesterday in the presence of a gathering of naval and shipping men, including the Chilean officers and crew that will be on board during her trials and afterward take her to South America.

BUSY YEAR IS PREDICTED

Duluth Grain Men Expect Active Operations in General Markets.

Stronger Tone in Copper Stocks Through Advance in Metal.

It being New Year's day, there is no session of the Duluth Board of Trade, and with the Eastern stock exchanges also closed, brokers are taking a holiday. Grain men are looking forward to the present being an active year in trading in cereals. There is every probability that the scope of operations of the trade here will be enlarged through the free importation of Canadian wheat. In preparation for the winter movement, two of the local companies operating elevators, have plans prepared for the erection of new houses that will increase storage facilities at this head of the Lakes to the extent of 5,000,000 bushels, and involve an approximate expenditure of $2,000,000.

Mining stock brokers are also looking forward to substantially increased trading in mining stocks, as a result of the improved feeling of many of the companies whose securities are listed on the exchanges. It is predicted that at least three companies in which Duluthians are directly interested will enter the dividend list during the present year.

The recent hardening of the metal market is the factor in bringing about this improvement. After selling up to 15 cents, the situation became highly discouraging. Within the past ten days, a good revival took place, copper advancing to 15 cents a pound during the present week.

Commenting on the situation, the Wall Street Journal says: "The market is largely a revival of business in Europe. A year ago industrial activity was checked over there by the Balkan war, which not only made heavy demands upon the money market, but induced a great many people to board gold on account of the possibility of a general European conflict. There was no collapse in business. It was merely that the market was under a cloud. Money was needed by manufacturers and others to carry on business, but a supply could not be obtained, and activity was slowed down. Now the situation is becoming easier, and those having good credit are able to obtain it. The market is beginning to be re-opened, and business is resuming where it left off. Under the circumstances, both in Great Britain and on the continent, the English railroads are contemplating a change to electrical operation in the near future. The demand from the electrical industries is always one of the chief factors in the copper market."

1913 DULL YEAR IN STOCK MARKET

Decrease of 44,700,000 in Number of Securities Sold.

New York, Jan. 31.—The year 1913 will be long remembered in Wall street as one of the dullest in almost a decade. Compared with 1912, when the stock and bond sales on the stock exchange aggregated 130,735,000 shares and $67,000,000 respectively, last year showed a decrease in stock sales of 44,700,000 shares and in bonds of $10,400,000. The recent burst of activity at a higher price level, together with other investment funds, has, however, given rise to a hope among bankers and brokers that recovery is under way.

Of the 1,100 members of the stock exchange, it is estimated that less than half are now actively engaged in the market, and probably one-fifth of the whole may be classed as "traders" who buy or sell almost exclusively for their own account. The balance of the active membership consists of commission houses, which are used to have extensive out-of-town connections, with which they are in touch by private telegraph and telephone wires. These accessories, whose maintenance involves heavy outlay, have been quite generally abandoned as have been many of the branch offices formerly maintained in uptown New York and in adjacent cities.

Not only did many commission houses fail to make expenses during the year, but a substantial percentage of the trading element frequently found it difficult to obtain orders. The year witnessed many withdrawals from the "street" by individuals and firms, although there were less numerous than was expected a few weeks ago.

BANKS SHOW PROSPERITY

Clearings in Duluth for Year Set New High Records.

Bankers Predict Substantial Growth for the Coming Year.

An active business situation in this city and district was reflected in the record of Duluth bank clearings for the year ended Dec. 31. Clearings for the twelve months set a new high record in the history of the local clearing house association. They aggregated $248,112,445.95, an increase of $14,686,606.55 as compared with the preceding year.

An especially good showing was made during the first nine months of the year, but for each of the last three months, decreases were recorded attributable to a falling off in the grain movement.

Bankers generally are of the opinion that the business situation in Duluth is upon a sound basis, and from the general indications all-round activity is predicted during the current year.

A comparative Duluth clearing house figures for the year ending Dec. 31 were as follows:

January $19,731,401.77	$13,156,072.27

The Most Widely Read Women's Pages

in The Herald the pages devoted to the advertising of the live, up-to-date merchants. Women are the world's buyers and practice has made them shrewd spenders. A woman will shop round all day rather than buy without being sure. Women are advertising readers because the news appeals to their delicate dollar sense. To buy right, they must know the market—and the day-to-day advertisements are the news of the markets in which they are most interested. Shrewd advertisers know that if they can make their announcements convincing to the women, they are sure of returns. And where the women go there the men will go also.

DISTINCT STEP MADE TOWARD ENDING THE COPPER MINE STRIKE

Miners Have Submitted
Terms for Holding Negotiations.

Densmore Is Confident His Plans Will Succeed.

Strikers Prepare Petition for Recall of Sheriff Cruse.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 2.—Another distinct step toward settlement of the copper miners' strike was recorded today. An anxiously awaited telegram reached O. N. Hilton, chief of counsel of the Western Federation of Miners, and he said that its receipt showed that nothing thus far propounded in the peace negotiations was distasteful to the union. Contents of the telegram were not divulged.

"The telegram means that we are willing to go on with the conciliation plans," he said.

John B. Densmore had not discussed the message with the representatives of either side early in the day. He was notified of its receipt by Mr. Hilton, the attorney. It was expected that Claude O. Taylor, president of the Michigan State Federation of Labor, also would take part in the discussion.

The whole situation swung on a rather delicate pendulum, and when the lengthy telegram put weight to the side for settlement of the five months industrial war there was a distinct feeling of relief among the men concerned.

It was understood that the telegram outlined the terms which the federation would consider acceptable. Its greatest significance was that it gave a more definite basis for work than has yet been brought out.

Miners Offer Basis.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 2.—[Special to The Herald.]—The officials of the Western Federation of Miners have agreed on the terms on which they will take part in settlement of the strike, although no announcement of the terms can be made for a day or so, and today will place them in the hands of John B. Densmore, solicitor for the department of labor, who has been in (Continued on page 12, third column.)

HEARS MEN BUILDING PLACE FOR HIS DEATH

Murderer's Cell Is Near Site of New Death House.

Windsor, Vt., Jan. 2.—From his cell in the state prison, Arthur Bosworth, sentenced to be executed today for the murder of Mae Labelle, could hear the workmen erecting the new death house, which will be placed on electric chair. Hereafter all murderers condemned to death in Vermont will be executed in the new building.

Bosworth shot and fatally wounded Mae Labelle, the 19-year-old daughter of Mrs. George Labelle, on the platform of the railroad station at Essex Junction on June 7, 1911.

Bosworth was a model prisoner during his long confinement. He was born in England twenty-nine years ago. He was at the time of the shooting.

FIND LITTLE GIRLS CARRYING WHISKY

Federal Authorities Arrest Children But Later Release Them.

Fort Smith, Ark., Jan. 2.—Margaret Rosetti, 9 years old, and her sister Marie, aged 6, were arrested by Federal authorities charged with breaking the Federal liquor laws. Men apprehended them were attempting to board a train for their home at Halleyville, Okla. Their luggage consisted of a suit case containing twelve quarts of whisky.

The little girls were later released when the Federal authorities discovered two Italians with a similar quantity of liquor. The men were held and charged with breaking the recent law prohibiting the importation of liquor into the Indian country of Eastern Oklahoma.

SUFFRAGETTES FIND WALKING HARD WORK

Reach Nyack on Route From New York to Albany.

Nyack, N. Y., Jan. 2.—The suffragettes led by "Gen." Rosalie Jones, who left New York on New Year's day to march to Albany, set out from Nyack at 9 o'clock this morning. Their route led through Haverstraw and Stony Point today and they hoped to spend the night at Tompkins Cove, eighteen miles north.

The first journey over the wind-swept Hudson river roads brought the hikers to Nyack last night with little enthusiasm for anything but rest. General Jones went to bed at 6 o'clock and the rest of the band soon followed her example.

At Albany the marchers will meet other suffrage workers and present to the legislature a petition asking that women be allowed to watch at the polls when the proposed suffrage amendment to the state Constitution is voted on in 1915.

CITY CHAMBERLAIN UNDER J. P. MITCHEL

HENRY BRUERE.

New York, Jan. 2.—One of the appointments under the new city administration is that of Henry Bruere as city chamberlain. Mr. Bruere was associated with Mr. Mitchell on the bureau of municipal research. He was born in St. Charles, Mo. He did undergraduate work at Cornell and Chicago and studied law at Harvard. He did social work in Boston for two years and then went to work for the International Harvester company in Chicago. In 1905 he was made secretary of the bureau of city betterment in New York and later became director of the bureau of municipal research.

CLOSE CALL FOR MOYER

Sheriff Tells Governor Crowd Wanted to Lynch Leader.

Reports Deputy Hinsley Persuaded Them to Change Plans.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 2.—A telegram received today by Governor Ferris from Sheriff Cruse of Houghton county, dealing with the alleged deportation of President Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners contained information of a crowd of men who had gathered in front of the hotel where Moyer was staying and were threatening to throw him into the lake.

"Hinsley prevailed upon the crowd to send Moyer away on a train, and this they finally agreed to do," said Cruse in his message. Hinsley got on the train with Moyer and then learned that he had a wound on the head and a shot in the back. The crowd followed ahead and had a physician meet the train at Winona. Hinsley accompanied Moyer as far as Channing.

In response to a telegram asking him to investigate fully the alleged attack upon Moyer, Special Prosecuting Attorney George B. Nichols of Houghton county, sent the following message to the executive office today:

"Have investigators at work and am waiting for Moyer to return for with me. I can do little to appreciate fully the importance of the matter, but I must go at it the right way to accomplish anything. If you were on the ground you would agree that I am right."

Capt. Chester McCormick, in command of the artillery company stationed at Houghton, today telegraphed the governor that the striking miners have disregarded the ultimatum issued by the operators that they should return to work Jan. 1 or their places would be filled by other men.

SCHISM THREATENS CHURCH OF ENGLAND

Bishops May Be Impeached for Giving Other Sects Communion.

London, Jan. 2.—A religious controversy which, in the words of Lord Halifax, president of the English church union, "threatens a schism which will rend the Church of England in two," has arisen out of the now celebrated Kilguy conference, held in the town of Kilguy, East Africa, last June, which sought to unite all Protestant denominations against the increasing power of the Catholic propaganda in East Africa.

The trouble arose out of the endeavor of the bishop of Zanzibar to impeach for heresy two prelates—the bishop of Uganda and the bishop of Mombasa—who took the lead in the Kilguy conference and administered the communion to missionaries of various sects composing the conference. The controversy for and against the bishop of Zanzibar is now going on throughout the whole religious field.

GARRISON ORDERS U. S. TROOPS ON THE BORDER TO ADMIT MEXICANS

WHY DOESN'T LIND LAND?

Correspondents Scent Mystery in Action of Wilson's Envoy.

Cruiser Arrives, But No Sign of Passenger Is Seen.

Pass Christian, Miss., Jan. 2.—Mystery enveloping the visit here of John Lind, President Wilson's special envoy to Mexico, ever since his coming was announced, continued today with the refusal of all information as to when or where the president would see him. Mr. Lind remained aboard the scout cruiser Chester early today, having arrived off Ship Island, eight miles below here, last night. The revenue cutter Winona was waiting to transfer Mr. Lind, but up to 9 o'clock no move had been made.

Reason for the secrecy maintained with regard to every phase of Mr. Lind's visit, notwithstanding announcement by the president's envoy himself as to his coming, is puzzling the correspondents.

Although permission had been granted Mr. Lind to come several days ago, the dispatches quoting him as saying he would leave Vera Cruz for the United States, were met at the presidential cottage with the statement that "if the report is true, his visit is of no special significance."

The doubt which was then expressed as to Mr. Lind's coming yesterday was increased by failure to receive any word from the Chester, and it was believed the president had absolutely no advice from the vessel at any time during its journey, a circumstance which caused some anxiety and interfered with Mr. Wilson's plans for recreation. The president golfed as usual today.

THOUSANDS EXECUTED IN SINGLE PROVINCE

Chinese Robbers and Political Offenders Share Same Fate.

Pekin, China, Jan. 2.—It is officially estimated that there were 34,000 executions in the province of Szechuen alone in 1913. Most of those killed were robbers, but a large number were political offenders. It is linked by officials that the actual figures regarding the executions would probably largely exceed the estimates.

The customs collections at all ports during 1913 reached a total of approximately $23,822,000. Most of the ports showed an increase over the preceding year, and the figures for Shanghai, Hankow and Canton actually constitute a record. The revenues are said to be sufficient to meet all charges, including the boxer indemnity.

Seems Confident.

Washington, Jan. 2.—Brig.-Gen. Bliss, commanding the Texas border forces, has been instructed by Secretary Garrison to permit Mexican refugees to cross into Texas from Ojinaga if that is necessary to save their lives. The latest order to Gen. Bliss, which reiterates former orders on the same subject, follows:

"With reference to possible situation at Ojinaga incident to people crossing the river, you will have to meet demands of the situation, which cannot be foreseen at present. Extend such aid to wounded as humanity indicates, and permit refugees to cross the river if crossing is necessary to save life."

"In other words, it is not expected to force people back to Mexican side if they are liable to be shot or otherwise injured on their return."

Work With Red Cross.

"Co-operate fully with Red Cross, but do not expect to turn supplies over to them in their work to such extent as may be necessary to meet urgent needs of the situation with reference to caring for wounded."

Discussing conditions at Ojinaga, Secretary Garrison today said:

"When the fighting first took place on the Mexican side and the soldiers of the defeated party began coming (Continued on page 12, second column.)

Premier Will Make Foreign Tour to Start
Year.

London, Jan. 2.—The Greek premier, Eleutherios Venizelos, is to start an extensive foreign tour on Monday. The journey is supposed to be connected with the new situation in the Levant created by Turkey's purchase of the Greek island of Thessalonica. Mr. Venizelos will first go to Rome and then to Paris and London.

J. P. MORGAN & CO. ANNOUNCES ABANDONMENT OF SYSTEM OF INTERLOCKING DIRECTORATES

HEAR TITANIC WRECK CASES

U. S. Supreme Court Will Take Them Up Next Monday.

Many Tax and Other Contests Promise Busy Session.

Washington, Jan. 2.—The supreme court of the United States will begin the new year next Monday with an unusual amount of work. In addition to the probable announcement of many decisions, the court has set down for hearing on that day, or as soon thereafter as possible, enough cases to consume the time of the sittings of the court for nearly a week.

One of the most interesting of these involves the liability of the owners of the ill-fated Titanic, which went down after striking an iceberg on April 14, 1912. The owner of the vessel, the Oceanic Steam Navigation company, a British corporation, is seeking to have its liability for the million dollars in claims lodged against it for the loss of life and property in the catastrophe limited under American law to the value of the salvage, the freight and passenger fares received on the trip, in all about $30,000.

Millionaires' Honor Roll.

A millionaires' honor roll will be heard when the court calls a series of cases during the week involving the legality of the tax imposed by the Payne-Aldrich tariff law on the use of foreign built yachts by American citizens. H. Clay Pierce, Cornelius K. G. Billings, James Gordon Bennett, Roy A. Folney and Mrs. Harriet Goelitz each will have a case attacking the tax.

Mr. Pierce claims that his yacht was (Continued on page 12, third column.)

PICKED MEN TO SEEK LOPEZ UNDER GROUND

Eight Chosen to Search
Fifty Miles of Mine Workings.

Bingham, Utah, Jan. 2.—A posse of eight picked men, led by Sheriff Smith of Salt Lake county, will enter the Utah-Apex mine this afternoon to search for Ralph Lopez. The time was set and the posse selected at a meeting held here last night. The searchers will enter the mine fully prepared for a battle. Among the members of the posse will be David H. Ray and Deputy Sheriff Sorrenson, who were in the encounter in the Andy tunnel on Nov. 23 when Lopez killed two of their number.

It is believed that, counting abandoned tunnels which connect with the mine, there are over fifty miles of tunnels, slopes and raises that will have to be gone over, unless the searchers come upon the bandit's body before then.

VENEZUELA AT PEACE AFTER SOME MONTHS

Gomez Returns and May Announce End of Martial Law.

Caracas, Venezuela, Jan. 2.—President Juan Vicente Gomez returned to the capital today after an absence of five months. He brought with him the army of 7,000 men with which he had been encamped at Maracay since early in August, when Gen. Cipriano Castro, the former dictator, made an unsuccessful attempt to cause a revolution. The soldiers marched through the principal streets and then were drawn up in front of Miraflores palace, where the members of the foreign diplomatic corps had gathered to offer their New Year's greetings.

It seems probable from the indications given by the New Year's address of Acting President Dr. Jose Gil Fortoul, that the termination of the state of war at present existing will be shortly proclaimed by the government. The constitutional guarantees, covering trial by jury, etc., will thereupon be re-established.

WORK FOR SAFETY IN MINES BEING URGED

Pennsylvania Officials Send Letter to the Operators.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 2.—Letters have been sent to the general superintendents and general managers of every coal company in the state by James E. Rodrick, state chief of mines, urging them to take measures to reduce by 50 per cent the number of accidents. In the same mail the chief sent letters to the department of mines, the state service, notifying them of the dispatch of the letter and directing them to notify the department at once if they find that suggestions for safety are not being followed up.

In case of persistent violation of directions for safety, the inspectors are instructed to institute fines.

King Albert of Belgium Makes Announcement of Plan.

Brussels, Jan. 2.—Proposed radical changes in the government of the Congo were announced by King Albert to a deputation of the chamber of deputies when they made their New Year's call on him. King Albert said he was convinced the colony had reached a stage of development when it was indispensable that it should be placed on an autonomous basis, under the suzerainty of the home government, following the example set by other great colonizing governments. He added that the minister of the colonies shortly would introduce a bill in parliament along these lines.

The king's announcement has aroused great interest throughout Belgium.

fices in Thirty Other Interests.

Move, Though Expected
There, Gives Gratification at Washington.

New York, Jan. 2.—J. P. Morgan & Co. today announced that it had severed its connection with some of the greatest corporations in the country with which it has long been connected. This step, the firm announced, was taken voluntarily in response to "an apparent change in public sentiment on account of some of the problems and criticisms having to do with so-called interlocking directorates."

Among the companies from which it resigned are the New York Central and the New Haven railroads.

Statement by Morgan.

"The necessity of attending many board meetings has been so serious a burden upon our time that we have long wished to withdraw from the directorates of many corporations. Most of these directorships we have accepted with reluctance, and we expect to be constrained to keep in touch with properties which we had recommended to the public, both here and abroad."

"An apparent change in public sentiment in regard to directorships seems now to warrant us in seeking to resign from some of these connections. Indeed, it may be, in view of the change in sentiment upon the subject, that we shall be in a better position to serve such properties and state security holders if we are not directors. We have already resigned from the companies mentioned, and we expect from time to time to withdraw from other companies whose we feel there is no special obligation to remain."

Directorates Abandoned.

The companies to which Mr. Morgan referred, from whose boards members of the firm had resigned, are: New York Central & Hudson River railroad company; New York, Chicago & Hudson River railroad company; New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad; Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railroad; New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad; Central New England railroad; New York, West Chester & Boston railroad; Harlem River & Port Chester railroad; Milbrook company; New England Navigation company; New England Steamship company; Rhode Island company; Rutland Railroad company; Hartford & Connecticut Western railroad; New York, Ontario & Western railroad; Western Union Telegraph company.

Other Members Retire.

Other members of the firm have retired from the following companies: Charles Steele; Jersey Central Railroad company; United States Steel corporation; H. P. Davison; American Telephone & Telegraph company; Astor Trust company; Guaranty Trust Company of New York; Chemical National bank; W. H. Porter; Bankers' Trust company; Guaranty Trust Company of New York; Thomas W. Lamont; Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company; Utah Copper company; Astor Trust company; Bankers' Trust company.

No Legal Necessity.

By withdrawing from these corporations, J. P. Morgan & Co. have cut the strings that have held together many of the country's most important corporations in a community of interests which has been assailed within and without congress. The house of Morgan feels that it has kept within the law in all of its complex operations, and that no legal necessity or threatened complications with the authorities in Washington has made it necessary to adopt the sweeping change in policy announced today.

One of the members of the firm said that Morgan & Co. had been scrupulously careful to observe the (Continued on page 12, fourth column.)

WIDOW IS THE SOLE HEIR

Estate of the Late Julius D.

Edna B. Howard, widow of the late Julius D. Howard of this city whose death occurred at New York city on Dec. 6, 1912, will receive $28,000 from his estate. She is the sole heir and beneficiary.

Judge S. W. Gilpin in probate court signed a final decree of distribution in the Howard estate this morning. All of the property consisting of about $23,000 worth of real and personal property and $4,775 in cash was ordered paid to the widow.

The late Mr. Howard was engaged in the real estate business in Duluth for a number of years prior to his death.

QUALITY OF GAS BETTER

Inferior Standard in 1912
Raised During Last Year.

The quality of gas furnished the city during 1913 shows a material improvement over that of 1912, according to the statistics of the water and light department.

The analyses of gas were not started until the last half of 1912, and during those six months the figures show an average of 55.5 heat units per cubic foot. During 1912 the average was 51.8 heat units per cubic foot, or an increase of 15.3 heat units per cubic foot.

The city's contract with the Zenith Furnace company calls for a minimum of 55 heat units and a minimum average for the year of 60 heat units per cubic foot. The records indicate that during 1912 the city was getting poorer gas than called for in the contract but that during the year just closed the quality was some above the requirements. The officials believe that having the gas analyzed has resulted in an improvement of its quality. Manager Reed hopes that it will be still further improved during 1914. He states that the last few months have seen an improvement, which is borne out by the December average of 52.1 heat units per cubic foot.

YOUNG MAN TESTS STRENGTH OF SIX

Officer Bitten in Attempt to Handcuff Stans Sankosky.

Stans Sankosky, 23 years old, who was arrested early last evening in the Adelphi hotel, 2801 West Superior street, only after six men had placed handcuffs on him, was arraigned in police court this morning for attacking Officer Wankwick. He is alleged to have bitten the officer very severely during the scuffle.

Sankosky pleaded not guilty to the charge, and his trial was set for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

About 8 o'clock last evening David Doyle, a roomer at the hotel, reported the theft of his watch, and upon investigating, the clerk charged Sankosky with the theft. He called police headquarters, and Officers Wankwick and Eagerberg were sent to the scene. They placed Sankosky under arrest, but all efforts to take him to the police station failed.

Sankosky was arraigned this morning on a charge of attacking an officer, while investigations are made as to his connection with the stealing of the watch. The timepiece was found last evening underneath a radiator, near which the officers had their struggle with Sankosky. James Karey, 21 years old, who was also arrested with Sankosky, is being held pending an investigation.

POLICE ARE CRACK SHOTS

Officers Make High Scores at Practice Shoots
During Year.

Annual Reports of Weekly Events Made Out for First Time.

Thieves, crooks and bandits had better not get into pistol duels with members of the Duluth police force, for if they do, they are flirting with death itself. Figures just prepared by Fred Johnson and Robert Donaldson, assistant secretaries to Chief Troyer, show that fifty-six members of the department have total averages of 25 or possibly a possible perfect score of 50 in all the target practices held during the past year.

The figures for the past year are the first of the kind ever prepared and are interesting as they show just what each officer on the force can do with a revolver. The practice shoots were held every Thursday during the summer and fall months on the lake shore at Third avenue east. Each officer is allowed ten shots at each shoot, a perfect score counting fifty points. Mr. Johnson in preparing this report took a mean average of the records made every week by the officers and compiled them in a table form, which will be included in the annual statement of the police department, which is to be submitted to Commissioner Hicken by Chief Troyer sometime next month.

Patrolman A. Danielson and Sergeant Barber hold the record for 1913 with a total average of 45 points. Seventy-one officers are included in the report, which follows:

GATELY'S STARTS DOLLAR-DOWN SALE

Tomorrow Opens Biggest Trade-Pulling Card Ever Used in Gately's
Line of Stores.

This morning at 8 o'clock found Gately's mid-winter "Dollar-Down Sale" in full swing. The mere announcement of this sale has always been followed by tremendous selling in the past, but this year Gately's have decided to make a big event special bargains that will in themselves be business producers. In short, low clearance sale prices prevail today at Gately's in conjunction with the dollar-down offer.

"January is the logical month for sales," said B. E. Johnson of Gately's yesterday, and the people of this community look to January as the greatest sale period in the year. We never disappoint them. The second day of January finds reductions throughout our entire establishments—men's and women's outerwear, including furs, suits, coats and shoes all go on sale. Furnishings and accessories are cut down to original cost because sale time demands absolute clearance. The boys' and girls' departments join in offering big savings.

"Last year our business on boys' and girls' clothing was remarkable. New school outfits were sold by the score on the dollar-down payment. We naturally look for large sales from these departments this month."

While the prices and terms are ridiculously low, thousands of our patrons will back us up in our "Satisfaction Guaranteed" policy. We sell the best that can be secured at the price.

GOATS EAT TAILS OF FINE FIRE HORSES.

Pottsville, Pa., Jan. 2.—Goats have long been accused of eating clothes on wash lines, and garbage heaps, including tin cans, but Pottsville druggists have discovered that the voracious appetite of a goat will even drive him to eat the tail of a horse. The Phoenix hook and ladder company prides itself on its fire horses, but for several years the animals had scraggy tails, and no remedy could be found for the trouble. It has now been discovered that the pet goats of the company have been industriously chewing the horses' tails for years. They have, therefore, been banished.

HIS ABSENCE EAST RENEWS HIS FAITH

Mayor Returns With Firmer Confidence Than Ever in Duluth.

Radiating optimism and with renewed faith in the Northwest, Mayor W. I. Prince returned yesterday from a visit to a number of the principal cities in the East.

"I believe the Northwest is in better condition, industrially and financially, than any other part of the country," said the mayor. "The business and financial outlook is brighter here than in the East and, judging from the reports, we are in better shape than other parts of the country."

While in the Eastern cities Mayor Prince renewed acquaintances with many of his friends in banking circles and met many of the leading business men. Through them he obtained an accurate estimate of the conditions in their respective cities and states and he returned firmly convinced that Duluth, Minnesota and the Northwest are today on a firmer financial and commercial basis than any other part of the United States.

Snake Appears in Anti-Liquor Sermon.

Snyder, Tex., Jan. 2.—A snake brought about the sudden closing of service at the Emis Creek Baptist church, near here.

The pastor had just closed his sermon, during which he admonished men against strong drink, and the congregation was in the midst of the last hymn when the reptile, three feet long, crawled out of the organ at the feet of the woman playing. She screamed.

Other women saw the snake and they screamed. There was a rush for the doors, and the hymn and service were left unfinished.

DEPUTY SHERIFF RESIGNS AFTER FIVE YEARS' SERVICE

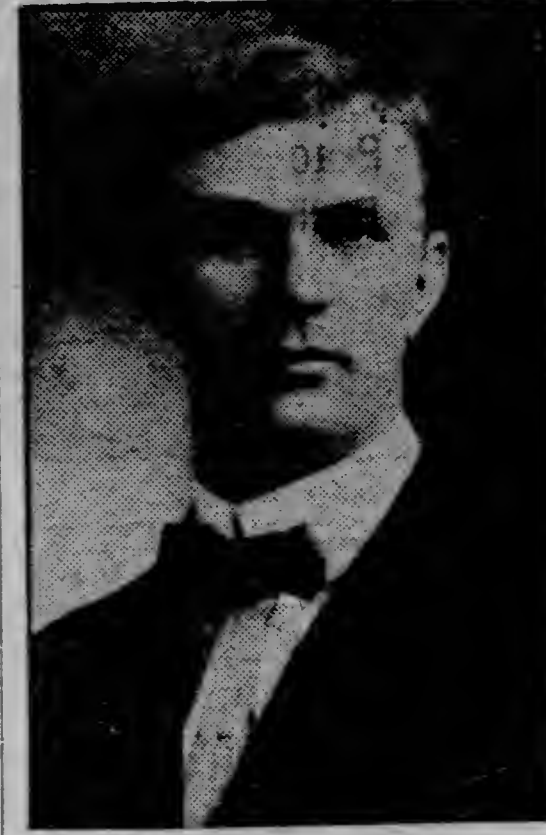

After five years of public service, George King, deputy sheriff under both the Melning and Bates administrations, has severed his connection with the sheriff's office. The resignation was tendered to Sheriff John R. Melning Tuesday and became effective at once.

Deputy Sheriff King is leaving the sheriff's office to accept a position with the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company. It is understood that he will be connected with the office of President W. A. McConagie in the capacity of a special officer.

Mr. King is well known on the ranges where he resided for four years prior to coming to Duluth to live. Under the administration of Sheriff Bates he served as a deputy with headquarters at Hibbing. Three years ago, when Sheriff Melning took office, he reappointed Mr. King and the latter moved to Duluth. He resided with his family at 104 North Twenty-eighth avenue west.

Mr. King stated this morning that the best of relations existed between himself and the sheriff's office. His many friends at the courthouse expressed regret this morning that he was leaving them and wished him all success in his new work.

Mr. King is known as one of the most successful and energetic men in St. Louis county. He is an authority on where the best fishing and hunting grounds in the country may be found.

START LIVELY; CLOSE QUIET

New Year's Day Excuse for Dangerous Use of Rifles.

New Year's day closed in a quiet manner in West Duluth. It did not start as quietly, according to complaints received yesterday afternoon at the police station.

Loud reports were heard about town during the first few minutes of the new year and resembled fire crackers on the Fourth of July, but they were not fire crackers. They were genuine shots and some of them from rifles.

W. E. Kern, proprietor of the Duluth Steam laundry, yesterday afternoon reported to the police that three of his delivery rigs had been perforated with rifle bullets, while three or four bullets from a high power rifle had passed through two of them.

E. J. Bouška, a grocer of Raleigh street, told the police that he had some unpleasant experiences during the same night. He called the police in to look at the front window of his store and also that of his bedroom. A bullet, he said, had gone through his bedroom window and struck the ceiling of his room, later dropping alongside of him in bed.

The celebration was undoubtedly kept up last night. Some unknown person, according to the collector for the night, threw a plate glass window of John J. Moran's confectionery store late last night.

TREASURER'S RINKS ARE WINNERS.

The treasurer's rink won from the secretary's aggregation by the narrow score of 40 to 38 at the close of the final game played last night at the Western Curling club. A large number of curlers spent the afternoon and evening yesterday enjoying the sport.

The scores in the event were as follows:

Treasurer—	Secretary—
Zauft	Malloy
Evered	Wade
Wieland	Simpson
Illis	Brown
Totals	38

Two games were played in the Malloy-McLennan rink. Wade won from Olson by a score of 15 to 5 while Dr. Judson won from Malloy with a 8 to 8 score.

This evening three games will be played in this event. Wieland will play Simpson; Judson vs. Evered and Quinn against Brown.

NEW TEMPERANCE SOCIETY FORMED.

Another new Scandinavian temperance society came into being yesterday at Proctor. The new organization has taken the name of Syskonbanded lodge, No. 21, and affiliated itself with the Verdandi International Temperance society.

The new officers elected for the lodge are as follows: John E. Johnson, chairman; Fred Thudén, vice chairman; Ernest Wahlman, recording secretary; Hjalmer Hokanson, financial secretary; Otto Olson, treasurer; Ole Olson, conductor; Fred Johnson, warden; Axel Johanson, lodge representative; Ernest Wahlman, John Anderson, Carl Strom and Axel Johanson, trustees.

BROKEN WAGON BLOCKADES CARS.

A heavy lumber wagon used for hauling a large steel truss to be used in the construction of the R. B. Denfeld high school from the National Iron company, broke down while on the street railway tracks at Fifthth avenue west and Ramsey street shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. Traffic on the street car line was delayed for nearly an hour while workmen were removing the steel beam and the wagon.

Home Is Destroyed.

The home of Joe Rich, 18 South Fifty-fourth avenue west, was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon while the family was away attending a dinner party at the home of a relative. When the fire was discovered it had gained considerable headway and the fire department was able to save but little. The home and contents were insured for $1,000.

HIS COFFIN AND GRAVE CHOSEN

Having Two Months to Live, Colorado Man Prepared to Die.

Longmont, Colo., Jan. 2.—With his coffin selected, his shroud chosen, the site of his grave marked and a suitable monument inscribed as he had dictated, ready to be erected, Morse Coffin, for thirty years a resident of Northern Colorado, died, just as physicians predicted he would two months ago.

When Coffin was told in July that he had an incurable disease of the liver, he only laughed and asked his doctors how much longer his stay on earth would be. He was told two months at the most, and then declared "That is more time than I need, and when the end comes you will find that I have saved you lots of trouble."

He went to a local undertaker, selected his casket and told the proprietor to be sure to see that it was a "good fit"; next he went to the town hall and chose the lot where his grave was dug. Then came the matter of the monument, which he had suitably carved and which he refused to pay for until the job was completed to his satisfaction.

His wife was next drawn up, and, with these things off his mind, Coffin said he intended to devote the remainder of his days to enjoying life. By this he meant visiting old friends, and for this purpose he went to Greeley early in July. He spent an entire day among the plowmen and was the center of a group which laughed and joked with him until nearly 10 p. m. until almost dusk.

When the automobile was pulling out, he waved his friends a cheerful good-bye and came back to his home on the San Joaquin near the Saint Vrain river, near here.

As the days went by Coffin began to feel that he was nearing the end of his life. He selected his own pallbearers.

NEW RATES IN EFFECT

Small Consumers Now Get the Benefit of Cheaper Water.

Water Will No Longer Be Sold for Less Than Cost.

The new water rates of the water and light department, whereby the small consumer gets a reduction and the price to the big consumer is raised considerably, are now in effect.

Instead of paying 1 1/2 cents per 100 cubic feet for water, the small consumer will get his supply at the rate of 10 cent per 100 cubic foot. The scale then grades to 12 cents and 8 cents, the latter being the minimum. Under the old scale the minimum was 2 1/2 cents per 100 cubic feet. A charge of $1 a month per inch of pipe diameter will hereafter be charged for fire service connections.

Investigation satisfied the department officials that the large consumers were getting their water considerably under cost. They declared that this was poor business for any corporation, whether private or public. They raised the minimum rate 5 1/2 cents and although it will likely result in the loss of several of the big customers, they are confident that the revenue will not decrease. They point out that if these customers drop out the department will be saved the necessity of improvements and enlargements which would cost a large sum.

The new water rates will be accompanied by other changes which will put the water and light department upon a more economical, efficient and business-like basis. One of these is the continuous reading of meters. One crew will have charge of this branch of activity and will do nothing else. Under the old plan all water and gas meters were read at the end of each month and in order to reach them, all men had to be taken from other work several days each month. The city will be divided into three districts and each will have different times for the reading of bills. This will eliminate the congestion which has heretofore resulted at the end of each month, reducing the possibility of errors and a general improvement of the accounting system. The pay stations which were instituted last summer will be continued as they have proved a decided success. New methods of keeping ing the accounts will be installed step by step as rapidly as possible, along the lines outlined by George L. Gross, secretary of the water and light department.

The present year is also likely to witness the establishment of the principle of charging the property benefited for water and gas extensions. A frontage tax will probably be levied to defray the cost of the extensions. The officials state that this would do much to improve the finances of the department.

During the fall the department made two extensions, involving about $3,000, by day labor instead of by contract. Manager Reed estimates that $300 or $400 was saved. As a result the feasibility of doing much of the extension work by day labor will be thoroughly investigated. It is probable that here-

WILL PROTECT SALOON MEN

Minors Who Attempt to Buy Liquor Subject to Penalty.

Commissioner W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division, proposes to enforce the ordinance prohibiting minors from purchasing or attempting to purchase liquor in saloons.

The measure was passed in 1909, during the administration of ex-Mayor Roland D. Haven. It makes it unlawful for a person under 21 years of age to try to buy drinks in a saloon and the penalty is a fine of not to exceed $100 or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than ninety days.

Under the regulations a saloonkeeper loses his license if he furnishes intoxicants to a minor. The ordinance in question was intended to give the saloonkeepers a measure of protection. The city has many saloonkeepers who do not want to make any sales to minors or to have them in their place of business, but it is not infrequently difficult to tell whether the would-be customer has attained his majority or not.

Saloonkeepers could help to put a check upon minors who come into their bars asking for drinks if they would cause their arrest under the provisions of this ordinance. After they have passed through the police court few minors would be willing to take another similar chance. It is probable that the attention of the police force will be called to the ordinance, with instructions to arrest all minors who, to their knowledge, violate its provisions.

MORE CONVENIENT FOR MOST VOTERS

Rearrangement in Voting Precincts of Old
Fifth Ward.

At future elections, citizens living in the old Fifth ward will not be required to go to Duluth Heights to cast their votes. The new election ordinance will be amended to make Thirtieth street instead of Ninth street the dividing line. The new plan can exercise their franchise on their way down town, at what was the Fifth ward, the Third precinct of the Fifth ward. The territory above Ninth street was in the Fifth precinct of the Fifth ward. The new ordinance eliminates the "cinct." The voters in question reside in what will henceforth be designated the twenty-second election district.

WAS "DOPED" AND ROBBED

Young Man Tells of Treatment at East Grand Forks.

Nela Carlson, a healthy able-bodied young man of 21, less than a year ago left a Montana railroad camp where he had been employed for several months, to return to Duluth to spend the holidays. He had a good stead roll tucked in his jeans—his savings from a season's work.

Today Carlson with the help of a friend, a fellow worker at the railroad camps, hobbled into the office of Charles Shogren, clerk of the police commission, and announced the fact that he was "broke" and sick and that he was not responsible for either condition.

According to the story which was told by the young man while on route from Montana to Duluth, he was doped and robbed in a saloon at East Grand Forks, where he made a short stopover on his trip. Carlson claims that "dope" was placed in a glass of beer and that while he was sleeping off the effects he was relieved of about $40 in cash and other values. The "knockout" drops which were administered, he claims, made him sick. He will be taken to the county poor farm hospital this afternoon.

ON TRIAL FOR KILLING WIFE

Little difficulty was experienced this morning in securing a jury to try Joseph Crotteau, Gnesen farmer, on a charge of having murdered his wife, Mary, aged 22, at their home on the George H. Gamble farm last September.

The case was moved for trial this morning by County Attorney Warren
P. Greene in Judge Ensign's division of the district court. The morning session was given over entirely to the selection of the jury. Those who will serve as jurors are: C. E. I. Foster, George J. Clague, S. E. Holding, T. J.
Bernhardt, J. J. Holmes, George Dion,
M. H. Potts, George C. Hunter, W. H.
Robertson, S. Jackson, E. D. Davidson and G. C. Briggs.

Mrs. Crotteau was shot by her husband on Sept. 4. The bullet entered her left arm and passed out through the shoulder. She was taken to St.
Mary's hospital where she died from blood poisoning twenty-three days later. Crotteau's defense is that the shooting was accidental but the state will attempt to prove that it was deliberate and done while he was intoxicated and in a fit of anger.

John H. Norton, former county attorney is defending Crotteau.

HOMESTEADS FREE AGAIN

Congress Is Asked to Return to the Old System.

Claimed That Only Lands of Inferior Value Are Left.

Washington, Jan. 2.—A complete return to the system of giving away public lands in order to encourage settlement and development has been proposed in congress. During the last twenty years public lands, especially those to which Indian tribes had a claim, have been disposed of under a system of appraisal which has resulted in materially increasing the government's direct revenue from the sale of public lands, but which, in many instances, has resulted in added hardship to the men who have undertaken to cultivate homesteads.

Although throughout the West there are men, now well advanced in years, who have made small fortunes from the advance in the value of land which they acquired freely under the homestead laws, it has now become a truism that a twentieth century homesteader earns everything he gets.

Argument in Support.
The argument advanced in support of this proposition is that the type of lands now open to settlement and purchase are not the smooth, rich black dirt lands which were open to settlement twenty years ago, but are of inferior quality. This has been recognized by the land open to entry is among them the so-called Kinkaid act, under which a homesteader is permitted to acquire an entire section of land, so large an area is permitted him because the land open to entry is of such inferior quality that it is presumed that it will require all of the 640-acre tract to yield the man and his family a livelihood.

The return to the system of free homesteads is proposed as an incentive to further settlement of inferior lands, and to give future homesteaders compensation that will tend to place them on a more even basis as compared with the earlier settlers who obtained Kinkaid lands.

Not So Very Easy.
The business of obtaining a farm by homestead entry is not in practice the rosy affair that men picture it. It is a matter of record that nearly every homesteader who has been entered upon two or three times before an individual of sufficient vigor and resistance to keep it got hold of it.

While this is the history of homesteads in the West, the lesson has been lost to a degree on the present generation, as every new land opening brings a stream of individuals to the towns where applications are to be filed. Frequently not one man in 100 has a chance of drawing a homestead, but the hope that springs eternal in the human breast has caused the Senator Sterling of South Dakota, one of the states that has been almost entirely developed through the operation of the homestead laws, is the author of a bill to return to the free homestead system. He would wipe out, except in the case of the commutation of a claim, the question of appraisal value, and in case of commutation fixes the maximum price to be exacted from the homesteader at $5.25 per acre.

Provisions of the Bill.
His bill provides that all settlers upon homestead lands opened since 1900, "or the opening of which for settlement has been authorized by act of congress and which lands have been acquired prior to the passage of this bill by treaty or agreement from the various Indian tribes, who have resided or who shall hereafter reside upon the tracts entered in good faith for the period required by existing law, shall be entitled to patents for the lands so entered upon the payment to the local land officers of the usual and customary fees, and no other or further charge of any kind whatever shall be required from such settlers to entitle them to patents for the lands covered by their several entries."

It is provided that if the proceeds from the sale of appraisal lands, for which it is provided a maximum charge of $125 per acre may be made, shall not be sufficient to make up the amount now annually appropriated to state colleges from the proceeds of the sale of public lands, the deficiency shall be made up by congress appropriation.

The bill is designed not only to give present-day settlers an even chance with the homesteaders of a past generation, but, in a larger way, to aid in stemming the tide of American farmers flowing toward Canada.

later gave Vantine the name and address of John Christinger of New Brit-his niece.

She and Vantine exchanged cards, railroad and now he is connected with a New Britain express company.

STATE BEING SAVED MONEY

Experiment of Efficiency Engineer Being Tried in Ohio.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 2.—H. S. Riddle, employed by the state board of administration as efficiency engineer, is saving the state much money. He was employed on Oct. 1 at an annual salary of $3,000 and he has already effected a saving that will more than pay his salary for two years.

It is his business to develop the manufacturing possibilities of the various state institutions under the management of the board. He thinks he can save the state $2,000,000 in ten years. It is his purpose to make the state institutions self-supporting through the products they manufacture.

At the penitentiary there is a soap factory that turns out from 17,000 to 20,000 pounds of soap a month. There is a clothes-making department there, also, and everything the prisoners wear is made there. At a woolen mill there produces 10,000 pairs of blankets in a year.

Riddle's knowledge of machinery stands the state in good stead. He can buy second-hand machinery at a low price and use it as well as new and so save the state a large sum.

He is now the largest down the state's fuel bill by installing stokers on the boilers at the various institutions. The stokers enable the use of a cheaper grade of coal and he expects to make out of one-third in the fuel bill by the request of Riddle. This saves the state from paying out good money for having the prisoner's socks colored outside of the penitentiary.

He expects to bring about much larger returns to the state from the operation of its quarry on the west side of Columbus and a new plant there for the manufacture of agricultural lime, which is a first-class fertilizer.

When the state starts prisoners making brick for the highways of the state he also expects to make it possible for the state to earn considerable from this business. Riddle is a graduate of the Ohio State university.

HOSE IN THE SINK.
If the dishes are washed in the sink, attach pieces of white rubber hose to the faucets, of convenient length to carry the water over all the dishes.
This will be found to be a most convenient, says the Stockton Independent, and also save dishes that might otherwise be broken by striking against the faucets.

$1 DOWN SALE

We will, during this sale sell any article in our store at $1.00 down and $1.00 per week, which means that you can buy any Ladies' Suit or Coat, any Gentlemen's Suits or Overcoat, or any article in any department of our store, and all we ask is $1.00 down when the purchase is made. Remember, you get the goods at once, no red tape or security is required. We do just as we promise in this advertisement.

This Sale is a Great Semi-Annual Profit-Sharing, Money-Saving Event

We do not want anyone to misunderstand our method of doing business. This sale is conducted by us once every six months and for a short time only. We could not make a practice of selling our goods at $1.00 down. It is our Clearance Sale and done only when clearings are compelled. Clearance sale prices are quoted and remarkable reductions are offered.

What This Sale Means—Why You Can Save—Our Reasons for Conducting it Now

January is the logical month in which to expect unusual savings because at no other period of the year are savings so necessary to give. It is a month when clearings are compelled. Surplus stocks must be disposed of, and odds and ends sacrificed. Room must be created for new goods. Greater business activity is sought throughout the store, so that our selling force can be maintained and employed during the so-called "dull season," and it's also for the purpose of making new friends for our store and acquainting them with our Easy Credit Service Plan. Therefore, the inducement of low prices is logical. It is the incentive that accomplishes much for both our patrons and our store.

PROGRAM IS ELABORATE

Plans for Centenary of Writing of "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Main Program and Climax of the Celebration in Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 2.—Baltimore is at work on its plans to make the centenary of the writing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" the chief national event of 1914 and to group around it notable celebrations of patriotism and peace. The successful defense of Baltimore at North Point and Fort Mc-

Henry comprised the final battles which preceded the treaty of Ghent and those will be emphasized. The range of the celebration will include Washington, Annapolis, Frederick and the whole of the Chesapeake bay, with the main program and the climax in Baltimore. The National Star Spangled Banner Centennial commission has been incorporated. The honorary presidents are Woodrow Wilson, William H. Taft and Theodore Roosevelt. The vice presidents are the vice president of the United States, Thomas R. Marshall, Champ Clark, speaker of the house of representatives, the admiral of the navy, the general of the army, Governor Goldsborough of Maryland, and the present governors of the other seventeen states which constituted the Union in 1814. The active president is Honorable James H. Preston, mayor of Baltimore, executive chairman, Dr. A. B. Hibbins, vice chairman, Allen S. Pratt, secretary, Robert E. Lee, treasurer, J. Rowland Thomas, corresponding secretary, Lynn H. Meekins. There are forty committees headed by leading citizens.

Where Key Wrote Anthem.
On Thursday, Sept. 8, the elaborate program will begin with a pilgrimage to the historic site of 1812 along the Patuxent river and to the grave at Upper Marlboro of Dr. William Beanes, for whose release Key visited the British fleet. Later while detained on the cartel ship Minden, Key, in full view of the bombardment of Fort Mifflin, was inspired to write the national anthem.

On Sunday, Sept. 6, the regular program will begin with exercises for Patriots' day, on which the main speakers will be Vice President Marshall and Speaker Clark. Other special addresses, with appropriate music and decorations, will occur throughout the city.

On the second day there will be special ceremonies centering around the frigate Constellation, the oldest vessel in the American navy. This will be the introduction to the presence of the largest fleet of historic ships ever assembled in American waters, including every form of naval architecture from the caravels of Columbus to the latest dreadnought. On the third day there will be a revival of the fete and of the riding and running tournaments of the early years. The tournament is still a popular form of skill and recreation in the South, particularly in Maryland. It means wonderful riding and running, superb tilting, and the crowning by the successful knight of queens of love and beauty and maids of honor. At the Baltimore tournaments, the best riders and runners in America will participate. With it will be notable modern athletic contests in all departments of American sportsmanship.

Fraternal Orders.
On the fourth day the fraternal orders of America will make the most imposing demonstration in their history. In these orders the strong note is loyalty and patriotism. So it happens that they will add to the occasion of their strength and influence in America. The fraternal orders have been prime movers in all the centennial work.

The fifth day will be devoted to municipal and national pageantry, and exercises showing the civic, historical and educational progress of the century, and with notable speakers.

The sixth day will be the parade of the army, navy and national guard. It is expected to make this the military event of the year. One of the features will be the reunion of British and American soldiers at the North Point battlefield where the last armed conflict on land took place in 1814, before the treaty of peace was signed. This will follow the unveiling of the peace monument there. Among the speakers will be Theodore Roosevelt, the British ambassador, and secretary of war and others. At night there will be a brilliant banquet in honor of distinguished guests.

Address by President.
On Saturday, Sept. 12, which is the centennial anniversary of the defense of Baltimore, the exercises will fill the whole day. The main events will be the address of President Woodrow Wilson, and the singing of the national anthem by a "human flag" composed of thousands of school children. At night the bombardment of Fort Mifflin will be reproduced and there will be a water carnival with illuminated floats and a spectacular rendering of the national anthem by the combined bands.

On Sunday, peace and memorial day will be observed by various exercises in all churches and other places of public assembly, including addresses by ex-President William H. Taft, Hon. William J. Bryan, secretary of state, and other representatives of the world peace movement.

Monday, Sept. 14. will be naval pageant day, with the participation of many of the history-making ships of the century, the presence of Admiral Dewey, a trip to Annapolis and a salute at the tomb of John Paul Jones, who was the first to raise and defend the American flag on the high seas. Among the speakers will be Hon. Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy; Admiral Dewey, Gen. Horace Porter, Admiral Baird and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, who will describe the 1812 British trophy flags on exhibition at the naval academy.

Key Memorial Day.
Tuesday, Sept. 15, will be Key memorial day, with a pilgrimage to the birthplace and the tomb of Key at Frederick City.

This program gives but an outline of the ten days. There will be a great Chesapeake regatta off Fort Mifflin, and an aviation meet with demonstrations in aviation, in relation to warfare. There are 10,000 boats in the Chesapeake bay and there are almost as many in the Delaware. From these and from the craft of New York and other points will come the swiftest and best, and the contests will include the various forms of marine architecture and skilled seamanship. Baltimore has long been known as the gastronomic capital of the universe, and Maryland hospitality is proverbial. These two features will be conspicuous during the city's greatest celebration. One exhibition will be the New Baltimore. Since the fire of a decade ago, and especially during the past few years, the city has been revolutionized from cobblestones to modern pavements and has been made one of the most complete and progressive municipalities of the world.

According to two English investigators, heating soil by steam before planting seed increases its food value, plants raised therein blossom earlier and produce more and better fruit.

AEROBUS SERVICE BEGUN IN FLORIDA.

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 2.—The first daily aeroplane and express service between two cities in the South, possibly in the country, was opened yesterday with a successful flight of a hydro-aeroplane from St. Petersburg, Fla., across the bay to Tampa, an air line distance of eighteen miles. A. C. Phell, former mayor of St. Petersburg, was the passenger. The flight was made in twenty-three minutes, at an average height of eighty feet above the water. The return of the boat was made at the same average speed. A small amount of baggage also is carried at a specific pound rate. If a passenger weighs more than 200 pounds an extra charge of 5 cents per pound is made.

KITCHI GAMMI HOUSE-WARMING IS A MOST BRILLIANT AFFAIR

New Building Scene of Many Dinner Parties Which Precede Formal Opening Ball.

The brilliancy of the opening New Year's ball at the new Kitchi Gammi club home last evening surpassed anything that has been seen in the city since the season in Duluth, unless it was the charity ball.

The club was thrown open from top to bottom, and many dinner parties preceded the ball. No special attempt at decorating was made, the club itself being of sufficient interest to need no embellishment. The handsome chandelier was presented by George H. Crosby, and another, also of exquisite workmanship, presented by George G. Harmon, with special centers of interest. Jacquenot roses and red carnations in bright little clusters centered the dining tables, and during the dinner hour the Scottish Rite quartet sang.

Among those entertaining at dinner parties were Mrs. A. M. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Constable, Mr. and Mrs. B. Peyton, Mr. and Mrs. George A. French, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Stratton, Mr. and Mrs. G. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. McDougall.

Following the dinner there was dancing in the ballroom. The list of those present during the evening included nearly every member of the club who was in the city.

Unprotected Hatpin Points Under Ban in Paris.

From Paris, that so-called fashion center of the world, where we have been led to believe, anything that went under the name of woman's styles was permissible, comes news of a reform that is more important than may seem upon first reading.

Paris has banned the unprotected hatpin point, and from the time the order went into effect the police officers of the French metropolis had instructions to halt before a woman wearing a hat pin with its point not properly protected.

You can imagine that this would be a difficult thing for a French policeman to do, for French policemen are of course, more polite than American or English policemen.

As a matter of fact, it is said, they have had no occasion to enforce the order, for it was announced far enough in advance to give the Parisian women time to prepare for the emergency.

This is a small matter, but one that really is worthy of more attention than has been given to it. There is no doubt that long, sharply pointed hatpins are dangerous to other persons than the wearers. If it were otherwise, perhaps something might be done about it.

I have been on crowded street cars, where persons were standing in the aisles and hanging onto straps, when a long, pointed hatpin has threatened my peace of mind and my safety all the way home. I am a woman, and yet it annoyed me.

I could not help but wonder how the men feel about it, when they are placed in similar circumstances. Hatpins we women must have, but there is no good reason why we should not fortify ourselves with the proper protection for others. There are simple contrivances made which solve the problem simply and with almost no cost.

Let's all join the society for the elimination of the hatpin menace.

spendence with either of them have accomplished in the stock market what we hope in the future to provide in Duluth.

It was the consensus of opinion of the committee that education and research work would probably be all the women placed in charge of this work could hope to effect for a few months—combined with an effort to obtain co-operation from the Commercial club, Associated Charities, Humane society and other bodies interested along social lines.

The mayor has already committed himself as being heartily in sympathy with the movement for a city and county hospital, and has also pledged their hearty co-operation, should the Woman's council decide to take the lead in this great humanitarian movement.

"Respectfully submitted,"

E. A. BARROWS, Chairman.

Smoke Nuisance.

Several other interesting reports were given during the meeting. Mrs. P. L. De Voist speaking on the "Smoke Nuisance." She said that this was really a problem for engineers and one to be taken up by the city council, but the council decided to refer the committee to work on educational lines and educate the question.

Mrs. De Voist stated that approximately $600,000 is lost annually in the United States by the smoke nuisance, and advocated as one method of improving the situation the establishment of proper heating plants in buildings and a campaign to see that engineers know how best to run them.

Miss Victoria Ersson gave an interesting report of the child labor situation and said that there were 831 children under the age of 16 employed in the state. She spoke of the establishment of night schools for the children who must work in the day time and of the plan of giving scholarships to children as a source of income in cases of need where the child is made to feel that he is earning money by going to school and getting good reports.

Mrs. A. J. Stewart told of the educational work in the jails which reaches out to a wide circle of usefulness. She told of the need of money and clothing for discharged prisoners. The one big problem she said was their ignorance and if we can give them a little knowledge, we are helping them to a better life.

It was also decided to hold the annual civic banquet and the annual hotel the third week in January and the committee was instructed to make out the program of tourists.

Method-Sullivan.

A New Year's party was that of Miss Cecile Johanna Method, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor R. Method, of 225 South Fifth street, which took place at 7.30 p. m. at the St. Paul Catholic church. Rev. Father Lynch officiating. Only immediate relatives were present.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and her gown was of white satin with oyster of white silk voile hung with shadow and pearls. Her veil was caught with a shower arrangement of lilies of the valley and bride roses.

Miss Katherine Cotton was maid of honor and her gown was of pink satin. Miss Irene Lambert of St. Paul was bridesmaid. Her gown was of pink crepe de chine. Both attendants carried pink Killarney roses.

Mrs. Alfred Lyons played the wedding music and M. J. Filiatrault sang preceding the ceremony. The church was decorated with roses and carnations.

A wedding-breakfast was served following the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Sullivan, 125 North Fifth street, where the bride and groom were entertained. Christmas decorations were used there.

Method was assisted by Mrs. J. J. Sullivan and Gordon Method attended the ceremony. The bride and groom were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Noonan of St. Paul and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Sullivan of Duluth.

Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan will be at home at 125 North Fifth street, Duluth, on Saturday afternoon, January 3, from 2 to 4 p. m. after their return from a short wedding trip.

BREAKING THE EGG MARKET

Housewives' League Will Sell Eggs at 33 Cents.

Large Shipment Is Brought From Southern Part of State.

Fresh eggs at 33 cents a dozen—and they are guaranteed to be absolutely fresh eggs, received directly from farmers in the southern part of the state.

This is the offer the Duluth branch of the Housewives' league is making for tomorrow morning to the women of Duluth. This is one of the tangible results of the work of the women of the league, and the sale has been arranged by them. A large number of cases of absolutely fresh eggs have been received and the eggs will be sold by the dozen tomorrow morning in a room in the Michigan street floor of the Alworth building, which has been offered to the women by Mr. Alworth.

This is the second of the sales arranged by the league, only a few cases having been received about two weeks ago. The eggs were sold from the homes of two of the members at 15 cents a dozen, that price just paying for the eggs and the cartons used in putting them up, leaving a profit of about 6 cents for the league.

The aim of the league is the reduction of the cost of living and the sale of the eggs is a part of this plan. There is a saving in dealing directly with the producer.

Indians, Jan. 2.—One hundred and three years old, Joseph Lomax, the oldest editor, railroad president and attorney in the United States, celebrated his birthday recently. He is the oldest thirty-second degree Mason, a sublime prince of the royal secret in the 1840s, and also the oldest Knight Templar.

Friends called on the veteran to extend party last evening at her home in Lincoln, Neb., where he is a student at the law school of the University of Nebraska.

Norman Gault, who has been spending two weeks at her home at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Irene C. Buell, of the Buffalo apartments, left yesterday for Lincoln, Neb., where he is a student at the law school of the University of Nebraska.

PUTS TWO HOLD-UP MEN TO ROUT

Ole Elgstrom Saves Cash
By Use of Foot and Teeth.

By kicking one man in the stomach and biting the other in the finger, Ole Elgstrom, 15 Chestnut street, this morning is about $50 "to the good." Elgstrom was returning home at 8 o'clock last night, when he was accosted by the two men at the corner of Twenty-fifth avenue west and First street, who demanded his money. The request was met with a heave of Elgstrom's right foot, which would have done credit to an experienced football player. The foot landed in the region of the abdomen of the larger of the two men and laid him out. The other jumped upon Elgstrom, but the latter quickly grabbed his hand and set his teeth sharply into one of his assailant's fingers.

FRENCH CLUB WILL CELEBRATE

Program Prepared for Commemorating Sixth Anniversary.

The French Naturalization club will celebrate the sixth anniversary of its organization at the French hall, twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, tonight. A program of athletic exhibitions, speaking and installation of officers, to be followed by refreshments, has been planned. Among the principal speakers will be two of the men who were instrumental in founding the club. These are Rene Perrault of Crosby and A. J. Veillot of this city. Two wrestling matches between men aspirants of the West end will feature the program. The installation of officers will take place at 9 o'clock. The new officers to be inducted into office will be: Peter Grignon, president; John Carlier, vice president; Joseph Morris, second vice president; Albert Woods, secretary; Edward Grignon, corresponding secretary; Joseph Morris, treasurer; A. J. Veillot, Francis Robitaille and Joseph Bourdais, trustees; Louis La Montagne, secretary.

ANNIVERSARY TO BE CELEBRATED

The congregation of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, will celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of the church on Sunday, Jan. 11. A program commemorating the event is being arranged. In the morning at 10:30 o'clock a history of the church will be read by Miss Minnie Miller. Pioneer members of the church will give some of their early recollections of the struggle in building up the church organization in this end of the city. At 5:30 p. m. an informal reception will be held, following which short talks will be given by some of the local pastors. At the evening service at 7:30 o'clock talks will be given by W. B. Patton and heads of the various societies of the church on "The Possibilities of the Future." Rev. Minnie Fish will preach on "The Mission of the Central Baptist Church."

HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING.

Swedish Mission Church Makes Reports and Elects Officers.

The Swedish mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, held its annual meeting yesterday afternoon. The past year has been very successful. The church has no debts and some money in the treasury. The following officers were elected:

Fred W. Erickson, president; E. G. Ek, vice president; J. W. Johnson, secretary; Albin Carlson, secretary of finance. For the Sunday school: Fred W. Erickson, superintendent; Emil Nyberg, assistant. East end Sunday school—John Beckman, superintendent; John Turnquist and Nels Turnquist, assistants. Trustees for the Swedish mission church—C. G. Anderson, Erick Carlson, Emil Jorlin, E. H. Fallgren, Herbert A. Lundgren, Henry Nelson and Nels Pearson. The trustees elected Herbert T. Lundgren as treasurer. The following are the deacons of the church: L. M. Johnson, alder; Gust Heim, Charles Erickson, Charles Nelson, William Nelson, Pete Olson, P. A. Philstrom, Fred Soderlund.

WILL MAKE PLANS FOR INSTALLATION

Yeomen Will Arrange for Annual Banquet and Ceremonies.

Complete plans for the joint installation and banquet to be held by the Duluth Homestead, No. 3131, American Brotherhood of Yeomen, on Monday night, Jan. 26, will be made at the meeting of the lodge next Monday night. The committee to have charge of the affair will be named. The installation of the Duluth homestead of the West end and the Non-Exceller homestead of West Duluth will take place at the Woodmen hall on the banquet night. The ceremonies will take place at 8 o'clock. At 9 o'clock the members will go to the Rex hotel where they will spend two hours over the banquet table.

West End Briefs.
Albert Brecker of Dayton, Ohio, former resident of the West end, is returning to his home in Dayton, Ohio, after a visit to the city. He is accompanied by his wife and daughter. Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Velquist of Minneapolis, who have been guests of relatives in this end of the city over the holidays, left last evening for their home. Russell Dice, who has been spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Dice, 2702 West Fourth street, will leave tomorrow to resume his studies at the Minnesota university. Mr. and Mrs. August Engstrom of Two Harbors have returned home after spending a few days visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Yernberg, 2105 West Third street. Mrs. F. E. Schreiner and daughter, Violet, of Two Harbors, who have been visiting relatives in the West end, left yesterday for their home.

FIGHT DUEL, THEN PAIR SHAKE HANDS

Two Butte Friends Quarrel Over Woman, One Losing Arm.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 2.—Armed, one with a rifle and the other with a revolver, John Leibe and Carl Marquardt, fast friends for years, fought in their rooming house yesterday afternoon because Marquardt had ridden from a New Year's celebration in a taxicab with Mrs. Wilma Leibe, their landlady, and had left Leibe behind.

The men fired seven shots in all and Leibe is in the hospital with a shattered arm which may have to be amputated. After the shooting the men embraced and shook hands, declaring they had no further cause to quarrel.

Marquardt took Leibe to the hospital, after which he went to bed and slept until he was awakened by the police. Mrs. Leibe explained she wanted to take both men in the taxicab, but there was not room.

FIGHT MONTREAL FIRE WITH SNOW.

Montreal, Jan. 2.—Fire in the section of the city suffering from a water famine because of a broken supply main caused damage yesterday estimated at $100,000.

The firemen were compelled to stretch lines of hose almost a mile to get water with which to fight the flames. The snow from the streets was used for a time as a makeshift. A supply of dynamite was brought up for use in case the blaze gained threatening headway, but the good work of the firemen yesterday saved inflammable material in the path of the flames and the fire was extinguished without the use of explosives.
The temperature was around the zero mark.

New York, Jan. 2.—A policy of si-turing their administration of branches of city government during their first few months in office was suggested to appointing by John Purroy Mitchel upon his inauguration as mayor.

"We will develop our program slowly," Mr. Mitchel announced in the presence of some of his cabinet, the retiring mayor and others who gathered at the city hall to see the new executive take office. "It will not be necessary to go to the people of the city every day to tell them what we propose to do. It is better for us to wait a little while and then go to them and tell them what we are doing and I advise them to follow the policy which I have outlined for myself, namely, silence for a few months until we have developed our plans further and can come to the people and point to some accomplishment."

Mayor Mitchel urged "team work" among the department heads, and promised the fulfillment of the campaign pledges given by the Fusion party which elected him to office.

DULUTHIAN "GETS HIS" IN SUPERIOR

Physician Is Arrested Twice, Rides in Patrol, Knocks Out a Policeman and Is Fined.

A Duluth doctor "got his" in Superior a few nights ago in a way which makes him gnash his teeth whenever he thinks about it.

He was arrested twice within half an hour on charges of disturbing the peace and of being drunk. He was knocked out by a police officer and he had been called by some friends Superior to take the place of a boy who had mistaken himself for a savings bank and had swallowed a penny.

They reside at the Superior hotel and when the Duluth doctor drove up to the hotel in his auto he determined that inasmuch as he would not be long he would leave his motor running so that the water in the radiator would not freeze. Leaving the motor of an unoccupied machine running is against the statutes made and provided in Wisconsin—and in Minnesota.

After he got through with his case, the doctor met a number of Superior medics in the hotel lobby and they stepped into the bar and had a New Year's drink. When he came out of the hotel a policeman was standing by the machine waiting for the owner.
He told the doctor that he was under arrest and explained why. The physician sought to argue the matter but there was nothing doing and the policeman, who had lost his temper by that time, would not permit the doctor to drive the machine to headquarters, claiming after getting a whiff of the doctor's breath, that he was in no condition to drive. This caused more argument with the result that the policeman called the patrol wagon and the doctor was hauled into it and taken to the station where he was booked as drunk and disorderly, charged with leaving his motor running and with resisting an officer. When the officer in the patrol wagon started to search him, the doctor refused to permit them to go through some of his private papers and a lively time ensued. At any rate he was fined $15 for leaving his motor running.

RECALLS NEW YEAR EXCURSION OF 1886

Trip From Duluth to Two Harbors Made By R.
G. Stewart.

Twenty-eight years ago yesterday many Duluthians observed the holiday by taking an excursion trip from Duluth to Two Harbors on the steamer
R. G. Stewart. The boat left Duluth at 9 o'clock on the morning of New Year's day and returned from Two Harbors at 2:30 o'clock the same afternoon.

This interesting fact was recalled yesterday by R. C. Bartlett of this city, who found among some old papers a large handbill advertising the "Grand New Year's Day Excursion" for 1886. The Stewart was in command of James Sullivan. Among other things the circular stated:

"This is the first of a series of excursions to be given by Holt's Duluth

END INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, GAS, SOUR STOMACH—PAPE'S DIAEPSIN

Time It! In Five Minutes Your Upset Stomach Will Feel Fine.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diaepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach troubles have made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store, and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, causes headache, dizziness and nausea, eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diaepsin comes in contact with the stomach, all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in relieving the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

Without discussion on the floor, having been approved previously by the executive council, Prof. Brooks and other leaders said the movement was a result of the recent action of a well-known university in dismissing a professor of economics who had helped along a piece of progressive state legislation to which the conservative officers of the university were opposed.

Washington, Jan. 2.—Steps to insure perfect freedom of thought and speech for professors of political science in all American universities will be undertaken by a committee appointed here at the closing session of the tenth annual meeting of the American Political Science Association. The association adopted a resolution submitted by Prof. R. C. Brooks of Swarthmore college, providing for the appointment of a committee of three to "examine and report upon the present situation in American educational institutions as to the liberty of thought, freedom of speech and security of tenure for teachers of political science." The committee was authorized to cooperate with similar bodies of other societies of the social sciences.

Based on Actual Cases.

AFTER SICKNESS OR OPERATION

It is a pathetic mistake to accept drugs or alcoholic mixtures when nature craves nourishment to repair the wasted body and restore the vigor of health.

For forty years the best physicians have relied on the wholesome predigested nourishment in SCOTT'S EMULSION which is totally free from alcohol or opiates.

Scott's Emulsion sharpens the appetite—renews blood—nourishes nerves—strengthens bones and restores the courage of health to make life bright.

Scott's Emulsion sets in action the very forces that promote health. Its purity, richness and strength has stood the test of forty years.

MARKET IS LEFT BARE

Holiday Produce Trade Is Reported the Heaviest in Years.

Receipts of Eggs Liberal—Butter Prices Hold Firm.

Duluth produce dealers reported the heaviest aggregate New Year's trade in years and in most lines supplies were practically cleaned up. That was especially the case in poultry, and though receipts were liberal, the market was left practically bare on Wednesday afternoon. As is usual at New Year's the heaviest came upon hens and chickens in which the class of fowl marketed by fanciers through the district was all that was desired. There was also a good call for turkeys, with the result that some dealers were entirely out of stock early in the week.

Poultry offerings for today and tomorrow are said to be sufficient to cover current demands, and quotations through the list are on the same basis as a week ago.

Purveyors of meats comment on a greatly improved inquiry since the coming of colder weather, with shipments to the lumber camps now in substantial volume. The market in beef and veal is strong with the latter up $\frac{1}{2}$ a pound. There is also up slightly. Quotations in lamb and mutton are steady, and lamb is off a fraction.

Receipts of fresh eggs are advised to be now fairly liberal and are said to be about sufficient to cover consumption requirements at going prices. As storage stocks are somewhat limited, it is pointed out by the trade that the first touch of severe cold weather must inevitably lead to a cutting down of supplies and a consequent enhancement in prices. In the meantime quotations on fresh eggs remain at 34 and 35 cents a dozen, with fancy April storage nominal at 30 $\frac{1}{2}$ cent.

The make of fresh butter is said to be showing improvement, but quotations are firm at 35 $\frac{3}{4}$ cents for the best creamery butter. Butter is pointed out by the trade that the first touch of severe cold weather must inevitably lead to a cutting down of supplies and a consequent enhancement in prices. In the meantime quotations on fresh eggs remain at 34 and 35 cents a dozen, with fancy April storage nominal at 30 $\frac{1}{2}$ cent.

Apples, oranges and pineapples are the features in fruits. In barrel apples, Missouri Ben Davis, the Jonathans are offering in good quality at 45 and 46 a barrel respectively. New York state barrel fruit is still to be had in Kings, Baldwins, russets and Hubertsons. Western barrel apples continue in exceptionally nice choice.

While the market is stronger at California shipping points, no advances have as yet been made by the Duluth trade. Orange shipments from California are falling off and with a short yield in the Southern districts of the state, growers are holding back in expectation of a higher market. Quotations in cranberries are firm as a result of the light supplies now available at shipping points. Florida grapefruit is a big feature at present.

Potatoes Market Stronger. The market in potatoes is stronger, with 68 cents being paid farmers at points through this district. An advance is predicted as soon as the weather interferes with shipments. Cabbage is selling higher on account of supplies having passed from growers into storage hands.

A splendid choice is available in California, Florida and Louisiana vegetables, the list including cauliflower, beans, celery, cucumbers, shallots, endive, lettuce, beets, spinach, sprouts and tomatoes.

JEAN DU LUTH COW MAKES STATE RECORD.

Another cow at the Jean du Luth farm has made a butter-fat producing record. This one is known as Starlight Colby, and she has made a new production record of 22 $\frac{1}{2}$ pounds of butterfat in 30 days. She produced during the year ending yesterday 633 $\frac{1}{2}$ pounds of butterfat. The cow was purchased from the Jean du Luth farm's cattle herd in 1912.

The Jean du Luth farm's cattle herd made four records within a year and a half—two state and two world's records.

Liner Swept by Seas. New York, Jan. 2.—Seas that washed one man from the bridge to the water and swept two others aft from the bow of the vessel, were met by the American liner New York on Christmas eve after leaving Queenstown.

The ship was hit by a heavy sea, and yesterday, her quartermaster was laid up with a broken leg and an able seaman was hurt recovering from an ankle wound, the injuries being sustained as a big wave hurled them against a railing.

OPENS CHICAGO HOME FOR UNEMPLOYED MEN

Chicago, Jan. 2.—The Rufus F. Dawes hotel, Chicago's first endowed home for the unemployed, was opened last night, and two hours later its capacity of 300 guests was reached.

In mid-afternoon a small knot of men gathered in front of the new building. They formed the lines of the unemployed humanity which grew until they extended for a block in either direction.

There were more than 100 in line when the last bed was taken.

The hotel was opened by Charles G. Dawes, former controller of the currency, who built the hotel as a memorial to his son, who was interested in sociological work. The Junior Dawes was drowned more than a year ago.

ELIOT HEADS SCIENCE MEN

Minnesota Professor Is Elected Head of Physics Department.

Fake Radium Cures Denounced at Meeting By Alsberg.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 2.—Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard university, late last night was chosen president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, in annual session here, Philadelphia.

W. A. Worsham of Georgia university was elected general secretary and Dr. Henry Skinner of the Academy of Natural Science, Philadelphia, secretary of the council.

W. A. Worsham, vice president, was chosen, to be in charge of the various sections of the association: Mathematics and astronomy, Dr. H. S. White, Vassar college; physics, Prof. A. Zeilen, University of Minnesota; mechanical science and engineering, Alfred Noble, New York city; geology and geography, Prof. U. S. Grant, Northwestern university; zoology, Prof. E. R. Lilley, University of Chicago; botany, Dr. G. E. Clinton, Yale.

Death Rate in Mines. Lack of co-operation between mine owners and miners, deficient state and national regulations of the mining industry, were blamed for the high death rate among mine employees by Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, director of the United States bureau of mines, in an address before the mechanical science section.

"The death rate among miners," said Dr. Holmes, "is a national disgrace. For the past three or four years we have been making progress in favor of greater safety, and there has been a considerable reduction in the death rate. We have not made the progress we should have made. During 1913 we have taken a decided step backward. The death rate in our coal mines during 1913 is probably 16 per cent greater than that of 1912. Let us hope this going backward is temporary. If it continues, the country will soon see legislation more drastic than we have yet believed possible."

Country Has Gone Backward. "Some of the causes and remedies of this going backward are as follows: "First—The bad economic conditions under which bituminous coal mines in the United States are now operated are such as to encourage rather than discourage hazardous and wasteful mining."

"Second—The coal mine owners and miners, with a few notable exceptions, do not co-operate with each other as fully as they should in making arrangements for better regulations for safety."

"Third—The state should have more and effective inspection laws, and should give better support to their enforcement."

"Fourth—The national government is unfortunately far behind the needs of the situation in its investigation in behalf of mines safety. The national bureau is unable to meet the demand from miners and inspectors for information used in safe-guarding life in the mines. It has not for use in this work a building or laboratory worthy of the cause. It has not at its disposal the necessary funds."

FRUIT LAXATIVE IF CONSTIPATED, TAKE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Best Liver and Bowel Regulator for Mamma, Daddy and Children.

If you're headachy, constipated, bilious or stomach is disordered and you want to enjoy the nicest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced, take a tablespoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" to-night and in the morning all the constipation, poison, bile and clogged-up waste will gently move out of the system without gripping and you will feel splendid.

Every member of the family should use this fruit laxative as occasion demands. It is just as effective for disposal sufficient money or equipment to enable it to meet urgent demands.

Science and Commerce. Applied science will overcome any disadvantages which tariff reduction or dissolution of great business concerns may bring, according to Dr. Robert Kennedy Duncan, head of the Mellon institute of applied science, Pittsburgh.

"With the high degree of utilization of waste materials that can be obtained by scientific methods," Dr. Duncan told one of the sections, "American manufacturers need not fear foreign competition of a reduced tariff, and the great loss of money through the slack business methods of great combines can readily be recuperated through the application of scientific methods, in case of dissolution by the government."

How grand opera can be satisfactorily rendered in English was outlined in a sectional address by Dr. Dayton C. Miller of the Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland.

ILLINOIS RAILROAD MEN ASK REFORMS.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 2.—The Illinois legislative board of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen elected the following officers: Chairman, A. D. Burbank, Springfield; vice chairman, N. B. Jones, Bloomington; secretary, W. A. Robinson, Chicago.

Resolutions were adopted recommending grandpa as it is for baby. It simply can not injure. Even cross, sick, feverish children just love its pleasant taste and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to effect a good "inside cleansing."

For thirty years "California Syrup of Figs" has been recommended by physicians as the ideal stomach, liver and bowel cleanser. Millions of families who are well informed use nothing else, but recently there has come a flood of spurious fig syrups, so we warn the public to ask plainly at drug stores for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," and see that it is prepared by "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no cheaper size. Hand back any "counterfeit" with contempt.

SEAL IS KILLED NEAR BROOKLYN.

New York, Jan. 2.—The first seal ever known to have been seen in waters near this city, was killed in Gravesend bay, Brooklyn, yesterday.

Two fishermen, while rowing about 400 feet off shore, saw the animal moving a few feet under the surface. One of them stunned it with a boat hook. A heavy layer of fat showed that the seal had suffered no privations on its journey into these waters.

THE SNOWSTORM.

Nature began auspiciously a new year full of glowing hope and promise, by sending a snowstorm.

It is welcome. The loggers need it. The ground needs it. The perennial borders and the shrubberies and rose-beds need it. The fields need it. Winter business generally needs it, for winter business is unsparingly enough with no snow on the ground and the thermometer refusing to get much below the freezing point. Winter business generally, too, needs the below-zero weather that might naturally be expected to follow in the wake of a snowstorm. So do the loggers.

It was a bully snowstorm, doubly welcome because it was so long delayed, because it came on a holiday when few had to get out and encounter it, though it was good fun to breast it and plow around in it and wallow in it—at least so report the youngsters, and some oldsters who refuse to say good-bye to the spirit of youth. It did its work quietly, steadily, surely, with energy and dispatch; and it did it thoroughly.

The world, in its new garb of white, greeted the second day of the new year with joyous courage and happy industry.

Now comes a proposition to make a substitute for rubber coats of holly. It would seem much more appropriate to use mistletoe for that.

FLINGING AWAY HOPE.

Burton, in his "Anatomy of Melancholy," tells a story to illustrate the influence of gold upon the human mind.

He relates that a man once went to hang himself, but found a pot of gold and went off rejoicing, flinging away his rope.

But the man who had hid the gold came and found it gone, and in his despair hung himself with the other man's rope.

Obviously, the first man's despair was superficial, or it could not have been cured so speedily, even by a pot of gold.

Obviously, too, the second man gave gold too high a place of importance, when the loss of his gold flung him so deeply into the abyss of despair that he hung himself.

But there is much human nature in the fable. And many lessons.

If the man with the rope had carried out his plan a yard sooner in his path, he would have missed the pot of gold; and therefore a trifle would have caused his death.

The man in despair should remember that it is always darkest just before the dawn; and that a pot of golden hope may lie but a yard beyond him in his path.

He should keep hope, keep hoping. While there's life there's hope; and he is a fool who flings hope away.

After that shipwreck experience, Mme. Nordica might make a hit by swelling her repertoire with "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep."

HEARST AND MEXICO.

The Hearst papers continue to clamor for intervention in Mexico.

The Hearst interests have large holdings in Mexico; but perhaps this is merely a coincidence.

To what lengths the Hearst influences will go to gain their ends, however unworthy, has just been strikingly illustrated.

Recently the New York American printed a picture of some children of dark complexion standing in water with their hands held above their heads. With this photograph appeared the following explanation:

As proof of an almost unbelievable state of barbarity he found to exist in Mexico, Russell Hastings Milward, an English traveler, fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, London, sends the photograph here shown to the New York American. Parents of these children, Mr. Milward states, had been killed by Federal soldiers. The children were driven into the water, forced to hold their hands above their heads, and shot in the back. Note the terror in the face of the one child who partly faces the shore.

So much for the Hearst paper and its campaign to water Mexican soil with American blood.

Now listen to Mr. Milward. The picture shown in the American, he says, was taken in British Honduras, not in Mexico. Its represents a number of Carib children bathing, and the children were posed with their hands held above their heads in order to show to better advantage their fine physical development.

Mr. Milward did not send the photograph to the American, but loaned it at the urgent request of a representative of the American. Moreover, Mr. Milward carefully explained the circumstances under which the picture was taken, and the place, and offered to write out a suitable caption to accompany it. This the representative of the Hearst newspaper refused, saying that he had a good memory and could be trusted to look out for that.

Judging from Mr. Milward's disinterested statement the possibility of error, though always present, is negligible. Nor will those familiar with the Hearst newspaper methods take much stock in any theory of error.

Perhaps Hearst knew nothing of it. Perhaps the editor who was responsible for the appearance of the picture and of the caption was misled by a reporter. Such things have happened.

But the incident should go far to discredit the attempts of the Hearst newspapers to bully the nation into armed interference in Mexican difficulties and to defame the administration for its failure to heed the evil council of those newspapers.

The contradictory nature of the lame duck system is well illustrated by the fact that when a politician was put out of commission, he was quickly put on a commission.

SOCIAL JUSTICE AND STATE CONSTITUTIONS.

The advantage of a written Constitution is that it affords a stable basis on which to erect a foundation of statute law.

Its disadvantage is that its inelasticity often obstructs and prevents real social justice.

California is initiating a constitutional amendment that will provide a state-wide eight-hour law, if the people approve it next November.

The purpose is good. The method may be harmful.

The Springfield Republican makes this suggestion: "But do such matters belong in a Constitution, whether Federal or state? The principle, says one California advocate of the amendment, is a righteous one. But what is the principle? Apparently embarrassed at that point, he proceeds, rather lamely: 'No man or woman should be compelled to work more than one-third of a day at any labor.' Is that a natural law? Must the twenty-four hours be so harmoniously divided? But in that case how can we be sure that nature meant that man should labor more than a fourth or a sixth of the day? It is not so long ago that a half-day was the lot of many; how long will a third of the day suffice for the Constitution?"

Suppose California fixes the eight-hour day in its Constitution. Eight hours is long enough for anybody to labor. No fault is to be found with the attempt to make that the limit of a day's work. But suppose that improvements in machinery, conditions of greater social justice, disarmament and the release into active productive usefulness of the millions now kept out of industry by the folly of preparedness for war, bring it about that six hours or five constitute a day's labor ample enough?

Then California will have the eight-hour day rigidly fixed in its Constitution, and it will have to go through the pain and trouble and delay of another constitutional amendment.

Such laws have no place in a Constitution.

A just Constitution will permit the enactment of such laws whenever conditions warrant them. Its provisions should be general in terms, broad enough to permit an eight-hour day when conditions warrant that, and a six-hour day when that is possible.

Constitutions should not obstruct the enactment of any reasonable law for social justice and fair working conditions. Neither should constitutional amendments to bring about what is just today be so framed as to stand in the way of what may be just tomorrow.

Down in Boston some eight thousand people got free rides on street cars by slipping campaign advertising cards into the little box instead of car tickets. And to think it took Boston to find some real use in that kind of advertising matter!

THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE.

Talk about revision of the tariff—what the English-speaking people need is a revision of the language.

There is getting to be too much of it for any use.

A new dictionary of the English language, just out, contains nearly half a million words.

This is a far cry from the year 1616, when John Bullock, the first English lexicographer, issued his "Complimentary English Dictionary" with a few more than five thousand words in it. The rate of growth in three centuries, therefore, is four new words a day.

It was bad enough when a dictionary was issued in the latter part of the nineteenth century containing two hundred thousand words; but four hundred and fifty thousand words is too, too much.

No human mind can know so many words. The average individual of fair education gets along pretty comfortably with a vocabulary of a very few thousand words. The number of people able to express their wants and thoughts with vocabularies limited to a few hundred words is enormous.

The Congressional Record is too bulky already. The flow of after-dinner oratory and stump-speaking is torrential enough in all conscience. The world is being drowned in a deluge of words, in which the islands of real thought are rare as oases in a desert.

Where do all the words come from? New inventions each bring a little corps of new words in their train. Science is adding formidable polysyllables yearly. Slang is graduating constantly a large crop of new words seeking and gaining the polite society of the dictionary. The slang word which today's dictionary rejects with scorn demands its place in tomorrow's dictionary, and gets it.

What is needed is a revision of the language—a cutting out of dead wood, an excision of superfluous verbiage. If about seventy-five per cent of the words in the new dictionary could be thrown out and forgotten thought would be clearer and misunderstandings among men would be fewer.

The idea of a propaganda for the revision of the language should be suggested to Mr. Carnegie before he spends all this money.

Egypt exported nearly two million dollars' worth of onions last year. The fact that they can raise them there only makes Cleopatra's pearl-drinking stunt seem all the more foolish.

Mail Order and Parcel Post.

Louisville Courier-Journal: Some of the large mail order houses in Chicago were opposed to the establishment of the parcel post, possibly not without good reason. They were selling enormous quantities of goods by express and the public was paying the freight. From their individual standpoint they were pleased with the situation.

Some of these same mail order houses, according to recent reports, are now clamoring for the parcel post. Their small orders, they say, have increased rapidly, but there has been a slump in the large orders. This probably is due to the fact that merchants in smaller cities and towns all over the country are turning to the parcel post as a good medium for enlarging their trade and have gone to work to beat the Chicago mail order houses at their own game.

The parcel post, in a manner, equalizes competition. It gives the enterprising merchant in the small town an opportunity to increase his business at the expense of the Chicago mail order firms which have been the bane of the local merchant for years past. Parcel post rates increase with distance. The local merchant can serve his customers more cheaply by the parcel post than can the Chicago merchant. It is simply a question of the local merchant's ability to meet the competition and putting forth his efforts to build up a remunerative mail order business. He can do it if he tries hard enough.

Localities are reached by the parcel post which are not reached by the express. The parcel post is a delivery route almost everywhere and the Federal Government is kept busy meeting the public demand for more. The development of the parcel post business has just begun. Such business is destined to grow enormously. The local merchant is the one to benefit. It is a question of the local merchant's ability to meet the competition and putting forth his efforts to build up a remunerative mail order business. He can do it if he tries hard enough.

Competition That Kills

Louis D. Brandeis in Harper's Weekly.

The evil of price-cutting is far-reaching. It is sometimes urged that price-cutting of a trade marked article injures no one; that the producer is not injured, since he received his full price in the original sale to jobber or retailer; and indeed may be benefited by increased sales, since lower prices ordinarily stimulate trade; that the retailer cannot be harmed since he has cut the price voluntarily; that the consumer is surely benefited because he gets the article cheaper. But this reasoning is most superficial and misleading.

To sell a Dollar Ingersoll watch for 67 cents injures both the manufacturer and the regular dealer; because it tends to make the public believe that either the manufacturer or the dealer's profits are ordinarily exorbitant; or, in other words, that the watch is not worth a dollar. Since the cut necessarily impairs the reputation of the article and by impairing reputation, lessens the demand, it may be said that the manufacturer or the dealer's profits are ordinarily exorbitant; or, in other words, that the watch is not worth a dollar. Since the cut necessarily impairs the reputation of the article and by impairing reputation, lessens the demand, it may be said that the manufacturer or the dealer's profits are ordinarily exorbitant; or, in other words, that the watch is not worth a dollar.

On the other hand, the consumer's gain from price-cutting is only sporadic. The few who buy the article at a standard article for less than its value do benefit—unless they have, at the same time, been misled into thinking that the article is more than its value. But the public generally is the loser; and the losses are often very large. The manufacturer reduces the price to his regular customers in order to attract the trade of the new market. He is tempted to deteriorate the article in order to preserve his own profits. If the manufacturer cannot reduce the price to his regular customers, the dealer and the regular retailer abandon the line, the consumer suffers at the expense of the manufacturer.

The independent producer of an article is not injured by the competition of the manufacturer or grower. He makes contracts to produce, and the manufacturer reduces the price to his regular customers in order to attract the trade of the new market. He is tempted to deteriorate the article in order to preserve his own profits. If the manufacturer cannot reduce the price to his regular customers, the dealer and the regular retailer abandon the line, the consumer suffers at the expense of the manufacturer.

American should be under no illusions as to the value or effect of price-cutting. The competition of the manufacturer or grower is not injured by the competition of the manufacturer or grower. He makes contracts to produce, and the manufacturer reduces the price to his regular customers in order to attract the trade of the new market. He is tempted to deteriorate the article in order to preserve his own profits. If the manufacturer cannot reduce the price to his regular customers, the dealer and the regular retailer abandon the line, the consumer suffers at the expense of the manufacturer.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 2.—(Special to The Herald).—One of the newspaper correspondents had occasion the other evening to call on Joe Tumulty, the president's secretary, at his home. Tumulty's residence calls for going through the White House exchange, and there seemed to be some difficulty in getting a proper connection. The man who answered the phone was some night watchman with an almost unintelligible Irish brogue. Moreover he was an ivory-towered person with even gunnion enough to hang up the receiver and give the operator another chance. He persisted in asking a lot of stupid questions, until the newspaper man greatly desired to kill him.

When they finally got another connection, matters were even worse, for this time an old woman answered the phone. She, too, talked with the same hard head of hearing. She would not get anything through her head at all.

The correspondent hung up and tried over a different line, but it seemed as if the telephone exchange had been moved to some corner of the White House instead of getting Tumulty, the correspondent got an Italian—a fruit dealer—it appeared.

"Tumulty?" he asked. "He no works here." The correspondent, of course, was completely exasperated, and began to swear in a rich tenor voice, paying especial mention to the White House exchange. Then he heard a laugh and Tumulty's voice.

It had been Tumulty on the phone all the time, for he is not only a professional kisser, but a great mimic. He can imitate anything from a dog to an ambassador. And one of his favorite amusements is to dress up in a rich tenor voice, paying especial mention to the White House exchange. Then he heard a laugh and Tumulty's voice.

Mr. Uncle Joe Cannon sat in a Washington hotel the other day, calling the first time he ever visited this town after being elected to Congress back in 1872. He was a dress suit at that time, and came what may, he probably always will claim him, but the general public seems to classify him as Bull Moose when outside the state of Minnesota, but Republican within its borders—sort of chameleon-like shift of colors.

"Up to that time," relates Uncle Joe, "I had never seen a man smoke so incessantly as Frye did. He sat in one of the house smoking rooms putting it out nearly all the time, and I soon found out that by sitting around that smoking room listening to Frye and the others talk I could learn more than I could sitting in the house chamber. So I stayed about the smoking room more than I had been in the habit of, although I had some little local reputation out home as a busy smoker."

"There was one thing about Frye that I never forgot. He was the only business man I ever met who visited Washington who remembered my name when I returned the following December. He said, 'I did not know you held it against all the others who did not remember me, but it gave me certain added respect for Frye because he did.'"

Senator John A. Logan of Cannon's state, took young Frye to meet the speaker, who was James G. Blaine. "Mr. Speaker," said Logan, "there is a rather promising young lawyer from my state and I would like to see him get a place on the committee on postoffice and post roads. All I can promise about him is that he seems willing to work."

Blaine looked Cannon over and realized that he seemed like a bright young chap. He later gave him the committee place that Logan had suggested.

The night Cannon learned that he had been appointed to the committee on postoffice and post roads, he put on his new dress suit and went forth in high spirits to a theater. (Copyright, 1913, by Fred C. Kelly. All rights reserved.)

Rights of Witnesses. Rochester, N. The theory upon which the proceeding has no legal basis is that it is the clear and unmistakable duty of the presiding judge in a court of justice to protect a witness.

The witness who has appeared in court in response to a subpoena is based upon false premises. A judge who allows such a witness to be improperly treated is simply following a custom which has no basis in law or equity. It is a proper resentment on the part of truthful and self-respecting witnesses.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Silence Would Have Been Golden. Deerwood Times: The Atkinson Republican seems to be on the wrong side of the fence as far as the Northern Minnesota Development association is concerned. The Republican hasn't been very strong in its association, and accused its members of playing peanut politics at the recent Hemdill meeting. As a result, Northern Minnesota papers in general have taken issue with the Republican and in a very pointed manner have accused that paper of allowing its iron-spoon proclivities to control its sentiments to the N. M. D. A. But it makes no difference what the subject is, there must be some one on the wrong side—only we are sorry that it is the Republican which seems to be in wrong.

A Strong Combination. Cambridge North Star: Henry Rines is of Swedish ancestry, has an Irish name, and possesses a good record. No wonder that it is hard to find anyone to oppose him for state auditor.

You Have the Days Mixed. Warren Register: The Albert Lea Standard Phelan states that "So far the greatest president of all history," sure thing! Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and the rest were only "days" when compared with him. Will this sort of bunk get Brother Day an office under the present administration?

Not So Worn. Anoka Union: Fred Lynch bids fair to land some good plums for the long waiting Democrats after Jan. 1. He seems to be the whole cheese and he is not so worn.

Fully an Important Anyway. Litchfield Independent: Henry Rines' candidacy for state auditor seems to meet with general favor over the state, and the chances are that there will be no opposition to his nomination. The office of state auditor is more important by far than that of governor in regard to the conservation of state and school lands and in other ways.

This May Be a Good Definition. Little Falls Transcript: Some doubt exists in the public mind as to just where Senator Clapp stands politically. The Bull Mooseers claim him, but the general public seems to classify him as Bull Moose when outside the state of Minnesota, but Republican within its borders—sort of chameleon-like shift of colors.

NORTHERN MINNESOTA AND THE LEGISLATURE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In looking over the opinions of the press throughout the state, especially of Northern Minnesota, and also the agitation of the N. W. D. A. and not the least the editorials of The Herald, the development of Northern Minnesota is brought before every voter in this part of the state. That Northern Minnesota is an empire by itself there is no question. That, there is a greater wealth buried in the northern part of the state than there is in the southern part cannot be disputed. The only thing that the northern part lacks is development.

The agricultural resources are the only ones in the southern part of the state. The northern part has agricultural and mineral resources. That the northern part has been sacrificed to develop the southern part, and in the process the taxation of the southern cannot be denied. And what do we get in return? Does the northern part get a fair deal? I say no. The state is sold to settlers and speculators, that is, the surface rights and the mineral rights are reserved and they should be the money derived from both, school lands and swamp lands, is put into the permanent school fund. The school fund is in every instance larger than in northern counties, and most of the income derived from the fund goes to Southern Minnesota.

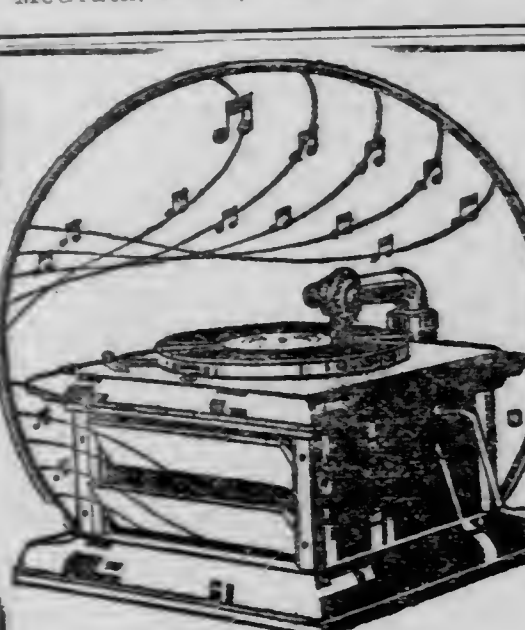

But Southern Minnesota is not satisfied with that. The last legislature passed a law that should be amended at the next session that would remedy the inequality some.

The state road and bridge fund should be divided in such a way to help develop Northern Minnesota. At present every county in the state receives not less than 1 per cent of the road and bridge fund, there being eighty-six counties in the state. There remains 15 per cent of this fund to be placed as the state highway commission sees best. By drawing a line through the state east and west at the sixth parallel we find that about fifty-four counties lie south and thirty-four north. The sooner the state is 50,000 larger than south. Then the state has no holdings south of the sixth parallel. Why should money be put in the state road and bridge fund be spent there?

If the state is to do any aiding to develop the state it should do so in an undeveloped country. Thousands of acres of land in Northern Minnesota were granted to railroads that built in Southern Minnesota. Why should Southern Minnesota not be willing to aid in building wagon roads in Northern Minnesota? The sooner the state lands in Northern Minnesota are sold, the sooner the school fund will grow and the larger the apportionment for each child of school age will be.

Elect a legislature pledged to action, yes, and have them see that the counties that need the most money in roads get three times the amount of money from the state as those with counties with 300,000 acres need more roads than counties with 300,000 acres, and it is in the larger counties where the state lands are located.

THE PALM ROOM

AT THE SPALDING
MOST DELICIOUS AND LUXURIOUS RESTAURANT IN DULUTH.

1,000 GUESTS AT NEW YEAR'S DINNER FOR DULUTH'S POOR

Men, Women and Children Entertained By Salvation Army.

Good Fellowship Prevails Around the Well-Filled Tables.

It is doubtful if the poor of Duluth have ever been entertained so royally or feasted so bountifully as yesterday when 1,000 men, women and children gathered at the Army and were given a start toward a Happy New Year by the Salvation Army.

The tables were heaped high with choice, well-cooked food and a program of speeches and music was furnished throughout the dinner hour. Troubles were forgotten for a time as the guests ate and drank and talked. The governor of the state could hardly have received a more royal welcome than did the guests of the Salvation Army. Some before the doors of the hall, the Salvation Army band of Superior, a corps of excellent musicians, was stationed outside the building and played a program of religious and old-time airs. Fully 200 before the doors were opened, the guests of the Salvation Army were waiting for the dinner.

Children on Crutches. Every age and every condition of poverty were represented. There were widows with shoulders stooped from care and hard work, leading their children to the tables. Several little children walked on crutches. Good were gray haired men who had passed the three-score year and ten mark, young men and boys. Most of them showed marked traces of the battle for an existence. Practically all had on the best clothes they possessed, carefully brushed their hair, and showed that they had done their best to prepare for so unusual an occasion. Outside the snow was falling in sheets and the sidewalks were wet and slippery. Many of the most unfortunate came without overcoats or rubbers and few were warmly clad.

Good Cheer Within. But the cheerfulness of the outside was strongly contrasted with the warmth and good cheer within. The warblers were stationed on the platform, and hymns, patriotic and otherwise, were played. The children were as happy as if they were at a good fellowship on all sides. Various members of the Salvation Army, more than a dozen, and received the guests, speaking words of cheer and escorting the women and children to the tables. All of the women and children were seated first.

Five long tables were placed in the immense room, and all kinds of eatables, from soup to fruit, were served. The tables were covered with white cloths. Loads of provisions were carried from the basement to the dining hall. There were 250 pounds of roasted meats, 200 cans of corn, 150 loaves of bread, 20 pounds of butter, 20 pounds of coffee, 20 gallons of milk and a Salvation Army has put forth herculean efforts to secure funds and necessary preparations for the banquet in addition to the feeding of nearly 1,000 on Christmas. For ham and his assistants have worked untiringly, often late into the night, to make it possible for the poor to have a merry Christmas and a happy New Year. As a result, Duluth's poor have been entertained and fed. The streets have been cleared of the necessities of food, and private subscriptions and donations of great help in filling out the list of necessities.

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Louis County.
Anna M. Benson, administratrix, respondent, vs. Lehigh Valley Coal company, appellant.

1. As between the parties the relation of master and servant does not necessarily terminate by the death of the master, but it does so if the person of the property and business in connection with which the relation arose exists.

2. Where there is no actual change in the management of the business, and it is continued in the same general way after the death of the master, the relation of master and servant continues in no way expressly or otherwise, and the relation of master and servant continues in no way expressly or otherwise, and the relation of master and servant continues in no way expressly or otherwise.

3. The burden to show knowledge on the part of the servant is upon the master.

4. Decedent was in the employ of defendant for several years; defendant transferred its business to a third party on March 1; the management of the business thereafter continued as before, and the defendant was not a party to the transfer.

5. The question whether decedent, the injured servant, was required by the duties of his employment to inspect the machinery and appliances with and about which he performed the same in repair was, on the evidence, one of the facts for the jury.

6. The record presents no reversible error.

Order affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

Hennequin County.
Nick Kees, respondent, vs. Fred Christensen, appellant.

1. A lease of farm land construed and held, definitely to fix the duration thereof, and the evidence tending to show a custom in respect to the date of the termination of such lease was properly excluded by the trial court.

2. Field further, that the evidence was insufficient to sustain the claim that a payment of more than was due for the last two months of the tenancy operated to extend the lease for the period of another year.

Judgment affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

Clay County.
Henry L. Bodkin, respondent, vs. Great Northern Railway company, appellant.

1. Bodkin, respondents, vs. Great Northern Railway company, appellant.

Plaintiffs were the owners of furniture, wearing apparel and ornaments, and a house in a hotel that was destroyed by fire. It is held:

1. The evidence justifies the finding that defendant was negligent in running a locomotive over and cutting a house laid across its tracks on a street, and thus prevented extinguishing the fire.

re-entry by the lessor for conditions broken, and the lessor is entitled to the rent due or to become due is not invalid because providing a penalty for the lessor's breach of conditions.

6. In this case the lessor or his trustee in bankruptcy was not entitled to the recovery of the lessor any part of the advance payment so made.

Order affirmed. BROWN, J.

Ramsey County.
Milton Dairy company, respondent, vs. Great Northern Railway company, et al., defendants; Lyndon A. Smith, appellant.

Action by a creamery company engaged in manufacturing butter from cream, to enjoin certain carriers from complying with, and the attorney general from enforcing, laws 2135, 2136, 2137, regulating the shipment of cream on railroads within the state, on the ground that such act is unconstitutional and compliance therewith would interfere with the supply of cream necessary to its business and that of other manufacturers similarly situated.

escape liability on the theory that the accident was due to the neglect of one of plaintiff's fellow-servants to keep a proper lookout, the case thus presented being merely one in which the latter's negligence concurred with that of defendant in producing the result complained of.

Under the rule that the positive testimony of an unimpeached witness cannot be disregarded except for inherent improbability of the facts and circumstances disclosed, evidence held conclusive that compliance by the other company and its crew with the Federal act requiring the portion of the air on the train to be connected, would not have prevented the accident.

As to such other company, the track on which its crew was operating a train was "fitted" within the provisions of the Federal employer's liability act, though owned by defendant, and under the doctrine of Flood vs. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 169 Minn. 228, it was responsible for its codefendant's negligence in leaving the switch open or unlocked.

Defendant, not having in its record referred to assumption of duty of an unpaid switch, held not entitled to complain of the trial court's failure to submit such question.

Verdict held not excessive on the record properly before this court, but granted to apply to the trial court on evidence discovered since the trial for reconsideration thereof only. In line with the practice of the court in making such application on the question.

INDIANAPOLIS IRON WORKERS ON STRIKE.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 2.—Structural iron workers of this city went on strike yesterday on the contention that their demands for an increase in wages of 5 cents an hour and jurisdiction over scab work, submitted on Sept. 17, have not been acted upon by the contractors. It was said 450 men are affected.

It was pointed out that the strike of the iron workers' union, which is a member of the local building trades council, is counter to an agreement entered into on Dec. 19, last, between the contractors and the trades council, and which provides that all disputes shall be arbitrated and that there shall be no strikes.

FIRST HEAVY FALL OF SNOW

Nearly Eight Inches of Beautiful Since New Year Arrived.

Has Interfered But Little With Traffic—Aid to Loggers.

Approximately eight inches of snow has fallen since yesterday noon, when the first real snow storm of the winter season visited Duluth and vicinity. All yesterday afternoon and steadily through the night the snowfall continued and the city this morning was clothed in a mantle of white.

The New Year's storm was a general one, and the winter conditions which exist in Duluth today prevail throughout the "Twilight Limited" from St. Paul, on the Omaha road which was nearly two hours late, traffic is today more or less affected by the storm. In the city the street car service is up to the normal and no delays have been occasioned by the snow.

The snow comes as a godsend to the loggers, who so far this winter have been idle because of the absence of winter conditions. The snow which fell last evening will pack nicely and will lay the foundation for splendid sleighing. Along the north shore of Lake Superior and scattered through the woods of the northern portion of the county, logging camps will start their activities in earnest. The entire month of December, usually a heavy one for loggers, was idled away in waiting for the first real snowstorm.

The snowfall is also welcomed by the younger generation of one city. Old sleds were dragged out of the att-across the border, we, without regard to technical questions of law, and in the interest of humanity, took in as refugees all those who came unarmed. We kept them so long as conditions on the other side were such that we felt it would be inhuman to turn them back. In a general way we kept them until they could be safely allowed to filter back across the border into their own country.

Must Come Unarmed. "Those orders have never been changed, and if properly interpreted, the men who have been fighting on the other side of the border and who come over unarmed are treated as refugees and are allowed to stay on our side of the line, rather than be turned back to practically certain death. Armed men who come over, are, of course, not treated as refugees, and are held by our people and the men themselves received them as such."

"With regard to what will happen if a very large number attempt to come over, I can only say that unless the orders are changed (which of course they may be) an exigent call for a change, these men will be treated as I have stated; that is, they will be treated as refugees. How long they will be permitted to stay, and all other questions, I am unable to answer."

At the state department it was said that no measure had been exchanged with the president with reference to the constitutionality of the order since the officials informed President Wilson of Mr. Lind's desire to meet him there.

Officials said they had not seen a New Year greeting sent by Gen. Huerta.

Fighting at Nuevo Laredo. Laredo, Tex., Jan. 2.—Fighting between constitutionalists attacking Nuevo Laredo, Mex., and the Federal garrison was reported today. The constitutionalist reinforcements arrived last night and there was only occasional firing before dawn.

Court Frees Deputies. Mexico City, Jan. 2.—Twenty-six former Mexican deputies imprisoned by Provisional President Huerta last October, were released from the penitentiary today. The number included Rodolfo Reyes, former minister of justice, and Jorge Vera Estanol, who were in the hands of the Federal authorities.

The judge of the district court who had charged the deputies with rebellion, there was no basis for the accusation of rebellion.

A sensation was caused Oct. 10, when the Mexican minister of the interior, Manuel Garza Aldape, lined up several hundred Federal troops in front of the chamber where the deputies were held. Just before the deputies occurred 110 members of the chamber had signed resolutions of warning to Gen. Huerta in regard to the disappearance of Senator Dominguez, who had been taken to the penitentiary. The minister walked to the tribune of the chamber and stated that President Huerta considered the deputies' resolution an act of unjustified aggression on the rights of the executive.

The deputies were hurried off to jail and congress dissolved.

Villa Wants Bank. San Antonio, Texas, Jan. 2.—Dr. General High L. Scott at El Paso reported to United States army headquarters here that General Francisco Villa, Constitutional commander, who came to Juarez yesterday, was endeavoring to arrange with American bankers to establish a bank in the city of Chihuahua. It was said General Villa brought a large amount of silver bullion from Chihuahua to the border.

Huerta Is Confident. Mexico City, Jan. 2.—President Huerta, to all appearances, views the outlook for the new year with few misgivings. With his signing of a decree prolonging the period of bank holidays for fifteen days, he is said to regard the immediate financial difficulties as overcome and he is reported to have expressed entire confidence in his ability to solve the greater problem in the near future.

The president is quoted as having said recently in a conversation with American representatives that the resources of the country, as yet, had scarcely been touched; that there was unlimited wealth in the republic, which was available to the administration, and that the great error to be avoided was to squander the resources in an unwise manner.

He then likened the republic to a snake of which he was the head, and added: "I will kill the snake, but I will not crush the head. To overthrow this republic, the rebels must take the capital and kill me. That they never can do. They may elude the Federal forces among the native hills, but they never will dare to attack this capital. While I live, and hold the capital, the republic lives."

Report From the North. In spite of the optimism in official circles, concern is felt over the reports from the north, which indicate the possibility of an attack by rebels on San Luis Potosi. The rebel force is at Boyeros, twenty-five miles north of San Luis Potosi. Traffic on the railway has been suspended in all directions between the city and the border. Daily brushes take place between the rebels and Federal forces, and the dynamiting of trains is becoming a common practice of the rebels. A troop train is reported to have been blown up yesterday near Pectillo.

The dynamiting operations of the rebels are directed by a man named "El Poncho," an expert in this work, who is able to pick out any car or train from a train which he desires to destroy. He uses an electric battery and several hundred yards of wire, the ends of which are connected with bombs he has planted on the railway tracks.

When he has exploded his mines, "El Poncho" flees and his fellow rebels do the rest. He is said to exult in his work. He carries no arms and moves from place to place on mule back, offering his services to the various bands of rebels.

Sharp's Trial Continued. Blue Earth, Minn., Jan. 2.—The case of John Sharp, which was to have been tried at this term of the district court, has been continued to the March term. Mr. Sharp, formerly president of the State Bank of Commerce at Winnebago, was charged with the murder of Harry W. Barker, who is now in the state penitentiary, was his vice president and manager, and was charged with having sworn to a false

STRICT STEP MADE TOWARD ENDING THE COPPER MINE STRIKE

The Copper Country several days in the capacity of mediator in the strike. The proposition, it is understood, has been framed up at the request of Mr. Denmore, and in furtherance of an unannounced plan of his to bring about a strike settlement which, he believes, will prove successful in bringing the labor troubles in the district to an end.

Denmore spent yesterday with representatives of the mining interests. It is understood that the mining companies agreed to receive and consider carefully any plan he might have for a settlement of the strike, and that they will not close down on taking strikers back to work until it is seen whether the Denmore plan will work out. The mining companies' representatives, however, hold out no very bright hope that they will agree to a settlement on the plans that have been submitted to them.

It was expected that Denmore will today tell them of what the Federation is willing to do in the way of a settlement.

Would Recall Sheriff. Lansing, Mich., Jan. 2.—Until Governor Ferris receives further information from John B. Denmore, solicitor of the department of justice, who is now in the Copper Country, no action will be taken by the executive to communicate with the Copper Country.

It was announced that the governor's office had received a letter from the Copper Country, in an effort to obtain a basis for negotiation for a settlement of the labor difficulties. This was announced at the governor's office today.

Clarence Darrow and other labor leaders, who conferred with the governor earlier in the week, urged him to make another effort to bring together the parties involved in the strike which began last July.

It was stated at the capital today that labor leaders and strikers are preparing petitions to be used in an attempt to recall Sheriff James E. Houghton, who is in charge of the Houghton county. Governor Ferris declined to comment on the matter.

Until Wednesday afternoon, it is said, the Copper Country will be in the Western Federation of Miners, did not know that Michigan had a recall law. The constitutional amendment adopted by the people of Michigan to recall a sheriff, judge or legislator shall be effective against all elective state, county and city officers, except judges of courts of record.

Under the statute passed at the last session, providing for the recall of judges, it is provided that signatures amounting to 25 per cent of the total vote for governor in the election for that office, shall be sufficient to secure a petition when a county officer is to be recalled.

If the labor leaders put through their proposed plan, it will be the first time in the history of Michigan that a recall election has been held.

Moyer Will Not Talk. Chicago, Jan. 2.—Whether Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, shares the hope reported from the copper region of Michigan that the strike will be settled, could not be learned from him today, as he declined to see reporters.

It was said, when Moyer was at St. Luke's hospital here, that he expected to leave the hospital about the middle of next week. It was reported that he had received a number of telegrams today and that they were engaging his attention. He is physically able to receive visitors and is allowed to talk with those with whom he wishes to confer.

Moyer is at present suffering from a kick he received incident to his escape from the gunshots wound, it was said by Dr. G. V. Hilton, attending physician.

A personal friend of Moyer who visited him yesterday, said that Moyer was unalterably opposed to any settlement of the strike which does not include recognition of the Federation.

"A union of copper range miners, not affiliated with the Federation, would be helpless in the hands of the mine owners," Moyer is quoted as saying.

The strike leader yesterday received 600 letters and telegrams containing seasonal greetings and messages of sympathy of similar purport. The country was thus impressed with the fact that a sleepless night passed by the patient. He was further quoted as being undecided as to his immediate plans after leaving the hospital next week, except that he has determined to return to the strike region.

not used in the years for which it was taxed. Mr. Billings says that it was not within the territorial limits of the United States; Mr. Bonta says that his boat had a situs in France since 1904, and Mrs. Goelet that she had been for several years residing permanently in France.

The state of Ohio is interested in two tax cases involving the constitutionality of the system of imposing a tax on the earnings of electric light companies and various other public utilities.

Gomper's Case Again. The contempt cases against Samuel Minner and John Morris, who were fined for disobedience of the court, about two years ago, are set aside the 11 sentences imposed upon them by the local courts.

Among other cases to be argued are the Birdsell-Breits-Vanwert Indian bribery cases, the Alabama school land case and the Henry contempt case growing out of the money trust hearing.

Federated Club Meet. Lansing, N. D., Jan. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Northwestern Federation of Farmers' Clubs, comprising clubs in that section of Cavalier county, will hold their annual meeting tomorrow at Daniels, an inland town. Members of the clubs in Hannah, Clyde, Calvin, Daniels, Byron, Minto and Moscow, will attend.

POULTRY ON EXHIBITION

Eighteenth Annual Show of the Duluth Association Is Opened.

Finest Collection of Highly Bred Poultry Yet Shown Here.

With birds entered by the majority of well known chicken breeders of this section of the Northwest, the eighteenth annual exhibition of the Duluth Poultry association opened today with what the officials of the association declare is the best collection of chickens ever exhibited under its auspices.

Particularly strong is the representation of the breed of the North, a staple breed that has been a general favorite with chicken breeders. The breed is now in the hands of one of the most prominent breeders of the Northwest, has a very strong showing in the breed of the North, and has carried off a number of first prizes at the local show, has also a very fine list of birds.

The Barths brothers of Barron, Wis., W. C. Bryden of Superior, W. B. Riley of St. Cloud, W. C. Boragans of Warren, Minn., M. McCabe of Duluth, Fred D. Thies of Two Harbors, W. L. Winslow of Duluth and F. C. Lee of Princeton are some of the prominent breeders represented with fine displays.

A heavy snow has delayed the arrival of some of the chickens and it is not likely that all of the entries will be on hand before the show closes. However, according to the announcement of George D. Holden and T. H. Hestrick will start the judging of the American classes some time today.

Best Exhibit Yet Held. "The birds entered for the show of this year represent the highest quality ever secured for a poultry show held here before. The quality of the birds is under the auspices of our association," said J. Nelson, the treasurer of the Duluth Poultry association, and one of the prominent breeders of Duluth, this morning.

"Chicken fanciers realize that it is quite useless to send any but the very highest quality of birds here for the general class of the exhibitions has improved steadily. The quality of the birds that will compete for honors this year is of the highest."

That owners of birds from Duluth who stand up to the test of the matter of prize winnings, is indicated by the exceptional number of birds entered by the local breeders.

Theodore Hollister has one of the best birds in the show, and he is expected to give any of the other competitors a hard run for the grand average.

spirit as well as the letter of the law, and that the decision of the firm was primarily a matter of expediency.

Mr. Morgan said that the firm had been compelled reluctantly to accept the burden of management of interlocking directories, and that it had long been seeking an opportunity to lessen this burden.

Why Action Was Delayed. The delay in the action, it was said, which has prevented the firm from taking some action before this time, was the possible complications which might follow such action. In the past, the firm had been purchasing securities marketed by the house of Morgan, and it was felt that the firm had assumed a responsibility in this connection which could not be lightly laid aside.

The recent trend of political events, such as the "money trust" investigation, the possible complications which might follow such action, and reports from Washington that the administration is considering legislation against interlocking directories, created a situation which made it possible to enter upon this change in policy.

For several days Wall Street had rumormongered that Morgan had decided upon an important change in its policy, but no such blanket withdrawal of the firm from the market had been hinted at, and Mr. Morgan said that the firm had rarely experienced.

Some Interests Left. In spite of the large number of resignations from the board of directors, the firm is still represented on the boards of a number of important corporations, including the Erie Railroad, the Erie and FORT FRANCES COMING WITH FAST HOCKEY TEAM Canadians Ranked as One of Strongest Sevens in the Country--Boxing Commissioners Refuse to Permit Fitzsimmons to Fight--Federal League.

BY BRUCE.
FORT Frances has one of the best hockey teams in this section of the country, according to the record made by the Canadian seven during the past few seasons. This evening the brethren from across the boundary line will meet the Duluth Curling club's hockey team, which should prove one of the most interesting that has been played here for some time, as it is generally believed that Duluth has an even better team than the one a year ago.

Hockey has proven one of the most popular of all sports in this city. Last year it was more or less an experiment. Ably handled the game received support from the beginning, and with a bunch of players that it is believed will compare favorably with any team in the West, the second season will be inaugurated this evening, for the affair with Virginia served as little more than a practice game for the locals.

When one thinks of hockey he also thinks of the Canadians. For years the game has been one of the greatest of all winter sport pastimes upon the other side of the international line. Some are of the opinion that the Canadians play a faster game than the majority of the teams of this country; but the Duluth followers of the greatest of winter sports are of the opinion that the team representing the club this season is the equal of all the best teams in the country, and are confident of the ability of the locals to defeat the visitors, unless the Fort Frances outfit shows us the best hockey that has been seen here during the last season.

The game of this evening will be the first opportunity many of the followers of the game will have to see some of the new men in action. Taking the estimate of the hockey committee as to the team of this year, it would appear that the curling club's seven is faster, better drilled and in most details superior to the aggregation of last season.

The Fort Frances team of last season was one of the best that played here during the year. It is said that the team that will meet the locals this evening and tomorrow evening is even better, which assures the lovers of the game two of the best contests that could be arranged.

Old Fitz Is Riled.
POOR old Bob Fitzsimmons is very incensed at the refusal of the members of the New York boxing commission to permit him to enter the ring and do battle against some of the joke heavyweight boxers. The freckled warrior would have the public believe that he is better than he fought the second and near winning contest with James J. Jeffries.

Old Farmer Burns of Omaha is generally believed to be the athletic marvel of the century when it comes to the point of age being taken into consideration. Burns is 52 years of age and is still able to wrestle some of the best men in the world. Old Fitz is 51 years, but it has been proven that the years of the boxer are as long as the span of the wrestler's activity.

Several years ago the greatest fighter of the age returned to Australia and engaged the second and near winning contest with James J. Jeffries. The showing proved conclusively that the freckled wonder was no longer even a terror to a type of fighter the red head would have slaughtered in the days of his prime. Peter Jackson fought Jeffries when he was but a pitiful shadow of his former wonderful greatness. It is a pity to see a former remembrance boxer enter the ring solely because he is driven to ring labor by the need of money. It would be far better for the followers of the game to give a benefit for the man who is generally considered the best fighter the ring has produced, than to be forced to witness the further humiliation of the old boy.

Looks Like Some Team.

FROM some of the reports that are heard from the various men O'Brien has signed for the team of this year, the fans are warranted in believing that the aggregation that will represent the White Sox is going to be a hustling and scrappy bunch. O'Brien is going to have a young team, according to the present indications. He has a large bunch of youngsters from which to select his team. Some of the players come very highly recommended and it cost the club some real money to secure at least three of the men who have attached their signature to the contracts.

Baseball is nearly as uncertain as fortune telling. A team might look like a pennant contender on paper and prove eminently unsatisfactory on the baseball field. Therefore one is never safe in predicting of a baseball nine; but Darryl has signed up players that have made some great records in fairly fast company, and among the lot the Duke has several that he believes will prove real finds. One of the faculties of the great national leader is the genuine ability he possesses for discovering and developing young talent. The year we had Otto Miller, Daus, Marion, Breen, Kohl and several others, we had what has generally been rated as our greatest team. Young Leiber was another of the stars that the Orator picked up and made. Schreiber was another. The average fan, like the hustling youngster, and if some of the players that have been signed up approach what is expected of them, the 1914 White Sox are going to prove a very formidable ball club.

Richard Thinks So.
COMMODORE Richard Schell, then whom there are few closer students of baseball, is of the opinion that the Federal league is going to prove troublesome for the major leagues. This same Richard Schell has a knowledge of the great national game that has been gained through over forty years of keen observation. Dick recalls the time when the National league was in the early days of its infancy and the grounds at Chicago were little more than a back lot with a dinky grand stand.

As a matter of fact the Federal league is at last being taken seriously by the following of baseball. No one can foretell the result of the entrance of another factor into the game; but it is very likely that in the event of the Federal becoming any power at all, the demands of the players will receive serious and full recognition upon the part of the managers. The competition of the Federal league is liable to do away with some of the abuses that remain in organized baseball.

CHAMPIONSHIP LINKS. Scenes of National Golf Championship Play Selected.

New York, Jan. 2.—The selections of the possible links on which the amateur, open and women's national golf championships will be played, have been announced unofficially. The United States Golf association will hold its annual meeting at the Waldorf Astoria hotel, New York, on Jan. 8 to make the final selections. The clubs to be eligible to hold the three important golf events, are as follows:

Amateur championship—Elkwanok Country club, Manchester, Vt.; Mayfield Country club, Cleveland, and Detroit Country club, Detroit.

Open championship—Hemlock Country club, Elkhart, Ind.; Midland Country club, Blue Island, Ill.; and Minkalda club, Minneapolis.

Women's championship—Nassau Country club, Glen Cove, L. I.; Exmoor Country club, Highland Park, Ill.; and Chicago Golf club, Wheaton, Ill.

EASY FOR LEVINSKY. Puts Omaha Heavyweight Out in Two Rounds.

New York, Jan. 2.—Battling Levinsky, a light heavyweight of this city, knocked out Tom Daly, the Omaha giant, yesterday afternoon in the second round of what was to have been a ten-round bout. Levinsky easily outboxed his opponent in the opening round, when he sent in two lefts to the stomach.

In the second round he doubled Daly up with a hard smash to the stomach and the Omaha man was out for five minutes. Daly outwitted Levinsky by forty-eight points.

BANDSMAN BLAKE WINS. English White Hope Defeats American Negro Pugilist.

London, Jan. 2.—Bandman Blake, the champion English middleweight pugilist, last night defeated Dixie Kid, the American negro boxer, on points in a 20-round bout.

Bandman Blake, the latest English "white hope," was once a soldier in the British army. He first gained recognition as a fighter while with the regiment in India, taking part in forty odd battles and winning the middleweight and light heavyweight championships of the land forces. Carpenter, when he defeated Wells recently, weighed in at 170 pounds.

MAHOGANY SKIN FOR THE DEFIANCE.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 2.—A mahogany "skin" in two thicknesses will be used, it was announced today, instead of Cronze or steel to cover the hull of the Defender, the yacht to be built at New York, Philadelphia and Boston men a candidate for the defense of the America's cup.

Members of the syndicate believe the hull of the Defender will be finished with mahogany plates exposed to the possibility of buckling.

COMPANY C WINS FROM OLD RIVAL.

By the score of 13 to 4 Company C defeated its old rival, Company B, at evening, the game being interesting and fast, despite the one-sided score. The hitting of the members of the winning team proved the feature of the game. Following the contest there was dancing, the third regiment band furnishing the music.

SMITH BEATS CANADIAN

Sailor Proves Pelkey's Master in Fifteen Rounds of Fighting.

Wins White Hope Championship in Decisive Manner.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 2.—"Gunboat" Smith, the California heavyweight, scored a decisive victory yesterday when he knocked out Arthur Pelkey, the much-heralded Canadian fighter, in the fifteenth round of their "white hope" championship battle before the Daily City amphitheater. The sailor was a strong favorite in the betting at odds of 10 to 7.

Smith's aggressiveness culminated in a clean-cut right to the chin and his superior all-around work in all but two or three rounds did much to pave the way to victory. Pelkey proved a keen disappointment, being slow and sordid taking the fight to his shifter opponent.

The fight opened with the Gunner forcing matters with snappy lefts to the face. Pelkey made his best showing, and drove in several hard rights in the eighth round, but Smith and sent him to his corner bleeding from the mouth. The crowd cheered the Canadian and bets were made at even money that he would win.

In the second round Smith scored heavily on the jaw, but his swings missed time and again. In the next round Pelkey knocked his man victoriously over the kidneys, and again Smith's swings went wild.

Rounds four and five were without feature, but in the sixth Smith forged to the front and achieved a knockdown in the eighth. In this round he fought the Canadian to a standstill with left uppercuts and a right to the jaw. Smith was dazed and bleeding from the mouth.

The seventh round Pelkey stalling and the seaman landing repeatedly on the jaw and body, but still swinging with a sudden force and accuracy seemed to gauge his distance, and few of his efforts were wasted.

Smith continued to show confidence as the fight progressed, and dancing around his bulkier opponent with the agility of a featherweight, worked his left to great advantage and forced Pelkey to crouch for shelter.

After thirty seconds of fighting in the fifteenth round Smith feinted with his left, then swung his right with lightning-like rapidity. The blow landed with a crash on Pelkey's unprotected jaw. Pelkey dropped with his eyes glassy. Mechanically he struggled to his feet at the count of nine and unsteadily assumed his fighting pose.

A left and right applied similarly placed him on his back, and he was prone when Referee Griffin gave the fight to Smith.

FORT FRANCES TEAM IS HERE

Members of the Fort Frances hockey team arrived early today. The visitors look like a husky aggregation and are, moreover, confident of winning at least one of the games from the curling club seven.

Carrying sufficient substitutes to give the regulars a rest, the Canadians expect to surprise the Lindbergs by the speed and teamwork of their attack. It is claimed that the Fort Frances aggregation is exceptionally well drilled in team play and that the members of the squad are very fast skaters.

As all of the Canadian hockey players who have appeared during the past season have proved wonders and the Lindbergs and others remember the fine play of Fort Frances last year, and they are also aware of the surprise sprung by the Fort Arthur team.

GOOD PROGRAM AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Open House Card of Athletic Sports Pleases Large Crowd.

At the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, when the program of sports of the day was started, the Emeralds defeated the association team at indoor baseball by the count of 8 to 1. The heavy attack work of the winning team proved too much for the host of Johnson, who was knocked out of the box in the third round. Crichfield went in and did fairly well.

One of the features of the program was the volleyball games. The Moritor and Jamar teams were the winners of the volleyball ball games.

Some exhibition handball games also proved entertaining. Bill Wendlandt showed his remarkable ability. Little Louis Zorbas and Pete Petkoff gave an exhibition of wrestling that proved one of the decided features of the day. The match was only an exhibition and the count 1 to 1.

Ritchie won the 20-yard swimming race, while Frank Williams broke the association record by swimming the length of the tank in 9 seconds.

In the evening here was a basketball game between the Central alumni and an all-star aggregation, the high full score being 24 to 24. Gymnasium stunts also helped to make the evening program one of the best that has ever been given at the association.

BUD ANDERSON NO MATCH FOR CROSS

New York Dentist-Pugilist Beats Medford Man Decisively.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 2.—For the second time in six months, Bud Anderson of Medford, Or., was knocked out yesterday by Lench Cross of New York. The end came in the seventh round, when Anderson went down for the third time under a shower of blows on the jaw and stomach and all fully five minutes.

It was a one-sided battle. Cross was the maver in every round and the seventh round Anderson to the floor. Cross used identically the same ring tactics he employed July 4 last in his fight with Anderson, and achieved the same result. He stalled and then sailed in the eighth round and then in the ninth round.

Cross staggered about with his arms hanging, and he was unable to defend himself. He was hit in the jaw and stomach and in the seventh round he was knocked out. Cross was hit in the jaw and stomach and in the seventh round he was knocked out.

WOLGAST DEFEATS JACK REDMOND

Former Champion Is Too Fast for Milwaukee Pugilist.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 2.—Ad Wolgast, Cadillac, Mich., former lightweight champion pugilist, defeated Jack Redmond, Milwaukee, in five rounds of a ten-round boxing contest yesterday afternoon.

Referee Harry Stout stopped the contest about the middle of the fifth round when Redmond was clearly shown to be outclassed and without any chance for a comeback.

The first two rounds were rather tame and resulted in no advantage for either boxer. Wolgast was loose at the beginning of the third session, and had matters all his own way from then on. The Michigan boy inflicted severe body punishment and also had Redmond bleeding from the mouth in the fourth round. In the fifth period Wolgast drove several hard left jolts to SOCER IN ST. LOUIS.

Two Eastern Teams Meet Saints in Good Games.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 2.—The Rovers of Ball River, Mass., defeated the Knights of Columbus soccer team by a score of 2 to 1 in the first of the visitors' series here yesterday. Shaw, the Rovers' center, proved the greatest goal getter for his team, scoring both goals. W. Brady kicked the St. Louis team's goal.

With their strongest line-up on the field, the True Blues of Paterson, N. J., bested the Ben Knickerbockers, one of the best local soccer teams, to a score of 1 to 1. On Christmas day the Ben Knickerbockers defeated the Manhattan, N. Y., team by a score of 1 to 1. Lynch scored for the True Blues, and Sexton for the local team.

NORTH DAKOTA DOG SHOW FEB. 21.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 2.—The North Dakota Kennel Show to be held here Jan. 21, 22 and 23 will have an unusually large exhibit. This is the fifth annual show and the affair has become so well established there is strong competition. The judges this year are Richard D. Dr. Clayton of Chicago and Dr. Ward Akster of Marshall, Minn.

Claim Three Records.

Springfield, Mass., Jan. 2.—The Smith & Wessons of this city, claim three world records today as a result of their United States Revolver league match last night. They shot 114 at twenty yards and 100 at 25 yards. The other records, 244 for 25 shots and 479 for 50.

Motorcycle Record.

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 2.—Erwin Baker of Indianapolis broke the world's hour record for motorcycle on the Phoenix track yesterday, covering 66 miles, 1,660 yards.

Englishman Wins.

New York, Jan. 2.—"Sapper" O'Neil, the English lightweight pugilist, outpointed John Harvey of this city, in a ten-round bout here yesterday. Young O'Neil was victorious on points in a too clever for kid Herman, a bantamweight from Pekin, Ill., in another bout which went to the limit.

Dillon Beats Christie.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 2.—Jack Dillon of Indianapolis, claimant of the middleweight championship, outpointed the Chicago lightweight in a ten-round bout here yesterday afternoon. Every round was Dillon's, and Christie frequently saved himself by hanging on.

New Canadian Champion.

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 2.—Frank Mantell of Sacramento, Cal., battled his way to the Canadian middleweight championship in a fifteen-round bout yesterday, when he was awarded a doubtful verdict over the title holder, Billy Weeks of Vancouver. Mantell's superiority in fighting won for him the championship, although many of the crowd thought differently.

Welsh Defeats Dundee.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 2.—Freddie Welsh, lightweight pugilist champion of England, defeated Johnny Dundee of New York here yesterday in a ten-round fight. Dundee was accredited with having the best of the first two rounds. Welsh showed superiority in the fourth, eighth and tenth rounds, and the others were even.

Coast Football.

Portland, Or., Jan. 2.—Football yesterday—Multnomah Athletic club, 20; University of Idaho, 9.

Dane Defeats Bronson.

Melbourne, Jan. 2.—Waldemar Holberg, the Danish lightweight boxer, easily defeated Ray Bronson, the American lightweight on points in a twenty-round contest here yesterday.

No Decision Given.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 2.—Joe Mandot of New Orleans and Earl Fisher of this city fought a ten-round bout yesterday with no decision by the referee.

Wildcat Loses Decision.

Kansas City, Jan. 2.—Harry Brewer of Kansas City won a ten-round decision over Wildcat Ferns of Kansas City here yesterday afternoon after ten rounds of furious fighting. The men are welterweights.

CUNNINGHAM IS SIGNED BY THE PITCHER

Two American League Clubs Were After Sensational Youngster.

Sturgeon Lake Youth Made Great Record With Cloquet.

A signed contract was received today from George H. Cunningham, one of the most sensational young pitchers developed in this section of the country for a number of years. The fact that young Cunningham has at the present time offers from the Philadelphia and St. Louis American league clubs indicates that the youth who has been the mainstay of Cloquet during the past season is very well thought of by those who have seen him work.

According to the letter from O'Brien, it required a great deal of argument to get the signature of young Cunningham. In the end the Duke convinced the sensational youngster that it would be for his own good to receive the experience of a year in the minors.

During the greater part of last season the White Sox manager tried every means to induce Cunningham to sign a local contract. All efforts to sign the speed boy met with refusal. That O'Brien has continued his efforts persistently in the face of refusal accounts for the securing of one of the most generally talked about young ball players in this part of the country.

Has a Fast Ball.
Cunningham has terrific speed. He has a lot to learn about pitching, but as he is only a youth and his experience has been only with semi-professional teams, it is believed that he will speedily pick up the finer points of the game and prove a sensation in the North.

With Cloquet Cunningham proved an enigma to all of the semi-professional teams of this section of the Northwest. With Cunningham in the box and Yost on the receiving end of the batter, the lumber town team proved almost invincible. The home of the latest member of the White Sox is at Sturgeon Lake. There have been a number of scouts reporting on the work of the young pitcher, and many offers have been made for his services. It is said that Connie Mack wanted Cunningham, but advised him to gain more experience before making his major league debut.

That the Sturgeon Lake youth comes up to expectations, he will make a very valuable addition to the pitching staff of the White Sox. Cunningham is not 20 years of age as yet and possesses the ideal build for a pitcher. He weighs 165 pounds, with his weight evenly distributed over a large and broad frame, the youth presents to the eye the kind of a physique that managers love to behold.

President Blume expressed gratification at the signing of a man the club officials have been trying to secure for almost a year.

TWO HOCKEY GAMES TONIGHT AT CURLING CLUB

DULUTH vs. FORT FRANCES 8 o'clock.
LAKE HARDWARE vs. BAGLEY (Commercial League) 9:15.
Admission, both games, 50c. Reserved seats 25c extra.

CURLING GAMES

Though there was curling practically all of yesterday at the curling club, but two scheduled games were played. Both of these being not at present the absolute quarantine ban, and the enforcement of a rigid inspection upon entry by the department's agents, are contained in the order.

The regulations also provide for the lifting, under certain conditions, of the quarantine now enforced against most of the potato-growing sections of the world. Upon the presentation of satisfactory evidence to the secretary of agriculture that a country is free from injurious potato diseases and insect pests, potatoes will be admitted from that country in accordance with the regulations governing the importations from countries not now quarantined against.

AMERICAN WINS. Takes Professional Marathon Race in Edinburgh, Scotland.

Edinburgh, Scotland, Jan. 2.—Hans Harmer, New York, took the annual professional modified Marathon race at the Powherhall track. He led at the United by twenty yards and lost a large field containing many prominent international athletes.

Holmer was also victor in 1911. He was also victor in 1911.

LESS GOLD PRODUCED IN WORLD IN 1913

California Leads States of Union—Nevada First in Silver.

Washington, Jan. 2.—The gold value of the year 1913 to the world was $455,000,000. The production of the previous year exceeded this total by $11,000,000. This was the first estimate of the Bureau of the United States.

George E. Roberts, made of the year 1913. According to Director Roberts' announcement, the United States "gold production" for the year just passed amounted to $88,301,923, a decrease of $5,600,000. The Transvaal's total was $5,600,000 below its 1912 record, and Australia showed a decreased production of $1,000,000.

Nevada led the silver-producing states of the United States, yielding $123,229; Montana was second with $7,880,166; and Utah, Idaho and Colorado were among the five leading states.

California was first among the states of the Union in the production of gold, with a total of $72,811 fine ounces, valued at $20,165,447. Colorado came second with a production valued at $18,420,023; Alaska third, $14,782,512; Nevada fourth, $12,279,131; South Dakota fifth, $7,197,498; Arizona sixth, $3,893,189; Utah seventh, $3,400,163; Montana eighth, $3,078,802.

EUROPE STIRRED BY TURKS' ACTION.

London, Jan. 2.—The purchase by Turkey of the Brazilian dreadnaughts, the Goeben and the Yamato, has stirred the nerves of Europe. It is said, ostensibly to pay the salaries of Turkish officials, has perturbed not only Greece, but Europe in general. Such a simple method of disturbing the balance of diplomatic circles, calls for some agreement among nations to prevent the sale of a first class ship in this direction, some diplomats believe, a demand should be made that both England and France close their markets to Turkish loans allegedly raised in order to make war on Greece.

OPENS WAR ON THE POTATO DISEASES

Government Issues Exact- ing Regulations Regarding Importations.

Washington, Jan. 1.—Regulations of the most exacting character restricting the importation of foreign potatoes into the United States, to guard against potato diseases, are laid down by Secretary Houston of the department of agriculture in the form of an official decision.

Propositions requiring importers to notify the department of all shipments from countries not at present under the absolute quarantine ban, and the enforcement of a rigid inspection upon entry by the department's agents, are contained in the order.

The regulations also provide for the lifting, under certain conditions, of the quarantine now enforced against most of the potato-growing sections of the world. Upon the presentation of satisfactory evidence to the secretary of agriculture that a country is free from injurious potato diseases and insect pests, potatoes will be admitted from that country in accordance with the regulations governing the importations from countries not now quarantined against.

Countries Now Barred.
Countries now barred from exporting potatoes are the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelin, Great Britain, including England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland, the nations of continental Europe, and the United States.

Department officials are confident that some of these countries may in the near future be permitted to export potatoes to the United States if they adhere strictly to the department's rules.

The department warned American potato growers that they must use second-hand British or European sacks, unless they have been thoroughly sterilized.

"It appears," the order said, "that there is a considerable trade in old and hand sacks between dealers located chiefly at the Atlantic ports of entry and potato growers of the Eastern states. In some instances entire shipments from the great potato districts of Maine to New York city have been made in foreign second-hand sacks. The germs of the diseases undoubtedly are carried in the sacks in which European potatoes have been imported from Europe."

WOULD GIVE "KRAGS" TO ALL RIFLE CLUBS

Movement to Have Government Furnish Arms Is Begun.

Washington, Jan. 2.—With the re-assembling of congress after the holidays recess a concerted effort will be made by friends of rifle practice to have enactment of a law to permit the secretary of war to issue old "Krag" rifles, with ammunition, for use by rifle clubs organized throughout the country under the rules of the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice.

The proposed law also will be designed to permit the issuance of similar ordnance supplies, not of the existing service model and therefore not necessary for the maintenance of the proper army reserve supply, to schools having a uniformed corps of cadets and carrying on military training.

War department officials declare that in training the youth of the country in the use and knowledge of arms, the United States is doing less than any other nation.

No Expense Involved.
No expense to the Federal treasury will be incurred the plan is carried out, as the arms and ammunition to be furnished are already owned by the United States and are held in armories where they are passing into the stage described by ordnance officers as "obsolescent."

The ordnance department of the army has on hand about 300,000 model 1898 .30-caliber rifles, popularly known as the "Krag" and 35,000 .30-caliber rifles, which have been deemed surplus available for issue to rifle clubs in case the proposed measure becomes law.

War department officials with one exception have declined to be related in France, it is said, ostensibly to pay the salaries of Turkish officials, has perturbed not only Greece, but Europe in general. Such a simple method of disturbing the balance of diplomatic circles, calls for some agreement among nations to prevent the sale of a first class ship in this direction, some diplomats believe, a demand should be made that both England and France close their markets to Turkish loans allegedly raised in order to make war on Greece.

TOPICS FORBIDDEN TO RUSSIAN PRESS

St. Petersburg, Jan. 2.—An indication that Russia is not satisfied that all the complications raised by the recent Balkan war have yet been disposed of, was given today by the issue of a long official list of topics, which Russian newspapers are prohibited from mentioning during the war.
 Among the forbidden news items are those referring to changes in the equipment and the effective strength of the army and navy, the building, repairing and arming of Russian warships, information concerning fortresses and naval ports, the maneuvers of troops or detachments, and the chartering of merchant vessels for transports.

Gaylord Heirs Settle State's Inheritance Tax Claim.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 2.—(Special to The Herald).—The first test of the provision of the inheritance tax law allowing the state to tax gifts of property made in contemplation of death has resulted in a victory for the state.
 The matter came up in connection with the estate of S. D. Gaylord of Minneapolis. Before his death Gaylord gave his son, E. J. Gaylord, property valued at $36,272 and W. J. Stevenson, assistant attorney general, made the claim that this was taxable, as the property was transferred by the elder Gaylord in contemplation of death.
 The heirs protested for a time, but today a settlement was reached and the state will collect the full amount of the tax, $1,088.10.

STATE CREAM LAW UPHELD BY COURT

State's Supreme Tribunal Denies Injunction to Milton Dairy.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 2.—(Special to The Herald).—The supreme court of Minnesota today reversed Judge Catlin of the Ramsey county district court and denied to the S. Milton Dairy company an injunction restraining the railroads from complying with the Johnston sixty-five mile cream shipment act enacted by the last legislature, and Attorney General Smith from proceeding against the carriers under the law. The opinion was written by Justice Philip B. Brown. As a result the law will remain in force.
 The law attacked provides that cream shall not be carried more than sixty-five miles on railroads unless it is pasteurized or transported in refrigerated cars. The only penalty at-

 The Milton Dairy company first sought in the Federal court an injunction to prevent the railroads from putting the law into effect, but Judges Willard, Smith and Morris dismissed the action for want of jurisdiction. The next attempt was made before Judge Catlin, who issued the injunction prayed for, and Attorney General Smith appealed to the supreme court.

TRAVELS 12,000 MILES AND NETS A NICKEL.

Mission, Ohio, Jan. 2.—Oscar Bamberger, 17 years old, has returned home from a four-months' hobo expedition of 12,000 miles throughout the United States, Wales and England, with 6 cents more in his pocket than when he left here.
 He stole rides on freight trains to Galveston, Tex., undergoing arrest for vagrancy in Huntington, Ind., and shipboard work for the British Royal Navy and Cardiff, Wales. The ship laid up at Cardiff, and Bamberger went to Liverpool, where he stowed away on the Lusitania.
 Two days out he gave himself up and was put to work in the stockpile breaking up cinders. He collapsed twice from heat and fatigue, but landed in New York with $18.75 earned on the cotton ship unsent.
 His journey was exhausted in getting to Akron, where he sold papers to earn enough to bring him to Mission.

ELABORATE TERMINAL PLAN OUTLINED TO COMMISSION

Belt Line, Lake Shore Property and Canal Tunnel Involved.

A tentative plan for an elaborate terminal system for all railroads in Duluth was outlined to the city council at a private meeting this morning by T. E. McGilvray and Edward Leidel. The men appearing before the commission did not state whom they were representing or whether such a terminal company has been definitely organized, as matters are in the early stages.

It seems that the proposition contemplates the securing of the property lying between the city and the South First avenue east and the lake down to the ship canal. This would be enlarged by the addition of what has been termed a future lake shore park. The city has started condemnation proceedings to secure the right-of-way as the first step. This would be followed by the building of a sea wall from the end of the canal to the city, which would be later filled in order to get the necessary yards for a terminal such as suggested by the company would be obtained in this ground. Mr. McGilvray and Mr. Leidel stated that they were not appearing today to ask anything of the city except its moral support, it is said.

The matter of building a tunnel under the ship canal to Minnesota Point has been brought up. It was asserted that one of the men said that one railroad could not finance such a project but that several of them might pool their interests to do so.

Other features of the plan are said to include the construction of a line or two of railroad from the western suburbs via the terminal yards, to be later followed by a belt line which would run eastwards over the hill, partially following the city.

One of the men appearing before the commission is said to have pointed out that the Northern Pacific now practically has a monopoly upon the terminals in the city and that such growth the facilities will be inadequate. He claimed that it is to meet such a contingency that a terminal company would be formed, leasing the right-of-way to the railroads.

Nothing was stated to the council to indicate that the proposal is liable to be carried out in the near future. It is said, and the opinion appeared to be, that it was rather distant future.

HURRIES HASTILY AWAY FROM HATED HOUGHTON

Duluthian Loses No Time When Auto Back-Fires Like Pistol Shot and Citizen Yells "Here Comes the Miners!"

Can you picture—you who have seen H. Goodell with dignified mien and thoughtful eye observing the progress of the stock market through the lobby of a hotel, up the back stairs and then climbing madly down the rear fire escape and then dashing wildly out of the alley?

Let it be repeated and also reiterated—can you repeat the picture?

Recently "H." went to the copper country to enjoy the holidays. He has many friends there and many pleasant associations.

Mr. Goodell was standing in front of the Douglas house in Houghton, Mr. Goodell is of large physique and understanding presence—dignified, is the word.

Up came the sheriff and stated that he devoutly desired the services of no large and athletic appearing citizen as a deputy. Open was swearing in many deputies in the Copper country to battle with the miners and those who make a living by talking and pointing out the best way to destroy property.

Then the argument started. Mr. Goodell likes to play golf, but as taking his daily rounds of golf, he has a medium of packing around a gun and looking warlike—he objected. Also he couldn't see any amusement in being shot at for $2 a day in a quarrel in which he had no interest.

Not a resident.

"I am no longer a resident of this county," Mr. Goodell is reported to have said, hoping thus to clinch the argument.

"That doesn't make a d—bit of difference," he was told. "You are here, and you are a citizen of this county," he said, also intending abruptly to finish the argument.

Suddenly an automobile a few yards away back fired with a report like a pistol shot. "Here comes the miners," cried some excited citizen, or there was a general exclamation.

And there Mr. Goodell left them. Madly, as has been suggested, he dashed right through the lobby of the Douglas house, hurrying one large leather chair and bucking another off.

Up the back stairs he dashed and through an open door, the curtains would have it, there was a fire escape and down the rear fire escape went the large citizen. Down the alley he went, and he was not alone. He was still headed south and not losing any time on the way. He will return by way of Des Moines, Omaha and Grand Forks.

VALUATION OF CITY PLANT

Appraisal of the Water and Light Plant Is Ordered.

A complete valuation of the physical properties of the water and light department has been instituted by Commissioner Leonard Merrill, head of the utility division.

The appraisal is being made under the direction of E. W. Kelly, engineer of the water and light department, and it is expected that two or three months will be required to complete the work.

Inventorying the distributing system is a big task. It includes the machinery, the pumping stations, the reservoirs and all the mains. For many years no satisfactory record was kept of the mains which were laid and the values which are placed upon them will necessarily be approximate. But when the job is finished the city will have a better and more correct idea of the value of the water and light department's holdings than it has ever had before. In fact, it will be the first time that the city has had an approximate degree of accuracy.

The revaluation of the Duluth-Egion Electric company's property is being made under the direction of W. E. Hittnerhouse, the electrical expert retained by the city for that purpose. He will be working on the water and light plant and will be working on the electric company's property at the same time.

The city has the revaluation of two of its largest and most important utilities under way at the same time. The water plant is now municipally owned and the appraisal of the electric company is being made with a view to its acquisition by the city. The results of the appraisal will not be known for several months.

PROVIDED FOR 718 DEFENDANTS

County Gave Relief to Large Number During Year 1913.

Mors persons were extended relief and medical attendance at the St. Louis county poor farm during the year just closing than any other year in the history of the three institutions conducted at the poor farm. The exception of the year 1900 when a typhoid epidemic filled the hospital to overflowing.

During the past year according to the annual report of Dr. C. J. Woolway, 718 persons were cared for at different times during the year at the poor farm. The year started off with a population of 108 in the main house, 20 in the almshouse and 20 patients in the tuberculosis sanitarium. During the year, 594 were admitted to the main house and 82 to the tuberculosis hospital. Seventy-two deaths occurred during the year at the farm among the inmates and patients. The daily average for the year was 120 persons.

There was room for only four more patients in the county hospital this morning, 185 of the available beds being occupied. It is expected, however, that a number of old patients will be discharged from the hospital on Monday.

During the typhoid epidemic of 1910, there were 655 admissions during the year to the county hospital. Of this number 117 were held cases. During the year 1912 there were 361 admissions and 1911, 458 admissions.

WILL TAX OF OLD RIGHT-OF-WAY SMALLPOX BREAKS OUT

Soo Must Pay on Old Wisconsin Central Property.

City Assessor Scott placed the entire 100-foot right-of-way on the tax rolls and the company refused to pay any part on the grounds that the property was being used for railroad purposes and consequently was exempt under the provisions of the gross earnings tax law. The taxes became delinquent for 1913 and 1914 and the city has instituted by the county taxing officials represented by C. E. Adams to collect the taxes.

After the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Railway company took over the old Wisconsin Central right-of-way from Garfield avenue to West Duluth, it changed its plan about using the tracks to get into Duluth from Wisconsin, and came into the city via the interstate bridge. As a result, the right-of-way and tracks have been used only for switching cars to and from West Duluth industries which it serves.

City Assessor Scott placed the entire 100-foot right-of-way on the tax rolls and the company refused to pay any part on the grounds that the property was being used for railroad purposes and consequently was exempt under the provisions of the gross earnings tax law. 50-Foot Strip Exempt.

Half of the right-of-way holding that no more than this was necessary to use the present operation of the road over these tracks. The court sustained the exemption of the 50-foot strip of the right-of-way not exempted by the gross earnings tax law.

PROPERTY OWNERS

FAIL TO AGREE

Woodland Avenue Owners Want Paving—Wallace Avenue Opposed.

City Attorney Harvey Clapp has informed Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the works division, that many questions are outstanding in which would take much time, are involved in the proposal to pave Wallace and Woodland avenues.

Two paving propositions are attracting considerable interest at Woodland. One is to pave Woodland avenue from Fourth street to Austin street. The other is to pave Wallace avenue from Fourth street to Austin street. Some of the Woodland avenue property owners favor the latter proposition, while the Wallace avenue residents are opposed to having the avenue paved.

The question at issue is whether or not Wallace avenue, which is a city street, could be considered one thoroughfare. It is asserted that it was a city street when the city was first laid out, but that it has since been considered one thoroughfare and should be considered one thoroughfare and should be considered one thoroughfare.

The city attorney advised that the city should not proceed until it knows what the voters would do. He said that the matter would be considered the time it was brought into the courts, but that should the commissioner so desire, he would proceed to make a decision on the numerous questions which would be involved.

RED CROSS WILL BUILD FUND HELPS NEW SCHOOL

Imperative Demands of Board Calls for Bids on White Plague Patients Enlarged Munger Building.

Food, Clothing and Medicines Are Given to Needy. Medical Inspector Wants Open-Air Rooms for Tubercular Children.

Numerous demands are being made upon the Red Cross emergency fund, raised through the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals, for warm clothing and bedding for various needy tubercular patients in the city.

At West Duluth Miss Kerr, one of the visiting nurses of the health department, yesterday delivered a set of blankets to a woman who is combating the white plague. Her husband has had no steady work since fall and they are endeavoring to send their two children through the public schools. Arrangements are being made to furnish her with milk until her husband can get a position which will enable him to pay for the milk.

A number of pairs of shoes and overcoats have been purchased. Yesterday afternoon Miss Schuller filed with the health department a list of two small boys and one girl. Two of them are brother and sister, who came to the city from Nopemung to spend New Year's with their parents.

Teaching French Living.
Another little girl is one of a large family living in a hillside section. She was supplied with necessary underwear, foot wear and a coat. The visiting nurses have been endeavoring to teach her the elements of cleanliness, but when she returned home she gradually slid into the old habits. An incentive was kept to the nurses secured from her a promise that they would agree to mend her slovenly ways. She would have gotten the same in any event but she did not know it.

Coming to the office of the visiting nurses to seek advice, a girl in the middle teens was discovered who had no clothing other than a pair of shoes. She had worn during the summer. Miss Schuller asked her if she had plenty of clothing and she said that she had, but closer questioning showed that she was badly undernourished. She had no money and no relatives who could help her. The Red Cross fund was drawn upon to provide the necessary garments.

Supplying Medicines.
In other instances medicines are being furnished to patients who have no means of paying for them. Some are so needy that they have to ride on street cars to come to the clinics which are conducted Tuesday and Saturday mornings at the court-house. These are furnished with tickets and if it is found that they are suffering from tuberculosis other necessities are supplied them when required.

SETS NEW WIRELESS RECORD FOR DULUTH

Local Operator Receives Message From Coast of Java.

Otto R. Redfern, operator for the Marconi Wireless Telegraph company in Duluth, last evening received a message from Port Nelson, an obscure wireless station on the west coast of Java, in the Dutch East Indies, a distance of over 9,000 miles from the local station. This is the greatest distance that a message has been heard at the local station, according to Mr. Redfern. About 9 o'clock last night Mr. Redfern caught the P-L-M through fern caught the detector of his instrument. Upon consulting his code book he learned that the message was from Port Nelson, and after receiving the message, declared a new wireless record had been established at the head of the Lakes.

The message was a private one and was sent by Arthur Logan, apparently a banker, who was on a Dutch vessel, and was addressed to his accountant in Port Nelson. The message was repeated three times during the evening and was clearly received at the local station each time.

SUPERINTENDENT REAPPOINTED FOR TERM OF THREE YEARS

R. E. Denfeld, superintendent of the Duluth public schools, was reappointed by the board of education at a meeting last evening and will hold office for another three years.

The superintendent's salary was raised from $4,500 to $5,000 a year, in view of the fact that since the last contract was made with the superintendent the Duluth school system has grown enormously and he has not asked for assistants.

Supt. Denfeld is now in his twenty-ninth year as superintendent of the Duluth schools, that year ending July 31, next. When he will have finished the contract provided for last night he will have completed a total service of thirty-two years.

The matter came up last night on the recommendation of the committee on schools that the superintendent be reappointed for a term of three or five years at a salary of $5,000 per year. Director E. R. Cobb immediately moved that the contract be made for five years. Director Brewer expressed himself as opposed to the five-year term. He declared that a five-year contract is not good as a protection to the board, although it binds the board. With this Director Andrew Nelson agreed.

President Wagner, who is chairman of the committee on schools, explained that the committee rather favored the five-year contract for the reason that with the Director Andrew Nelson agreed.

OLD TRADER TURNS PIRATE
Andrew B. Nelson Tries to Murder Captain on High Seas.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 3.—A sea rover and Arctic trader turned pirate, Andrew B. Nelson, himself a master mariner and one-time owner of the schooner Hera, was brought to port yesterday in Irons, locked in the brig of the steamer lumber schooner Willamette, and turned over to the Federal authorities, who held him in $10,000 bail on a charge of assaulting Capt. Reiner on the high seas, with intent to murder.

With him was brought James Larame, a bricklayer, who says he is from Shelby, Ind., charged with being an accomplice in the crime. He was held in the same bail. Neither man will admit that he knows the other.

Nelson was arrested Wednesday night after a hand to hand battle in the captain's cabin, which entered, wearing a brown wig "as thick as a thatch," a false moustache, and carrying an automatic pistol in his outstretched hand.

Captain Gave Battle.
Though a smaller, lighter man, Capt. Reiner fought the pistol away from the grotesque pirate, who immediately drew a double-action revolver. He was getting the better of the captain when two sailors and a waiter rushed into the room, overpowered Nelson and Irons, and the latter was taken outside the door during the fight.

The Willamette carried $2,000 in cash to pay her crew of twenty-five, and there were twenty-five passengers quartered aft. A launch followed the vessel, keeping within half a mile, and Capt. Reiner, below the mainmast, tended to the safe and held up the passengers for their cash and valuables, and make his escape to shore in the launch. Elaborate notations of possible landing places, giving distances and compass bearings, were found in his clothes.

After turning over his prisoners and taking the Capt. Reiner, but out to sea again, bound for Seattle.

Although admitting his identity and knowledge of seafaring, Nelson says he is a private trader, and that he took passage on the Willamette to arrest Reiner, for whom a reward of $10,000 has been offered. He says the reward is mythical, and the many crimes, none of them specified, Nelson said the captain had committed, are unknown to the police.

Reiner's hands badly torn and cut from his battle with the pirate, told his story.

"About 7 o'clock Wednesday night," said the captain, "I was sitting in my cabin and heard the knob of my door turn. I found myself confronted by a stranger in a white coat, a wig, a false moustache and a wig, the lower half of the face swathed in a handkerchief and in the right hand an automatic pistol.

"I jumped for the pistol, and by some means got hold of it before the fellow could pull the trigger.

"Then we began fighting all over the cabin. All the while the trigger of the trigger of his pistol, but my clutch on it had disarranged the magazine and it would not fire.

The pirate then threw the pistol on the floor. With one free hand he drew a double-action revolver.

"I shouted for help, which came in time to save me, for I was pretty well played out. A waiter and a seaman came to my rescue, disarmed by assassin and put him in Irons."

SHOOTS MAN AND ESCAPES IN MINE.
Bingham, Utah, Jan. 3.—After shooting and seriously injuring a man named Peter Mike, in the open workings of the Utah Copper company at Upper Bingham, Yousouf Dessier, a miner, escaped a posse by entering an underground mine and coming out at a lower level before all the portals could be guarded.

At first it was thought that the fugitive intended to imitate Ralph Lopez and make the mine his stronghold.

MORGAN ANNOUNCEMENT IS DECLARED "SIGN OF THE TIMES"

George F. Baker Also Will Withdraw From Directorates.

"Public Be Pleased" Policy Foreseen for Big Interests.

New York, Jan. 3.—The withdrawal of J. P. Morgan & Co. from more than a score of great corporations, and the statement shortly afterward by George F. Baker, an almost equally dominant figure in American finance, that he would soon take similar action, gave Wall street generally a thrill which almost brought trading on the stock exchange to a halt.

While it is probably true that many of the prominent bankers had information foreboding the coming of the great move toward ending interlocking directorates, the public and brokers had no advance knowledge of what was taking place in the inner councils of the greatest of all American houses of finance. Whether by message and ticker flashed the news about the stock groups, men gathered to discuss the all-absorbing topic.

Mr. Morgan, departing from his firm's traditional policy of silence, made a public statement announcing the withdrawal of the members of J. P. Morgan & Co. from directorships in twenty-seven corporations and the intention to withdraw from others.

Baker's Announcement. Mr. Baker announced his intention to withdraw in response to a question whether he intended to follow the example of the Morgan firm.

"I intend to get out as a director of all the companies that will let me," said he. "As a matter of fact, I have been begging to do so for the past two years."

Connections between Mr. Baker and the Morgan firm, and especially with the late J. P. Morgan, were generally regarded as being so close that it is believed their common decision regarding withdrawal from interlocking directorates was reached as the result of concerted action.

There was no evidence a general agreement had been reached among other leading financiers of Wall street. Both Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and James Speyer & Co. maintained silence regarding the move, but it was predicted, nevertheless, by men in Wall street who have followed the trend of events in finance and politics in recent times, that yesterday's events were prophetic of the ending of the system of interlocking directorates, which has been bitterly attacked for years.

The system has antagonized opponents members of the present Washington administration and members of congress who are endeavoring to break it. They termed the "money trust."

In Wall street that part of Mr. Morgan's statement in which he spoke of an apparent change in public opinion was referred to as a sign of the times. One international banker who in the past has served as a director of well-known corporations, had this to say:

"There is not the slightest doubt in my mind that this announcement by J. P. Morgan & Co. is only the forerunner of many similar announcements to be made in the near future. From my point of view, the effect will be to make the American Telephone & Telegraph company show that it was sympathetic with the move by announcing it would surrender control of the Western Union Telegraph company, and this Morgan announcement is just another indication that our big men are beginning to believe that 'public be pleased' is better than the old 'public be damned' idea."

Encouraging. "For ten years we have had on our minds the question of public opinion in matters of finance. Our public men have now decided to meet the public in the spirit of the times, and by so adjusting their affairs as to comply with public sentiment, they have laid the basis for a new era of finance."

George F. Morgan, Sr., at his death was a director in fifty-nine corporations, including many of the foremost of the road and industrial companies of the country, and several of the largest banking institutions. His withdrawal from directorships in more than sixty corporations, a greater number than any man in the country, Mr. Baker, who heretofore has adhered to a policy of silence as rigidly as Mr. Morgan, expressed his views in his testimony before the congressional Pujio committee early last year. Speaking of the concentration of money and credit in the hands of a comparatively few men, he said:

"I think it has gone far enough. It might not be dangerous, but still it has gone far enough. In good hands it does not seem that it would do any harm. If it got into bad hands it would be a disaster."

While Morgan & Co. still are represented on the boards of many of the country's great corporations, Mr. Morgan's statement that "we expect, from time to time, to have a director or two leave" was accepted as foreboding the ultimate withdrawal of Morgan partners from all the great financial enterprises with which they have long been identified.

Interim View. Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the Pujio committee, said he regretted that the announced list of withdrawals did not include the more important interlocking directorates in the financial district controlled by the firm, such as those in the First and City National banks.

"It appears also," he said, "that while some of the partners resign from the board of a given company, one or more remain. This would seem to indicate that the move is more in the nature of a business convenience than a surrender to public sentiment, and that nothing very substantial has been accomplished."

GEORGE F. BAKER, Famous Financier, Who Will Emulate Example of the House of Morgan.

as yet accomplished in the way of vindicating the principle for which the advocates of corporate reform have been contending. But the promise held out in the interview is encouraging. It will doubtless all come in time.

7,590 NATIONAL BANKS IN NATION.

Washington, Jan. 3.—There were 7,590 national banks doing business in the United States Dec. 31, according to the controller of the currency.

The authorized capital of these banks was $1,070,123,175, with an outstanding bond-secured circulation amounting to $4,062,624. During the year 217 applications to organize national banks were received, 170 were approved, and 171 so far have been approved. There were thirteen applications in December.

This would seem to indicate that the move is more in the nature of a business convenience than a surrender to public sentiment, and that nothing very substantial has been accomplished."

While Morgan & Co. still are represented on the boards of many of the country's great corporations, Mr. Morgan's statement that "we expect, from time to time, to have a director or two leave" was accepted as foreboding the ultimate withdrawal of Morgan partners from all the great financial enterprises with which they have long been identified.

Interim View. Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the Pujio committee, said he regretted that the announced list of withdrawals did not include the more important interlocking directorates in the financial district controlled by the firm, such as those in the First and City National banks.

STATE WILL REST CASE

Prosecution Nearly Through at Murder Trial of Joseph Crotteau.

Defendant Will Claim That Shooting Was Result of Accident.

In the trial of Joseph Crotteau for the murder of his wife, Mary Crotteau, the Gambler farm, near Greenport, last September, the state is expected to rest its case Monday morning. The case was adjourned yesterday afternoon until Monday.

Crotteau, it is claimed by the prosecution, came to the farm in a drunken condition and after a quarrel with his wife seized his rifle and shot her. His defense is that the shooting was accidental.

Yesterday afternoon Charles Daly, a laborer on the Gambler farm, said he heard the shot which wounded Mrs. Crotteau. He said that he was in the yard at the time and that he saw the defendant shoot his wife.

Dr. S. H. Boyer who attended the woman at the Gambler farm and had her removed to St. Mary's hospital where she died, testified that he was called to the house by the defendant's wife, who said that she had been shot.

Harry E. White of the county attorney's office was the only other witness called by the prosecution. He testified that an examination of the body disclosed that two shots had been fired.

time limit for taking strikers back to the mines would rather have put the men's affairs without reserve, in the hands of the board.

There is still before the mine owners our proposal to submit everything to a board of arbitration. We submit everything to the board of arbitration, hours, conditions and recognition of the union. We hold out nothing, but the men's affairs without reserve, in the hands of the board.

REORGANIZING POLICE FORCE

Twenty Men Resigned or Were Discharged During Past Year.

One-Third of Total Number of Patrolmen on Force.

The rapid reorganization of the police department since Commissioner Hicken took charge is shown by the fact that twenty officers out of a total of eighty-seven left the force during the year just closed.

There are fewer officers on the police force now than there were a year ago according to the annual report of the department, which is now being prepared. The statistics are being compiled by Fred Johnson and Robert Donaldson and will comprise the twelfth annual report of Chief Troyer. The document will be completed about Feb. 1 and turned over by the chief to Commissioner of Public Safety Hicken.

According to the statistics there were seventeen appointments during the year which were more than offset by the elimination of twenty officers. Nine officers were dismissed, three resigned, seven resigned and one was granted indefinite leave of absence.

Facts regarding the personnel of the force follow:

Discharges.

Joseph Svogar, patrolman, discharged June 12.
Harry A. Sears, patrolman, dismissed Aug. 14.
James C. Howard, patrolman, dismissed Aug. 14.

There are at the present time 87 persons in the department, these including 54 patrolmen, 3 lieutenants, 4 detectives, 7 sergeants, 4 jailors, 2 drivers, 3 telephone operators and 1 special regular policeman at Duluth Heights. Chief Troyer, Capt. Jackett, Secretary John Connelly, Fred Johnson, Robert Donaldson and Mrs. Mary Walsh, matron, are also included in the list of employees.

It is estimated that the monthly payroll of the police department is about $7,500. More complete figures regarding salaries will be forthcoming within a few days.

A Dainty Toilet Article.

Every lady who desires to keep up her attractive appearance while at the theater, attending receptions, when shopping, while traveling, and on all occasions should carry in her purse a booklet of Gourd's Oriental Beauty Leaves. This is a dainty little booklet of exquisitely perfumed powdered leaves, which are easily removed and applied to the skin. It is invaluable when the face becomes moist and flushed, and is far superior to a powder puff, as it does not spill and soil the clothes.

It removes dirt, soot and grease from the face, imparting a delicate, glowing bloom to the complexion. Sent anywhere on receipt of 5 cents in stamps or coin. E. T. Hopkins, 37 Great Jones street, New York. Adv.

MASS MEETING

BY SOCIALISTS

Arrangements have been completed for the mass meeting at the Armory

Sunday afternoon to be held under the auspices of the Socialists of Duluth, to protest against the conditions that are claimed to exist at present in the Copper country of Michigan.

W. E. McEwen, secretary of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor will speak. Attorney J. Christensen of Chicago, and representative of the Finnish paper Tyomies, will come direct from the Copper country and will detail conditions there.

Tom J. Lewis of St. Paul, state organizer for the Socialist party will also speak.

Martin Hendrickson, a Finnish speaker, who has been addressing similar meetings on the range and who has only recently left the Copper country will speak in Finnish.

Morris Kaplan and William E. Towne, local Socialists will also deliver short addresses.

Similar meetings will be held all over the state on Sunday. Concerted efforts are being made by the Socialists to secure a united protest and demand for a congressional investigation from Minnesota.

NEW ORE BODY

ON THE CUYUNA

What is claimed to be one of the largest and richest of the recent finds of high-grade ore is being developed in the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 27, 47-29, by the Cuyuna Central Iron company of Duluth. Assays have shown a high grade of 65.52 per cent iron, mostly high-grade, bessemer, with only .038 in phosphorus.

So far fourteen holes have been drilled, all in ore and all bottomed in ore. The formation, or lens at this point is freakish. In the first twelve holes ore was reached at 80 to 95 feet. Hole 13 showed a sudden dip in the ore body. The drill was stopped after going 130 feet into the ore, the last assay showing 54.20 iron.

Five of the fourteen holes show manganese running about 15 per cent. Some of the holes are 200 feet in ore, the larger percentage of which is high grade bessemer.

This new find is only a short distance from the Iron Mountain mine and half a mile east of the town of Manganese. It adjoins the Hunter property. In 22, 47-29, upon which a big ore body was proved up by Patrick Hammel, William Rock, John P. Hollman and others of Duluth. William Rock, who drilled the first hole into merchantable ore on the range in July, 1904, had charge of these operations and the drilling for the Cuyuna Central company is under his direction.

All of the officers and directors of the company are Duluth men. John J. McAuliffe is president; John P. Hollman, vice president; George Milostan, secretary and John Nolan, treasurer.

These men and Patrick Hammel, Dr. L. J. Sykora and Michael Nockels are the directors.

SAYS AMERICANS

NEED BIBLE STUDY

Viscount Bryce Talks at

British Educational

Meeting.

London, Jan. 3.—Simplification of spelling will be accomplished before the difficulty in regard to the religious teaching in schools is solved, declared Viscount Bryce, former British ambassador at Washington, in opening addresses at the University of London at which many organizations were represented. The audience listened to Mr. Bryce's speech on "Salient Educational Issues." He put in the forefront of his address a plea for the inclusion in the school curriculum of moral training based on religious principles.

"Biblical and religious instruction," he declared, "must not be left out of the schools. I have learned how strongly Americans feel the need of strengthening school work in this direction among such populations as fill England and America."

"Parents and Sunday school teachers cannot be relied upon to do all that is necessary, although it is the first duty of a parent to give his child moral and religious instruction. The teacher ought to be permitted to do this work. Not one out of a thousand of them would misuse their opportunity. I have been impressed, both in the United States and England, with the fact that knowledge of the Bible is declining among all classes, with an incalculable loss to the life of the country."

Viscount Bryce, in conclusion, said he approved of the American contention that women made better teachers than men for the younger pupils.

SIMPLER DRESSES

FOR GIRLS URGED.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—In an argument for simpler dressing for growing girls, the Journal of the American Medical association today publishes statistics showing the comparatively much greater liability of girls to death from accidental burning.

In an English compilation covering five years, it was found that during the five first years of life, in which boys and girls are dressed much alike, fatalities from burning were about equal. From 4 to 5 the death list was 388 boys and 775 girls; from 5 to 10, 289 boys and 1,421 girls, and from 10 to 20, 86 boys and 636 girls.

STREET CAR MEN

SHARE SURPLUS.

Washington, Jan. 3.—Nearly 1,000 employees of the Washington Street Railway company began the new year with a portion of the company's surplus for the last twelve months. Under a profit-sharing plan, more than $30,000 was distributed among employees of all grades; the amounts apportioned were determined by the length of service. Each check was accompanied by a personal letter from President King, thanking the employee for his faithful service.

Motormen and conductors who had been in the service but one month got $3.55 each; those in the service more than a year got $42.55.

NEW EXPRESS RATES

WILL BEGIN FEB. 2.

Washington, Jan. 3.—Lower express rates throughout the country will become effective Feb. 2. By the terms of the recent interstate commerce commission order, not only will the rates be reduced materially, but the companies will comply with regulations for improved methods of service.

Experts of the commission and the companies estimate that the average reduction in charges will be approximately 17 per cent.

One official of a large express company informed the commission that the holiday express business for 1913 was quite 25 per cent less than it was in 1912. He attributed the loss to the parcel post.

DR. HYDE MAY NOT BE TRIED AGAIN.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 3.—A plea to end the prosecution of Dr. B. Clark Hyde, three times tried on a charge of murdering Col. Thomas H. Swope, was made before the Jackson county court by J. D. Showalter, who contended that the court's agreement to pay the expense of the fourth Hyde trial up to $15,000 went beyond the statutory rights of the court. The fourth trial is set to open Jan. 12.

"The county prosecutor has a contingent fund of $2,500 yearly and Mr. Showalter seems to have the law," said one of the judges. "If Mr. Rozelle, county counselor, decides that Mr. Showalter is right, the Hyde trial may be postponed indefinitely or called off altogether."

MINNESOTA'S PUBLIC DOMAIN.

The appointment of a state commission of economy and efficiency has been made worth while, if by nothing else, by the developments of three days' work of the sub-committee on the public domain, Hugh J. Hughes, chairman.

These developments include a substantial agreement on such fundamental essentials as the sale of state lands ought to be taken out of the hands of the state auditor, that the various bureaus, departments, divisions and offices relating to the public domain ought to be co-ordinated under a single head, that the state wholly lacks a business-like and sensible land policy, and that greater results at lesser cost can be effected by a simplification of the present system—which is no system at all.

The committee was well indeed in determining that "muckraking" was no part of its work, in treating as a proved thing the fact that the present condition of disorder is inefficient, and in directing its energies to the task of bringing order out of chaos.

It is fortunate that a committee so competent and so harmonious was selected for this work, and it is particularly fortunate that it was so prompt in coming to an agreement on the essentials of its task.

There is scarcely anything this state needs more than a properly co-ordinated department of public domain and a sensible and businesslike land policy. This committee is now in a position, or will be soon, to outline both; and surely the state is ripe for the acceptance of a consummation which is so devoutly to be wished.

All Europe is in a sweat, because Turkey has another battleship. Imagine the terror it would create if the Balkan states should quietly buy a couple of aeroplanes!

THE APPEALING FOLLY OF MILITARY RIVALRY.

"War will never end," says the amateur prophet. "The world never will disarm," he adds.

Just so doomed humanity stood around at the beginning of the deluge and laughed at Noah, telling him it wasn't going to be much of a shower.

War MUST end. Otherwise progress and evolution are meaningless words.

The world MUST disarm. Otherwise the world will break down in one universal collapse of bankruptcy.

The house of representatives has passed a resolution urging the president of the United States to join England in a year's naval holiday. If the senate adopts this resolution the president will act upon it joyfully. If this country takes the lead, other nations will follow. And that will be the beginning of the end of war and burdensome armaments.

A foolish military rivalry keeps the world impoverished, wringing heavy taxes from the sweat-stained and blood-stained earnings of the world's toilers. It keeps the nations of the world chained to the block in the world's money markets. It diverts from useful and constructive purposes billions that might be used to make the world better and happier.

World opinion on the subject, outside of manufacturers of war supplies and ambitious leaders willing to sacrifice blood and treasure on the altar of their ambitions, is becoming all but unanimous: war must cease and the silly military rivalry must end.

A circular issued by the World Peace Foundation quotes three significant utterances. The first is by William Maxwell, the president of the recent International Co-operative Alliance congress:

"Apart from the horrors of war and its attendant miseries, which fall heavily upon the workers, financial burdens all over Europe are becoming intolerable to the worker, and all in order that a government shall have more engines of destruction than others. International co-operation is the very antithesis of war, which disfigure the civilization of the century. Let them hope that the growing sense of harmony between nations, which this great congress represents, will in a very short time wipe out many of those deadly engines of destruction on which so much hard money is spent."

The British trade union congress was still more emphatic in its condemnation of military waste. Turning to the capitalist side, Sir Algon Firth at the Antwerp congress of the British chambers of commerce said:

"At the present rate of increase Europe in ten years will be spending on armaments enough to replace the mercantile marine of the whole world today. That is a stupendous fact. It should cause every man in Europe to consider whether or this waste is leading them, it falls almost entirely upon the productive capacity of the countries concerned. It increases the cost of living and thus of production."

The sentiment of the church is thus voiced by the Bishop of Winchester before the church congress:

"The age of armaments—as we know it with its colossal, intolerable burdens, its naked international selfishness, its apparent contempt of the great common vocations from God which should draw the Christian nation into common service of world-wide liberty and spiritual progress—can it must change; by thunderous and unimaginable catastrophe, if not some better way of moral transformation."

Lloyd George has said that unless some way can be found to check the present insane rivalry and extravagance, revolution confronts Europe.

The workers pay it all. They pay directly through taxation. They pay indirectly but certainly through deprivation—through denial of the social good which is impossible of government because of the drain of military expense.

When they refuse longer to pay, war is ended.

One trouble in rousing public sentiment for government ownership of the telegraph lines is that comparatively few people send telegrams on account of the high rates, and so most folks don't appreciate the issue.

IS "THE SYSTEM" DISINTEGRATING?

If what in current discussion has been called "the System" (the term implying a more or less loosely organized money power in control of national finance, industry and commerce—Big Business) has a center, it is in the house of Morgan.

And the house of Morgan has announced that in deference to "an apparent change in public sentiment" it is retiring from the complex system of interlocking directorates through which "the System" has exercised its mighty power!

Coupled with the manifest anxiety of the industrial giants to find out just what the administration wishes them to do and then to do it, this latest announcement is exceedingly interesting.

It looks—and how far looks are justified by actual facts only the future can disclose—as though the arch of "the System" was disintegrating at the keystone.

We shall all hope that "looks" are not deceiving. Profitable though it has been for some, a system of close relationship between the dominating factors in finance and industry is a dangerous thing for a Republic. It is too much power to put in selfish hands. It must inevitably sow the dragon's teeth of revolution.

It has become plain enough that the old order could not endure. This intelligence, manifest to nearly everybody for long, has at last penetrated even to the moneyed cloisters of Big Business. Since the old order must change and give place to the new, it is as easy, and much simpler and more pleasant and less disturbing, to have the revolution brought about by mutual and friendly agreement.

It looks now very much as though that, under the firm insistence and ruthless direction of President Wilson, were precisely what is going on. It will mean much for peace and order, much for sanity in business and public life, much for social justice, the well-being of all and the success of popular government, if that IS what is happening.

Congressman Gardner has asked the permission of his rival to run for congress. It was not like this in the strenuous days of the big bull moose.

READING ALOUD.

Has the practice of reading aloud gone out of fashion? A university professor, quoted in the Des Moines Register and Leader, says it has, and with it, "as might have been expected, the ability to read with intelligent expression." And the professor adds: "It is a deplorable fact that we have many students in the university who are unable to read a page from a textbook aloud to the class and read it correctly."

If this is so, it is a pity in, more ways than one.

Given the combination of one who likes to read aloud—and who can—and those who like to listen, reading aloud is a splendid pastime, rich in enjoyments and benefits.

Perhaps one thing this has driven the practice out of fashion is the rarity of that combination. Without it, reading aloud is a good deal of a nuisance. If either end of the combination is lacking, woe is us and deary me! There is nothing more painful than to be compelled, out of politeness, to listen to a reader who stumbles and stutters, who balks at every word of more than two syllables, who raises his voice where it ought to fall, and lets it fall where it ought to rise.

And even the mellifluous reading of one who can read smoothly and with intelligence is worse than wasted if his audience is bored, either by reading of any kind or by the particular book that is being read.

On the whole, the habit is better for the reader than for the listener. It is good practice, good voice training, good for the lungs and the spirits. There are those who find nothing more soothing to the nerves after the shocks and conflicts of a busy day than an hour or two spent in reading aloud.

The reader, too, gets more out of his book in reading aloud than he can in reading to himself. Readers are prone to acquire the habit of hurried, and therefore slovenly, reading. The fiction habit tends this way; and those who from much novel-reading acquire the facility of reading a paragraph and almost a page at a glance or two soon get so that it is almost impossible for them to get anything out of a serious book.

Reading, to be real reading, must not be a one-sided operation. That is, it must not be merely a receptive act. In real reading the mind of the reader must be as active as the mind of the writer. He must match thought for thought. The thoughts of the writer must strike out of the reader's mind flashes of thought as the blacksmith's sledge strikes fire from the anvil. The reader's mind must play around the writer's thoughts, exploring the mind vistas which those thoughts open up, and finding for itself new beauties there.

Therefore, in reading aloud only good books—those of the tested, approved old masters of literature—should be used. Reader and audience should be free to pause and discuss striking ideas, and to contribute their own echoing thoughts of approval or dispute.

Reading aloud is good business. It helps illumine and dignify and make pleasant the home circle. It furberish up and refurnishes the mind, which, unhappily, tends in neglect, like the old house, to grow dilapidated and unlovely.

How near can you guess to where your sidewalk ends and your neighbor's begins?

TWO GOOD SUGGESTIONS FROM THE WOMAN'S COUNCIL.

The Woman's Council at its meeting yesterday developed two suggestions of interest and importance.

These are by no means the first sound tips the city has had from this organization, and this is particularly encouraging—the Woman's Council has a habit, when it has in mind a good thing for the city, of going through with it.

The first and most important suggestion is that the city and county should have a hospital for the free care of those unable to pay hospital charges.

That need has long been apparent to those who have had to do with the problem of caring for the disinherited. The need is not yet vital, perhaps; most of the sick poor are being cared for in some fashion; but the carrying out of this suggestion is not a thing that can be done in a day or a week or a month, and the need is likely to be vital indeed, if not embarrassingly acute, long before it is met.

The Woman's Council deserves and should have the heartiest support for this new plan to make Duluth a better city to live in.

The other suggestion is that the ordinance requiring property-owners to keep their sidewalks free of snow be enforced. That, too, is needed, and though compliance with it will not be without difficulty, there is a need for the ordinance, the ordinance is useless unless it is enforced, and therefore an enforcement of it as rigid as may be will be appreciated.

Just think how funny everything would look if snow were black and soot were white!

PROFESSORS AND FREEDOM.

The American Political Science association thinks professors of political science in all American universities ought to have perfect freedom of thought and speech; and it has appointed a committee to look into it.

That ought to be axiomatic. Professors ought to be students quite as much as their pupils. Their minds ought to be open, their ideas subject to change by conviction, their tongues free to express the faith that is in them.

Otherwise, it is stagnation, dry-rot and futility.

A policy which would paralyze professorial thought and lay a spell of dumbness on professorial speech must be based on a conception that political science is a finished and unalterable science.

And that would be true only if human living conditions were finished and unalterable.

Freedom of speech and thought for professors of political science in American universities ought, as we have said, to be axiomatic.

It is well known that it is not; that there are comparatively few American universities where radicalism—and men who think and look ahead and break new trails are sure to be radicals—is not frowned upon, if not bottled up or driven out.

If the American Political Science association can change that situation, it will be doing a great service to American education, American progress and the American people.

If you have any serious trouble about the water wagon, just try a few applications of the snow shovel and it will make you forget about the other.

GOING IN DEBT FOR SAVING.

This picture in the Saturday Evening Post is, we are sure, a true one:

We suppose, at a rough estimate, there are fifty thousand urban families in the United States that never saved a cent in their existence who could buy some costly luxuries on credit this week and pay for it before next Christmas.

The chief characteristic of your spendthrift is that he always gets things first and pays for them afterward. He always planks down the last installment on his winter overcoat two weeks after purchasing his summer suit. The winter coat bill is disposed of only when a nice little ice bill has begun to accumulate.

Yet unless he has degenerated into a deadbeat he does finally pay. He does not let his debts eat up his life insurance. He was not born in the unfortunate constellation that his monetary legs will operate only on an up-grade.

Everybody knows such people. Certainly every tradesman does. And we HOPE that the number of such families is as few as fifty thousand.

The Post quotes a banker's suggestion that this habit of debt might be turned to good account:

He advises the backhanded man to ascertain the price of the costliest luxury he might possibly pay for in the current year—by turning his corners so fast that about the end of the year he would be a squirrel in a wire cage—then to visit a sympathetic broker, with a good letter of introduction, and buy a bond of the same amount, to be paid for in the same installments he would otherwise have applied to some non-productive purchase.

At the end of the year, says the banker, he will own the bond, a good letter of introduction, and buy another bond for the same amount, to be paid for in the same installments he would otherwise have applied to some non-productive purchase.

Why could these prodigal families, who are always in debt anyway, not get something out of it by going in debt for something worth while?

That's about the only way most of them ever could get anything laid by. And unless they do get something laid by, what is to be their fate in the chill years to come?

Has any such family the grit to tackle such a sensible plan? Will it stick to it if it starts? It would be interesting to know.

Maybe that seven thousand dollar gift to his church will make John D. Rockefeller turn over a new leaf—in his check book.

COUNTRY YOUTH AND THE CITY.

There has been much talk about the personal folly and the loss to society involved in the flood of youth which pours from the farms into the city.

It would be interesting to know what effect this talk has had on the mind of rural youth.

Is youth in the country still looking toward the city with longing? Or have the improvements in country life served to make the young people contented where they are?

It is very important to know about that. It would be very serious if, in spite of rural free delivery, rural telephones, rural automobiles, rural consolidated schools with education in agriculture and social centers, the awakening of country parents to the knowledge that to keep their children on the farm they must make it profitable for them to remain on the farm—it would be serious indeed if, in spite of these things, rural youth still strains at its leash and breaks away to the city as soon as it can.

For while many young people from the country find opportunity and glory, honor and profit in the city, for the majority a sadder fate awaits. For these must see as through iron bars the things for which they have come and for which they are striving. They can see them, but cannot reach them. Again and again they fling themselves against these impenetrable bars, only to be thrown back, bruised and bleeding.

Yet from society's viewpoint, there are two sides. Society must have producers enough left on the farms to feed it. Yet it also must have fresh blood from the country to feed its cities. Otherwise, no great city could perpetuate itself two generations.

As a nation we are not superstitious, but just the same a lot of people will never forget to write it 1914.

WHY WAIT TILL YOU HAVE TO?

It is related that the other day a man and a woman met on the street, both owners of automobiles and both walking.

The man asked the woman why she was not out with her automobile.

She said it was because she found that when she was using it she was "lousy and sick" half the time.

The man said that he was not using his automobile because his doctor had told him he must walk more.

People with or without automobiles may learn something from that conversation.

We hear another story. Four years ago a man was told by his doctor that unless he gave up his indoor occupation and got out in the open and kept there, he must die. So he and his wife started out for a tramp. Since then they have walked eighteen thousand miles. The other day they returned to their home. They were tired and tanned, but both of them were as sound physically as people possibly could be. Neither has had a sick day since they began tramping.

There ought to be a lesson in that story, too.

But why not get the advantages of walking before you have to? It's a lot more fun for a well person to walk than for a sick person. And it's a good deal easier to maintain health by right living than it is to recover lost health.

There is no better exercise than walking; nor is there better fun or better medicine.

If there were but one place in this country where people could get the physical benefits of walking, and it cost a lot to go there and stay there while taking the walking treatment, that place would be crowded all the time.

The only trouble with walking, as a pleasure and as a medicine, is that it doesn't cost anything. That's why so few people are sensible enough to take advantage of it. If it cost a lot, everybody who could afford it would be doing it.

And now J. P. Morgan & Co. has come into the fold. Wouldn't that drag you back from South America?

What a city may do for its people through an enlightened policy of land ownership is told by Richard T. Ely of the University of Wisconsin, in an article in the Survey, on the activities of the German city of Ulm. He writes:

"In Ulm we find private activity supplemented by public activity showing a common thought, a common life, a love in common for the affairs in common."

Ulm and Mayor von Wagner buying land for the city, and buying more and more land, encountering opposition at times, which, however, gradually diminishes, and he finds the municipal and its foundations (e. g., the hospital) owning three-fourths of the land within the city boundaries and energetically building homes for the working people and the less well-to-do generally, selling the houses outright to encourage home ownership, but selling them under many restrictions, carefully worked out, having as their aim the well-being of all the purchasers as well as the health, safety, security and beauty of the city as a whole."

Prof. Ely then describes how the city has gained from the sale of 400 out of 1,100 acres a profit of a million marks more than the cost of all 1,100 acres. But this is considered of secondary importance to the social improvement made possible. He quotes Mayor Wagner as saying:

"Not only does a large ownership of land enable the city to create institutions of all kinds designed to promote general welfare, such as pleasure parks, playgrounds, skating rinks, school gardens, gardens to be lent to people of small means, etc.; it puts the city in a position to influence building development so as to promote favorable social, hygienic and constructional policies."

An Imported Hero.

Kansas City Star: There was nothing to do with the Slavic family of Bodner out of America. Mrs. Elizabeth Range, drowning in the Kaw river, was rescued by John Bodner, Jr., 15 years old. His father works as a car repairer in a packing plant.

You Pile with the child on your knee. What does your son do with the feet of the dead? He does it right.

That chap once found on his Polish tea and milk in gold for you and me? Now a ragged young fellow answers: That Dork took whole from the dancers. And the heavy faces bloom in the wonderful Slavic way.

You Americans that have read Robert Haven Schaufuss's poems, aren't you glad that to this land of the free came John Bodner, worker, and that to this home of the brave came John Bodner, Jr., if he never? Cuck you, all of us, say as though it were a national anthem these closing lines of the Schaufuss poem:

Newcomers all from the Eastern seas, You ignore dramatic like these. You do not know that the wrong, Help us to father a nation, strong. Help us to father a nation, strong. In the wealth of the richest lands of earth.

Commission Government for Counties.

New York Tribune: The Short Ball organization wants to reorganize county administration in this state outside of New York city on the "commission government" plan. It will advocate legislation for the election in each county of three supervisors, instead of the present cumbersome boards, and these three will have power to hire a county manager, who will have power to appoint other officials necessary. Urging some reorganization of county affairs, this general line, the Ulta Observer, pointing out the general inadequacy of the present system, declares that at least $50,000 could be saved annually in Oneida county by such a readjustment of the county machinery.

A large board of supervisors is a highly expensive luxury for a county, and various jobs now existing in most counties could be easily omitted with benefit to everybody but the job holders. The taxpayers suffer; the public business suffers frequently. There is no real reason why the commission idea, or some variant of it, could not be applied to county affairs with the same success it has achieved in municipal administration.

The Moral.

Lippincott's: "The persistency with which children see in a fable some other moral than the one which it is intended that they shall see is often distressing," remarks a Philadelphia instructor of the young. "I had recited to one little boy the story of the wolf and the lamb and had followed it up with the remark:

"And now you see, Tommy, that the lamb would not have been eaten by the wolf if he had been good and sensible."

"Yes, I understand," said Tommy. "If the lamb had been good and sensible we should have had him to eat!"

No Fault.

Tomahawk Clarion: It was a country ball at which the regular printed ball program, with the duty little pencil attached, was being used for the first time. A young fellow from the city, noting that the duty little pencil was a good deal of a wall flower, took pity on her and said:

"Is your program full?"

"My what?"

"Your program."

"No, no; I ain't et but one doughnut!"

Compare Your Boy With These Tables

From the American Magazine.

In the January American Magazine appears a practical and exceedingly helpful article entitled "Better Boys," which presents new standards for judging boys' physical development. The author, Charles K. Taylor, divides boys into three types—the slender type, the medium type and the heavy type. In the table presented below he gives the proper measurements for boys between the ages of 11 and 14 in these three types.

These tables are arranged for people who are not experts and who have no apparatus beyond the tape-measure. The tables have been tried over and over a great many times during the past three years and corrected by experience. As they stand they have been found surprisingly accurate, so they may be used with considerable confidence by intelligent parents of teachers. Comparison with the tables will give a parent a fairly good idea of a boy's weak points. Furthermore, the tables give the average boy a great interest in the matter.

In the public schools of Philadelphia, where these tables have been put to great practical use, awards are given for improvement as well as for perfection of physique, and the results have been successful beyond expectation. In Philadelphia, boys in the public schools wear buttons which indicate whether they are of the first, second or third class physical condition, and they strive to improve their condition, because improvement brings to them certain awards and privileges.

The following is the table of measurements for boys between the ages of 11 and 14:

THE CANAL TOLL GRAB

By SAVOYARD

Washington, Jan. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Speaking of the human heart, Jeremiah, the Prophet of God, observed it is "deceit above all things, and desperately wicked." Before we put spade to dirt down at Panama to divide the land and unto the water, our government, that should stand for justice and integrity as well as for wealth and power, deliberately promised the canal, sealed and delivered, that the canal should be open to all nations on equal terms. If that is not what that treaty says then our language is the gibberish of Babel. And that is precisely what the world interpreted it to be—open to all ships under every flag on equal terms.

Now we built that canal as a speculative enterprise. In a hundred respects it is bound to be of more advantage to us than to any other nation. It is estimated that the profits arising from it in legitimate tolls will return in the not very remote future to our posterity, the capital invested with ample dividend yearly.

Then, even if it were practical, why play the hog-surrender our national honor for a paltry and a delusive advantage? Here we repudiate a solemn compact when we allow the vessels of the United States in the coastwise trade passage through the canal free of toll. We admit our dishonesty when we refuse to submit the question to the arbitration of a Hague tribunal that is the richest fruit of the civilization of the nineteenth century.

Joseph H. Choate, a lawyer in the class of his great uncle, Rufus Choate, and Lord Paul, one of the greatest diplomats the world has produced, wrote that treaty that provided that the shipping of all nations should pass through the canal on equal terms. By that treaty, the vessels of the United States in the coastwise trade passage through the canal free of toll. We admit our dishonesty when we refuse to submit the question to the arbitration of a Hague tribunal that is the richest fruit of the civilization of the nineteenth century.

There is nothing new in that—there never was a thief who did not first convince himself that he was excepted when it was handed down from Sinai, in awful imperative, "Thou shalt not steal."

The world will ever admire the chivalry.

of character in the eastern of peoples whose respect is of value and without which we cannot get along at all. There is a great battle not yet fought to a finish between selfishness and Justice. Here it is acute. Shall we be just and gain, not only the respect but the friendship, of the world, and reap abundant material profit as well, or shall we be selfish and court the enmity and disdain of the world—lose at the bung and save at the spigot?

That is all the issue there is in this canal toll grab. It is for the manhood of America to say whether we shall stand before the world upright or scamp—and then the folly of it, even in the matter of vulgar and dirty gain!

PARIS TEACHES DULUTH THE VALUE OF DIAGONAL STREETS IN CITY PLANNING

BIRD'S-EYE VIEW OF PARIS.

(By Robert Loebbeck, Architect.) In a trip through France one could not very well omit to say a few words in regard to Paris, even if there were no points of similarity between that city and Duluth. To discuss which is the purpose of these articles.

The Doctor's HELPS

By DONALD McCASKEY, M.D.

HOW THE HOSPITAL CAN HELP YOU WHEN SICK

Experienced opinion, as revealed by those who have been seriously ill and dangerously near the border line of death, is found to be always, "GO TO THE HOSPITAL WHEN SICK."

When one falls sick at his home, or in a boarding house or hotel there are usually many comforts which surround the sick one. Willing hands and kindly hearts are only too glad to do what they can to ease the pain and alleviate the suffering. In the family circle, if one falls sick, one's relatives and friends wish to do their very utmost for the sick one's comfort. But here is just the rub. There is not one person in a thousand of average men or women who possesses the natural talent for nursing a sick patient. I have just been reading a recent paragraph on this subject by Robert Blair Risk. Mr. Risk weighs over 300 pounds. Recently he fell and broke his leg below the knee, and was confined to the Lancaster General hospital for a period of nearly five months. His article says:

"The main reason why a sick person should go to a hospital is that he will receive there a grade of nursing which is trained and expert in every way. The latter is an art. It can only be learned by hard, special study and experience. It requires much intuition and tact to manage a sick room well. The sick one at his natural home is often depressed by the solemn and anxious faces of his family circle. If not dangerously ill or wounded, he is overwhelmed by attempts at over kindness. All these, of course, are always well meant. They, however, often lead to weariness.

"Thousands of useless and often senseless questions are apt to be asked. The patient is constantly hearing, 'What would you like to eat?' 'May I get you this or that?' 'Don't you think a little chicken soup would be good?' 'Would you like to have a pillow under your head?' 'Would you like your head higher?' 'Are you warm enough?' 'Shall I get you another blanket?' 'Why did you not eat all that I gave you?' 'What shall I buy for you in market?' In this vein the outpouring questions are hurled at the patient, and he is pestered half to death. When nursed at home, if the patient can't eat and a great deal, the idea goes around that he is in a bad way and liable to die. Many folks get the idea that a sick one is liable to grow lonesome unless he is being talked to all the time.

"A patient in the hospital is not treated that way. He asks for what he feels like eating, if permitted by his doctor to exercise his own discretion. There are no foolish or aggravating questions as to why he did or did not eat. He gets what he asks for, and is not appalled by any full of establishes he neither has need of nor any appetite for. He is not bored by conversation. He is afforded many restful periods to himself. In short, the trained nurse knows what to do, and promptly she gets it done, and that's an end of it.

"So I am a nurse, I have tried it, and know it is good. The proof of the pudding is in the eating."

Editor's Note.—Among many folks who do not know the real truth, the mention of the word hospital is sufficient to act as a scare. This is especially the case if any one such individual has been taken down by sickness or accident. This newspaper wants every one of its readers to learn the truth about modern hospitals, and that they are among the very best friends our city could possess. If any of our readers who have been hospital patients, enjoying all the wonderful benefits that modern science can bestow, will write the Editor a letter conveying their sentiments about what they think of hospitals, it will be welcomed for publication in our columns. Hospitals are great servants, and we would like every one of our readers to understand the benefits each hospital in this city has to offer them should any severe accident or sickness occur.

EVILS OF THE LONG WORK DAY

Three Shifts a Day Instead of Two for a Continuous Industry.

By CHARLES SUMNER BIRD, President of F. W. Bird & Son.

(Exclusive Service, The Survey Press Bureau.) For 10 years or more the paper mills of this country have been operated twenty-four hours each day. These mills usually start at midnight Sunday and do not stop until midnight Saturday. They are running 144 hours each week. Those who are employed on the continuously running machinery are called "four-workers," and they work one week from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m., sixty-six hours, and the next week from 6 p. m. to 7 a. m., seventy-eight hours, with no time off for meals.

That has been the custom in paper-making, worked for years in a paper mill when I was a boy, both on the thirteen-hour shift, and on the eleven-hour shift, nights and days. I know from practical experience what it means to work thirteen hours from 6 o'clock a. m. to 7 p. m., and from 7 in the morning till 6 at night eleven hours, the next week, year in and year out. I know that this sort of work is intolerable and I speak with deliberation and knowledge. It is intolerable, not only because of the numbers of hours, which, under any condition of labor would be excessive, but also because in many paper mills the conditions under which men work are severe and trying.

I ask the carpenters, bricklayers, masons and other industrial laborers to consider what such long hours of labor mean. How long would you work seventy-two hours a week? Compare the lot of these men with your own hours of labor, forty-eight to fifty-four hours each week. I want every man and woman who reads this to think what such long hours would mean to him or her in their home life. What time can they spend with their families? What time can the same man have during the next week when he works eleven hours each day with no time off for meals?

Such long hours are intolerable and injurious to health and happiness. It is a dangerous to the future welfare of the nation as was the slavery of the black race; the men employed for such long hours are taxed beyond their strength and the physical exhaustion, day after day, week after week, soon results in a lower standard of life. No time or energy is left for the development of a healthy home life which is so essential to the welfare of the nation.

To correct this continuous employment in Massachusetts, a bill was introduced in the last legislature by the Progressive party of Massachusetts which provided that:

Persons employed in any paper mill, foundry, factory or in any manufacturing establishment or mechanical or other industrial establishment which is operating both day and night, either continuously or intermittently, shall be limited to work forty-eight hours per week, and eight hours per day.

Four-workers mean "all employees who tend or are employed for the purpose of tending machinery or appliances of any description which are operated both day and night either continuously or intermittently."

This bill was defeated. One of the arguments used against it was that the extra expense of the three-shift system would drive the paper industry out of the state. Such an argument is unsound. I doubt very much whether the increased cost of labor due to a change from the two-shift to the three-shift system in a paper mill representing as it does, I think, approximately not over 2 per cent of the average value of the product, would be sufficient to drive any one out of the paper business. Furthermore, I doubt whether it is true that it costs even less to run on the eight-hour basis than that amount, because I believe that mills that run on the eight-hour basis, or three shifts, as compared to the twelve-hour or thirteen-hour basis, produce more paper and better paper due to the improved spirit among the men and due to the physical capacity of the men to do better work.

It wouldn't take much better spirit of the men to make up the difference between the labor cost of three-shift as against two-shift systems. Furthermore, if it is necessary for any mill in order to exist to employ men sev-

EIGHT-HOUR DAY FOR STEEL WORKERS

Abolition of Twelve-Hour Shifts Urged By Former Steel Official.

By WILLIAM B. DICKSON, Former First Vice President United States Steel Corporation.

(This article is by a practical steel worker. From a "day" in the Carnegie mills, Mr. Dickson rose to the first vice presidency of the United States Steel Corporation. He knows from personal experience what the 12-hour day and the 12-hour day are. Mainly as a result of his activities, a practicable scheme for one shift day in seven has recently gone into effect in all the mills of the United States Steel Corporation and in those of many independent companies. He now comes out just as vigorously for the substitution of three 8-hour shifts in place of two of twelve hours.)

(Exclusive Service, The Survey Press Bureau.)

What are my views as to the 12-hour day in the steel industry? If the Steel Corporation is permitted by the courts to continue practically as at present organized, the conditions of employment of the steel workers will ultimately prevail in the entire steel industry. My comments will therefore deal mainly with that corporation. The committee of stockholders of the Steel Corporation appointed at the meeting of April 17, 1911, commented on this subject as follows:

"We are of the opinion that a 12-hour day of labor followed continuously by any group of men for any considerable number of years means a decreasing of the efficiency and lessening of the vigor and vitality of such men."

I heartily indorse this opinion, and will further state that in my judgment a large proportion of the steel workers who, from early manhood, work twelve hours a day, are now at 40. This is particularly true of those exposed to great changes of temperature.

The finance committee, as a result of the stockholders' committee, appointed Percival Roberts and Mr. Farrell as a committee to consider "what arrangements could be made with a view to reducing the 12-hour day in so far as it now exists among the employees of the subsidiary companies, is reasonable, just and practicable."

Although more than a year has elapsed, I am reliably informed that there has been no report from this committee.

The corporation is, of course, not responsible for the existence of the 12-hour day in the steel industry. The corporation has inherited it from its subsidiary companies. The corporation is not responsible for the existence of the 12-hour day in the steel industry. The corporation has inherited it from its subsidiary companies.

The enormous increase in capacity during the past ten years, especially at such works as Gary, Lorain and in the Monongahela valley. The plan has been made that in some cases the workmen do not desire a shorter workday. This same statement was made as an excuse for the seven-day week, but in both cases it has come from that minority class of laborers whose sole aim is to quickly accumulate some money and return to Europe, and who, in order to do so, are willing to live and work under conditions which are physically, mentally and morally debilitating. It is not reasonable to permit this as a standard for American citizens.

The directing minds of the Steel Corporation have wisely shown themselves on other questions, keenly susceptible to public opinion. In establishing the seven-day week, establishing a pension fund, permitting employees to purchase stock on especially favorable terms, and in their magnificent campaign to ensure safety to all employees, they are deserving of the highest praise.

I am hopeful that they will further commend their great corporation to the favor of the American people by prompt and voluntary action looking to the abolition of the twelve-hour day as rapidly as circumstances permit.

A more specific question is: Can the workers who, from early manhood, work twelve hours a day, be made more efficient, because less exhausted, workmen will, to a great extent, offset whatever additional cost may be involved; but aside from this, I am of the opinion that the steel companies can today afford to change from a twelve-hour to an eight-hour day in all those processes which are necessarily continuous. In other departments a ten-hour day is practicable, and perhaps advisable. If, however, it should be found that costs were actually increased, I should be inclined to believe that the steel companies can today afford to change from a twelve-hour to an eight-hour day in all those processes which are necessarily continuous. In other departments a ten-hour day is practicable, and perhaps advisable. If, however, it should be found that costs were actually increased, I should be inclined to believe that the steel companies can today afford to change from a twelve-hour to an eight-hour day in all those processes which are necessarily continuous. THREE WILL LEAVE STATE

Lumber Companies Are Dis-mantling Offices in St. Louis.

Others Will Ask Rehearing Before the Supreme Court.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 3.—Three lumber companies that were ousted from the state by the Missouri supreme court on Dec. 24, and fined a total of $110,000 for alleged violation of the anti-trust law, have prepared to close their St. Louis offices and re-open in East St. Louis, Ill. Rumors that other companies would take a similar policy, rather than pay the fines levied by the supreme court, are rife. It is understood that if the companies take all their assets out of the state, the fines levied by the Missouri supreme court cannot be collected.

The three companies that are dismantling their offices are the Chicago Lumber & Coal company and its two subsidiary companies, the Bradley Lumber company and the Colonial Lumber & Timber company. The three companies together occupy an entire floor of a St. Louis skyscraper. R. W. Fullerton, the secretary, said the company would move to the Illinois side by Monday.

Two Fined Unconditionally.

The Chicago Lumber & Coal company and the Bradley company were ousted unconditionally and each was fined $50,000. These fines were to be paid even though the ouster decrees were enforced. The Colonial Lumber & Timber company was ousted, but given the option of remaining in the state if it would pay $10,000 fine and obey the anti-trust laws.

Under the ruling of the supreme court, the twenty-five companies that were ousted, conditionally or otherwise, can file a motion for rehearing not later than tonight. This would act automatically as a stay of execution.

Secretary Fullerton of the Chicago Lumber & Coal company said the offices of the company in Kansas City, Mo., would be moved to Kansas City, Kan. "We are leaving Missouri," he said, "because we are law-abiding citizens. We are going because we are ordered by the supreme court to go. We don't want to go, and we will come back if we are allowed to do so. Since the decree of ouster was issued, we have had invitations from New Orleans, Mobile, East St. Louis and several other cities. So we are going to East St. Louis and to Kansas City, Kan."

SAY PELLAGRA IS NOT DUE TO CORN

Scientists Report on Disease at Meeting in Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 3.—That pellagra infection probably results from bad sewerage, is the theory advanced in the report of the Thompson-McFadden pellagra commission, read before the American Association for the Advancement of Science. The report says no definite relation has been established between the prevalence of pellagra and the use of any particular food. In short, that pellagra is not due to corn and that the disease is by no means as dangerous as the public may believe, are two important conclusions reported by the commission.

Dr. K. S. Siler of the United States medical corps, senior member of the commission, said the commission believes the disease is due to infection and that it is not essentially a southern disease, though it is more general in the South because heat favors its development.

That pellagra is spread through the agency of some insect was another conclusion reached.

Miss Rosa Calligaro, 17 years old, daughter of Mrs. George Geshel of Pence, died at the family home there Monday morning after a lingering illness, tuberculosis being the cause of her death. Funeral services were conducted Wednesday morning from St. Mary's church and interment was made in the Hurley cemetery.

NO INCREASE IN THE UNEMPLOYED

That there are no more unemployed men in Duluth at present than there were at the close of 1913 is the belief of Joseph Burke, local manager of the state free employment bureau.

Mr. Burke said yesterday that in 1913 the local office found employment for 6,812 men and although the 1913 report is not yet complete, it will easily equal the 1912 record. Although the mild weather of last month greatly retarded the work in the woods, Mr. Burke is of the opinion that the conditions now are much improved.

"There is not much difference between the labor situation now and what it was a year ago at this time," said Mr. Burke yesterday. "The demand for unskilled labor is normal, but with the present heavy snows throughout the northern section of the state, camps will start working with full forces and almost every idle man in the city will be given employment."

The larger camps and mills run throughout the winter, without regard to weather, but these smaller camps are the ones that are compelled to shut down."

OPEN LAKES TO OCEAN STEAMERS

Townsend Resolution to Go to International Joint Commission.

Washington, Jan. 3.—After several years of effort, Senator Townsend of Michigan finally appears about to secure action from this Democratic administration on his attempt to induce international negotiations for the opening of the Great Lakes to the largest ships of the ocean. The Townsend resolution, requesting the president to open negotiations with Great Britain, was passed by the Senate last month.

It was referred to the state department and now the state department is making up its mind as to whether it will take the direct course pointing to the international joint commission.

This means that the representatives of Canada and the United States are to take up the subject of an agreement by which the rapid of St. Lawrence can be eliminated by means of dams and turned into deep, deep pools through which the biggest ships can navigate. With appropriate locks this would open Lake Ontario to the ocean and, when the proposed enlargement of the Welland canal is completed, the rest of the Great Lakes would become a part of the sea and their ports ocean ports.

TO TEST "CORRUPT PRACTICES" ACT

Mayor-Elect Gleason of Eveleth Declares Law Unconstitutional.

John G. Gleason, mayor-elect of Eveleth, who is engaged in an election contest with Jacob Saari, present incumbent, will attack the constitutionality of the special legislative enactment of June 1912, known as the "corrupt practices" act. Mayor Saari charges the mayor-elect with having violated the provisions of this act. In an answer filed yesterday in district court, Mayor-elect Gleason not only denies the charges but raises the point of the constitutionality of the law.

LODGES WILL PROTEST AGAINST LITERACY TEST.

A conference of all the Duluth lodges and societies opposed to the literacy test immigration bill now before congress has been called for Monday evening, when some concerted action will be planned. The meeting will be held in room 2 of the Edison building.

At a meeting of the Duluth Progressive branch No. 413, Workmen's circle, held on Dec. 21, resolutions were passed by the members opposing the immigration bill and calling a protest meeting of all the societies in Duluth.

Each organization is asked to send representatives to the meeting.

MAINE G. O. P. ASKS BULL MOOSERS BACK.

Augusta, Me., Jan. 3.—The Republican state committee has directed the chairman and the executive committee to confer with a similar delegation from the Progressive state committee, with "a view to bringing the two parties together." It was voted to hold the state convention at Augusta on Apr. 8. Three hundred or more delegates from all parts of the state joined with the committee in a conference to consider plans for the next state campaign.

EUGENICS LAW DOES NOT SCARE

Badger Marriage Law Fails to Boost License Sales Here.

Wisconsin's eugenics marriage law, which went into effect Thursday, requiring that applicants for marriage licenses undergo medical examinations and qualify in other particulars, has resulted in no rush to Duluth for licenses. Under the Minnesota law, the red tape is eliminated. Only one marriage license was issued all day yesterday and it went to Oscar H. Myre and Arline M. Peachey, both of this city.

Lyceum

Miss Helen Gardner, who is remembered in Duluth for her interpretation of Cleopatra in motion pictures, which were shown at the Lyceum last summer, will again appear at the Lyceum tomorrow in "Olga Treskoff," a three-act feature.

The scene of this feature is laid in Russia, the "land without justice." This story is a portrayal of the revolutionary uprisings in that country and the many hardships endured by the unfortunate political prisoners.

Olga Treskoff, the charming daughter of a prosperous Russian merchant, is loved by Paul, a poor woodchopper. Baron Borovitch, a retired army general, is involved in a political conspiracy. On the way to meet a Japanese agent to deliver a map of Russia's fortifications, the baron slips and injures his knee. Paul and Olga's father appear and they help the wounded man to Treskoff's home. The baron meets Olga and is fascinated by her charming beauty. Realizing that he cannot deliver the secret plans because of his injuries, the baron dispatches Paul with the papers, setting his oath that he will under no conditions disclose the identity of the sender.

Just as Paul is about to deliver the envelope containing the plans he is captured by secret service men and arrested for a crime that he is guiltless of and on the strength of the circumstantial evidence and his refusal to speak, is sentenced to exile in Siberia.

Hall, Albert West, Byron Russell and William Lowman.

"The Bird of Paradise," a drama of American and modern Hawaii, will be seen here at the Lyceum theater, Jan. 8, 9 and 10, with a popular matinee Saturday. The play is by Richard Walton Tully, the well-known author of "The Strenuous Life," "The Rose of the Islands" and other pieces of almost equal renown. The production has been under the personal supervision of that Western genius of stagecraft, Oliver Morosco.

There is a love story in the play—the love story of Paul Wilson, a young physician, and Luana, the beautiful child of Mount Lani, the sacred volcano which all good Kanakas worship wherever the ancient gods are not forgotten.

Though the main trend of the drama is serious, it is interspersed with so much of that which may be described as "human humor" or humor typically American, that whole scenes flash with vivid comedy.

In this play the American abroad, both as trader and as missionary, is better described than in any other drama which has been written.

Indeed, Mr. Tully's accuracy has seldom been equalled in books. The facility of trying to make over an epochal visualization in a decade, and the prevailing instinct for money making, both receive their touch of gentle but certain satire at Mr. Tully's pen.

Miss Lenore Ulrich, a 19-year-old discovery of Manager Morosco's just at the close of last season, plays Luana with force and true insight, it is said. William Desmond, who has just returned from a starring tour in Australia, is appearing as Paul, and the remainder of the cast is said to be of high order. Indeed, there is no play out of New York, it is said, with a cast of this size, having a salary list so high. The original Hawaiian troupe of Hula dancers, acclaimed the world's champions in their peculiar branch of terpsichorean achievement, is included in this season's roster.

Gaby Deslys, the idol of two worlds, declares that "money" is the best shield against criticism. "The world," she says, takes you at your own valuation. Gaby is said to be one of the highest priced foreign artists who has ever visited America. Her salary is over $5,000 a week and in addition to this, her managers pay for a private car and for the services of a large retinue of help. This includes a private detective, who is on hand to guard her name, a charming young actress, vivacious and most compelling. It is said, the first interest may come to her through the charm of association that the name conjures up to many theatergoers, but her talent and charm retain that interest with additions for herself. Miss Coghlan has had an interesting stage career. She has appeared with success in the support of many of the well known stars, among them, William Gillette, W. H. Crane, Dustin Farnum, Viola Allen and the famous French actress, Simone. She has appeared in the New York productions of "The Traveling Salesman," "Brewster's Millions" and "The Lion and the Mouse." One of her most pronounced successes was made in the all-star production of "The Sawdust Man" at the Broadway theater, New York. Others in the cast were Dustin Farnum, George Paucett, Theodore Roberts and Crystal Herna.

The new playlet which Miss Coghlan is presenting on this tour of the Orpheum circuit is from the pen of Edgar Allan Woolf and is a delightful vehicle for the charms of this young actress. In her support will appear Richard Pittman.

"Odd Nonsense" is the name that James Mullen and Alan Coogan give their act and the names of the young men would suggest that they should be quite capable through inheritance at least of living up to the promise of the title of their act. Character songs, eccentric comedy and dancing are the features that should make the act a popular one for the lovers of vaudeville.

Alcide Capitaine appears on the program of the week's bill as "the perfect gymnast," and this young woman is said to have perfected her exhibition of work of the swinging trapeze. Her grace and the beauty of her movements are as much a feature of her act as her strength, which is said to be exceptional for a woman.

Binns, Binns and Binns have a novelty musical turn which is expected to supply its full share of the comedy of next week's bill. They play many different musical instruments and also introduce some novel stage effects which never fail to draw laughs.

Emily Darrell and Charley Conway have a skit which they call, "Behind the Scenes." The act is said to be a surprise, and they do not disclose in their advance notices the nature of their turn. It is said to be full of bright lines and amusing situations, and has been a comedy hit on almost every bill on which it has been seen this season.

Singing, whistling and just plain comedy dialogue comprise the act presented by Paulson and Goldie. One of them appears as a messenger boy, and his whistling and jokes are the most entertaining feature of the act.

Three club jugglers who have created a sensation over the circuit this season are the Three Juggling Millers. It was thought that all possible tricks in club juggling had been known, but the Millers are said to have an act that astounds even old-time vaudeville patrons by its speed and the accuracy and skill of the jugglers.

Gaby's collection of jewels. This year she is traveling in state making a tour which will include cities from New York to San Francisco. She will appear in the leading role of "The Little Parisienne," a modern musical farce, in which the winter garden management will present her. Her surrounding company will, as usual, include her dancing partner Harry Pilear, who has now been with her for three years.

William Hodge will come to the Lyceum in February in his new comedy, "The Road to Happiness," a play in which the spirit of optimism and cheerfulness is the dominant note. The comedy was written by Lawrence Whitman of Chicago, who has gone into the rural shades of a small New York village for his story and characters, and has brought into an interesting narrative the annals of a group of neighbors whose everyday lives are interwoven in the close intimacy of village life.

Mr. Hodge's role is that of Jim Whitman, a young man of the village, blessed with a cheery spirit, a quick wit and a large measure of common sense. He has something of David Harum's keen worldly sense and much of Daniel Voorhees Pike's importunate good nature in trying situations. The story of the play has to do with Whitman's love for the daughter of the town's richest citizen and involves as its chief dramatic event a White Cap attempt of the girl's father and his confederates to give Whitman a dressing of tar and feathers and an ignominious ride on a rail.

Two other love stories develop in the plot and while comedy and humor are the chief qualities of the play, there is a full measure of heart interest, and the mingling of the lights and shades of everyday life is deftly accomplished. Mr. Hodge has made a careful selection of his associate players, fitting to each distinct character the actor who, within his knowledge, is the best adapted to realize the type.

Lee Shabert, who directs Mr. Hodge's tour, has provided an elaborate scenic equipment.

Henry M. Blossom, Jr.'s great American play of racing life, "Checkers," the vehicle in which Thomas W. Ross, the popular actor, has for so many seasons starred throughout the country, has been adapted for the motion picture produced in a five-part silent motion picture by the All Star Feature Corporation, the makers of "Arizona."

"Checkers" will be shown for the first time in this city at the Lyceum theater after noon. Thomas W. Ross himself is to be seen in the role of "Checkers," and supporting him in an all-star cast of popular theatrical favorites, including Gertrude Shipman, Katherine La Salle, William A. Williams, Charles Graham and others.

The Northwestern Bonspiel Promises to Eclipse All Curling Tournaments of the Association---Americus Is Worthy Opponent of Fred Beell---Pal Brown Deserves a Chance at Leader.

BY BRUCE.

WITH only a trifle more than a week before the annual Northwestern bonspiel, interest in the big curling event is growing by leaps and bounds. This will mark the first Northwestern bonspiel in the magnificent new curling home of the club and it will also mark the greatest curling in the history of the association, if one can judge of advance reports.

From the north of us are coming rinks from beyond Winnipeg. To the west of Duluth Amnoda is going to send several rinks, according to the present plans of the Montana curlers, while from the Twin Cities will be sent the largest delegation of curlers that ever attended one of the bonspiels here. Down in the little old, shed-like house at the lowly foot of Third avenue east there used to be held some of the bonspiels that placed this city on the curling map. It was the dream of those associated with the promoting of the Northwestern bonspiel held here to see the day when the big curling event would be held in a building adequate to meet the demands of the situation. The day has arrived, and the 1914 bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association will be held under conditions that could not possibly be improved upon.

Under the roof of the new curling club it is very likely that greater interest will be shown by the general public of the city in the bonspiel. Officials of the club are issuing a cordial invitation to attend the games and lend their influence in making the bonspiel by long odds the best in the history of the association.

Americus and Fred Beell. THROUGH the decisive defeat of Ed Lewis at Chicago Americus has left no dispute or doubt that he is one of the greatest of the present crop of wrestlers. Lewis has been regarded as a wonder, rated as the best young wrestler who has come out since the advent of Frank Gotch. The Lexington, Ky., man could do nothing with the remarkable athlete of Baltimore.

In Gustav Fristensky, rated as the greatest foreign grappler to come to this country since Yussif Mahmoud, Americus will meet one of the best of the men in the game at the present time. This contest will be wrestled at the big Coliseum, Chicago.

In the meeting of Beell and Americus two of the greatest of the present day grapplers would be brought together. Beell is still one of the best of the wrestling brigade, and the record of Americus is such as to place him as next to Gotch in mat ability.

Johnson the Diplomat.

BYRON BANCROFT JOHNSON is refreshingly original. He is a diplomat—and there are mighty few of them. Count 'em. Mr. Johnson seems imbued more or less with the belief that the soft answer turneth away wrath. Whether he is a student of the Bible, there is a question; but the loud noise of the American league is governed in baseball dealings with a shrewd and far-seeing caution.

Naturally, if you thought upon the subject long enough, you would at once become convinced of the belief that any league must fight for its existence at the turnstiles. But instead of thinking of this fact some officials have taken to railing at the new organization, therefore increasing the popularity of the Federals at first hand.

Not so B. B. Johnson; he has stated that the more the merrier, or words to that immediate effect, and has further stated that the league drawing the most people into the gates will probably in the end be considered the best league. Thus do we see that even if he is inwardly heated and inclined to be messy, the gray matter of the man who is paid $25,000 a year for being wise is equal to rising and meeting the occasion.

A Chance for Brown.

IF Pal were upon the Pacific coast at the present time it is rather likely that he would be given the opportunity of meeting Leach Cross in the near future. The defeat of Bud Anderson must remove that somewhat ambitious young man from the future calculations of Uncle Tom McCarey, match maker of the Pacific Athletic club.

Uncle Tom has a penchant for developing youngsters. Joe Rivers has practically fought all of his battles at the arena of Uncle Tom's club. It was also under the encouragement of the same promoter that Bud Anderson really first attracted attention.

Anderson looked awfully good at first—and then pretty bad. This only goes to show that a really good boxer can do to one who is not so good. Brown is the chap all of his admirers in this section of the country want to see stack up against one of the leaders of the lightweight division.

Pal has been out long enough and is ripe. Most of the followers of the game believe he is one of the toughest of the division. Rivers, Ritchie or Cross would be the right sort of an opponent for the Hibbing youth, and his friends around about here hope that the chance will be coming before long.

Wolga's Victory.

JACK REDMOND was taken from the job of waiting on tables to meet Ad Wolgast. Redmond filled the breach caused by a cancellation and did the best he could—but he has for some time ceased to be figured with the best of the lightweights and the defeat does not indicate that Wolgast is the terror he was before the operation for appendicitis cut down the efficiency of one of the greatest light boxers of the ring.

MURPHY WILL FIGHT FEDERALS

Notifies Players That They Must Live Up to Contracts.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—President Murphy of the Chicago National league club last night served notice on the ball players under contract with the club that he would take legal steps to prevent them if any players should attempt desertion to the Federal league. Letters were mailed to each man on the club roster notifying him that he was expected to fulfill the contract held by the club.

"The Chicago club," Murphy wrote, "not only has a moral but a legal right to your services. This is to inform you that this right will be protected to the fullest extent of the law."

Americus and Fristensky Matched to Wrestle in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—Gustav Fristensky, the Bohemian wrestler and heralded as a real factor among the heavyweights, is going to get the big test at the Coliseum on Jan. 12. He is to meet Gus Schoenlein, better known as Americus, in a finish match at catch-as-catch-can style. In meeting Americus the newcomer goes against a clever and tricky grappler as the game has. The Bohemian will have the advantage over Gus in everything but the catch-as-catch-can style under which they are to wrestle. It is doubtful if Gotch himself knows as much about the mat game as Americus. The intricate crotch holds, the crushing head locks, the double bar arm, the dozens of solitary holds and the punishing "strangle" are all at Americus' finger tips.

Gus' great secret of wrestling is doing the right things at the right time. Not once did the Baltimore crack go after a hold or make a move against "Strangler" Lewis in the match Monday unless he accomplished something. Even when Lewis did get behind him and apparently had him "choked" out, Gus would make a sudden little turn and he would be easily out of danger.

DISCIPLINE WILL BE ENFORCED

President Tener Will Make the Umpire Real Boss.

New York, Jan. 3.—Strict discipline on the baseball field is one of the things President John K. Tener of the National league will demand of his umpires, according to his secretary, David Leroy Reeves, with whom he has discussed the umpire problem. The only person who can preserve order on the ball field is the umpire, President Tener said, and he added, by way of emphasis, that the umpires of discretion and judgment where the rule is not specifically guided by rule, he should be supreme.

President Tener's idea of what the ideal umpire should be was expressed as follows:

"I think an umpire should be conciliatory, but firm, positive but polite, quick but unobtrusive, strict, but reasonable."

Regarding the disciplining of players, he said: "One of the cardinal principles of justice is that every man should have an opportunity to be heard, to present his side of the case. If a player is guilty of the charges submitted by the umpire, the ends of justice can be served just as well by suspending the player three or four days after the violation has occurred, and all the evidence received and investigated, as by an immediate suspension following the report of the arbitrator."

Old Sportsman Dying.

New York, Jan. 3.—Racine men heard with regret today of the critical illness of John Hunter, at one time president of the Jockey club, who for more than fifty years took a leading part in the development of American sport. He is 80 years old and his illness is incidental to his advanced age. Last night word was sent to relatives that he was not expected to live more than a few hours.

DULUTH HAS EASY GAME

Fort Frances Is Defeated at Hockey 18 to 0.

Visitors Crippled Through Absence of Two Stars.

The score of 18 to 0 fairly represents the difference between the Duluth and Fort Frances hockey teams, with the locals riding easily and confidently on the large end of the score. To be frank and in the vein of truth telling, there was little to the contest—outside of Duluth. Large and retund Mr. Lauder, who tends goals in some contests, didn't have to last evening. During the course of the evening he ambled pleasantly and calmly down the ice and intercepted one shot aimed to the home port culls. After that he rested and chatted pleasantly and familiarly with the judges of goal, who was also quite undisturbed by any exactions in an official way.

To give the visitors credit where there is any credit due, it should be said that the Canadian cousins went onto the ice in a crippled condition. Two of the crack players of the visitors were missing and the team was a patched up one. In the final contest of this evening it is expected that the Fort Frances outfit will be able to give the Duluth club team a decidedly better argument.

Home Team Is Strong. With the visitors unable to make any progress whatsoever, the sense of team work was conspicuous by its absence, interest centered in the work of the home boys. While Mahan and Tamblin are missed—it would be foolish to say they are not—the consensus of opinion is that the team of the present season is better than the one of last.

In Kahler and Pryor the Duluth team has two crack players, and Lauder at goal is about the nicest guard seen in these parts for some time. This opinion is formed after seeing the chunky goal tender perform before the start of the contest. As has been said, he had nothing to do during the contest.

In goal shooting Kahler was the star of the evening. In the crowding of the net and rushing the puck the team of this year looks better than the one of last year. Little Harkell, always one of the real ones, looks even better this season.

At the close of the first half of the contest the score was 9 to 0. Frank Craswell, of our fair city, who used to be some hockey player at Cornell, went in during the second half and tried vainly to lend assistance to the visitors. Frank's wind was not as good as it might be, and he made several valiant efforts to make just one point.

Mahan of the Lake Hardware team was another of the locals who assisted the visitors during the contest.

The lineup: Duluth—Lauder, Kahler, Pryor, Mahan, Tamblin, Harkell, Craswell, D. L. Larson, W. Cline. Fort Frances—Lauder, Kahler, Pryor, Mahan, Tamblin, Harkell, Craswell, D. L. Larson, W. Cline.

Thirty-minute halves were played.

Ball Stock Transferred.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 3.—President Joseph J. Lannin of the Boston American baseball club, and his son, Paul, have disposed of their interests in the Boston National league club. The elder Lannin's stock was transferred to Vice President C. James Connolly of the Nationals, while that of his son was sold to Frank Curley, a friend of Mr. Connolly.

Clabby-Petroskey Match.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 3.—Jimmy Clabby of Hammond, Ind., and "Sailor" Petroskey of San Francisco are matched to box twenty rounds at Vernon on the afternoon of Jan. 17. The men will weigh in at 168 pounds at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Bonspiel Will Stop All Trophy Play for One Week.

Play in the Bagley event will begin the first of the week. It is expected that the elimination play in the Manley-McLennan event will be completed during the early part of the week, and this will leave the games committee free to rush the play in The Herald and the Bagley events.

Rapid progress is being made in The Herald event, and with similar progress in the Bagley, the events will be well advanced when the bonspiel opens. From this time on, point penalties will be exacted for lateness, and forfeitures will be called. In this manner it is believed that greater progress will be made in completing the various events.

Following is the draw for the Bagley event:

SOX AND GIANTS IN AUSTRALIA

Arrive at Sydney and Play Before Southern Cross Fans.

Sydney, N. S. W., Jan. 3.—The American baseball teams representing the Chicago White Sox and the New York Giants arrived here today. The Chicago men won 5 to 4 in the opening game which was played on the Sydney cricket grounds before a wildly enthusiastic crowd of 10,000 spectators. Great interest has been aroused in Australia by the tour. The visitors will be given a civic welcome by the lord mayor of Sydney on Monday.

Goes to Cubs.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—Charles Watson who was purchased by the Chicago National league club from the Fond du Lac club of the Wisconsin-Illinois league was released to that club yesterday.

As mentioned previously, the men in center and right fields of the Boston team changed every year. In 1882 Ed Rovnan and Pete Llewellyn succeeded Crowley and Lewis. Changes occurred regularly every season until 1886, when Johnston was secured. For five years, held possession of center field. Dickey was one of the most brilliant fielders that ever played ball, but he was of a convivial character, which cut short his baseball career. He jumped to the Boston Players' league team in 1890, and early in June was transferred to the New York team. In 1891 he was with the Cincinnati American association team, under the management of Mike Kelly. In the middle of August the team was transferred to Milwaukee, but neither Kelly nor Johnston went along. This was the last year for Johnston in fast company. In 1892 he was with the New Haven team, a members of the Eastern league, which was expelled in June because it neglected to pay its players. Dickey was awarded to the Elmira club of the same league. He played about a month at Elmira and Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 3.—The golf course of the Minnikahda club has received such recognition from the Trans-Mississippi Golf association as never before had been accorded a golf course situated this far west. This recognition takes the form of the selection of this course as one of three which the open championship for 1914 will be played on. The announcement was made at a meeting in New York on Jan. 2.

Western golf clubs which are members of the Trans-Mississippi Golf association are prone to feel that they are being discriminated against by the country; and that the East tolerated them without really considering the merits of their courses. The proposal to be awarded the national events in Chicago appeared to be the only exception to this feeling. The Minnikahda course ranked with the best in the country. The Western Golf association recognized this fact in awarding the championship to the Minnikahda club. A year ago, and the Trans-Mississippi association was organized. The announcement from the National Golf association, entirely unsolicited, was a surprise to the club. It is true, that the club advises it of this extension of the championship to the Minnikahda course, but that the executive committee considered the local course as "one of the three" which would be included in "winning the open championship."

While there are two other courses which are in the running, both of them in Chicago, the chances that the Minnikahda will win are small. The Amateur National will probably go either Detroit or Cleveland, and one

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 3.—It would require a book to record the baseball trades that Fred Clarke has engineered in the past year as manager of the Cardinals. His first big dicker was when he traded "Still Bill" Hill to Cincinnati in 1918 for Billy Cline. Since then he has traded for and sold Claude Ritchey, who, old-timers still insist, was the greatest second baseman in the league when he was with the Konechey-Mowrey-Harmon affair, and when he procured these three Cardinals for five players.

In between those two trades covering a span of sixteen years, Clarke has been engaged in a number of his trades have been voted good by the fans and others have been called "the best trades in the game," says the Gazette-Times. We still hear an unpleasant echo of the deal that sent Fred Clarke to the Cardinals for Chicago in exchange for Artie Folan and Pitcher King Cole. The cozy Folan trade also proved a subject for the winter league anvil chorus.

work in peace when he comes here with the Cardinals.

Clarke probably has made more baseball trades than any living manager. He has been a busy man with them," he remarked with a laugh at the league meeting in New York. But he is not a busy man in the winter, better than even in the long run. There is more or less of a quiet when he is in the Cardinals' clubhouse in St. Louis. In 1909, he had induced Roger Bresnahan to leave the Cardinals to join the St. Louis team, but he had to part with Bobby Byrne. The acquisition of Byrne gave to Fred Clarke the pennant and the world's championship.

A few weeks after Dolan had proved that he was a good manager, he was standing in front of a hotel in Cincinnati when a big fellow, built along the lines of a prizefighter, came out and greeted each other warmly. The big one was "Still Bill" Hill, now a police officer in the city of St. Louis. He had down the street Clarke laughed and remarked:

"I wasn't such a bad trader in the past."

AUTOMOBILES

WILL DISPLAY MANY NEW CARS

Mill City Show Is Expected to Draw Big Patronage.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 3.—New cars, not displayed in Minneapolis in previous years, will be one of the interesting features of the coming automobile show promoted by the Minneapolis Automobile Trade Association in the annex Jan. 31 to Feb. 7, inclusive. But these new cars will not be the only feature, for there will be the numerous changes to be found in all of the old lines.

Refinements of construction by the great manufacturers of the country and the beautifying of their product are the strongest points of interest. There will of course be found many improvements in all cars and also many valuable additions to the general equipment.

Will Be Big Event. Throughout the country the Minneapolis show is looked upon as one of the most important events of the year because of the immense territory covered by the Minneapolis dealers. The manufacturers of the United States in their preparation of their cars for the New York, Detroit and Chicago shows, plan for the Minneapolis show at the same time, and are preparing to make a quick exodus from Chicago at the close of the show. Express cars will be used to carry the leading exhibits to Minneapolis, and Manager Willnot has been doing active work in making these arrangements for Sunday trade. The manufacturers themselves and their salesmen will travel by special train. This will bring a great number to Detroit and advise from Seattle, Portland, Tacoma, Butte, Spokane and many other cities speak of large parties that will journey to Minneapolis and will go no farther.

Reservations at Hotel. The hotels of Minneapolis have already received inquiries for many accommodations during the show. More talk has been created in the Northwest with regard to the coming exhibit than any other exhibit in the history of the city. In the decorative features the show will excel any previous year. It is already a record breaker from the point of space requirement. It is still a month to the opening of the exhibit, yet the work of preparation of the decorative plans is going forward very quickly. In point of the number of different lines of cars to be exhibited, Minneapolis excels Detroit, Cleveland, Kansas City and all other cities outside of New York and Chicago, and is but a few cars behind the great New York national exhibit.

FIVE ENTRIES FOR BIG RACE

Burman May Handle Single Car Throughout Season.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 3.—Five entries are now enrolled for the next 500-mile race on the motor speedway here next Decoration day, the last being a "Beaver Bullet," made by the Beaver Automobile company of Beaver Falls, Pa. The firm is a new one, seeking to "make good in a day," as did the Stutz company a number of years ago. With a motor just under the speedway cubic inch piston displacement limit, it expects to have one of the fastest cars of the season. No driver has been nominated as yet, though a number are being considered.

May Lose Attraction. Coinciding with the entry of the Beaver comes unofficial announcement of a deal with may defraud the speedway out of an additional attraction. A contract has been closed, it is reported, whereby Bob Burman, the

MOTORCYCLE NOTES

Her desire to explore the Rocky mountains first led Miss Claudie White to become interested in motorcycling. And then she became so fascinated with the two-wheeler that she continues to ride for the joy of the sport itself.

Miss White is an actress. About a year ago she made her first trip West. She was so impressed with the grandeur of the mountains that she longed to know them more intimately. But her time between engagements at the theater was very limited.

I tried to conceive some method of covering much territory in a short length of time," says "Miss White." "Walking was out of the question, and a horse almost as bad. Finally I thought of a motorcycle as the solution of the problem. My friends laughed at the idea, saying that a motorcycle was not for a woman—it was too heavy and too difficult to operate. But I decided to try. And to my joy I found none of the troubles I anticipated. It was only a matter of a few lessons until I could guide the machine without difficulty. And it was not long until I had mastered the mechanism, which is very simple." During her stay in Colorado, Miss White made many trips into the mountains during the few hours each day which she could spare from her work. And in addition to the pleasure of exploring the mountains, she suddenly found her health greatly improved by her frequent rides on the motorcycle.

"Now," says Miss White, "no matter where I am, if I feel depressed or tired out, I jump on my motorcycle, take a spin into the country, and come back buoyant and full of vim." It is estimated that more than 4,000 persons attended the first exclusive motorcycle show ever held in St. Louis. The exhibition was held Dec. 18, 19 and 20 in the clubrooms of the Motorcycle club of St. Louis, and the large attendance evidenced the keen interest taken in motorcycling in that section. The success of this year's show was much greater than the officials anticipated, and has practically assured that an annual exhibition will be held in St. Louis.

The annual exhibition of national interest to motorcycle enthusiasts is the motorcycle show in Grand Central palace, New York, Jan. 3 to 13. Dealers and riders from all over the country are planning to attend the show, many of them coming ayeah.

Because the motorcycle is cheap, durable, economical and effective, and meets a popular demand, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle believes that the future possibilities of the single tracker are almost unlimited. The noted creator of "Sherlock Holmes" predicts that the next few years will see a great revolution in the means of locomotion. Sir Arthur is himself an ardent motorcyclist and enjoys no sport more thoroughly than an early morning spin on his motorcycle.

A 5,000-mile motorcycle business trip over several states and extending over about five months' time, has just been completed by J. F. Johnson of Frederic, Iowa. Mr. Johnson is enthusiastic about the service of the two-wheeler on this trip, which he considers one of the most satisfactory trips of the kind he has ever undertaken. On the motorcycle he was able to enter any town he desired, stay as long as his business required, and leave when he was ready, without having to wait for trains.

"It certainly looks as if the motorcyclist always has a good time," says J. H. Hubbard, "because he carries a good time with him." Fra Herbertus is himself an enthusiastic motorcyclist, and when he recently filed an engagement at a Cleveland, Ohio, theater, members of the Cleveland Motorcycle club turned out two hundred strong in honor. The cyclists all appeared in their neat khaki riding costumes.

A military innovation in India is a detachment of motorcyclists which has recently been added to the Second Presidency volunteer rifle battalion, with headquarters at Calcutta. Thirty-five men mounted on motorcycles, and four motor cars, make up the detachment.

Though he weighs 300 pounds, George H. McFarland of Crawfordville, Ind., rides a motorcycle practically every day. And he says the two-wheeler has never failed to take him anywhere he wanted to go.

The twenty-two motorcycle officers in the police department of New York city have effect of an arrest of 13,000 lawbreakers during the past year. And the fines collected from these persons amounted to $117,000.

The authorities are considering placing a squad of motorcycle policemen along the country highways in the vicinity of Worcester, Mass., to prevent reckless driving.

Exports of American motorcycles during the first half of 1913 amounted to $750,000.

George K. Vanderbilt has just purchased two motorcycles for use on his Asheville, N. C., estate.

man had not hooked up in this fashion, he would have competed by himself. Certainty of at least two English contestants is found in the report that Harry Grant, twice winner of the Vanderbilt, has purchased two Sunbeam motorcycles, a driver named Markie, formerly mechanician to the late Louis Stran. Grant left for Europe some time ago to pull off the deal in question, and seems to have arranged everything to his satisfaction. He is being financed by W. Ziegler, Jr., the Boston millionaire. With two Sunbeams a grand show is expected.

Europeans to Enter. Several other European entries are reported under way by a coterie of American racing enthusiasts who recently returned from abroad, among them Spencer Wishart, the Mercer star. The Sunbeam factory is thus said to be digging on another car, driven either by Chasagne, the French mechanic holder, or Resta, another celebrated foreign crack, and the Peugeot people are affirmed to have delicately decided on sending both Goux and Bollot, their championship pair. In addition there are Guyot in a Delore, and a Vauxhall, counted on as almost certain while the Frenchmen are in the car are said to be in course of construction.

Personally, seems to be as much interested in foreign as domestic events this year, and it is possible, after the French Grand Prix if possible, he wants the Mercer factory to send a three-car team. If he fails in this, he intends to make connections elsewhere, driving for a European concern if necessary. The speedway race, with five entries, Anel, two Stutzes, Gray Fox and Beaver, already in, is the only American classic that promises to outrank Europe's best, in his opinion.

NEW YORK AUTO SHOW IS OPENED

This afternoon at 2 o'clock will see the opening of the Fourteenth National Automobile show in New York. It will be housed in Grand Central palace and held under the auspices of the Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

At this exposition in 1914 models of the majority of motor car manufacturers will be formally displayed to the public for the first time. The exhibits will reveal many striking novelties. The exposition will be the only one held in New York this season. Whereas in the past Madison Square Garden has been the scene of the show each year, the garden will not have a 1914 exposition. Last season there were two shows running simultaneously, in the garden and the palace, both under the same management. But this season it has been deemed advisable to stage the national show under one roof, and the palace offering more floor space, was selected. The show is under the direct personal

THE man who buys without comparing or analyzing only succeeds in grossly fooling himself. The better you acquaint yourself with values the more intelligently and economically you can buy.

If, in one car, you can get a longer wheelbase for less money than that car offers a greater value.

If, in one car, you get a more powerful motor for less money than that car offers you still greater value.

If, in one car, you get larger tires for less money than again in that car you get an additional value.

And so on throughout the entire car. If the fundamentals are larger, better and more powerful and the purchase price is less, which does it seem reasonable to buy?

The closer you make such an investigation the better the Overland shows up—and the harder it is on our competitors. Why is it you seldom see any of our competitors advertising their specifications? Are they afraid or ashamed?

Be that as it may, here are the facts:

FORD NOTES

Those who have seen the December "Ford Times" magazine which is published by the Ford Motor company are enthusiastic over this issue. The Mutual Auto company has a number of copies of this December issue on hand.

In Orionville, Mich., a small town of 400 inhabitants located not far from Detroit, there are forty-six automobiles, of which forty-four are Fords. This doesn't take into consideration twenty-five other Fords owned by other persons just outside of the corporate limits of the village.

A Model T Ford purchased in 1911 ran over 7,000 miles without one dollar spent in repairs. This car recently climbed the mountains near Phoenix, Ariz., a feat never accomplished before, although the attempt has often been made by many other cars.

While the Constitution may follow the flag, or the flag the Constitution, all depend on the viewpoint with reference to the foreign policy of the United States, the Ford Motor company has beaten out both the flag and the Constitution in carrying civilization into the wild places of the world. There is hardly a spot on the globe now where the Ford car is not known. It has penetrated the wilds of interior China where the white man is still a rare curiosity. It has climbed the sides of the smoking hills of the Fiji Islands, covered the trackless interior of Australia, ploughed through the sands of the Sahara and through the jungles of Central Africa and the hills of South Africa.

The marvelous distribution of the little car has been accomplished through the perfect organization of the Ford company. In addition to the mammoth parent plant at Detroit and the branch assembling houses in the various centers of the United States, there are big factories at Ford, Ont., where the cars are made for distribution in Canada and the other British colonies, and at Manchester, Eng., and branches and service stations at Calgary, Saskatoon, Toronto, Vancouver, Winnipeg and Montreal in Canada, Paris, Buenos Ayres, Hamburg, Melbourne, big dealers in Osaka, Japan, St. Petersburg and Moscow in Russia and in fact in every city of importance in the world.

HELEN KELLER WILL LECTURE IN DULUTH

MISS HELEN KELLER.

HELEN KELLER, who is perhaps the most talked of woman in America today, will give her lecture, entitled "The Heart and the Hand, or the Right Use of Our Senses," at the Duluth Y. M. C. A. on Monday evening, Jan. 20.

After one of her lectures some one asked Miss Keller if she could tell whether her audience was large or not, and in her answer she showed what a remarkable use she makes of her own senses. "Yes, it was a large audience," she said, "I can tell by the vibrations of many feet in motion, and then the air is dense and warm when there are many people in the room."

"Can you tell if your audience is interested?" "Oh, yes, they always are," she replied, "by the vibration of the air."

Her listeners wanted to applaud, but were interrupted by another question. "Can you tell if people are applauding you?" she was asked. "Yes," she replied, "by the vibration of the air."

Yesterday for Lincoln, Neb., where he is a student at the law school of the University of Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Clark and family of Hunters Park are in Minneapolis, guests at the Duluth Y. M. C. A. on Monday evening, Jan. 20.

Miss Ann Schick of St. Paul has been visiting friends in Duluth for a few days.

Miss Rachel St. Clair returned today from a week's visit with her brother, George H. St. Clair at Minneapolis for the week.

Lieut. Gerald Howze, who has been spending the holidays with Mrs. Howze at 3226 East Second street, has returned to his ship, the U. S. battleship "Florida," to sail for Cuba.

Miss Ruth Ables of St. Cloud, Minn., is the guest of her cousin, Miss Edna Freeman, of 1306 East Second street.

Mrs. J. B. Hopkins and Miss T. M. Thorne of 928 East Superior street are in Minneapolis, guests at the Duluth Y. M. C. A. on Monday evening, Jan. 20.

Miss Helen Grimes of 1521 Piedmont avenue has returned from St. Paul where she spent several days visiting friends.

Mrs. A. J. McLennan, 2132 East Fourth street, who was operated on for appendicitis at St. Luke's hospital three weeks ago, returned to her home today fully recovered.

Special Society Announcement.

Leo's method of instruction of the tango and hesitation waltz is pronounced by all critics to make these dances the most graceful and fascinating taught to fashionable society.

In all my experience of fifty years of teaching in dancing I have never seen such disgusting evolutions in a fashionable ballroom as can be seen today. It is about time for the young generation of good society to cut out vulgarity and learn the dances properly and in a uniform manner and not disgust fashionable society with variations of flying Dutchmen and jumping-jack positions and steps.

The tango is danced right is equal to a minuet. No authority of schools or committees will oppose it. The hesitation waltz is as beautiful as graceful and artistic.

Winter term opens Jan. 5 to 10; regular evening class for adults Thursday, Jan. 8, 7:30; private children's class, Saturday, Jan. 10, at 9:30 a. m.; regular children's class, Saturday afternoon at 2. Special classes may form. Evenings are limited. Private lessons by appointment. Among other dances will be taught hesitation waltz, tango, Boston one-step, Brazilian Maxixe, the Dutch (copyright), the castle walk, if desired. Fancy, gymnastic, theatrical, and classic dancing. Register without delay. Office hours 2 to 6 p. m. Old Masonic Temple building, Communications, Hotel Holland.

IRRITATING AND DISFIGURING PIMPLES

On Face, Also Blackheads, Pimples Red and Inflamed. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Cured.

R. F. D. No. 2, Advance, Mo.—"I had a very bad case of pimples on my face which were very troublesome, as they would get sore and would leave red spots where they healed. I also had blackheads in my skin. The pimples were red and inflamed and would come to a head. They would turn yellowish and each one had a hard core-like lump in it. They were very irritating and disfiguring.

"I was troubled with them six months and had tried several remedies which did not work. Cuticura Soap and Ointment did the work. I would wash my face with the Soap and hot water then apply the Ointment. In about half an hour I would wash again with the Soap. In two months I was cured and the red spots have gone."

(Signed) Miss Olive Richmond, Oct. 17, 1913.

A general skin disease found no soap so well suited for cleansing and purifying the skin and hair of infants and children as Cuticura Soap. Its absolute purity and refreshing fragrance are enough to recommend it above ordinary skin soaps, but there are added to these qualities delicate yet effective emollient properties, derived from Cuticura Ointment, which render it most valuable in overcoming a tendency to distressing eruptions and promoting a normal condition of skin and hair health.

Cuticura Soap (25c) and Cuticura Ointment (50c) sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32p. book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

MODEL CITY WHICH WILL HOUSE BUT A SMALL PART OF WORKMEN IN DULUTH'S NEW STEEL PLANT IS RAPIDLY ASSUMING FORM—CONCRETE BLOCK CONSTRUCTION USED

THE NEW MODEL CITY AT THE STEEL PLANT.

Splendid progress has been made by the Lonsberry-McLeod company on its contract for the building of 170 houses in the Minnesota Steel company's model town at Spirit Lake. Fifty-four of the houses are now inclosed, and the majority of them will be ready for occupancy within two weeks. They are of the most modern type, being of concrete block construction, and with concrete floors, making them fireproof throughout. It is said that these dwellings will afford housing accommodation for less than one-third of the men employed at the steel plant when it opens, and it is understood that a contract for 300 additional houses will be let early next spring.

LOOK FOR BIG REALTY YEAR

Operations Stimulated By Recent Lake and Rail Decision.

Notable Property Transfers Reported During Last Weeks of 1913.

Duluth real estate operators entertain optimistic views regarding the realty outlook for the year just entered upon. With the attention now being directed to the Head of the Lakes as a result of the lake and rail rate case decision and the industrial development taking place here, strong investment inquiry is reported from outside points. As a result some interesting deals are under negotiation, some in the list being thought likely to be closed up within the next few weeks. In one transaction pending in central business property, involving a consideration of $150,000, the deeds have been sent East for execution, and another sale that has been under negotiation for some time, calling about an equal amount, is expected to be closed up in the near future.

Notable Transfers Made.
Some notable transfers were put through during the past year. The most interesting came during the Christmas week in the purchase by the Kelley-How-Thomson company of 170 feet frontage for warehouse purposes on Fifth avenue west. Just prior to that there was a burst of activity in Second street west frontages, sales being effected by Stryker, Manley & Buck, A. Tausig & Co., and the Little & Nolte company at an average consideration of $200 per front foot. The latest purchasers, R. M. Wolvin of Winnipeg and F. A. Cokelat, were impelled by investment motives, anticipating the gradual passing of Second street from a residence to a business thoroughfare, and the rapid increment in values to be expected with the change.

In July, the Duluth board of trade prepared for the future in an investment of $48,000 in a 125-foot frontage on that street, designed as the future site for more commodious trading quarters. While all this was going on upon Second street, investment interest in Superior street frontages was aroused in the closing up of two ninety-nine year leases, one being for the old St. James property and the other covering the adjoining lot.

Outside of the wholesale district deal mentioned the largest transaction of the year came at Gary, in the sales by

A. C. Volk & Co. of two large blocks of lots in July and November at considerations of $335,000 and $146,000 respectively.

Water Frontages Valuable.
That Duluth water frontages are regarded by shrewd investors as offering wonderful potential possibilities, was evidenced in the sale of forty-five acres by the West Duluth Land company to the Northern Dredge & Dock company at a consideration of $100,000, and of 16 acres from the Northern Dredge & Dock company to D. B. McDonald at $40,000. Both these sales, as well as another of a large block of lots for a new factory site to the Duluth Corrugating & Roofing company at Halifax street and Forty-ninth avenue west, were effected by John A. Stephenson & Co.

Revel at End.
A substantial revival materialized in West end and West Duluth properties during the summer and fall months and some interesting transfers were recorded.

Gratification is expressed by realty men over the roadway being made by the city in cutting away the Point of Rocks. The undertaking is regarded as important in making available for improvement a long stretch of frontage on Superior street between Eighth and Fourteenth avenues west that up to the present has lain dormant. Active inquiry is expected to materialize in that district once there is definite assurance of the removal of the rock being carried through to completion.

A feature of the year not to be overlooked was the steady buying of lots in West Duluth, Woodland and Lake side and on the Central and West end hillside as sites for the building of homes.

W. M. Prindle & Co. reported sales of building lots in both Crescent View and Kenilworth park during the week. The firm feels greatly encouraged over the good inquiry being met with for suburban properties. It is pointed out that sixteen houses ranging in price from $5,000 to $8,000 each have been built in Kenilworth Park since last spring.

The Hoopes-Kohagen company is preparing to place on the market the Park Drive addition, consisting of a block of 225 lots located at Seventh street and Seventeenth avenue east. That office effected the sale to the Traprock Land company of 160 acres located on the hillside above the Northland Country club. It is intimated that the property may eventually be taken over by the Country club for use as a new golf course.

E. W. Markell sold to a local investor eight lots on Dodge street, between Forty-ninth and Fiftieth avenues east.

George F. Lynott, manager of the Alliance Real Estate company, advised the winding up of a satisfactory year's business, resulting in sales of 216 parcels at Exeter Farms since last July. He expects to dispose of the remaining tracts in the 625-acre block during the present year.

The A. A. Fisher company reported the receipt of earnest money on sales of four lots on the Central hillside.

A. W. Kuehnow, manager of the Gary Land company, advised a steady inquiry for Gary lots, resulting in eight sales to outside investors.

The New Duluth Land company reported the disposition of six building lots in its townsite yesterday. A number of houses are now under erection there, and the letting of contracts for three more business blocks is expected in the early spring.

Clay H. Giddings disposed of four central business lots in New Duluth to Olive J. Pedersen at a consideration of $5,000.

The following real estate transfers were recorded during the week with the registry of deeds:

Erick Wollm et al to August Marwald, interest in 1/4 of new, section 15, IRON MOUNTAIN

THE LATEST CITY ON THE CUYUNA RANGE

Iron Mountain is exceptionally well located, as will be seen by the above map. Large bodies of high-grade ore have been proven up practically all around this town. On the north there is a nice body of high-grade manganese ore; just northeast of this the Iron Mountain company is now stockpiling. They have a very large body of exceptionally good ore and expect to make a large shipment next season. Just northwest of Iron Mountain, the Duluth-Brainerd Iron company is opening up a large mine which will be in the shipping class next season. There have been several bodies of ore proven up to the south and southwest. The Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine is about a mile southeast of this town. There will be a large number of people employed in these different mines, which are all accessible from Iron Mountain.

503 AND 505 LONSDALE BUILDING,
DULUTH, MINNESOTA

Iron Mountain is a nice level town—side streets graded—and in addition to being centrally located, its natural features are very desirable for a large and prosperous city. Arrangements for a large hotel, to be built at once, have been practically closed; several business houses and residences will be started immediately.

Owing to the large tonnage in this vicinity, the Soo system has already extended its line to the Iron Mountain mine, and will go further south. The Northern Pacific is now at work extending its line, and will build to the Duluth-Brainerd and other mines in this vicinity. This line will cross the Iron Mountain townsite and give that city railroad facilities at an early date.

Owing to the favorable location and the exceptionally low price of the lots, it will be necessary to make your selection at an early date in order to avoid yourself of the choice lots.

Price of resident and business lots range from $150.00 to $450.00 per lot. TERMS: 10 per cent cash, and 10 per cent per month without interest if paid on or before maturity; if not paid on or before maturity, interest from date. A discount of 10 per cent will be allowed on all cash sales.

Full particulars, maps and plans will be furnished on application. We would suggest that you make your selection at once, or send us your first payment and we will reserve, subject to your approval, the most desirable lot to be had at that price, at the time of receiving your money.

Building Figures for 1913 in Duluth Second Largest on Record.

Outside of 1910, when they were swelled to $12,305,889 by the passing out of a $10,000,000 permit to the Minnesota Steel company, building permits issued in Duluth during 1913 set a new high record, being 1506 in number, with the value of improvements placed at $4,928,011. This compared with 1183 permits in the previous year with improvements estimated at $2,689,343, makes an increase of $1,345,468. In December, 89 permits were issued for improvements involving $82,856, as compared with 37 for $284,334 in the last month of 1912. The difference was accounted for in the fact that a year ago, the last included a permit for $100,000 for the new Patrick knitting factory on Superior street west, and one for $45,000 to John G. Williams for a residence. Outside of a permit for $1,500,000, taken out in March by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad for its manoomi steel ore dock, now under construction, the authorizations of the last twelve months were with few exceptions for small amounts and mainly for moderate-priced houses. This is accounted gratifying by S. M. Kelley, building inspector, in indicating that the average wage earner is making an earnest effort to build and own his home. It is expected that conditions will continue to perhaps even a more marked degree during the present year, and that it will be more sharply accentuated in the western sections of the city, in view of the industrial development taking place in them. While that may be the case, it is at the same time taken as assured that many costly propositions will be carried through in the way of factories, business blocks and warehouses. The proposal to build an addition to its warehouse on 17th avenue west has been announced by the Kelley-How-Thomson company, and it is intimated that the Cowan-Lanning-Brown company may arrive at the decision to erect a new warehouse on Lake avenue south. Among the large building work carried to completion during 1913 was the Kitchi Gammi clubhouse on Superior street east, costing $200,000, the curling club's new quarters on the London road, the new St. Paul's Episcopal church at Superior street and Seventeenth avenue east, the Patrick knitting mill on Superior street west, the Zinsmeister-Smith bread company's premises on Superior street west, the Rex hotel block in the West end, the E. R. Cobb school at Woodland, the Peyton Paper company's warehouse and the Jaques building on Michigan street west. Contractors are now engaged upon the R. E. Denfeld high school building in West Duluth and on the Western Rug company's large factory building.

TABLE WILL SAVE TIME

Postal Clerks Evolve Plan to Easily Compute Parcel Rates.

System Will Be Great Convenience to Duluth Business Men.

Business houses in general that use the parcel post for shipping out goods may thank three employees of the Duluth postoffice for devising a table whereby much time may be saved in the computation of parcel post rates for the various zones.

"It is so simple that it seems a shame that somebody did not think about it before," that remark has been made many times before about the discovery of various devices, but it applies well to the parcel post table.

The men who worked the scheme out are Henry Gruenen, Louis Baudry and Nels Thompson, clerks at the stamp windows. They were looking out for a way to save time for themselves and they have found it. Here is the table they have devised, the explanation being given below it.

Local zone, divide weight by two (eliminating fractions) plus 8.

First and second zones, 1 cent per pound plus 8.

Third zone, 2 cents per pound plus 4.

Fourth zone, 4 cents per pound plus 2.

Fifth zone, 6 cents per pound plus 2.

Sixth zone, 8 cents per pound plus 1.

Seventh zone, 10 cents per pound plus 1.

Eighth zone, 12 cents per pound plus 1.

Now this is the way it works: Take for instance, the local zone and your package weighs eight pounds. Divide it by two, making four; add five and the charge will be found to be 9 cents.

Take a package of the same size going to the first zone, for instance. The charge is figured by taking five plus five pounds by making forty-eight, then adding two, making the charge 50 cents.

This result may be obtained almost instantaneously, without the labor of looking up tables. It will be a handy system for wholesalers or other dealers using the parcel post to any extent in the local zone being given below it.

First zone—Local weight 50 miles. First zone—Local weight 50 miles. Second—Sixty to 150 miles. Third—One hundred fifty to 300 miles.

Fourth—Three hundred to 600 miles. Fifth—Six hundred to 1,000 miles. Sixth—One thousand to 1,500 miles. Seventh—Fourteen hundred to 1,800 miles.

Eighth—All over 1,800 miles.

MAID AND FRIENDS GIVEN HIS FORTUNE

Heirs at Law of John Watmough Will Appeal Case.

Philadelphia, Jan. 3.—The will of the late John G. Watmough, bequeathing $100,000 to his maid and $400,000 to his man and wife who were his friends, and ignoring all heirs at law, was admitted to probate today after a determined fight by relatives. The contest will be carried to the higher courts.

Mr. Watmough was 78 when he died, and had been an invalid for several years. In the will, the son, Drexel, an aunt of the present head of the Drexel family, died several years ago.

The ground against admitting the will to probate was that Watmough was of unsound mind.

Four Duluth contractors are understood to have put in figures on the state sanitarium, at a cost of $200,000.

The Lonsberry-McLeod company is making rapid headway on its contract to build a new building on the corner of Second and Third streets.

The Minnesota Steel company's model town at Spirit Lake, 20 to 25 miles from Duluth, are now inclosed and more than half the number are expected to be inclosed within two weeks.

Continuance of favorable weather, it is likely that the additional snow over 200 men are still being employed on the job.

Permits issued by the building inspectors office during the present week included one for $3,000 to cover improvements on the corner of Second and Third streets.

The company's plant on Main street between Forty-ninth and Fiftieth avenues west.

The week's list was made up as follows:

To Charles Landre, frame dwelling, cornering Second and Third streets, Fifty-ninth avenue west, between Main and Polk streets, Grand avenue. Price $2,000.

To William Jarvis, frame dwelling, West Side, between Main and Polk streets, Fifty-ninth avenue west, between Main and Polk streets, Grand avenue. Price $2,000.

To Nels Backstrom, frame dwelling, West Side, between Main and Polk streets, Fifty-ninth avenue west, between Main and Polk streets, Grand avenue. Price $2,000.

TWENTY-TWO OF THE CREW OF TANK SHIP ARE LOST IN STORM

Officers of the Oklahoma Are Saved By Freighter Bavaria.

Many Vessels Are in Trouble on the Atlantic Coast.

Revenue Cutter Is Aground and Big Barge Is Drifting.

New York, Jan. 5.—The tank steamer in trouble off Sandy Hook yesterday was the Oklahoma and twenty-two of her crew appear to have perished. Eight were saved. This was the substance of wireless reports received here today.

Although several vessels were standing by the distressed tank liner, the Hamburg-America line freighter Bavaria, bound from Philadelphia to Boston, was the only one able to render assistance. She reported by wireless shortly after 9 o'clock this morning that she had taken aboard Capt. Alfred Gunter, Chief Mate Bert Iverson, Second Mate Knute Dahlke, Third Mate Carl Ekunde, Operator William Davis, Boatman Christian Rasmussen, Quartermaster Hans J. Powell and Herewardman Erickson, the ship's carpenter. No mention was made of the remainder of the crew, thirty in number.

The Oklahoma was owned by the J. M. Guffey Petroleum Co. She is 2,316 tons net and 419 feet long. She left here Saturday for Port Arthur, Texas.

The Bavaria will continue on to Boston with the rescued crew. She is due to arrive about noon tomorrow.

Many Vessels Reports. Although the disaster occurred less than 100 miles off Sandy Hook wireless reports throughout the night were received from vessels in the vicinity. The name of the distressed vessel was variously reported as the Waco, Wilford and Hereward. The tank steamer Delaware, chartered by the Standard Oil Co., and the tank steamer Delaware, chartered by the Standard Oil Co., were also reported. The Spanish liner Manuel Calvo, of the Royal Mail, was also reported. The vessel stood by the distressed craft throughout the night but were apparently unable to identify her.

The Caribbean reported this forenoon that the crew had been rescued.

ST. LOUIS PEOPLE PLAN EGG BOYCOTT

Claim Price Has Been Reduced Just By the Threat.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 5.—An egg consumers' strike, which is to last a week, was begun here today by the People's League, a civic organization with a membership of almost 1,000.

The league has urged both housewives and restaurant patrons to abstain from the use of eggs, not so much for the purpose of effecting an immediate reduction in the price of eggs, but rather to force the egg producers to get together and thereby exert an influence over market conditions created by monopoly.

According to leaders of the movement, the price of eggs has been reduced from 45 cents to 40 cents a dozen and of storage eggs from 35 to 30 cents as a result of the advance announcement of the boycott.

Utilities Body Is Probing Car Wreck

First Case Is Taken Up By Illinois Commission.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—Inquiry to establish the cause for the street car accident in this city last Saturday in which twenty persons were injured, was begun here today by the newly created Illinois public utilities commission. This is the first case to come before the new board, which succeeded the old railroad and warehouse commission. Officials of the street car company had been notified of the commission also before the session. The commission will maintain permanent offices both in this city and at Springfield.

ITALIAN KING IS POSTED ON AMERICA.

Rome, Jan. 5.—King Victor Emmanuel showed the deepest interest in the project of the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco when it was explained to him yesterday by Francesco Morris of Chicago. Mr. Morris said today:

What most particularly impressed me during my audience with his majesty was the unusual interest in and the knowledge of American affairs and conditions displayed by his majesty. When I left, his majesty expressed the hope that my conference with the Italian ministers would have a result satisfactory to all concerned.

GOVERNOR HIDES IN U. S. CONSULATE.

Cape Haitien, Jan. 5.—A column of regular troops ordered by the president of the republic to proceed immediately to the northeastern frontier district to suppress the insurrection which has broken out there, Gen. Zamor, the governor of the northern department and former minister of war, has taken refuge in the American consulate.

TORSO MAY BE THAT OF MISSING AVIATOR

ALBERT J. JEWELL. New York, Jan. 5.—The torso of a body believed by the police to be that of Albert J. Jewell, an aviator who disappeared while making a flight in a monoplane on Oct. 19, was cast up by the sea at Edgemere, L. I., Sunday.

MORE GERMAN ARMY TRIALS

Colonel and Young Lieutenant From Alsace Face Court.

Former Takes All Blame and Accuses Zabern People.

Strassburg, Germany, Jan. 5.—The second court martial arising out of the Zabern incident was opened here today, when Col. Von Reuter and Lieut. Schade of the Ninety-ninth infantry were brought before the military judges.

The indictment covers practically every incident in which the military were concerned during the period of the incident. One of the counts of the indictment alleges "illegal deprivation of liberty," which by the German code is punishable with a jail sentence without the alternative of a fine.

Lieut. Schade, one of the youngest officers of the regiment, led a squad of soldiers to a bedroom on the second floor of a private house, and there arrested a man who had laughed scornfully at the soldiers.

Lieut. Baron von Forstner, now undergoing a prison sentence for his illegal acts in Zabern, is displaying great anti-civilian activity. Lieut. Schade is officially accused of illegal deprivation of liberty, willful assault and disturbance of the peace.

Col. Von Reuter went on the witness stand on his own defense. He assumed full responsibility for all the acts of the military, and said the officers and men of his regiment had obeyed his explicit orders. Most of the accused colonel's testimony was devoted to attack on the civil authorities of Zabern. He declared the city magistrates and police were indifferent.

DAMAGE BY STORM IS OVER $1,500,000

New Jersey and Long Island Coast Towns Need Outside Aid.

Seabright, N. J., Jan. 5.—Although Seabright is torn and desolate from the effects of the disastrous storm which raged Friday night until last night, relief came today with a shift in the wind and the sea began to moderate. The stiff northeast wind, which prevailed for days, drove the Atlantic surf inland, and an off-shore wind set in this morning with snow.

Every able-bodied man in town was busy today setting things in order. Mass meetings are to be held looking to the state and national governments. Damage along the coast is difficult to estimate, but it will exceed a million and a half dollars.

Long Island Suffered. New York, Jan. 5.—The New Jersey and Long Island coasts, famed for their summer resorts, vacation homes and permanent fishing villages, suffered a property loss estimated at from one to two million dollars in the hurricane that swept in from the sea early Saturday morning and which did not begin to abate until early today.

MILITIA MAY LOSE U. S. AID

Few If Any States Have Met Dick Bill Requirements.

Decision of Judge Advocate General Upholds War Department.

Washington, Jan. 5.—A clear issue has been made between the war department and the National Guard Association of the United States upon the question of organization of the militia forces of the country.

Few if any of the states have met the requirements. When the Dick bill act became effective in 1908, a period of five years was allowed within which the militia of the states was to reorganize to conform to the standards of the regular army. In most states excellent results were secured in the improved training of the militia and the better equipment of the guard.

Ignored One Provision. But one important requirement, that the state militia should be organized into brigades and divisions, was ignored.

The brigade was to be commanded by a brigadier-general and the division by a major general, and when the war department last August issued Circular No. 8, requiring the militia organizations to conform to the above

BEREAVED ACTRESS COMMITS SUICIDE

Lillian Sinnott Found With Wrists and Throat Cut.

New York, Jan. 5.—Lillian Sinnott, a young actress who had played in a number of Broadway successes, was found dead in her apartment today with her wrists and throat cut.

Miss Sinnott was engaged to Leslie Kenyon, a well-known English actor and member of the Lambs club. He died of apoplexy on Saturday. She was 24 years old and lived with her invalid mother. To her she left a note, begging forgiveness for her act.

Stream Is Not Yet Frozen Over at La Crosse, Wis.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 5.—The Mississippi river at this point has broken all records. It is still free of ice except at points along shore, and it is possible for the biggest boats to navigate in the open channel. Several people were out with rowboats and launches today to try the novel experience of boating in January.

INTERMYER GIVES ADVICE

Says Business Men Must Abandon Selfishness in Policy.

Noted New York Lawyer Declares Oil Trust Dis-solution Farcical.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the Pele house committee which investigated the so-called money trust, today outlined in a speech to the Illinois Manufacturers' association what he termed the necessary program to restore business freedom and confidence.

Leaders of big business must first purge their minds of prejudice and must subordinate personal desire for gain to the public good, he declared.

Next in importance, he said, is that the laws under which business is conducted must be so plain that the business man can tell instinctively what constitutes a violation.

Complete dissolution between the railroads and industrial corporations, with interests in properties whose products they are engaged in transporting, also is a requirement, according to Mr. Untermyer. An executive body to study each situation and recommend to the court a comprehensive plan of disintegration is needed when the new laws are put into effect.

"Stockholders' inertia," he declared, is the chief preventive of immediate reform according to the speaker. "It is one of the best known and most dangerous of the banking interests and the one on which the banking interests can most safely rely. It survives dishonesty, mismanagement and every form of corporate abuse. It is incurable and more than all the other causes combined, responsible for corporate distress and the ills from which we are now suffering."

"Nothing is to be gained by reprisals" (Continued on page 6, third column.)

BODY IS FOUND AND SUICIDE SUSPECTED

Autopsy Shows Jessie McCann's Death Due to Drowning.

New York, Jan. 5.—The body of Miss Jessie E. McCann, the young settlement worker who disappeared a month ago, which was found on the beach at Coney Island yesterday, was taken to the home of her father in Flatbush today.

No like case since the disappearance of Dorothy Arnold, three years ago, has so aroused public interest. The newspapers have devoted much space to her disappearance, public officials have worked zealously to find her, and moving picture theaters have thrown her photograph on their screens in order to aid the search for the missing girl. Many motion picture theaters yesterday announced that the body had been recovered.

Suicide Is Suspected. An autopsy held in the Coney Island morgue last night established positive proof that death was due to drowning. The family accept the general view that the girl committed suicide or was drowned accidentally.

"I blame no one for the death of my daughter," said Robert McCann, her father, today. "Jessie was subject to spells of depression, and her last ordeal of melancholia, I believe, was too much for her. I am sure that this was simply due to her nervous condition."

Miss McCann was 23 years old, good looking and popular with her friends.

NEW TROUBLE IN COLORADO

"Mother" Jones Deported From Strike District By Troops.

Union Leaders Advise Men to Arm Against Deportation.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 5.—Preparations were begun today by union officials for the return of "Mother" Mary Jones to Trinidad and other points in the southern strike zone, whence she was deported by state troops yesterday.

While these plans were being made here, Adj. Gen. Chase was credited with giving orders in Trinidad and Walsenburg that her appearance in any portion of the strike region would result in immediate imprisonment for the military authorities.

Governor Ammons today was of the opinion that Gen. Jones departed, and that he would in all probability take no action in the matter.

It was announced today that Governor Ammons would be asked to act sternly in connection with the deportation, not only of "Mother" Jones, but of several strikers from the northern district, and if he fails, said union officials, the Federal government will be asked to investigate the matter on the ground that the state was standing idly by and seeing the provisions of the United States Constitution set at naught.

Union leaders openly have advised all strikers to arm themselves in order that they might resist any attempt at deportation.

BIGGEST BANK IN NEW YORK

Men There Want One "of Commanding Influence."

They Would Include Whole Northeast in That "Region."

New York, Jan. 5.—Creation of a regional reserve bank of commanding importance in New York was urged at the first hearing held here today by the temporary commission from Washington. The hearing was conducted by Secretary McAloo of the treasury department and Secretary Houston of the department of agriculture. A number of New York's leading bankers appeared.

The opinion was expressed by many of the witnesses that in order to create a regional reserve bank which could maintain its position in the financial centers of America, and not be overshadowed by the huge resources of the clearing house banks and outside institutions, it would be necessary to include practically the whole northeast in one region.

Francis A. Ziebach, president of the First National bank of New York, suggested a district embracing New York, Connecticut and Northern New Jersey.

"Northeast of the Potomac," Charles A. Conant, financial expert, said that the number of regional banks should be kept as small as possible. His opinion was that the entire territory northeast of the Potomac river, including Pennsylvania, should be embraced in one district. In no other way, Mr. Conant said, would it be possible to create an institution strong enough to deal with the joint stock company banks, private banking corporations and other financial institutions centering the New York territory.

Secretary McAloo, including nearly 50 percent of the banking resources of the country, would not result in a too heavy system, greatly weakening the other seven regional banks which are to be created.

"It would be better," said Mr. Conant, "to have one strong regional bank and seven puny ones than eight puny banks."

As for the seven other banks, Mr. Conant said he assumed they would be located at Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco, Denver, New Orleans and possibly at Atlanta and Washington.

FEDERALS READY TO DIE FOR GEN. HUERTA

Show No Sign of Surrendering to Rebels at Ojinaga.

Ojinaga, Mex., Jan. 5.—(Via army line to Marfa.)—All doubt as to the intention of the northern division of the Mexican Federal army to defeat the rebels or to stay here until every soldier has died for President Huerta, through the exhaustion of ammunition, was dispelled by Gen. Francisco Castro and Gen. Yrez Salazar in interviews given by them at headquarters during the rebel attack today.

"Mild and Justified." Washington, Jan. 5.—Overnight dispatches from Brig. Gen. Bliss, commanding the American border patrol, declared that the Mexican Federal action in forcing eighty-four Federal soldiers back across the Rio Grande as "mild and fully justified."

FERRIS GOES TO THE COPPER COUNTRY AS POSIBLE MEDIATOR

Prospects of His Ending Strike Are Not Brilliant.

Moyer Hints at Nation-Wide Walkout, But Is Un-supported.

Densmore Blames Mining Companies for Rejecting Advances.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Facing another investigation of the strike situation, this time at the hands of the governor of the state, company managers and Western Federation of Miners leaders today prepared to open up every avenue of information which the state executive may desire to explore. At the same time both sides to the controversy were dubious as to the ability of Governor Ferris and State Labor Commissioner Cunningham to find any lasting solution of the trouble.

General Manager James MacNaughton of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company, who has been conferring with Quincy A. Shaw, president of the company, and other officials and directors in Boston for several days, has been notified by wire of the coming of Governor Ferris and State Labor Commissioner Cunningham to find any lasting solution of the trouble.

The most general opinion was that signs of further activity in Federal circles, especially in regard to the deportation of Charles H. Moyer, president of the federation, were responsible for the governor's determination to visit the district. It was pointed out that he had declined every invitation to come here when the strike started last July and had manifested since little intention of projecting his personality into the situation. Some union sources, in fact, said that the time in which he could accomplish anything toward settling the strike had long passed.

At least one phase of the controversy remains for the state executive to work on. John E. Densmore of the Federal department of labor failed to end the strike after he had learned how far the union would go and then had tried to persuade the companies to accept his terms.

So far as could be learned the employers have never been asked officially to give their "last word" and the governor may find some unexpected field for effort in that quarter. Those who forecast this thought, however, were willing to concede in the next breath that there was little likelihood of employers receding.

STOCKHOLDERS MAKE EMBEZZLEMENT GOOD

Raise $40,000 to Cover Shortage in Illinois Bank.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—The Farmers' Bank of Schaumburg, Ill., opened for business as usual this morning after twenty-two stockholders had made up the deficit of $40,000, said to have been caused by peculations of Frank Henning, assistant cashier, who disappeared New Year's eve. The stockholders voted to double the capital stock.

According to John Fenz, president of the bank, it is not probable that Henning will be sought for. The missing assistant cashier is said to have left the bank with a large amount of money and an agreement to make it good.

L. W. W. BOYCOTT THE FREE EATING HOUSE

Smash Windows in Street Car That Interrupts Procession.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 5.—Industrial Workers of the World and their followers among the unemployed here decided at a meeting Sunday to boycott the free eating house now in operation. They ordered tickets stationed at its entrance to urge men to keep out of the place unless the kitchen force was made up of men recognized by their committee.

Later in the day these men marched up Market street and at one point stopped a street car, the motorman of which had endeavored to go through the procession. Several windows in the car were broken.

A citizens' committee will hold its first meeting today.

LYCEUM—Fiske O'Hara in "In Old Dublin."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.

AT THE LYCEUM.

Fiske O'Hara and "The Bird of Paradise" Week's Attractions.

The superb voice of Fiske O'Hara will be heard in a choice budget of new songs at the Lyceum tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday, when he will present his latest Irish romance, "In Old Dublin." Mr. O'Hara is an ideal interpreter of the ballad, his rendition of Irish songs is specially characterized by feeling and his execution shows a sound training in the various in which the Emerald Isle was preeminent in sports and particularly in vaulting, which had its origin in that country. The author, Augustus Plou, has made his hero a young boat designer, who builds a yacht to compete with the English vessel for the queen's cup in a race across Dublin Bay.

In a class "Kismet" and "The Garden of Allah," as one of the most pretentious scenic dramas carried across the continent a decade, is Oliver Morosco's production of Richard and Walton Tully's stirring Hawaiian drama, "The Bird of Paradise," which will be seen at the Lyceum theater Jan. 5, 6 and 7, with a matinee Saturday. The volcano scene alone requires a huge canvas for the transfer of the mechanical appliances necessary for the effect. The original troupe of royal musicians, who have won world's prizes in playing the Hawaiian guitar, are also in the company. "Hila," a comedy, is the company, every member of them from the original cast at the Maxine Elliott theater. The organization is headed by Miss Lenore Ulrich, the sensational singing, dancing and contortionist act as the opening number on the bill.
Fondaine and Edna, two comely young women, present a combined singing, dancing and contortionist act as the opening number on the bill.
The real hit of this week's bill is the act presented by the duo of real novelty and original with Mr. Davis, who gives no name at all to his act and bills himself with several question marks about his name. It is too good a feature to give away and the theatergoer should completely enjoy the novelty of it by seeing the duo.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

Two Unusual Comedians Are Features of the New Bill.

Comedians of the so-called "nut" type feature the Orpheum bill this week. There are two of them, a man and a woman in different acts, and they supply the greater part of the comedy of an all-round good bill.
The young woman is a member of the team of Darrell and Conley. She walks on to the bare stage through the big star door opening from the outside, and coming down to the footlights asks the orchestra leader for a solo. They don't blackface makeup and she is a real comedienne. The young woman's act is a comedy in the best sense of the word. The play is not only one of the best of the kind, but it is a comedy in the best sense of the word. ETHEL VON WALDRON, With Fiske O'Hara at the Lyceum Tonight.

essentials that go to the making of a singer. The character of Neil Powers, the hero of "In Old Dublin," is one of those ideal personages licensed to sing at any time during the progress of the story and the songs never seem to be out of place. Mr. O'Hara is particularly happy in this style of characters and plays them better, perhaps, than any interpreter of Celtic roles now before the public.

GOOD SUGGESTION TO DULUTH PEOPLE

It is surprising the amount of old, foul matter the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-I-ka, drains from the system. This remedy became famous by curing appendicitis and acts on BOTH the upper and lower bowel so thoroughly that ONE DOSE relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation almost IMMEDIATELY. We are mighty glad we are Duluth agents for Adler-I-ka. W. A. Abbott, druggist, 205 West Superior street.

The headline this week Rosalind Coghlan, the charming young daughter of Rose Coghlan. She succeeds in getting the little playlet over at all is a tribute to her ability, and after seeing her work one cannot help but wish to see her in something a little more pleasant in its general atmosphere. She is adequately supported. Richard Plou makes the most of the most unpleasant role of a wealthy, middle-aged man.
An economic pastiche comedy turn is furnished by Binns, Binns and Binns. Two men and a pretty young girl, the act is a musical turn, but the comedy stage effects consisting of three children of it. Even the siphon bottle is used to good effect, and what the three performers lack in musical ability they more than make up for in broad comedy. It got many a laugh last evening.

One-Act Play "On Stony Ground" Features New Bill.

Typical Bowery characters and the language of the street are featured in the interesting sketch, "On Stony Ground," which has been a popular vaudeville bill at the Empress theater the first half of this week.
Miss Lottie Williams, who plays the leading role of Katie, the waitress in the Pull street restaurant, scored a hit with her strong expressions, which are an able actor and handled both the comedy and dramatic situations exceptionally well. Miss Helen Ainslee, W. T. Morgan and W. S. Ely portray small characters in the play.

No Time Limit Against Deportation If Immorality Keeps Up.

Washington, Jan. 5.—Aliens who may have lived in the United States for years still are subject to deportation under the immigration law of 1907, should they visit their foreign homes and within three years after returning to this country engage in immoral practices, according to a decision today by the supreme court in the case of Anna Lapina.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

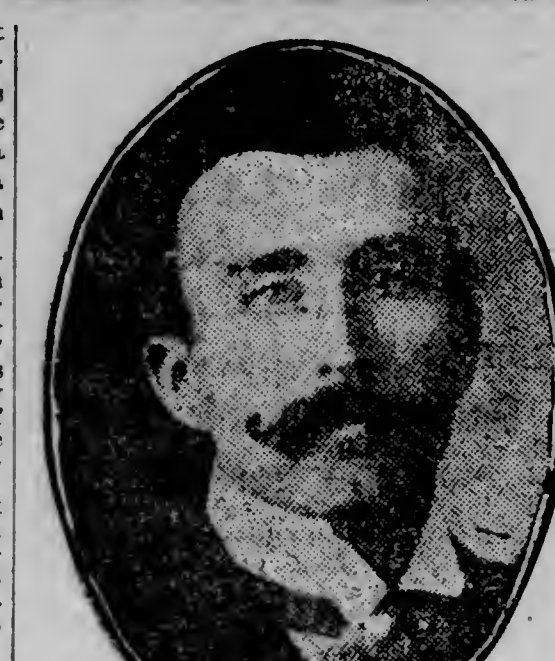

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

WEST DULUTH CURLERS

Emil Julius Zauff, skip of the Zauff rink, one of the best curling aggregations in the Western curling rink, lays no claim to being a Scotchman. He says that it is not necessary to be a descendant of the Scot clans to be a good curler. Emil Julius is from Kaiser William, a town in Prussia. Emil says he developed an early inclination to the curling game. When he was a boy, he says, he became proficient in handling the broom, sweeping snow off roofs and his parents' home and occasionally assisting his mother sweeping the kitchen. Now that he is married and has a family of his own, he says, he keeps in practice during the winter months by assisting with similar chores.
Mr. Zauff has his eyes on at least three trophies for this season, which he intends walking off with. The perfecting of the rink is as follows: E. George Kreiden, lead; Dr. R. S. Forbes, second, and Capt. Sullivan, third.

WILL STATE GRIEVANCES

New Duluth and Fond du Lac Ask Better Train Service.

State Commission Orders Public Hearing in Duluth Next Friday.

Pursuant to a petition formulated by the residents of New Duluth, Fond du Lac and Lac Seul, the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission has ordered a hearing to take place at the Spaulding hotel in Duluth, beginning at 10 o'clock Friday morning, Jan. 9.

The petitioners, after stating their grievances in detail, requested that the following changes in the service be made:
A train leaving Duluth at 6:15 p. m. for New Duluth, Fond du Lac and Lac Seul, and a train leaving Fond du Lac and Lac Seul at 6:15 a. m. for Duluth, and a train leaving Duluth at 6:15 a. m. for New Duluth, Fond du Lac and Lac Seul, and a train leaving New Duluth, Fond du Lac and Lac Seul at 6:15 a. m. for Duluth.

In their summing up of complaints the petitioners state that there is a popular demand for a better train service, and that the train service is such that it is next to impossible for the residents of New Duluth and Fond du Lac, the petitioners, to have a street car connection, and that the train service is such that it is next to impossible for the residents of New Duluth and Fond du Lac, the petitioners, to have a street car connection.

The street car connection, which is in the course of construction, also employs about 1,000 men. Many of these live in New Duluth and Fond du Lac, and the petitioners state that they are in the course of construction, and that the street car connection, which is in the course of construction, also employs about 1,000 men.

The last train leaving Duluth for New Duluth, Fond du Lac and Lac Seul, is the train leaving Duluth at 6:15 p. m. for New Duluth, Fond du Lac and Lac Seul, and a train leaving New Duluth, Fond du Lac and Lac Seul at 6:15 a. m. for Duluth.

An evening train is requested upon the ground that many of the people of New Duluth, Fond du Lac and Lac Seul, who are in the course of construction, and that the street car connection, which is in the course of construction, also employs about 1,000 men.

Employees of the Minnesota steel plant at New Duluth, who have been in the course of construction, and that the street car connection, which is in the course of construction, also employs about 1,000 men.

WILL RAISE SALARIES

Increases Amounting to About $5,000 a Year Are Recommended.

Four of the Five Commissioners Submit Their Lists.

Salary increases which will probably aggregate not less than $5,000 to $6,000 a year will be recommended to the city council this afternoon by the mayor and four commissioners. The increases on the payroll affect nearly a hundred employees.

The recommendations of each member of the council have been submitted to Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss, and he is recommending that the increases be adopted. Four of them had been recommended by the city administrator, who will transmit them in united form to his colleagues. Four of them had been recommended by the city administrator, who will transmit them in united form to his colleagues.

Increases are being advocated in every division of the city administration, but whether or not the council will vote them as submitted, or will give them thorough individual consideration, is problematical. The most sweeping increases are recommended by Commissioner Leonidas Merritt of the utility division.

The list of the proposed new salaries submitted by all except the works department are as follows:
Welfare department—Probation officer, $150 per month.

Park department—Manager, $1,600 per year in equal monthly installments; $100 to $150 per month; deputy city treasurer, $85 per month; two clerks in treasurer's office, each $80 per month; one clerk in treasurer's office, $80 per month.

THROW AWAY YOUR EYEGLASSES!

A FREE PRESCRIPTION You can have filled and use at home.

Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eyestrain or other eye weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not read to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days, everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitude more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Opton, fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one Opton tablet, and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you even a little take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

TEAR UP THE TRACKS AT DEADLY CROSSING

Mayor and Commissioner of Memphis Take Summary Action.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 5.—Heading a large force of workmen, Mayor E. H. Crump and Thomas Dies, commissioner of public utilities, today tore up the railroad tracks at the grade crossing where five persons were killed and several injured last night when a freight train on the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis road and a street car collided.

The freight train was operating on a track that city officials had ordered removed several days ago. According to witnesses there were no lights on the rear of the freight train and no switchman at the crossing.

REDUCTION IS REFUSED

No Special Water Rates for City's Charitable Institutions.

Frontage Tax May Be Levied to Pay for Extensions.

Eleemosynary institutions, including the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the Bethel, the Bethel home and the Children's home, will not be given any reduction in their water rates, at least for the present.

Following a conference with Commissioner Leonidas Merritt, head of the utility division and light department, the council this morning concluded that no exceptions shall be made in the water rates for the charitable institutions, which became effective Jan. 3. The general opinion was that the present schedule should be tried out for some months and the matter given consideration at a later date. When the actual working of the new rates had been determined.

The commission discussed the rate question as pertaining to the length of the frontage indicated that the bills of the Y. M. C. A. would be the only ones which would be materially increased, while those of the others would not show much change, unless it should be that the smaller users might get a decrease. Generally speaking, it was stated that those using up to 16,000 cubic feet per month would get a reduction while those running above that amount would pay more for their water.

Other changes.

It was pointed out that other changes are contemplated in the administration of the water and light department, which would have an important bearing upon the rates. The chief of these is the proposal to levy a frontage tax upon extensions, which would likely enable the department to make considerable reductions in the present schedule of 15 cents, 12 cents and 8 cents per hundred cubic feet.

Commissioner Merritt stated that he was opposed to a 5-cent rate in the future, but that this is undoubtedly a considerable time before the department could give the various items which make up the cost of the water, gas and light, and the cost of the pumping and distribution is 3 cents per hundred cubic feet and 2 cents per hundred cubic feet for interest and sinking fund charges.

COUNTY CLERK'S RECEIPTS GROW

Turns Over $17,317.35 in Money to County Treasurer.

Receipts amounting to $17,317.35 were turned over to the county treasurer during the past year by J. P. Johnson, clerk of the district court, according to his annual report, which will be submitted to the county board at its annual meeting tomorrow.

The report also shows that $2,640 was received by the clerk in court fines during the past year and that $4,174 was taken in for marriage licenses. At $2 per license, it would indicate that 2,087 licenses were issued.

The report follows:

Certificates	2,423.15
Sundries	285.06
Civil cases	7,485.29
Criminal cases	29.85
Fines	2,640.00
Marriage licenses	4,174.00
Jury fees	279.00
Total	$17,317.35

The above does not include work done for the county for which no cash was received. This work is itemized as follows:

Sundries	$ 1,508.80
Civil cases	2,352.55
Criminal cases	1,257.24
Total	$ 5,498.59

Grand total $22,815.94

The grand total, $22,815.94, shows an increase over the 1912 figure, which was $21,735.05, of which $16,487.37 was turned over to the county treasurer in cash. There is also a corresponding increase in the salary item of this office. During the past year $18,904 was paid out in salaries, as compared with $17,452.46 for the year 1912.

HOLDS WORST ARREST RECORD

Twenty-Seven-Year-Old Man Is Arrested Sixteen Times in Three Years--In for Carrying Cocaine.

The longest record at Duluth police headquarters is now believed to be held by Joseph Powers, 27 years old, who was arrested last night for having cocaine in his possession.

According to the record kept by the Bertillon department, Powers has been arrested nine times in Minneapolis and seven times in Duluth since Sept. 22, 1910, when he was first taken into custody by the Duluth City police on a charge of petit larceny. He drew a straight sentence of thirty days in the Hennepin county jail at that time. Since then Powers has been arrested fifteen times for other offenses and has served a total of 15 months in jail. He was first arrested in Duluth on Feb. 15, last, when he was sentenced to serve thirty days in the county jail. Powers often uses the names of George Powers and John Brown according to the Bertillon record at headquarters.

Powers pleaded guilty in police court this morning but declined to use the name of the man who arrested him. Cutting that this was the first time he had ever used cocaine. He was fined $75 or sixty days in the county jail.

LIFE NET AND SMOKE HELMET

Fire Chief Randall Wants New Fire Fighting Equipment.

Joseph Randall, chief of the fire department, recommends the purchase of a new Browder life net and of a Dräger smoke helmet, in his December report, submitted today to Safety Commissioner W. A. Hicken.

Chief Randall states that the present net has been in service for twenty years and has about outlived its usefulness. He asserts that the smoke helmet would do excellent service in many fires and would do much to increase the department's efficiency.

During the month the department responded to thirty-nine fire alarms. The total estimated loss was $4,648.80, covered by insurance aggregating $274,560.

D. Govey, acting as chauffeur at headquarters, sustained a broken bone in his wrist Dec. 28 while cranking the chief's automobile. He will be incapacitated for duty several weeks.

TAKE MANY FOR OTHER CITIES

Duluth Police Make Envious Record Capturing Fugitives From Justice in 1913.

During 1913 the Duluth police arrested ninety-four men and women who were fugitives from cities throughout the country, according to the annual report now being prepared by Chief "Prover" and his assistants, Robert Donaldson and Fred Johnson.

By comparison with the records of other police departments, this record is a most enviable one. Fugitives were arrested for police in all sections of the country, some of them wanted on very serious charges.

Among the local fugitives arrested were Alfred Kohn at Kalspel, Mont., on a charge of wife desertion, after he had been gone over eight months. He is now on parole. Walter Knight, 18 years old, was arrested in Paris, on a charge of having carnal knowledge of a small girl. He was found guilty in district court the other day and is now awaiting sentence.

During the past year the local detective force recovered over 50 per cent of all the articles either lost or stolen. According to the monthly reports submitted by Lieut. Terry the articles lost and stolen amounted to $45,287.04, while those recovered amounted to $23,939.66. This is 52.88 per cent according to the report.

TAKE CAREEN FROM MEXICO

British Government Will Make Him Minister to Brazil.

Transfer Is Said to Have Nothing to Do With "Indiscretion."

London, Jan. 5.—Sir Lionel Carden, British minister to Mexico, is shortly to be transferred to Rio de Janeiro as minister to Brazil. He was appointed to Mexico July 18, 1913, to succeed Francis William Stronge. The successor to Sir Lionel Carden at Mexico City will probably be Charles Murray Marling, senior counselor in the British diplomatic service, now accredited to Turkey.

Sir Lionel Carden's transfer, which is a promotion so far as salary is concerned, would have been made some time ago except for the fact that the British foreign office would not make the change while the minister was under fire for the alleged interview in which he was made to reflect the policy of the United States toward Mexico.

Marling Much Experienced.

Charles Murray Marling, the probable successor of Sir Lionel Carden, has had a long and varied career in the diplomatic service. He joined in 1888. Most of the time he has occupied diplomatic posts in the East, at Constantinople, Athens and Tcheran, but he has also served at Paris, Sofia, Madrid and Rio de Janeiro.

While Sir Lionel's actions and general demeanor since the outbreak of the Mexican troubles have been considered somewhat indiscreet by the general public, nobody here believed the attacks on him which appeared in some of the American papers. It is expected that the official statement, which will doubtless be issued, will show that the official Superior swears have so far shown no anxiety not any break-neck speed in securing permission from the state to marry since the new eugenics law took effect. Although the clerk of court has patiently waited with open arms to greet prospective groom and brides, none have so far applied during the three days of this month.

"Usually we have had several applicants for permission to marry at this time in past years," said the county clerk today. "It is not so much the examination that is keeping them back, but the idea that they are sound and repulsive to the average young citizen."

The gravity of the situation is dawned on the ministers also. These people fail off, it is said that some of the pastors will have to make difficult vacation plans for next summer.

State Rests in Murder Case and the Defense Begins.

Expected Jury Will Have Case on Tuesday at Latest.

The state rested its case today at the trial of Joseph Crotteau, charged with the murder of his wife, and this afternoon the defendant took the stand in his own defense. The case will go to the jury tomorrow.

This morning the defense won a substantial point when the court ruled against the admission of a statement which had been made by Mary Crotteau, the victim of the shooting, to Dr. S. H. Boy

Car Jumps Tracks.
A Duluth-Superior car went off the track at the Lake Avenue and Superior street crossing about 11 o'clock last evening and jammed street car traffic for over an hour. In crossing the switch the slippery condition of the track is believed to have caused the car to leave the rails.

Fire From Chimney.
A defective chimney caused a slight fire yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Anna Brandt, 631 West Fourth street. The fire was out by the time the fire department reached the scene. The total damage to the building amounted to about $10.

Advertising Travels Far.
Duluth advertising is stretching out a bit, if a request just received by the Commercial club is any criterion. Recently the club issued a little pamphlet entitled "Trade Follows the Freight Rate," and on the back of it invited requests for more detailed information on the decision of the Interstate Commerce commission in the Duluth lake and rail case. The club has just received the solicited request from a man in Waterville, Me., and the information has been forwarded to him.

McCoy, who died a few days ago in Long Beach, Cal., and whose remains have been brought back to Aberdeen, the family home, for interment. His sister, Miss Rhoda McCoy, was attending the funeral at the home of her aunt, Mrs. E. J. McCoy, when she heard of her father's death.

To Call Jury Calendar.
Judge Windom will call the regular jury calendar in municipal court tomorrow morning. The cases to be heard during this term are: Nelson vs. Larson; Nelson vs. Johnson; Courtlander vs. Riley; Serden vs. Metropoulos; Insurance company vs. Jarvis; Kenna; Western Sales Stable vs. Podgorski; Wretman vs. Duluth Street railway company; Sakas vs. Kocichas; Anderson vs. Latschaw; and Davis vs. Kridler.

To Hear Burglary Charge.
James Carey and Stans Sankosky, who were arrested Wednesday evening on a charge of burglary in the third degree, will be examined by police court this afternoon. They are being held by the police in default of $500 bail each.

Forfeits Bail.
Lampiro George, who forfeited $10 bail when he failed to appear in police court this morning in answer to a charge of disorderly conduct, Nick Aversen, 34, who was arrested with George late last evening, pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $3 or three days. He paid his fine and the two men were released on the street.

ELLISON AND HALLOCK
GIVE THEIR SIDE OF IT
Vaudeville instructors deny statements made in Girls' Affidavits.

In statements made this morning, Charles Ellison and Guy Hallock, who are operating a school for acting, and who produce vaudeville acts at 131 West Superior street, deny the charges made by Pearl Adison, Pearl Day and Anna Dimback in affidavits to Chief of Police Troyer, which were published in The Herald Saturday evening.

Both Ellison and Hallock declare that they are running a legitimate business, and that they have been employed by the girls under their charge. In their affidavits sworn to before Charles Hallock, who is a notary, and a Herald representative, the three girls declare that they were coached by Ellison and that they have never earned a dollar. Anna Dimback declared that she had been paid $25 for coaching, and that she was never placed on the stage and back her money. Pearl Day, also, says she lost some money, while Pearl Adison states that she was put on the road with an act and that it was stranded in Hibbing. She also says that Ellison and Hallock both made improper advances to her while she was being coached for the act.

In their replies, both Ellison and Hallock deny these charges. Ellison claims that the Hibbing girl failed to come to rehearsals, and that he gave her coaching in many times the sum she paid him.

With regard to Pearl Adison, Ellison claims that she gave her name as Helen Smith when she first came to his office. She told him a pitiful story, he says, and for that reason he took her in and coached her for nothing. Ellison admits that she was at his home for three weeks, but denies making any improper advances to her.

Hallock also denies that his conduct was as charged. Both Hallock and Ellison declare that the manager of "The Buster Brown Minstrels" was not drunk at Hibbing, as charged by Pearl Adison, but that the company broke up because the girls refused to attend to their duties.

WORK FARM READY; NO TRANSPORTATION
Thomas Olafson Will Be Re-appointed Member of Joint Commission.

Thomas Olafson of West Duluth will be reappointed today as a member of the joint city and county work farm commission by Chairman Neil McInnis of the county board. Mr. Olafson's term expired today and he will be named by the chairman of the county board to succeed himself for a term of one year.

The work farm is now ready to receive its first charges but judges of the municipal court will not commit prisoners to the farm until transportation facilities have been provided for. Judge Windom has visited the temporary winter quarters which have been provided at the farm and Judge Cutting is planning on a trip out to the farm during the present week. The work farm is located six miles west of the city on the Pike Lake road.

DULUTH'S GREATEST JANUARY WHITE SALE

Started this morning with larger stocks and more powerful values than ever. In assortments, quantities and values, it will eclipse any of our previous sales. The goods were bought from 6 to 10 months ago direct from the foremost mills of this country and abroad, and prices quoted will be unmatched, quality considered.

The importance you may judge from the many items which are mentioned here, though the list is but a small portion of the offerings of this great sale. No housewife can afford to miss this money-saving event. It will pay you to lay in a year's supply, as these prices will not be duplicated for 12 months to come.

Home's Team

The Duluth railway stations were scenes of large farewells last evening and today when the college young people who have been home for the holidays went back to school to take up their studies again until the Easter vacation will give them respite from their work again. All the mothers and fathers, aunts and uncles, brothers and sisters and friends went down to see them off. Each one had his own little party and the stations were crowded.

Among those who left were Miss Elsie Cole, who returned to Washington after spending the two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Cole. A. M. Chisholm and Miss Dorothy Chisholm returned to New York, where the latter is studying this year.

Frank Adams and son, Frank, left for the East where the latter is attending school.

Miss Helen Jensen and Miss Ellen Gibson returned to Burnham school.

Miss Edith Dight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dight; Miss Constance Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Mitchell; Miss Mary Emily Merritt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Merritt; and Miss Mary Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gibson have returned to Smith college.

Miss Mary Henderson and Miss Myra Salyards have returned to Burnham school, and Miss Mary Whitcomb has returned to Chicago to the Sherwood school of music.

Phillip Polier, who has been spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Camille Polier, 2128 East Second street, left yesterday for Minneapolis, where he is studying at the law school at the University of Minnesota.

SCOTCH DANCE.

Old-Fashioned Dances Will Be Revived.

The Clan-Stewart Pipe Band association gave the first of a series of Scotch dances at the C. O. P. hall on Saturday evening. The primary purpose of these dances is to give instruction in the Scotch dances and a large number were present at the Saturday evening dance. Among the dances given were "Patronella," "Edinburgh Circle," "Flowers of Edinburgh" and the Scotch quadrilles. Many of the sons and daughters of the land of hearth and home had not danced these dances for many years, enjoyed the opportunity of participating again in the dances of their youth.

The music for the dance was furnished by Messrs. Shannon and Melrose, and the dancing instructor was Robert Tulloch. The Pipe Band association will hold these dances every Saturday evening during the winter and the success which attended their first effort gave the officers of the association assurance that the series will be popular.

W. C. T. U. WOMEN OF THE STATE WILL OBSERVE DAY OF PRAYER

The Minnesota Women's Christian Temperance union, under the direction of the state president, Miss Rozette Hendrix of Minneapolis, is arranging for the observance of Jan. 15 as the day of prayer for the success of the constitutional prohibition amendment campaign. Over 1,600 appeals have been sent to churches and organizations asking for the cooperation of the observance of this day, for which a special program has been planned.

The first note for this campaign for national prohibition was sounded by Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, national president of the W. C. T. U., in a proclamation issued Sept. 10, 1911, declaring that prohibition should be placed in the Constitution of the United States within a decade, and calling for the active cooperation of all Americans who love their country. This was followed in December by the introduction of a resolution in the house of representatives of a joint resolution for national prohibition. On Aug. 6, 1913, he introduced this resolution, and again in October. On Dec. 10, 1900, W. C. T. U. women, representing every state in the Union, marched to the capitol and formally presented a resolution of national prohibition.

Capt. Hobson, which he introduced in the house Dec. 17. An educational campaign for national prohibition will be carried on in the state through medal contests and a special series of posters.

While the state is engaged in this campaign, other work is being done. The state is placing the Union Signal in twenty-five libraries where there are no local organizations of the W. C. T. U., and the Temperance National Quarterly in all college libraries. Books and magazines are being sent by mail to organizations in lumber camps, one of the "Eight War" of Minnesota, and a library of books, pamphlets, and hundreds of comfort bags, filled with the necessities of life, are being sent to soldiers, sailors and woodsmen, and flowers and fruit to the sick, and clothing and food to the needy.

Learn to Take Care of Your Belongings.

The habit of keeping things in repair is one that this generation seems not inclined to emulate. It is not a question of how much wear can be obtained from an article nowadays, but how quickly it can be worn out and another secured to take its place. Few take pride in keeping their belongings in first-class condition and in making them give all the service possible.

I do not mean to say that as a class we are not better dressed than we have ever been. We are. But I would like to point out at what a cost over and above what it should be. Neither do the homes of today lack in any particular way for example. Almost every one is so luxurious in its appointments as compared with those of fifty and a hundred years ago.

The fault is not with what we have but with the way we treat it. Many are imbued with the idea that it is usually replaced and that the money to purchase it is plentiful.

Take a single piece of furniture in the home, for example. It is usually relegated to the storeroom or is given to the junkman to carry away. Sometimes a very good chair, only a little disabled, is cast aside. If in the first stage of its decline, 50 cents or $1 had been expended in its repair, a good chair, giving years of service, would have been saved to the family.

Recently, the acquisition of old-fashioned furniture, no matter how or where obtained, has been the ambition of many good folk. If the pieces collected are family heirlooms, so much the better. They give their owners a prestige very desirable in the eyes of the less fortunate. But it must be admitted that it looks dubious for future generations from the standpoint of family heirlooms unless this one wakens to the need of preserving its goods and chattels.

The china collectors of the future are doomed to certain disappointment unless a change takes place. "Grandmother's china" will become a myth in the not distant future unless more care is taken of that which we buy and pay for, at prices unheard of, when our acquaintance has used two dinner sets in ten years' time. Both are so depleted that they cannot be dignified by the term "dinner set." They are now on their third set, and probably sold to a dealer for a mere fraction of their original cost.

This couldn't happen in great grandmother's day. At least, it didn't. She treasured and preserved her china, never trusting it to careless hands. That is why her descendants are enabled to show pieces and sometimes an entire set, proudly said to be one hundred and even 150 years old.

My grandmother used to say that we of today don't know how to care for our possessions and wouldn't take the trouble to learn, which was worse. She was right. All could learn the art of preservation to advantage, great and lasting.

SCHOOL WORK IS RESUMED

Teachers and Pupils Return to Duties After Christmas Vacation.

New E. R. Cobb School Put Into Commission With Four Teachers.

School has resumed and the work interrupted by the holidays was under way this morning. The usual formalities that are necessary at the opening of school were not needed this morning for this was merely a resumption after a two weeks' vacation.

No enrollment of pupils had to be gone through with for the pupils who attended before the vacation knew where they were to start in without further instruction. There was a full complement of teachers on the job, few asking an extension of time to get here, although many spent the holidays long distances away. Any vacancies there were were easily filled with substitutes.

The new E. R. Cobb school opened this morning for the first time. It gives room for four additional teachers, for it takes all of the pupils with the exception of the seventh and eighth grades, who have been coming to the Washburn school from Woodland.

No school was left unopened this morning. It was reported that the Emerson school was not opened today because of a mild epidemic of smallpox prevalent. However, the school opened just the same and is in operation.

Medical inspectors were on hand this morning to inspect pupils in the neighborhood.

The first semester of the school year closes on Jan. 31, but the examinations will begin in about a week. At the end of the first semester the routine of enrolling will have to be gone through with again, but not until then.

SCHOOL FOR SAILORS WILL BE COPIED IN EAST.

An interesting development out of a Duluth experiment is the extension by the Lake Carriers' association of the educational work begun at the association's headquarters here a year ago this winter and continued this winter. Under the direction of G. A. Tomlinson, local director of the association, Commissioner W. A. Bourke started a school in rudimentary subjects for the benefit of the sailors who winter here, and which was taken up enthusiastically by them. Supt. R. E. Denfeld of the Duluth schools planned the system to be followed. So successful did it prove that Secretary G. A. Marr of the association, who had it copied, has ordered that similar educational work at the three stations will soon be under way.

While East, Mr. Bourke was instructed by Mr. Marr to see the commission at the three places mentioned and get them started in the work. He made this his first educational work, at the three stations will soon be under way.

PUT THE NORTHWEST IN A STRONG RESERVE DISTRICT.

It is noteworthy that on second thought the pressure of ambitious cities for selection as regional bank centers has lessened materially.

Boston, for instance, would have been picked by almost anybody as a regional bank center; but now it appears doubtful whether Boston wants a regional bank or not. The advantages of possessing such a bank do not weigh heavily in the minds of shrewd observers when balanced against the advantages of belonging to the strongest possible reserve district—and beyond question the New York district, to which Boston and New England will be attached if Boston is not made a reserve center, will be the strongest in the country.

To balance such a district as New York will have, with its abundance of resources and credits, the Northwest by all means should have such a strong district as it is possible to build up with Chicago as its center.

Here is the point: The one great advantage of the new banking law is that it affords the affiliated banks a market for their commercial paper. It is self-evident that the extent of the market, and therefore the extent of the service which the regional bank can render the member banks, and through them the communities of the district, WILL DEPEND UPON THE AMOUNT OF COMMERCIAL PAPER WHICH THE REGIONAL BANK CAN TAKE FROM THE MEMBER BANKS.

It takes money or credit to buy notes, and therefore the value of the regional bank to its members will depend upon the amount of money and credit which it can control. This in turn will depend upon two things: First, the amount of capital of the regional banks; and, second, and far more, upon the amount of its deposits. This, in turn, depends upon THE NUMBER OF STRONG BANKS AFFILIATED WITH THE REGIONAL BANK.

It goes without saying, therefore, that what every community in the country should desire is membership in the strongest possible district, for as the strength of the regional bank must depend upon the financial strength of the district it draws from the public must depend upon its capacity to take commercial paper from its member banks and turn it into currency.

The larger and stronger the district, the greater its usefulness to every bank, every industry, every business, enterprise and every community in the district.

Against this enormous and fundamental advantage, the advantage of possessing a regional bank, or of having a regional bank close by, counts for very little.

A community whose banks are members of a strong regional bank will have abundant opportunity to market its commercial paper and so to increase the capacity of its banks to give credit to legitimate business enterprises.

A community whose banks are members of a weaker regional bank will have correspondingly less opportunity to market its commercial paper, and so its capacity to get credit will be curtailed—AND THIS IN COMPETITION WITH BUSINESS CENTERS HAVING THE ADVANTAGE OF STRONG REGIONAL BANKING FACILITIES.

Do the Twin Cities, or either of them, wish for their own small advantage to create a relatively weak regional bank and reserve district for the Northwest, thereby deliberately giving other sections of the country a heavy advantage over this section?

Certainly there will be no communities in the Northwest outside the Twin Cities that will be willing to forego a large part of the capacity for usefulness of the new banking system merely to give Minneapolis or St. Paul the minor benefit of possessing a regional bank.

The Northwest, for its own good, will surely wish to become a part of the great, strong district that can thus be built up around Chicago, contributing its resources to the creation of strong regional banking facilities there instead of stupidly withdrawing these resources to create a relatively weak district, with a restricted market for commercial paper and therefore restricted credit facilities.

Whatever advantages to the Northwest that could come from having a regional bank at Minneapolis would follow if a branch is located there; but the regional bank itself should by all means be in Chicago.

An Indiana professor says farmers' sons excel at mathematics. So if you want your boy to be good at figures, here's another incentive to get back to the soil.

THE CAUSE OF PUBLIC EXTRAVAGANCE.

Senator Burton has in the esteemed Saturday Evening Post a long article about national extravagance, referring, of course, to government expenses, which are always large and always growing larger.

In that article he talks about causes, but like most other commentators on this subject, he overlooks the only real underlying cause worth thinking about.

And this cause, which is behind state and local extravagance as well as national extravagance, is that the public is paymaster and because of its indifference or its lack of organized protest has been practically defenseless.

What would you expect where the situation existed of men spending other people's money, taking it out of their pockets largely at will, rendering only formal accounting, and with the owners of the pockets taking only a mild interest in what is going on, and proposing to do nothing whatever about it?

When you employ a caretaker you allow him for expenses what you think is necessary and what you can afford.

What would you expect but extravagance if you had a lot of caretakers who were free to spend as much as they chose, and if you paid little or no attention to how much they took or how they spent it?

That's so closely analogous to the situation between the taxpayer and the tax-spenders that it isn't necessary to look further for causes of public extravagance.

That Rhode Island legislator who turned back his salary because he had been sick so much of the session that he didn't think he had earned it, must be in precarious health yet, to have such a conscience.

VACCINATION FOR TYPHOID.

Critics of vaccination—and they are many and vociferous entirely out of proportion to their numbers—have waxed indignant and sarcastic about the compulsory use of vaccine against typhoid in the army and navy.

We have not heard from any of them since the recent publication in The Herald and other newspapers of figures showing the effect in the army and navy of such vaccination.

Perhaps they are still engaged in digesting those figures. And certainly they form a dose that will tax the digestion of anti-vaccinationists.

Among more than eighty thousand enlisted officers and men in the army there were but two cases of typhoid fever last year. One of these was a soldier who had not been immunized by vaccination, and who is believed to have contracted the disease before enlistment. The other case, among the troops in China, had been immunized in 1911, but the report states that the history of the case is in doubt.

The navy, which adopted the vaccine treatment later than the army, and did not at once make it compulsory, had but seven cases of typhoid among its fifty thousand men last year, and four of these were treated at a remote station where, it is thought, the vaccine had deteriorated.

Had typhoid fever had its sway last year in the army at the rate of 1909, there would have been about two hundred and fifty cases instead of two.

The 1909 rate was 3 per thousand, the 1910 rate was 2.32, in 1911 it was .8, and in 1912 it was .26. Last year it was so small as to be inexpressible in figures.

The testimony of the army medical officers also seems to dispose pretty thoroughly of the charge that had been made by anti-vaccinationists that typhoid vaccination induces tuberculosis. During the period when vaccine was being used the percentage of tuberculosis dropped steadily.

The navy, which is more exposed to typhoid than the army, had a percentage of 3.61 cases per thousand in 1911, of .92 in 1912, and of .3 up to Oct. 1 of 1913.

Even though the bandit Lopez has disappeared, vandals may yet get half a dozen of the men who hunted for him.

Greeley's Advice.

Youth's Companion: After the fire that destroyed Barnum's museum, the proprietor consulted his friends as to his wisest course. He told them he had a fortune and could easily retire from active business.

Among his friends was Horace Greeley. "What shall I do?" asked Barnum. "If I were you," replied Greeley, "I would go fishing. I've been trying for thirty years to go fishing and have never been able to do it."

A Retired Statesman to His Fool Friends

Samuel Smith in New York World.

On the Holiday Spirit.

Friend Uriah: I thank you sincerely for your unexpected and none the less welcome Christmas present. True, it was only a card, but coming from you it is another gratifying evidence of the blessed influence of the holiday spirit. Since receiving it I am beginning to have hopes for Senator Hitchcock.

Wherever I look at this moment in the political field I see the good influence of the holiday spirit.

Even in Mexico the Federalists and Constitutionalists have ceased fighting during the holidays, thus permitting Dictator Huerta to slip down to El Globo Caffe or over to Mike's place and lay in a fresh stock of courage. I understand he is fond of the White Lights, and in one sense I don't blame him. He probably thinks that every red light he sees is an exit.

Here at home we have the encouraging spectacle of the legislative unpunctuated trusts standing in a moral bread line, as it were, at the department of justice in Washington, waiting to be handed out of charity by the department of justice. I understand the Rule of Reason and the New Freedom.

In that article you spoke of our leading bankers were exposing themselves to the perils of nightly banquets in order to warn the people that the currency bill would give everybody more money than he wanted.

Now the banks are ratifying the new currency law and the Secretary McCoo probably will have to wait and celebrate Christmas, New Year's and the next Fourth of July all together.

What small talk there was of calamity has suddenly ceased, all because, as you say, the holiday spirit is coming hand in hand with the currency act and the American Telephone & Telegraph company's testimonial of best wishes and good cheer.

You can't talk calamity anyhow to a man who is full of turkey and pineapple juice, or champagne, which looks like pineapple juice and seltzer (after you have had a few glasses of champagne).

Secretary Bryan has signed up all the bantam-weights in a peace treaty and has gone to Florida. Speaker Clark has gone on a lecture tour and is as a member of the peace.

The president is spreading the good feeling and shaking the bones and sinews of the Democratic party down South, where a president of the United States is as big a curiosity as a meerkat.

Considering the all-around feeling of peace and good-will at the present time, another year of the Wilson administration ought to make this country fit even for George W. Perkins' children to live in.

The Taft Myth Come True.

Kansas City Star: President Wilson is doing exactly what the country expected President Taft to do four years ago, but what he failed to do. Have you noticed this aspect of the administration?

When Mr. Taft became a presidential candidate in 1907, the Star, in common with persons devoted to the progressive policies, believed that he was the one man in the country best fitted to carry them out—to "elucidate the Roosevelt policies," as he said.

It was the one man in the country best fitted to carry them out—to "elucidate the Roosevelt policies," as he said. He was temperamental different from President Roosevelt. But at that time it was the common belief that Roosevelt had succeeded in the gigantic task of arousing public sentiment, and that it would be his duty to carry on to the end. The country had heard the prophet; now it was to have the lawgiver. The teachings of the prophet were to be followed.

It has the lawgiver, the clincher of the Roosevelt policies, at last, but after four years delay, the tariff revision, in the reform of the banking and currency system, in the proposed trust legislation, in the proposed anti-trust legislation, in the proposed action that the Nation was looking for from Mr. Taft. His quiet, unassuming, his sure handling of problems, his driving force exercised with the least possible appearance of compulsion, all these things which would be displayed under Taft administration.

The Taft myth has turned into the Wilson actuality.

Great Happiness.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Here is one that was told by Congressman William Kettner of California the other evening, when one of the party in a Washington club remarked that the person who does not make an occasional mistake is a mighty scarce article.

One other day a woman went to a grocery store to order the daily supply, and hardly had she entered the door before the proprietor hastened toward her with an apologetic expression.

"I am glad you came in, madame," he humbly remarked. "I want to make amends for the distressing error that occurred in your order."

"An error in my order?" wonderingly responded the woman. "To what error are you referring?"

"To your cereal, madame," answered the grocery man. "Instead of oatmeal we sent you sawdust in which our grapes are packed."

Right there the unexpected happened. Instead of starting a wild riot, the woman leaned back and joyously laughed. Then she laughed some more, and yet again she laughed. "You relieve me greatly, madame," said the grocery man, as soon as he could break in with a few words. "I was afraid you would be greatly displeased."

"Displeased?" exclaimed the woman with another merry smile. "I was never so happy over anything in my life. I cooked that sawdust without knowing what it was, and in eating it Harry complimented me and said it tasted just like the porridge his mother used to make."

Kansas City Star: With the right instruments or form of administration and then with the initiative and referendum, the recall and non-partisan ship the people can get any kind of government that they wish.

They can get it good or bad or indifferent. And that is self government.

Commissioner of government is self government.

An Apt Retort.

Punch: Candid Hostess (on seeing her nephew's fiancée for the first time) "I never should have known you from your photograph. Reggie told me you were so pretty."

Reggie's fiancée—No, I'm not pretty, so I have to try and be nice, and it's such a bore. Have you ever tried?

A Woman Who Resolved Not to Be Too Good

Anne W. Taylor in the American Magazine.

The American Magazine has been offering prizes for the best letters entitled, "My Most Successful New Year's Resolution."

It was long before dawn last New Year's morning I lay awake in bed, waiting for the early cry of my babies. I was thinking of other New Year's resolutions in which I had made soul-stirring resolutions to be good—to be gentle, kind, unselfish. I recalled the agreeable elation, the unbroken serenity, with which I had said: "I will be good."

That morning, as I lay there in the dawn, my spirit flew to them: "I will not be good!" I knew it would mean a long, hard fight, but I set my teeth and vowed it. I had been too good and I had been kind and unselfish. I had made a martyr of myself for my husband, my children and my servants, and I had spoiled them all.

"I will not be meek, I will not be self-sacrificing, I will not be unselfish, I will not be put upon!" So ran my litany.

The clock struck half-past five. My young son, who had been in bed in her adjoining room. Her older brother, who had been called out peremptorily, came in and sat on the edge of the bed. I set my teeth and held myself in bed. Soon they were both crying violently.

"Aren't you going to give me a kiss?" said the older boy. "Aren't you going to give me a kiss?" said the younger boy. "I will not," I said.

"Well, aren't you going to give me a kiss?" said the older boy. "I will not," I said. "You seem to be hungry," said my husband anxiously. He seldom gets up at night.

"Poor babies," said I. "They aren't going to have their milk this time of morning any more. They will get used to it. I was aching with the desire to rush to them."

Presently my bewildered husband looked at me and spoke. "Have you looked at the furnace yet?"

"No, dear," said I, lying there calmly. "I have not. I have been thinking of the milk. I have been thinking of the milk. I have been thinking of the milk."

"I knew at last that my wicked goodness had been making me really selfish and unkind. I was a miser and a miser. But, oh how it hurt me to see him get up in the cold. I was a miser and a miser. But, oh how it hurt me to see him get up in the cold."

"Good idea," said I. "I put my resolution into practice. I let myself be spoiled; I asserted my preferences; I stopped taking dark meat. I let myself be spoiled; I asserted my preferences; I stopped taking dark meat."

"I really had learned to play by themselves. Very rarely now do I have to repeat my litany. I will not be meek, I will not be self-sacrificing, I will not be unselfish, I will not be put upon."

When the Train Comes In.

Well, yes, I calculate it is a little quiet here. I've been about the world and traveled far and near. But maybe 'cause I never lived no other place to me.

The train comes in. We go about our business in a quiet way. We go about our business in a quiet way. We go about our business in a quiet way.

Our yawns and watch the people when the train comes in. Our yawns and watch the people when the train comes in. Our yawns and watch the people when the train comes in.

St. Jenkins, he's the justice of the peace, he alters spends. His pants are made of wool, which he takes through and lends. To some other fellow, and we all take turns at that.

An' he's a real good fellow, he'd do it for you. An' in a quiet sort of way, afore he was a lawyer, he was a lawyer.

We get a pretty good idea of what's a-goin' on. An' gives us a lot to think about until after four years' delay, the tariff revision, in the reform of the banking and currency system, in the proposed trust legislation, in the proposed anti-trust legislation, in the proposed action that the Nation was looking for from Mr. Taft.

When I get lonesome-like I set around the barber shop. Er, corner of the grocery store. With fellows from the country; an' if the sun ain't out too hot. We go to pitchin' horse-shoes in Jed Thompson's vacant lot.

Behin' the livery stable; an' afore the game is over. As like as not some fellow'll say his nag kin clean out.

The train comes in. They take 'em out an' have a spin. But all git back in town afore the train comes in.

I see it in the papers 'at some folks, when summer's here, Paek up their trunk and journey to the seashore every year. To keep from gittin' sunstruck; I've a better way an' that.

For when it's hot I put a cabbage leaf inside my hat. An' go about my business as though I wasn't a bit of a fellow.

Fact is I ain't a-bid much sense I moved off my farm. An' folks 'at loves the outside world, if they've got the mind to kin. See all they ort to of it when the train comes in.

An' yit I like excitement, an' they's nothin' suits me more. An' to git three other fellers, so's to make a even four.

'At knows the game jes to a T, an' spend a half a day. In some good place a-fightin' out a battle of croquet.

There's Tubbs who lends the postoffice, an' Doc Smith an' me. An' Uncle Perry Louden 'at'd do you good to see.

A good, long war. Fact is I ain't a-bid much sense I moved off my farm. An' folks 'at loves the outside world, if they've got the mind to kin. See all they ort to of it when the train comes in.

An' take it all in, I bet you'd have to look an' while afore you'd find a nicer little town.

'An this 'n' is. The people live a quiet sort of life. Ner carin' much about the world with all its woes an' strife.

An' he's me to spend my days, an' when I reach the end. I'll say, "God bless ye," an' "Good-by," an' I'll be fat and happy.

An' when they foller me to where they ain't no care nor sin, I'll meet 'em at the depot when the train comes in.

'Tis—Nixon Waterman. Croesus Preferred. Pittsburg Post: Two poets sat having a frugal feast. "I wish Burns and Poe were with us tonight," said one. "We could have a rollicking time."

"I'd rather have Croesus here," said the other. "He could buy a few drinks. Those other fellows wouldn't have a cue."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 5.—(Special to The Herald).—William Jennings Bryan, after all his years of public speaking, is still subject to stage fright.

He may be, as many contend, the foremost orator of his day, but there are times when the idea of getting up and making a speech actually scares Mr. Bryan out of a week's growth.

"I get a hollow, sick feeling all down in the lower part of my stomach," declared Mr. Bryan, the other day, describing his symptoms. "Sometimes I have to go and lie down for a little while immediately before making a speech."

Mr. Bryan was having his lunch at his office in the department of state when he made the remark. He was such a picture of buoyant health, as he was eating his food with great relish, that it was almost startling to think that anything short of the kick in his horse could give him that sickening feeling. But he says he not only has it, at times, but always expects to have it.

He may have himself under better control than the doughty Demosthenes, but he is still subject to stage fright. He delivered "Spartacus" at the Friday afternoon exercises, but William Jennings Bryan is not always so easy and unconcerned as he looks.

The mere fact of being a master orator doesn't stop a man from being a human being. He has his moments. It does not always follow that Mr. Bryan is entirely free from stage fright and weird sensations inside of him. Just because his limbs do not vibrate like the G string on a guitar.

It should be understood that the holocaust that worked for the growth and prosperity of the whole state, rather than one section, would be of much greater advantage to the great state of Minnesota.

That's Good Deeds. La Porte News: Whatever the final result may be in the swamp land controversy, we believe in helping the settler settle up the good agricultural land already taken and awaiting development, or that can be cleared and cultivated, instead of using the state's money to put more land on the market for the speculator and non-resident to get hold of.

Feels Well Informed. Farm Stock and Home: The stand taken at the recent meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development Association at Bemidji for land clearing, roads, public domain legislation and for a state-wide efficiency program is a complete endorsement of the Farm, Stock and Home constructive plan for state development that they have adopted. Progress of three years has been remarkable. At that time Farm, Stock and Home was looked upon as a disorganizing force, and its policies for betterment derided as chimerical. Today these same policies have become so popular that they are being urged. They all boil down into "larger opportunity means a better state to live in."

It Should Be Fostered. Biwabik Times: The National and Northern Minnesota certainly being promoted by some of the newspapers in the southern tier of counties. In its last issue the Northland News makes a plea for the North. It takes the position that the state should develop out its compact with the national government to improve, drain and build roads to the swamp lands that were donated by the Federal government. Its argument is sound and well founded. It is reasonable to assume that the betterment of the state is the best interest of the people. It is reasonable to assume that the betterment of the state is the best interest of the people.

When he made his first tariff speech in the house, as a member of congress, Bryan was so nervous that he was, perhaps, then when he made his first appearance as a college orator a few years ago. The nervousness was not a scared feeling in varying degrees at every important speech he has made since. It is reasonable to assume that the betterment of the state is the best interest of the people.

CAT AND DOG SHOW ALSO

Scope of Duluth Poultry Exhibition May Be Enlarged Next Year.

Barkers Would Interest General Public—Markings Are Completed.

According to the suggestions made today by one of the directors of the Duluth Poultry association, efforts may be made to hold in conjunction with the 1915 show a cat and dog show.

The director in question states that only those directly interested in poultry attend the shows of the association. The general public does not show its interest. Therefore the suggestion for the holding of a midwinter show that would, it is believed, arouse the general interest of the public, for it is pointed out, some of the finest bred cats and dogs of the Northwest are owned here.

With the birds tagged and ribboned, the final two days of the show, today and tomorrow, will hold the greatest interest for those interested in the prize winners. The final day should prove the best of the entire show and should also bring out the largest attendance of the exhibition.

Taken as a whole the Duluth exhibition made a remarkably fine showing. Theodore Hollister was one of the large winners of the show, and sweeping the game classes, made the Duluthian stand out at the top of the individual first prize list.

In the Blue Andalusians Theodore Hollister won the first prize in the cock, hen and pullet classes, scoring also third and fourth in the hen class, second and third in the cockerel class, all four prizes in the pullet class and winning first in the pen showing.

F. D. W. Thies of Two Harbors won second and fifth in the hen class, second in the cock class and fourth in the pullet class.

In the Buff Orpingtons R. E. Mace of Duluth took second in the cock class and fourth in the hen class. Edward Hatch of Eveleth was fifth with his pullet, while W. T. Irwin of Virginia carried off the lion's share of prizes in this division with first, third and fourth in the cockerel class, first and fourth in the cock class, first with his pullet and third with his pen. M. McCabe of Duluth added further to the long list of local winners by first with his pen and taking third in the cock class.

In the Black Orpingtons division J. B. Greenfield of this city won first, second and third in the cock class, first and second in the hen class, and first in the pullet class.

C. H. Dickinson of Grand Rapids took first in the cock class, third, fourth and fifth in the hen class, and third and fourth in the pullet class.

In the Silver Spangled Hamburgs, H. R. Weide of St. Cloud won first in the pullet class, third in the cockerel class and third in the hen class.

Mrs. J. C. Mitchell of Crookston won third in the cockerel class, second in the cock class and fourth in the hen class.

F. D. W. Thies won everything in the Golden Pencilled Hamburg class, also everything in the Dark Cornish Game class.

Game Birds.

In the Black Breasted Red Game division, Theodore Hollister of this city swept the division, also winning all of the prizes in the Heathwood Game class.

In the Silver Pouter class, C. H. Dickinson of Grand Rapids was first with his cockerel and first and second with his pullet. W. L. Windom of Fond du Lac was second with his cockerel, fifth with his pullet and first with his pen.

In the Partridge, Cochon and Fantama all prizes were won by Theodore Hollister.

In the Buff Cochon Fantama all prizes were won by W. T. Irwin of Virginia.

In the White Pekin Ducks class Theodore Hollister won first in the cock and hen classes, Paul von Mehren of Hinckley being second in both of these classes.

In the Bronze Turkey class, L. G. Gulden of Osakis, Minn., won all of the prizes, and in the White Holland Turkey classes all of the prizes were captured by L. A. Gunderson of Duluth.

LYCEUM—Fiske O'Hara in "In Old Dublin."

ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.

AT THE LYCEUM.

Fiske O'Hara Appears in New Vehicle, "In Old Dublin."

Fiske O'Hara in a new Pitou play, "In Old Dublin," was the attraction at the Lyceum last evening, opening a three days' engagement here. The popular young star has in the new play a vehicle for his talents that is better than anything in which he has yet appeared and it is certain that he has never been so successful in anything that he has hitherto presented.

The central theme of "In Old Dublin" is Neil Powers, a young naval architect, who is ambitious to win the great yachting trophy, the queen's cup, which is shortly to be sailed for in Dublin bay. Ferguson gives young Powers carte blanche to build a yacht and Neil enters upon the work of his life, for to build a boat that can out-sail the crack English vessels will bring him fame and fortune. Some of the Dublin castle set, fearing that the Irish vessel may be a dangerous competitor, determine to prevent its being entered in the race. The banker's wife, a social climber, is informed by two of her castle friends, Sir John Davies and Capt. Wharton, that it will be useless to object any recognition from the lord lieutenant or his lady. If Mr. Ferguson persists in wishing to enter a yacht against the English boats, they are determined to see that he is impeded by the English boats. Thoroughly disgusted with the English, Neil is determined to build a boat that will beat them. Reluctantly, the banker assents and the crushing news is imparted to Neil. Shortly before the start the English boats are destroyed by a fire, and Neil, who is an uncle of Neil and a wealthy shipowner of New York, and his wife, Rose Stratton, Farley be- comes a rival of Neil and Neil be- comes a rival of Rose. Neil and Rose spring up an immediate attachment. Farley learns of Neil's predicament, immediately buys the boat and fur- nishes Neil with the necessary funds for its completion. The race is sailed and the Irish boat wins. Neil not only secures the cup but the hand of pretty Stratton.

Mr. O'Hara introduces a number of charming melodies in the performance which display his fine tenor voice to advantage and Manager Pitou has sur- rounded his star with an excellent supporting company in which are such clever players as Ethel von Waldron, Gertrude Matland, Marie Quinn, Rose Watson, Lou Ripley, Emma Naylor, Elizabeth Page, Eugene Fraser, J. F. Sullivan, Albert West, Byron Russell, Jefferson Hall and William Lowman. The scenic effects and costumes are more than ordinarily ornate and ap- propriate.

Amusement Notes.

The uplifting of a man, who has become a human wreck, through the consciousness of the tropical land, and the gradual sinking of another man through the same influences, tempered with the wild primitive love of an Hawaiian girl, but who finally comes to himself and redeems himself though at the cost of the life of the one who gave all she had to him, form the chief situations in Oliver Morosco's "The Bird of Paradise," which will ap- pear at the Lyceum theatre, Jan. 8, 9 and 10, with a popular matinee Sat- urday. Richard Walton Tully, author of the play, has been most faithful in his characterization of the Hawaiian people, and a company of un- usual strength. Special attention has been given to the scenic effects, and each of the seven scenes is said to be a masterpiece of the stage mechanics skill, especially the last act showing Mount Pelee in action.

Last evening in the Orpheum green- room the performers on this week's bill were discussing the term "vaude- comedian" which has been used in the last year or two to describe a certain type of performer who has become popular with vaudeville patrons. In the vaudeville classification there are many types of comedians, including "eccentrics," "straight monolog- ists," the many race burlesquers, and finally the far advanced, who term ap- plies to those whose stock in trade consists of sheer nonsense and kid- napping. There are two types of the latter class on this week's bill, James Mul- len and Ed Wynn.

The "king of the nuts" is generally con- sidered to be Frank Tinney. An- other famous one is Ed Wynn. James J. Morton and Roy Barnes, both of whom have been at the Duluth Orpheum, are two more. J. Francis Dooley is another, and the list includes scores of lesser lights.

"We'd get together and form a so- ciety," said Mullen, "only if they ever got us all collected they would build a nice new asylum for us and keep us together."

An all around good program of vaudeville is the attraction at the Em- pire for the first half of this week. The feature of the bill is pre- sented by Lottie Williams and her own company, who appear in a one-act playlet by the name of "On Stage Ground." Miss Williams is on the stage three times, in two different minutes, and to that time she plays both comedy and a touch of pathos.

On Stage Ground is a very inter- esting story and in the hands of Miss Williams as Katie, the waitress, W. T. Morgan as Jimmie Driscoll, the plumber, W. S. Ely as Arthur For- syth, an Englishman, and Alvin as Lucille Norvel, Arthur's fiance, it is very cleverly handled.

For comedy the honors go to the Hein children. The honors go to the Hein children. The honors go to the Hein children.

two dainty misses who sing, dance and do considerable contortion work. Their contortion work is the hit of the act. The program would not be complete if Davis was not mentioned. For an odd novelty, sing with his act in a mirth dispenser of the highest order. Davis' act is such a novelty that to relate the peculiarity of the turn would spoil half the fun. Pictures of the usual high Empire standard com- plete the bill.

ADD TO THE SANITARIUM

Much Needed New Buildings Planned for the Current Year.

Twenty Five Patients at Nopeming Cured During Past Year.

 NEW BUILDINGS AT NOPENING, ST. LOUIS COUNTY, MINN. *****

Cottage for advanced cases; ex- pensive, twenty-five patients, patients.

Service building or additional accommodations for service in main building.

Cottage for nurses. Two additional cottages for am- bulant patients, each accommo- dating from twelve to twenty- four patients.

Superintendent's residence. Central heating and power plant. Sewage disposal plant. Increased provision for water storage.

 An interesting and comprehensive report of the past year's activities at Nopeming, St. Louis county's $50,000 sanitarium at Midway, showing what has been done in the fight against the great white plague, was presented to the board of county commissioners at their annual meeting this afternoon.

The report contains some interesting data as to the finances of the institu- tion as well as its population figures, and twenty-five cures for the year are reported.

The report was submitted to the board by Dr. A. T. Laird, superintendent of the institution and secretary of the county sanitarium commission. It follows in part:

The St. Louis county sanitarium at Nopeming was established in ac- cordance with the provisions of chap- ter 417 of the laws of 1905.

Work Performed. Since April 1, 1913, has been paid into the St. Louis county treasury from state funds in part payment for buildings already constructed, besides $2,860 toward the maintenance of free patients. Following are statistics as to the work done:

Admissions—Men, 30; women, 24; children, 27; total, 81.

Discharges—Men, 36; women, 24; children, 21; total, 81.

Remaining in sanitarium, Jan. 1, 1914—Men, 14; women, 11; children, 18; total, 43.

Condition on admission—Incipient stage, 11; moderately advanced, 26; far advanced, 32; glandular, 18; emphy- sema, 1; total, 88.

"Sixty-five patients were at the sanitarium more than one month. Their condition on discharge was as follows: Disease arrested, 17; apparently ar- rested, 5; quiescent disease, 9; im- proved, 21; unimproved, 9; died, 19; total, 68.

"I will be noted that although about 65 per cent of the patients on admis- sion were in either the moderately ad- vanced or far advanced stage of the disease, 67 per cent or more than half of those who remained at the sanitarium a month, were discharged im- proved in health.

"It is unavoidable that a certain number of deaths should occur at the sanitarium, since no cases are re- fused, even those already at death's door. When announcement of such deaths appear in the papers it should be remembered that nothing is usually published regarding those who im- prove in health.

"As near as can be learned by in- queries twenty-five of the patients who have been at Nopeming have been restored to full working capacity and are now earning their own living in Duluth or elsewhere or in the case of children, are attending school.

"During the year a dispensary for the examination of persons suspected of having tuberculosis has been con- ducted at the courthouse in co-opera- tion with the Duluth department of health. Two hundred and fifty-one new patients have been examined and 1,101 visits have been made by pa- tients for medical and advice.

Cost Per Patient. "The number of days of hospital treatment given was 17,615. Accord- ingly the daily per capita cost of treatment was $1.66, or $11.62 per week.

"The net daily cost per patient to St. Louis county has thus been $1.20 or $8.40 per week.

"The following provisional program for the new construction necessary to complete the sanitarium has been adopted by the sanitarium commis- sion: A twenty-four to thirty patient cottage for advanced cases; a barn; service building or additional accom- modations for service in main build- ing; cottage for nurses; two addition- al cottages for ambulant patients, each accommodating from twelve to twenty-four patients; superintendent's residence; central heating and power plant; increased provision for water storage; plans are now being worked out for the cottage for the advanced diseases, the building most urgently needed for the year.

"The work of the sanitarium during the past year has been much simplified by the generous co-operation of Du- luth citizens and residents of other parts of the county, making comforts and luxuries, even, which have added greatly to the happiness of the patients have been sent to the sanitarium be- sides special gifts for the entertain- ment fund. Thanksgiving time and Christmas, the patients were special- ly remembered in many ways."

LOYALTY IS FORGOTTEN

Wife Who Stood By Husband During Trial Is Deserted.

Sues for Divorce, Claiming Husband's Whereabouts Are Unknown.

Forsaken and abandoned by the man she loved, a husband whom she had sacrificed nearly everything that was dear to her in order to show her undying devotion and loyalty when he faced trial for the crime of forgery, Helen Bartley, wife of a young Duluth woman, who three years ago became the bride of Frederick J. Files, is now seeking divorce.

The story of Files' trial is recalled in connection with divorce proceedings which were instituted yesterday afternoon in district court by Mrs. Files against her husband. The divorce is asked for on the grounds of desertion. Files when last seen was in Canada, but his present whereabouts are unknown, at least to his wife, and custody.

The Files forgery case was a famous one in the local courts. Frederick J. Files, who was made defendant in the divorce action yesterday, was both a forger and a promissory note for $250 on the City National bank in December 1909. He was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of forgery and when arraigned under the indictment he entered a plea of guilty. Judge Cant sentenced him to the reformatory.

Here the case would have ended had not Files decided before he had been committed that he wanted to change his plea of guilty and stand trial. This was consented to by former County Attorney John H. Norton and the court permitted the substitution of pleas. Later the case came on for trial. The jury disagreed. The case was dropped for the time and was finally dismissed on the motion of the county attorney on the grounds that the evidence available was not sufficient to warrant a conviction. The grand jury had returned two indictments against Files. Both counts were dismissed. Since his arrest Files had been out on bonds. When the prosecution dropped the case, Files was allowed his freedom.

Mrs. Files stood faithfully by her husband during the trouble and when the prosecution against him ceased it was agreed that they would go to Canada to start anew. Files left for Canada during the summer of 1912 and according to the divorce bill of Mrs. Files it was her intention to follow him. She claims, however, that he deserted her and he made no attempt to have her join him in Canada. His last known address in Canada was Espanola, Ont.

CHILD SUDDENLY STRICKEN

Seven-Year-Old Daughter of Victor Gran Dies at Ironwood.

While visiting relatives at Ironwood, Mich., Mildred Lillian Gran, the 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Gran, 719 East Second street, was taken suddenly ill with scarlet fever on Dec. 28 and died there last Sunday morning, after a week's illness. The body was brought to Duluth this morning and removed to the Crawford undertaking rooms.

The little girl had left Duluth the day following Christmas to spend the remainder of her school vacation with relatives at Ironwood and was apparently in good health. She had been in Ironwood only one week when she was stricken.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon from the Crawford undertaking rooms and interment will be at the Forest Hill cemetery.

TRY TO GET MARTHA WASHINGTON'S WILL

Virginia D. A. R. Learns It Is in the Morgan Collection.

Fairfax, Va., Jan. 6.—State Senator R. E. Thornton announced today that, acting at the request of officers of the Daughters of the American Revolution, he would ask the Virginia legislature to authorize the attorney general of that state to sue to recover the will of Martha Washington, now in the private collection of J. P. Morgan at New York. The will disappeared during the Fairfax courthouse fire near the Bull Run battlefield during the Civil war.

John S. Barbour of Falls Church, Va., a regent of the D. A. R., has placed in Senator Thornton's hands a copy of a letter he received from Belle Decosta Green, librarian for the late J. P. Morgan, declining to return the will to the archives of the courthouse.

Citizens of Virginia who have been searching for the will nearly fifty years, accidentally learned that it was in Mr. Morgan's collection last year.

MINE SAFER; MEN RETURN TO WORK.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 6.—The 840 union coal miners of the Pacific company's mine at Black Diamond returned to work yesterday, the conditions at which the men complained having been adjusted. PROTESTS DISCHARGE OF NEGRO EMPLOYEES

New York, Jan. 6.—Discrimination against the negro was the topic at the annual meeting of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, held here last night.

Oswald G. Villard, chairman of the board of directors of the organization, presided and was one of the principal speakers. He protested against the recent discharge of colored employees in the Federal service at Atlanta, Ga., and quoted the collector at that point as saying "that there was no place for a colored office holder in the South." He put the organization on

FIVE MORE WARM DAYS

And Weather Record of Forty-Three Years Will Be Broken.

Jan. 11 Is Latest "First Zero Day" in Duluth's History.

If the temperature in Duluth remains above the zero mark for five days more the "above-zero" weather for 1913 and 1914 will have broken all records of the local weather bureau for forty-three years.

Up to this time the temperature has failed to fall below 3 degs. above zero. Only one other year has the temperature made such a record. That was in 1889, when the mercury refused to fall below 3 degs. above zero. The temperature was 2 degs. below zero.

According to H. W. Richardson, local forecasting meteorologist, now on a record-breaking spell of warm weather. However, Mr. Richardson does not predict further ahead than tomorrow.

Mr. Richardson says the present winter compares with that of 1888 and 1889, and also to that of 1877, when the first zero weather was on Jan. 2. The temperature on that day was 4 below.

WOULD DISTRIBUTE ITS B. & O. STOCK

Union Pacific Committee Will Recommend Such Action.

New York, Jan. 6.—The executive committee of the Union Pacific Railroad company announced today that it would recommend the distribution among its stockholders of the Baltimore & Ohio stock owned by the company, valued at about $2,000,000, together with $3 per share in cash. Estimated on the present market value of the Baltimore & Ohio stock this is equivalent to an extra dividend of 33 per cent.

The executive committee will lay this recommendation before the board of directors which meets Thursday. It recommends also that if this distribution is carried out, the regular annual dividend be correspondingly reduced, that is, from 10 per cent to 8 per cent.

COSTS MORE TO RIDE TO SUBURB

The Northern Pacific road has raised its passenger fare from West Duluth and Spirit Lake stations to the Gary station, taking advantage of the fact that the fare to Gary is 5 cents less than the fare to West Duluth was 8 cents, but is now 12 cents.

The fare from Duluth is not affected. Under the present fare the road may no longer give a minimum rate of 5 cents for short distances, but may charge 3 cents for a straight fare to the Northern Pacific is doing in this case.

FOUNDERS AT DOCK AT BEAVER BAY

The fishing tug Mayflower, belonging to C. C. Noble of Duluth, foundered for some unknown reason while lying alongside of the dock at Beaver Bay yesterday. Only the captain's dog was lost. The owner was master of the tug.

The tug was forty-three feet long and was built in 1903. She has been used in the fishing business for years.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Interstate Commerce commission declined to transfer the hearing of the case of Magill & Co. of Fargo against the railroads to Fargo.

The action is to compel the railroads to grant Fargo the same rates as are given Moorhead, Minn., just across the Red river, Moorhead put its reduction in rates on Fargo a week ago and Fargo is contending the existing rates are entirely discriminatory and unfair.

MAY REFUSE NEW LICENSE

Saloon at Sixth Avenue Hotel May Go Out of Business.

Numerous Thefts at Place Stand in Way of a Renewal.

The reputation of the Sixth Avenue hotel as the scene of many robberies is likely to result in the failure of its proprietor, John Kerns, securing a renewal of his saloon license at 531 West Michigan street.

Kerns made application at yesterday's meeting of the city council for a renewal of his permit to sell intoxicants in the Michigan street room of the hotel. He was opposed by Commissioner W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division, for a number of reasons.

Before Commissioner Hicken makes any recommendations upon a saloon license, he must place on record an unfavorable reputation, robberies having been reported in its rooms at different times.

Weeks several men have reported the loss of their money there. The police, who are never shown any eagerness to aid them in apprehending the thieves. The probability is that Kerns' saloon will be out of business when its license expires next month.

The saloon of Mrs. Emil Johnson at 201 West Superior street, ordered closed after Dec. 31 by Commissioner Hicken under the state law, which decrees that saloon licenses are automatically annulled by the death of the licensee, will probably be re-opened by the transfer to a new owner.

An application for a transfer to that location of the saloon run by A. L. Brewer at 216 Central avenue, West Duluth, as Peterson's reputation is in his favor, the transfer will be recommended by the safety commissioner.

Mrs. Johnson, widow of the man who formerly conducted a saloon at that place, recently appeared before the council to ask that the transfer be made. She said that if this were done she would be able to get a fair price for the saloon, which would otherwise be almost a total loss which she could not afford.

TO FACE GRAND JURY.

Arnold Joerns, a former resident of Duluth who is engaged in the advertising business in Chicago, spent Sunday in the city visiting his father, W. O. Joerns.

F. Greenfield of New York is registered at the hotel. He is a resident of B. Blegman of Milwaukee is at the hotel.

M. J. Bell of Minneapolis is in the city. A. B. King of Minneapolis is at the hotel.

Robert O. Harwig of Milwaukee is at the Spalding.

John Williams of Virginia is in the city.

E. T. Sands of St. Paul is at the hotel.

W. F. Fitch of Marquette is at the Spalding.

A. Saunders of Ashland is at the McKay.

J. Smith of Grand Rapids is at the McKay.

T. W. Burns of Crookston is at the Lenox.

A. T. Kelley of Cass Lake is at the Lenox.

NEIL McINNIS HEADS BOARD

Is Re-elected for the Fourth Time By the County Commissioners.

Neil McInnis of Eveleth, county commissioner from the Seventh commissioner district, was re-elected for the fourth time chairman of the county board at its annual meeting this afternoon.

Alex Fraser of this city, commissioner from the First district, was re-elected for the fourth time vice chairman of the board.

Chairman McInnis announced that there would be no changes in the personnel of the standing committees of the board, which will be as follows for the ensuing year:

Highways and Bridges—Fraser, Tischer, Swenson, McMahon, Kauppi, McInnis, O'Neill.

Chinings and Accounts—Kauppi, McInnis, O'Neill.

Taxes and Assessments—O'Neill, Kauppi, Swenson, McMahon, Fraser, Tischer, Kauppi.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS PROGRAM OF BONSPIEL

Eight Trophy Events Exclusive of Grand Aggregate Are Scheduled.

Play Will Begin at 10 a. m. Monday—Banquet Wednesday Night.

The program of the twenty-first annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association was completed today. The complete program of the week calls for eight special prizes and the first draw will start, according to the program, at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

The first event of the program is the Duluth Curling club trophy.

Following are the various individual prizes and the conditions governing the competition:

First event—Duluth Curling club trophy.

First prize—Four Colt's Automatic pistols, 32 calibre.

Second prize—Four pairs Kay's "Excelsior" Red Bone curling stones.

Third prize—Four gentlemen's walrus traveling bags.

Fourth prize—Four solid silver cheese holders.

Conditions—Open to all rinks affiliating with regularly organized curling associations, either in the United States or Canada.

St. Paul Event.

Second in the list of events is the St. Paul Curling trophy. Following are the individual prizes that go to the members of the winning rinks and the conditions governing the competition:

First prize—Four hand decorated ladies' boudoir electric lamps.

Second prize—Four pairs 8-inch 2-buckle tan sports shoes.

Third prize—Four solid brass adjustable smoker stands, glass receivers.

Fourth prize—Four silver plated shaving stands.

The above prizes are presented by the Capital City and Nushka Curling clubs of St. Paul, Minn.

Conditions—Open to all rinks affiliating with regularly organized curling associations, either in the United States or Canada.

Minneapolis Event.

The Minneapolis Curling club trophy is the third event listed on the program. Following are the prizes and conditions under which the trophy will be competed for:

First prize—Four large solid mahogany clocks.

Second prize—Four solid brass smoking sets.

Third prize—Four imported art pieces.

Fourth prize—Four etched glass vases.

Open to all rinks affiliating with regularly organized curling associations, either in the United States or Canada.

Western Club Event.

As the fourth event in the handsome trophy of the Western Curling club prize of this city will be played for. Following are the individual prizes and conditions:

First prize—Four reversible leather hunting coats.

Second prize—Four gentlemen's traveling sets in leather cases.

Third prize—Four gold-plated auto-top safety razors in cases.

Fourth prize—Four thermos bottles in leather cases.

Conditions—Open to all rinks affiliating with regularly organized curling clubs in the United States and Canada.

Consolation.

Coming fifth in the list of events is the consolation trophy, presented by the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce. Following are the individual prizes and conditions governing the competition:

First prize—Four Winchester carbines (any caliber).

Second prize—Four burnished copper chafing dishes.

Third prize—Four ladies' manicure sets in leather cases.

Fourth prize—Four pairs gentlemen's fur-lined Mocha gloves or mittens.

The play in this event will be restricted by allowing only such rinks to enter it as shall have been defeated in the first draws, including preliminaries in at least one of the first, second and third events.

The International.

The International trophy for which was donated by Louis Hill, is the sixth event. Following are the individual prizes and the conditions of the competition:

First prize—Four Sheffield silver turkey platters.

Second prize—Four Sheffield silver serving dishes.

CONDITIONS.

1.—The complete program in the first stage shall be open to all Canadian rinks at the bonspiel, who will be opposed by an equal number of rinks selected from among the American rinks entered at the bonspiel.

2.—At least four Canadian rinks must enter to insure competition in the first stage, but in the event of failure, it will become an open event to every rink at the bonspiel, inclusive of Canadian.

3.—If the Canadians win in the first stage, they shall play down for the trophy and prizes at Duluth until the winning rink is determined. Twelve ends shall be played in each stage of the event.

4.—If won by the Americans, it shall be played down by all American rinks.

at the bonspiel who desire to play in the event.

The Ordway.

Standing seventh on the list is the Ordway trophy. Following are the individual prizes for the winning players and the conditions of competition:

First prize—Four diamond brooches.

Second prize—Four silver sandwich trays.

Conditions—The play in this event restricted to rinks affiliated with regularly organized clubs of Minnesota outside of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth. This trophy presented by L. P. Ordway of St. Paul and to be competed for annually. Prizes become the absolute property of the winning rinks.

Patrick-Duluth Trophy.

The Patrick-Duluth trophy is the last event on the program. Following are the individual prizes and the conditions of competition:

First prize—Four "Bigger-Than-Weather" Patriotics.

Second prize—Four "Bigger-Than-Weather" robes.

Third prize—Four "Bigger-Than-Weather" Patriotics.

Fourth prize—Four pairs of "Bigger-Than-Weather" Patriotic socks.

Conditions—Open to all rinks affiliating with regularly organized curling associations, either in the United States or Canada.

Grand Aggregate.

Prizes for the winning of the grand aggregate prize and conditions are as follows:

First prize—Four gold medals—Curling design.

Second prize—Four gentlemen's solid gold Cairngorm stick pins—Ornate design. Four silver medals—Curling design.

Conditions—This is based on the actual number of games won (not including forfeits) in the three open competitions—the first, second and third events.

Entertainment Program.

The international, one of the big events of the year, will be played on Wednesday afternoon, starting at 1 o'clock. The annual banquet will be held Wednesday evening at the Commercial club and there will be no games scheduled for that evening. At that time the annual meeting of the time for the election of officers will be held and the bonspiel awarded for next year.

Following are the officers and general committees of the bonspiel:

President, Charles A. Duncan, Duluth, Minn.; first vice president, G. B. Reed, Phillips, Wis.; second vice president, Dr. R. C. Ogilvie, Superior, Wis.; secretary, F. W. Hargreaves, Duluth, Minn.; executive committee, Otto Knabe, Duluth; Frank Wade, West Duluth; Dr. C. B. Lenont, Virginia; Walter C. Boehler, Minneapolis; Dr. L. D. Nelson, St. Paul.

Official umpire—S. A. Johnson.

LIBERAL WITH HIM.

Knabe Says Federals Have Given Him Half His Money Already.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 6.—"The Baltimore stockholders treated me very liberally and I can't lose out," said E. Otto Knabe when he returned early today from Baltimore, where he signed a contract to manage the Federal league baseball team there.

"I have half my money now," he said.

Asked if he would sign any players of the Philadelphia National league team of which he has been a member for several years, Knabe said he could not talk about the team at the moment.

"I have half my money at my disposal to get players," he said.

BALL PLAYERS MOVING IN SELECT SOCIETY

Melbourne, Australia, Jan. 6.—The American baseball teams now visiting here are being officially welcomed by the Lord Mayor of Melbourne at the town hall today. Most of the prominent players of the city were present.

This afternoon Lord Denman governor general of the dominion of Australia, and Lady Denman entertained the American and Australian teams in the grounds of Government house.

Amending Scoring Rules.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 6.—Members of the Baseball Writers' League of America are now voting on a number of changes in the scoring rules, the most important of which is a "Cincinnati base hit." Batters are being required to be on base when a "Cincinnati base hit" is scored.

That today the "Cincinnati" proposition was leading by a slight margin. Announcement of the vote will be made next week.

NIGHT SCHOOL HAS RESUMED

Y. M. C. A. Begins Second Half of School Year

With Large Class.

The Y. M. C. A. night school reopened last night with a large attendance. The following classes convened: Algebra, business arithmetic, mechanical drafting and shop mathematics. Other classes that will resume their classes are: Architectural drafting, bookkeeping, business English, electricity, penmanship, plan reading and estimating, shorthand and typewriting.

Such other classes will hold their first session of the new year on Wednesday night. One of these is the course of lectures in chemistry given in connection with the course in the value process of oxyacetylene welding and cutting of metals; another is the show card writing class. Very excellent work is reported from this class this year and new students are already enrolled to begin tomorrow night.

The second class in mechanical drawing and regular architectural drawing will reopen this evening. The instruction in these courses is strictly individual. This enables men to enter the class at any time without disadvantage.

WILL INVESTIGATE STORM DISASTERS

Cause for Losses of Men and Ships Will Be Determined.

Port Huron, Mich., Jan. 6.—Capt. C. H. Westcott, Detroit, supervising inspector of steam vessels in the eighth district has arrived here and directed the United States local inspectors to begin an investigation of conditions attending great loss of ships and men in the storm of Nov. 9.

He is expected to cover a wide scope, and some of the matters to be taken up are as follows: Weather conditions, force of winds, whether vessels became unmanageable and turned around or were turned back by order of the officer in charge; whether steamer was provided with deep sea sounding apparatus, and if so, what type; type of hatches, whether hatches were provided with strong backs, if not, whether strong backs should be required; whether water entered the ship's hold through the hatches; what trouble, if any, was experienced in holding the hatch covers intact; if any hatch covers were broken and carried away; or any part of the upper works carried away.

Type and conditions of life boats and number of each; in what part of ship were lifeboats and lifeboats carried; had it become necessary to leave the steamer at any time during the storm, could lifeboats have been successfully launched; if lifeboats stowed aft could not have been successfully launched, why not; could they have been successfully launched if stowed forward on the ship; during the height of the storm, would it have been possible for one steamer to render assistance to another in distress; were steamer provided with wireless apparatus, if so, was it operated?

Revenue Cutter Freed.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 6.—The revenue cutter Androscoogin, which went aground near Cove Point in Chesapeake bay, about seventy-five miles from Baltimore, during a gale yesterday, was put afloat in the afternoon by the cutter Apache. No damage had been done, but a thorough examination will be made. The Androscoogin had just left the repair dock here for Portland, Me., to be assigned to patrol duty.

RAIN WATER CARRIED AS "COAL" IN SHIP

Testimony Given at Western Fuel Company Trial.

San Francisco, Jan. 6.—The trial of eight officers and employees of the Western Fuel company, who are under indictment charged with having defrauded the government out of large sums in customs dues through false weighing of coal, has been resumed after adjournment of over the holidays.

William Chisholm, marine superintendent of the Pacific Mail company, called by the government, testified in regard to one specific complaint—that of the chief engineer of the steamer Siberia—it was found that the liner's bunkers contained 100 tons of rain water. This amount of water had been checked off as coal tonnage, he said.

In order to account for the underweight, Chisholm testified that the Siberia's engineer had added seven tons daily to his trip coal consumption log.

In another case, that of the engineer of the Pacific Mail liner Manchuria, a shortage of 123 tons in coal weights was accounted for by entering the item in his log as "port consumption." It was testified.

Testimony was given that the steamship company's employees had been furnished coal free for home consumption, and were given Christmas presents of money.

BRING CATTLE ACROSS BORDER

New Tariff Law Starts a Heavy Movement From Canada.

The tremendous movement of live cattle and dressed meats from Canada to this country which followed the going into effect of the new tariff bill, is shown by figures just issued by the Dominion livestock commissioner.

During October alone no less than 35,000 live cattle and 6,000,000 pounds of dressed meats were brought into the United States from Canada. During November the quantity was slightly decreased but Canada again provided the largest proportion of the American cattle and meats imports. In December the Canadian imports fell off very materially on account of Canadian supplies having been depleted and the sharp advance in prices up there.

Of the cattle provided by Canada, the best quality, it is admitted, came from the West, fat two-year-olds being numbered among the animals brought over. The majority of the imports from Western Canada were stockers and feeders, few fat cattle fit for immediate slaughter, being included.

It is stated that large quantities of the lower grades of wheat are being used for feed in the three Western Canadian provinces at present. That development has been brought about through the scarcity of feeds, and the saving of freight costs that would be entailed through bringing them in from outside points.

POLICE LOSE $1,000.

Mandan Officers Let Man Go for Whom That Amount Was Offered.

Mandan, N. D., Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local officials are puffed that they overlooked a $1,000 reward. They had Maurice de la Cour in prison for a petty larceny offense for some time, and now learned he is wanted for robbery of the American Express company. The card describing him arrived here several weeks ago and was placed on the wall of the local express office. Almost immediately an infrequently used coat was hung on a nail over the card, concealing it from view. The local chief of police happened to see the card and immediately recognized the man wanted. He made a hurry-up trip to the county jail but found the pris-er had recently been discharged and started west.

BRAINERD IS VOTING ON COMMISSION FORM

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The voters of Brainerd today are expressing their will through the ballot upon the adoption of a commission form charter. The closing meeting of the campaign was held last night with Former Alderman Watson S. Moore of Duluth as the principal speaker for the charter while Socialist speakers opposed it. A heavy vote is expected as the campaign has been warm.

Badger Military Appointments.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 6.—Hubert W. Quilling of Menomonie was appointed yesterday first lieutenant of infantry; Marshall Cousins of Eau Claire, major of infantry; Percy C. Atkinson, captain of infantry, to succeed Cousins; of infantry to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of the commanding officer, Charles A. Cross of Hudson was reappointed court reporter for Judge George Thompson.

Would Deport Swearer.

Mandan, N. D., Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—An effort was made to deport George Woods, alias Thomas, under arrest here for using obscene language in the presence of little girls. He seems to be mentally unbalanced. The prisoner recently arrived from England and may be sent back there.

TEN YEARS OF THE PUBLIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE.

At the regular monthly meeting of the public affairs committee of the Duluth Commercial club Thursday evening, the tenth anniversary of that amazingly useful and lively institution will be celebrated.

The anniversary is indeed one worth observing, and the best way to observe it is by an accounting of what the public affairs committee has done in the decade of its existence.

This committee is the standing army, the committee of the whole with power to act, the executive agency, of the Commercial club and of the community. Not a worthy civic movement in Duluth in the decade has lacked the hearty and effective support of this organization. Indeed, the fact is that these ten years, and particularly the last half of the period, have constituted the most momentous period in the history of Duluth, and that the history of Duluth's developments and achievements in that time is very largely the history of the public affairs committee.

Two movements, both initiated by the public affairs committee, stand side by side as the two most important things—not even excepting the coming of the new steel plant—that have happened to this city in all its years.

These movements are the breaking of the system of preferential freight rates and service that robbed Duluth of its heritage, and the fostering of agricultural development in this section.

The first is largely an accomplished fact—the second well on its way to accomplishment.

Duluth's victories over the system of preferences that hampered its growth are too recent to need relating in detail.

The systematic development of the territory surrounding Duluth was initiated by the public affairs committee. This is none the less true because men like John G. Williams, Charles P. Craig, C. G. Hartley and others had pioneered on a large scale and had blazed the trail. Among the movements akin to this in which the public affairs committee took part, were the following:

The county agricultural agent movement in this state.

The creation of the Northern Minnesota Development association, in the organization and maintenance of which the club has taken a leading and active part.

The establishment of the Duluth demonstration farm.

The potato special, later the agricultural special, an idea which has been adopted by the railroads of Minnesota and other states.

The establishment of Northeastern Minnesota as one of the greatest potato-raising sections in the country.

The increase of dairying in Northeastern Minnesota.

The advancing of the home garden and homecroft idea in Duluth.

The establishment in Northeastern Minnesota of a district agricultural organization, with A. B. Hostetter, formerly the club's superintendent of agriculture, in charge as supervisor.

All this work began in 1908 with the employment of Mr. Hostetter, an extraordinarily capable man for such work, as the club's agricultural expert.

These two movements, both fundamental since Duluth's development must in a large degree hinge upon the development of its surrounding soil and upon a fair structure of freight rates, are only the most important. Others there are, altogether too numerous even for mention in the space at hand. The subject is treated more in detail elsewhere in this issue.

But among the constructive activities of the public affairs committee might be mentioned the following: Good roads agitation, and development work generally; rivers and harbors development; an aggressive and effective campaign for new industries for Duluth; watchfulness of legislation adversely affecting Duluth's interests; close attention to municipal matters, and active co-operation with public officials; a better adjustment of fire insurance rates in 1904; delivery of express packages outside the delivery limits of the companies, obtained in 1908; support of the commission plan of city government; support of the downtown courthouse and the civic grouping plan that accompanied it; support of the city and county work farm plan; support of parks and playgrounds; enterprising and successful publicity work; a series of highly valuable trade extension excursions; co-operation in the organization of the Associated Charities, the remedial loan association, free legal aid, etc.; suggestions for smoke prevention; "Seeing Duluth" excursions which enlarged the civic education of many citizens; co-operation in the strikingly successful industrial expositions, etc.

Congratulations to the public affairs committee on attaining the tenth anniversary of its remarkably vigorous and useful career!

Congratulations to the Commercial club for organizing and financing an instrument of such vast usefulness!

Congratulations to the city for the public spirit, the indomitable purpose and the zeal and confidence which inspired, directed and carried to success these many efforts for the common welfare and for the growth and glory and many-sided well-being of all the people of Duluth!

New York wants a regional reserve bank big enough to dominate all the other reserve banks. New York never was noted for immodest modesty.

DULUTH, THE FAVORED OF PROVIDENCE.

Last summer it was drouth here and there, unbearably hot weather almost everywhere—and ample, life-giving rains and ideal summer weather in Duluth.

This winter there is, to quote the Louisville Courier-Journal, "skating in Paris, snow all over Northern England, waves fifty feet high breaking upon Finisterre, leaden skies and frozen ground in Kentucky. Another 'old-fashioned winter.'"

But in Duluth it is mild, equable and wholesome; with no below-zero weather yet, and with just enough snow for our needs.

Truly, summer or winter, Duluth is favored of Providence.

In his swing around the Copper country it might be remarked that the Michigan governor will find the weather unpropitious for using the Ferris wheel.

WHAT IT WOULD COST TO HAVE A REGIONAL BANK AT MINNEAPOLIS.

The Herald has declared its belief that the best interests of the Northwest under the new banking law will be served by attaching it to a strong district with a regional bank at Chicago rather than to a relatively weak district with a regional bank at Minneapolis.

Since the measure of the usefulness of a reserve bank—and therefore of the new system itself—is its capacity to absorb commercial paper as a basis for credits, and since the measure of a regional bank's capacity to do this is the deposits of its member banks, obviously the strongest regional banks, and therefore the most useful, will be those having the largest number of strong member banks.

This is axiomatic; and it is also axiomatic that communities which become a part of relatively weak reserve districts and dependent upon relatively weak regional banks will be more or less handicapped in the nationwide competition for commercial and industrial supremacy.

The issue before the Northwest, then, is simply this: Does it wish to get the full benefits of the new banking law by becoming a part of a strong regional bank at Chicago with ample resources and credits, or does it wish to sacrifice the greater part of these benefits by becoming a part of a relatively weak regional bank at Minneapolis?

Of what would a reserve district consist with Minneapolis as its center? A glance at the map is enough to satisfy anyone that neither Wisconsin nor Iowa would be a part of that district, and that both would naturally be joined to the Chicago district, as both would insist on being. This is particularly emphasized by the extreme probability that both Ohio and Indiana will go to a district with Cincinnati as its center, leaving east of Chicago only Michigan to be assigned to the Chicago district.

What, then, is left for a Minneapolis district? Minnesota, of course, and the Dakotas and Montana—possibly Nebraska or Wyoming. There is certainly only Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana.

Now such a district, though potentially rich and in time likely to become actually rich enough to form a strong district, would be for a long time to come one of the weakest districts in the country, if not the weakest; and it would, therefore, have one of the weakest regional banks.

To favor creating such a district means deliberately to sacrifice the chief benefits of the new banking system. To compel any community in that district to come under it means to force it to forego the advantages of belonging to a district with ample resources and credit facilities.

Does the Northwest want such a district? DOES MINNEAPOLIS WANT SUCH A DISTRICT?

Certainly Duluth does not want such a district. Certainly every community in the Northwest which considers its own best interests and the best interests of all parts of the Northwest, including the Twin Cities themselves, will wish to be a part of and get the heavy benefits of such a strong regional bank as can be built up at Chicago with the Northwest added to its territory.

It would be pleasant to have our neighbor city on the Mississippi in a position to advertise itself as a district reserve center, but it would cost the Northwest too much.

The Industrial Workers of the World have boycotted the free eating house at San Francisco. Which would seem to be about the last word in virtuous self-denial.

MODEST NEW YORK.

New York doesn't want very much in the application of the new banking law—merely a district to include as much of the country and as much of the country's banking resources as it can get; say about fifty per cent of the whole.

All New York cares for is a reserve district that will overshadow and dwarf and cramp all the rest of the country; that by the attraction of its mighty bulk will draw to it financial domination and control; that will make the country its financial vassal, a mere tail to its financial kite.

That's all. New York doesn't care about anything beyond that, being modest and reasonable to a degree that sets a high example for all men and cities.

So it was rude of Dr. Willis, the expert adviser of the house banking and currency committee in the drafting of the bill, to say that the law will work best if each district is made as strong and useful—and usefulness will be proportionate to strength—as possible, and that no harm will be done if no district is larger or stronger than its neighbor districts.

But Dr. Willis is talking sense, nevertheless.

If Wisconsin's eugenic marriage law saves half the trouble later on that it is making in its first few days, it will prove well worth while.

THE CITY AND THE SNOW.

By the way—it is a little belated but that is not so grievous an error as it would be to overlook it altogether—we hear many pleasant comments on the way the city handled the recent snowfall, and on the alacrity with which its snowplows cleared the walks in the residence districts.

Snow plows operated by the city have worked before, but surely never so quickly or so effectively as on this first snowfall under the commission plan. They were at it early the morning following the snow, and they got their work done with every block in four sides and that there are many blocks in the city.

There is credit in this for the commission and for Commissioner Murchison. If this work keeps up at the pace thus set, there is going to be a good deal of praise, and it is going to be well deserved.

The Roseau Region says Minnesota is dominated by "an invisible government." Tut! tut! Ed came back from Europe some time ago.

A GREAT LOSS AND A GREAT OPPORTUNITY.

Warden Wolf of the state penitentiary has announced his intention to resign during this year. That's a great loss to the state.

Here is an official of rare efficiency and of many-sided usefulness. During his administration of the state prison not only have there been no scandals of any kind, no hint of graft or waste or brutality, but there has been a very uncommon degree of smoothness of operation and of high efficiency. The prison has been exceptionally well managed, and it has been an intricate task because of the development there of large industrial enterprises like the shoe plant, the binding twine plant and now the agricultural machinery plant. There are few if any prison wardens with such a record, and few if any states with prisons having reputations so uniformly admirable. The loss of Warden Wolf is, therefore, a great one.

But this great loss offers the state a great opportunity—the opportunity of putting a good man in a place of use and of righting a grievous wrong which is yet unrighted.

Rumor reaches us from St. Paul that the powers that be are considering Superintendent Reed of the St. Cloud reformatory for Mr. Wolf's place. Mr. Reed's record is good, and there is much to recommend this appointment.

If it is made, a vacancy will be created at St. Cloud, and that vacancy should by all means be filled by the appointment of Frank A. Whittier, former superintendent of the state training school at Red Wing, but now employed at the state prison.

This is the state's high opportunity to right a great wrong and at the same time put the right man in the right place.

Mr. Whittier was scourged from his place at Red Wing by the lash of political intrigue. There will be few today that will question this. The specific charge on which he was attacked was that he whipped some of the boys in his charge—boys so bad that parents, friends and courts had given them up and abandoned them to the care of the state; boys so bad that the man put in Whittier's place has declared that it is impossible to manage them without corporal punishment.

Nobody dared question Mr. Whittier's efficiency as an administrator of correctional work. The attack upon him was on the trumped-up charge that he had administered corporal punishment to unruly boys in his care; a charge which subsequent events have proved only to be another tribute to his efficiency.

That wrong never has been righted. Though there probably is not a man in the state today who would not admit that Whittier's humiliation was a rank injustice, it still stands on the record; Minnesota has never withdrawn its charges, never has corrected its mistake, never has made its wrong good except by giving its victim a humble place in its employ, one far beneath his capacities and his desires.

That Mr. Whittier would be a good man, and the right man, for the St. Cloud place, no man or woman who has had to do with him in an official capacity will honestly question. Therefore his appointment to St. Cloud in the event that Superintendent Reed steps into Warden Wolf's place would be not only an act of belated justice, but the right thing to do in the interest of a sound administration of the reformatory.

After reading the latest production of the new British poet laureate, a writer in a Chicago paper apologizes for all the mean things he has written about Alfred Austin. Wonder how the sons of the widow will like that?

In the Copper Country

New York World: The situation in that section of the free state of Michigan which the Calumet & Hecla Copper Mining company long ago reserved to itself is fully described elsewhere in this issue.

It is a story made familiar to Americans in the accounts that they have received of industrial and social conditions at other seats of what is called protected labor. Here, as formerly in the anthracite region of Pennsylvania and the bituminous district of West Virginia, the tendency has been steadily toward oppression.

American labor displaced by foreigners imported for the purpose; wages low and hours long; arbitrary rules and restrictions designed particularly to discourage or defeat organization; political control by non-residents amounting to feudalism, and a narrow-minded, bigoted, and unscrupulous attitude toward the workers.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—When Senator Gore of Oklahoma was a small boy of 8 or 9, he started to take up flying as a pursuit. If he had not lost his eyesight shortly after that, he might be a devotee to aeronautics even now. He read a lot of Sunday school leaflets about the power of faith to move mountains, Gore got to wondering one day if flying wasn't largely a mere matter of faith. He believed he could fly, and believing he could fly, he set out to do a little flying and chuckled over the way he would surprise his parents when they saw him come soaring over the barn and fitting from tree to tree. He set his mind to the proposition, and in a little while had himself convinced beyond the shadow of a doubt that his faith-volition would be a complete triumph.

One little detail of the arrangements involved the matter of wings. He thought a suitable equipment of wings would increase his faith in his enterprise and help to make it a success. But the only light, airy material he could find about the place that would do for wings was a quantity of corn fodder. That might not be the ideal stuff for wings, but it would do nicely, Gore believed, as the whole operation was simply a matter of faith anyhow. He made two sizeable bundles of the fodder, bound them up with kindling, and carried them to the top of a gnarled apple tree. Then he deftly inserted his arms into the fodder, thus providing plain, substantial wings, and poised ready for the flight. For a moment he was tempted to call his parents and let them have the pleasure of seeing him float out into space, but he decided first to make a little practice flight over the top of the house and back. He leaned a little forward, as nearly like a bird as he could, and cast himself out into the atmosphere.

After they had carried him into the house and summoned a doctor, they asked him how he happened to be in the apple tree.

"I'm just giving you a friendly tip," said the janitor. "If you get through in an hour all will be well. If you take longer—well, you'll see."

After he got well launched into his speech, Gore forgot all about the janitor's remarks, and he was still going when the clock showed that he had talked an hour and five minutes. About that time the crowd began to notice that the lamps were burning low. Burke drew his address to a close, but before the church was emptied, the place was in total darkness.

Then the janitor returned to Burke's side.

"I hope you won't take any offense," he began, "but you know they've got an awful long-winded preacher here and some of the young folks have an idea that you're just a little late."

"I don't quite understand," put in Burke, "are you to say how long I shall speak?"

"I'm just giving you a friendly tip," said the janitor. "If you get through in an hour all will be well. If you take longer—well, you'll see."

Duluth and The Herald

Bouquets and Brickbats from the State Press.

Improving Partisanship.
St. Cloud Journal-Free: The Duluth Herald labels a recent editorial "Free" in extra large type. The Herald goes on to say that the shackles have been knocked into kingdom come from the industries of the country by the Democratic tariff bill, and that the currency bill will do a like service for the business of the country, and that now every body is "free, free, free." Let us hope that free soup houses will not be included in this list of freedom, although thousands and thousands of willing workers are now free to enjoy life if they can without a job.

Such as This Is Reward Enough.
Owatonna Tribune: Alone of the papers in the largest cities of Minnesota the people of the rest of the state have but one friend, The Duluth Herald. The Herald is constantly working for the betterment of the conditions existing in the government of Minnesota and is doing much to force a square deal towards all.

Some Are Made Goats, Too.
Minneapolis Tribune: The Duluth Herald wants to prohibit the killing of any antlered deer, on the ground that this would protect hunters—who do not wear antlers. How about the Elks?

N. D. Always Is Progressive.
 Fargo Forum: In a recent editorial The Duluth Herald said: After surveying the statistics of the hunting season, The Herald feels pretty thoroughly converted to the cause of the rest of the state have the game laws amended to limit the kill to two antlered deer. This kind of a law is already in effect in North Dakota. When it again becomes lawful to hunt deer in this state, only the antlered kind may be shot.

Progress Is Needed.
Grand Rapids Independent: The Duluth Herald and other papers are urging the adoption of a new Constitution for the government of Minnesota. As Farm, Stock and Home puts it, the Constitution under which Minnesota is now working was made to fit the needs of another generation. The agitation is timely and well advised. What would folks think of a big daily newspaper trying to run its edition on an old hand press of 1850's type? Minnesota should be as progressive as its institutions.

Why Think of the Morrow?
Princeton Union: "Is there any difference between 'tango' and 'tang'?" asks The Duluth Herald. "If you dance the tango you are very likely to have a tang in your mouth the next morning."

But Duluth Doesn't Yet.
Breckenridge Telegram: The city of Duluth makes the best possible use of the privilege of using the public streets. The streets belong to the people and whenever they are needed for advertising purposes of this nature the people should be paid for the privilege, in Breckenridge as well as Duluth.

Not a Bad Idea.
Bagley Herald: The Duluth Herald of a few days back reported that most of the traveling men had arrived in the city to spend their annual holiday vacation. The traveling salesmen in Northern Minnesota have to be near by day and night in order to make their territory within the time limited to them, and they deserve more than one vacation during the year. They should have a semi-annual vacation.

The Duluth houses should get together and give the boys an excursion to Thief River Falls during the N. M. D. A. mid-summer convention. In the they would meet many of Duluth's best customers, and a love feast with the boys would do the north country and Duluth much good.

"Don't Be Blue"

Philadelphia Telegraph (Rep.): This is the business watchword for 1914, given by Hon. John W. Wamamaker at the Union League's New Year celebration yesterday.

It is founded upon a careful review of an unusually long business experience by a man of large vision and commanding executive ability. It is, therefore, worth heeding. Besides, it is good red-blooded advice and therefore worth following.

The tariff and currency laws just put into operation are to some extent experiments. But the refusal to recognize the president and his cabinet as the national government because they are Democrats does not stamp a man as either a loyal Republican or a loyal citizen. It simply stamps him as a rebel against lawfully constituted authority.

Similarly to refuse to co-operate in a hearty manner to make both tariff and currency laws effective and efficient instruments of national welfare, just because they have been enacted by a Democratic congress, does not stamp a man as either a good Republican or a good American. It simply stamps him as either a fool or a knave, or perhaps both.

The advice given by Mr. Wamamaker is as needed as it is timely. We are Americans, interested in the prosperity of our country as well as in our own welfare. Our party affiliations should be subordinate to our patriotism and always secondary, as but means to the end desired.

Our present national policies have been decreed for us, and by us, under the system of representative government, to which we all owe allegiance. Whatever effect fundamental natural economic principles shall have upon their working out remains to be seen. But the paramount issue before us all as Americans, is neither to decree their failure beforehand nor to plot their destruction underhand, but to promote their efficient administration to the greatest good of the greatest number.

And above all things, as critics or constructors, "Don't Be Blue."

An Old One, Revamped.
Judge: "I say, my friend," called the motorist to the farmer, as he drew up alongside of the field, "I'm looking for a decent road to take me into Squiggleville."

"I'm darned glad to hear it," replied the farmer. "If ye happen to find it, stranger, send me a tellygram, will ye?"

THE OPEN COURT

Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though they need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.

A SUGGESTION.

To the Editor of The Herald: There seems to be a spirit of dissatisfaction with reference to the public skating rinks in our city. As we know the small schoolboys all over the city have charge of these free rinks. This means a lot of work on their part. Now, I wish to mention one thing, which I thought would relieve conditions once in a while. Whenever there is a large snowfall, as we had recently, the rinks become full of snow, thereby causing great inconvenience, and as the boys only have a short time after school in which to work on the rinks, it would take them several days to remove the snow. Now, then, whenever a large amount of snow falls, why not have the chain gang give the boys a helping hand once in a while to relieve conditions? Hoping that this suggestion will be considered, and thanking you for your valuable space, I remain, respectfully,

UNFAIR TO TENANT.

To the Editor of The Herald: My water bill for December amounted to $3.85. Added to same was a further bill for seventy odd dollars for replacing water service from curb to main and repairing pavement. For reasons which I presume he regards sufficient the owner of the property has disputed the fairness of this $80 bill and has not paid same. If I do not pay this bill I understand the city water department has the right to shut off my water. I have offered to pay my $3.85, but it is refused. I am told that courts have upheld this procedure. I believe this is a species of strong-armed methods that the citizens of this city would not approve if given a chance by ballot and I write this to enter my protest against such methods. If a tenant does not pay his water rates he should lose his privileges. If an owner of property does not pay a just bill, sue him as any business man would collect his bills, and enforce lien against his property. I do not believe there would be enough such cases to increase the expenses of the department to any large extent and believe that citizens in general would rather have such expenses paid by general tax. I do not believe public sentiment approves putting any man on the grill to force his landlord to pay a bill with which the tenant has no concern.

THE HOUSING CODE AND WHERE IT HITS.

To the Editor of The Herald: More than a year ago, and before the housing code was passed by the city council, it was claimed that this monstrous legislation was needed in Duluth for the purpose of preventing abuses in arrangements of rooms and lighting facilities in apartment and tenement houses to be constructed in this city. Very few people then knew that this ordinance was the most vicious piece of legislation that had ever come before us. It was claimed by those in office that it would "hurt nobody," that the dear working man would be able to build a house plenty big enough for himself and family on his 25-foot lot, etc. We were informed at the building inspector's office that long ago that the man that cannot build a house to suit himself on a 25-foot lot is at liberty to buy more land. Pleasant information to a poor man, is it not? But let us see how much of a house we can build on a poor man's lot.
If you will make an investigation you will find that more than 75 per cent of the working men's homes in this or any other city are of the one and one-half story class, that is, with studdings 12 or 14 feet in height. A house twenty feet in width is about the widest that any man can build on a 25-foot lot, allowing proper room for roof corners. As it is impossible under the provisions of our housing code to build more than two rooms in length (with such width) we would have to limit our house to 25 or 28 feet in length. This permits of a fair arrangement of the rooms on the first floor. It is on the second floor, where the man with a story and a half proposition on a 25-foot lot is caught. The ordinance reads that all living rooms and toilet rooms and bathrooms must have windows facing to the rear yard, front yard or to a "court" on the side of the building not less than five feet from the lot line. In our story and a half house we can have only two rooms on the second floor, one at each end of the building. Where will we place the toilet or bathroom? We cannot build a dormer or gable on the side along the lot line to accommodate a window for the bathroom, because we have not five feet to the lot line.

Therefore, one of the large rooms must be sacrificed for the toilet room. The whole substance is that under the present provisions of the housing code the "dear working man" can only get one bedroom and a toilet room on the second floor of his home, and this is considered to be enough for the working man and his family by the building and housing inspectors of our city today.

The G. O. P. and the South

(By Saturday.)

Washington, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The G. O. P. through its national committee met in this town the other day and went through its grand old stunt of a reconstruction of the South. All the days of its life, now nearly three score years, the Republican party has been a sectional organization. Its conduct in its struggle with Andy Johnson showed that its then great leaders—the greater blunders—did not court any support from the men of the South who were the cream of the Southern people. The proposal, open and notorious, was that the G. O. P. should carry the South by the negro vote and the North by appeals to hatred of treason and devotion to patriotism as they called it. They reckoned without the Southern white man, who seized the government of his state with the spring of a tiger and has held on to it with the grip of a bulldog.
Lincoln was the greatest Republican; he knew that his party, to be patriotic and noble, must be national, and hence he forced the nomination of Andy Johnson, a Southern man, a war-demonstrator, for vice president in 1864, over Hannibal Hamlin, who had been a Northern Democrat. We like it true that Gen. Jackson and Mr. Calhoun, both Southerners and both natives of South Carolina, were elected president and vice president in 1828, both carried many Northern states and their election was not sectional.
But in 1860 Lincoln and Hamlin were elected president and vice president without receiving a single vote in the electoral college south of Mason and Dixon line. A thousand times our patriots and sages had predicted that such an event would bring revolution and plunge the country in blood, which it did. With a sagacity infallible Lincoln determined to cure that condition and had he lived his party would have been national and possibly immortal.

And the Hon. William E. Chandler, a sort of improvised and altogether ridiculous and malicious Cato, was here the other day to attend the interment of the Republican party. He advised that the thing could be resurrected by again putting the bayonet to the throat of the South. Mr. Chandler told his party to make the enforcement of the Fifteenth amendment at the South the political paramount, which is to say that at least three Southern states shall be turned over to the government of the negro, and thus we would have San Domingo in Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina. Nor is that all, for other Southern states would be put under bayonet rule, notably old Virginia and Arkansas.
The Republican leaders have too much wisdom to pay any attention to the ravings of Chandler. The G. O. P. long ago washed its hands of the race issue. Everybody knows that the friends of the negro among the whites of our republic live at the South and are the descendants of the old slaveholders at the South. The negro instinctively knows that at the South he is allowed to work for an honest living. And the negro also knows that the whites of the south are resolved that they and none other than they shall run the politics of the South. That matter is as well settled as any law of physics.

lean states." "Name 'em" demanded a Southerner—Utah and Vermont. So it will be observed that as in 1860 and all the years since the Republican party has no hope of lodgment in the South. It is determined to rule as a sectional party only. The American people have outgrown that. In 1892 George Fred Williams, then a gold-bug muckwump congressman from Yankee land, made the marvelous discovery that Dick Bland of Missouri was an honest man, whose word was as good as the soundest bond. The thing was so astounding that George Fred went up and down the earth telling it.
Do you know that hundreds of other Northerners have come to know that in all that makes a noble people there is as much virtue at the South, man for man, as at the North? And thus the G. O. P. will find that it has made another blunder in its rebuke of the South in its recent "conferences" that should be named as weak.

SOCIAL PROGRESS IN OLD ENGLAND

University Extension Lecturer Talks on New Standards in Great Britain.

The new standards of national progress that have been adopted in Great Britain since 1880 were the theme of the lecture last evening by Dr. Raymond Phelan of the extension department of the University of Minnesota. The progressive coalition in Great Britain, said Dr. Phelan, "has established the democratic principle of property, has expounded the state's role in the life of the nation and set up new standards of national progress. The latest move on traditional British property rights declares: 'Cultivate or dispose of your lands.' Great Britain is making Socialism safe by making Democracy real."
Dr. Phelan especially emphasized the rise of the Labor party in 1906 and its alliance with the Liberal party of the country. This change is gradually transforming England, the speaker said. The various bills that have been carried through the parliament by the United Labor-Liberal party were also commented upon by Dr. Phelan. Among these bills, he mentioned the bill creating free meals for the public economy bill and various social and moral reform bills affecting the entire nation.

PUT STRESS ON ENGLISH

Essay Contest Planned for Educational Meeting in Duluth. Methods of Teaching English to Beginners Will Be Discussed.

Original compositions from the pupils in and above the third grade will be used in place of the regular industrial exhibits at the annual convention of the Northwestern Minnesota Educational association to be held in Duluth Feb. 12-14, inclusive. Special stress is to be laid this year on the teaching of English in schools, and reports have been requested from all the teachers in the association, especially those in charge of rural school classes, by Mrs. B. M. Holmes, principal of the unorganized schools in St. Louis county. Mrs. Holmes is chairman of the rural section committee and it is her plan to show what compositions are being written by the grade school pupils, instead of featuring an industrial exhibit as has been the custom in the past.
The preparation of these papers is expected to furnish keen competition among the pupils. It is probable some recognition will be made of the best papers read during the convention. The teachers of the first and second grades are to be asked what methods they employ in teaching English to beginners. Some systematic plan will be arranged and adopted during the gathering here next month. This will consist of recitations, conversation and games with a fixed program to be followed out by each instructor.
At the convention here this year it is expected that over 1,000 teachers will be in attendance. The sessions will last for three days and will be held at the Central high school.
POSITIONS OPEN.
Applicants Will Be Given Civil Service Examinations in Duluth.
Several civil service examinations to fill government positions in the United States and the possessions will be held here within the next four weeks. Information may be obtained from E. M. Barker, superintendent of the registry department at the post-office, who is secretary of the local examining board.

So it will be observed that as in 1860 and all the years since the Republican party has no hope of lodgment in the South. It is determined to rule as a sectional party only. The American people have outgrown that. In 1892 George Fred Williams, then a gold-bug muckwump congressman from Yankee land, made the marvelous discovery that Dick Bland of Missouri was an honest man, whose word was as good as the soundest bond. $75,000,000 MORTGAGE.

Montana Power Company Gives New York Concern Big Lien.

Great Falls, Mont., Jan. 6.—The Montana Power company has placed a lien upon its properties in this state to the extent of $75,000,000 in favor of the Guaranty Trust company of New York. It was explained by John G. Morony, vice president of the power company, that the mortgage was given as security for bonds dated July 1, 1913, and falling due on July 1, 1913, to the amount of $17,000,000 and such other bonds as may be issued by the company from time to time.
The company is the owner of several power plants at various points in the state, and has under construction two immense dams, one at the Great Falls of the Missouri, and another at the Thompson falls in the western part of the state.

BAR ASSOCIATION MEETS IN OCTOBER

New York, Jan. 6.—The next annual meeting of the American Bar association will be held at Washington Oct. 20-22, 1914, according to a decision by the organization's executive committee. It was also announced Chief Justice Sir Charles Fitzpatrick of the Dominion of Canada and Romulo S. Naon, minister from the Argentine Republic, had accepted invitations to address the convention.
Former President William Howard Taft presided at the meeting of the executive committee.

RAISE $50,000 TO AID UNEMPLOYED

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 6.—Plans for raising $50,000 by private contribution were perfected at a meeting of the citizens' relief committee formed to take up the question of providing for the city's unemployed. Men of wealth have pledged themselves to raise this sum.

In order to prevent an invasion such as occurred a few days ago, when the municipality announced that all idle men would be given employment and San Francisco quickly became the Mecca for the unemployed within a radius of 1,000 miles, all those seeking work are to be registered and those having families here will be given preference. Steps also were taken to provide for unemployed women. It is estimated that 1,000 working women are without positions.

BILLION FOOT TIMBER SALE

Government Asks Bids on Tract in Arizona Forest.

Reforestation Provided for in the Arrangements.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Sale of 1,000,000,000 of standing timber from the Kaibab national forest in Northern Arizona, with authority for the construction by the purchasers of 200 miles of railroad through one of the richest sections of the West, has been approved by Secretary Houston of the department of agriculture. Bids will be received up to the middle of June this year; then three years will be allowed the successful contractors for building the railway. The timber will be cut gradually during twenty-five years.

This project is the most gigantic launched by the forestry service since its creation. It will have the effect of cutting off the timber supply in the area which is first to be cut, and the cutting will have been reforested by a new growth and the scenic beauty will remain unmarred.

Recognizing the difficulties which lie in the limited transportation facilities, the service decided the contractors should be allowed to construct a railroad connecting Colorado and Utah with the Grand Canyon, which heretofore has been accessible only by the southern approach. For several years the construction of such a road has been considered by various capitalists, but it has been held that the lack of assured traffic proved an insurmountable barrier. It was pointed out at the department that a contract for 1,000,000,000 feet of timber will overcommodify transportation which, with the tourist and local traffic included, will place the project on a paying basis.

OVERLOOKED BIG MINE ASSESSMENT

Hibbing May Get Back Taxes From the Albany Mine.

Because the assessor of Hibbing overlooked the fact that the Albany mine, an eighty-acre tract, had been detached from the township of Stuntz and added to the village of Hibbing in 1910, owners of the mine have escaped paying taxes under the village rate. The assessor has been ordered to make a new assessment of the mine, and the rate on the mining property. The difference between the two rates is approximately $2,000 a year.

An accountant who examined the books of the village of Hibbing recently found the omission and called it to the attention of the county taxing officials. Application was yesterday made to County Auditor Halden to extend the tax for the omitted years for the difference between the village and township rates. The auditor, acting upon an opinion furnished by C. E. Adams, attorney for the county board, yesterday placed the property on the 1913 tax books.

The back taxes will be collected with the regular 1913 taxes. The village of Hibbing will receive its overlooked revenue at the proportion following the tax collection.

NO PASSES AND NO MILEAGE MONEY

Chicago, Jan. 6.—The Illinois public utilities commission has upheld railroad in Illinois refusing passes to employees of the state grain inspection department. The first decision by the new body is in accordance with the new utilities law, which provides that none but employees of the railroad may receive free transportation. There are sixty traveling employees of the grain office for whom no provision to pay transportation was made by the state.

CHANGES MADE IN UNIVERSITIES

New York, Jan. 6.—John W. Burgess, emeritus professor of political science at Columbia university and formerly dean of the graduate faculties, has been appointed visiting American professor at the Austrian universities for 1914-1915 by the Austrian government, according to a statement authorized by the trustees of Columbia.

Dr. Burgess, who in 1907-1908 was the first incumbent of the Roosevelt professorship of the University of Berlin, is the second American visiting lecturer to be appointed by the Austrian government, and as such will follow Prof. George S. Fullerton, now lecturing at the universities of Vienna.

The board of trustees also announced that Dr. Livingston Farrand, junior professor of anthropology, had tendered his resignation to assume the presidency of the University of Colorado, succeeding President James M. West End WILL SOON BUILD HOYME HOSPITAL Society Will Hold Annual Meeting and Continue Its Campaign.

The annual meeting of the Hoyme Hospital association will be held this evening at the First Norwegian Lutheran church, First avenue east and Third street. Plans will be made to complete the raising of money for the purpose of building the proposed hospital on the site owned by the society at Twenty-sixth avenue west and Fourth street. The society has met with success so far in its canvass for the funds.

The plans of the society are to erect a building which will cost about $50,000 and which will be the first unit of an institution which will cover the entire property comprising 100 feet frontage on Fourth street and 140 on Twenty-sixth avenue.

A considerable encouragement has been given the society in its plans to build the hospital. Physicians of the West end and many from West Duluth have favored the idea, saying that this section greatly needs such an institution and that they will not only give it their moral support but also assist in the project financially. In case of an accident or sudden serious illness of a resident of the West end or of an emigrant in one of its large industries, it is now necessary to take the patient to the eastern end of the city before treatment can be given.

The Hoyme Hospital is backed by the Norwegian Lutheran churches of Northern Minnesota. Its officers are: Rev. M. N. Steffen, president; Dr. H. Hovde, vice president; Rev. J. H. Stenberg, secretary; Selma J. Hovde, treasurer, and Anton Ringstad, financial secretary. The officers and the following named comprise the board of directors: Richard Hanson, John Grande, E. A. Dahl, Knut Larson, Dr. J. M. O. Tveit and Dr. O. E. Heimstad.

COMMITTEES NAMED.

Yeomen Prepare for Installation and Banquet Jan. 26.

Plans for the installation of officers and the banquet following to be held by the Duluth Homestead No. 3131, Brotherhood of American Yeomen, on Jan. 26, were furthered by the appointment of committees to handle the affair at the meeting of the lodge last night. The ceremony of installation will take place at 8 o'clock that evening and the banquet will commence at 8:30.

William E. Davy of Des Moines, Iowa, chief correspondent for the order, and other high officials, will be present. Many of the homesteads in Minnesota will be represented.

A meeting of the joint committees will be held the latter part of this week, at which time the details will be arranged. The committees follow: Tickets and publicity—John C. Wesenberg and J. J. Hughes.

Reception—P. Olson, chairman; C. J. Foucault, John Allen, Mrs. A. Bordeleau, Mrs. J. La Brosse, S. Perrin, Miss Anna Duggan, Miss Geneva Brassard, John Silvers, O. Dufort and Joseph Robinson.

The annual reports of the society will be given by the auditing committee. The reports showed that the local lodge has increased its membership and has a substantial balance in the local homestead treasury.

HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

Central Baptist Church Elects Officers—Is Free of Debt.

The annual election of officers was held last night at the meeting of the congregation of the Central Baptist church, twentieth avenue west and First street. The reports of the various societies showed that the church was now free of debt. The annual budget for 1914-1915 was adopted and the sum of $3,200 had been raised for all the church societies.

Plans were also made for holding the celebration of the thirtieth anniversary of the organization of the church. The celebration will be celebrated with special services next Sunday. The forenoon will be devoted to talks by members of the congregation and in the latter part of the afternoon an informal reception will be held.

The following officers were elected: W. J. Bergdahl, superintendent of Sunday school; P. J. McPhail and E. G. Hanson, trustees; Miss Minnie Mielck, E. C. Churchill, treasurer; George D. Jewell, chorister; Miss Minnie Mielck, organist; J. B. Dye, solicitor; P. G. Hanson, chairman of missionary committee.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ELECTS OFFICERS

Charles E. Dice was elected superintendent of the Sunday school of the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, at the annual election of officers.

R. R. R. Forward, who has presided over the Sunday school for several years, refused to be re-elected.

The other officers elected were as follows: A. D. Swan, assistant superintendent; Daniel Donaghy, superintendent of teachers; P. T. Gorman, secretary; Mrs. L. C. Stephens, treasurer; Miss Margaret Gorman, assistant organist; Mrs. E. G. Batte, assistant cradle row superintendent.

Zion Church Notes.

Schlitz Brown Bottle Claims Authenticated

by Dr. Robert Wahl, President of the Wahl-Henius Institute of Fermentology. We reprint from his letter.

"Our observations, extending over the last twenty-five years, have convinced us beyond a doubt that exposure of beer to light has a very detrimental influence on its quality generally, but especially upon the flavor of the beer.

We have tested beers repeatedly in this direction, placing the bottles into direct sunlight, and testing the same after one, two, three and five minutes exposure, found that the beer with three and five minutes exposure became undrinkable, on account of the peculiar odor developed.

The detrimental effect of light upon beer can be successfully counteracted by the employment of brown or dark colored glass bottles, and such bottles are therefore recommendable."

He quotes famous authorities to corroborate his opinion

Authorities on the subject of the detrimental influence of light on beer are:

C. Lintner, Lehrbuch der Bierbrauerei 1875, S. 343.
Beck, Zeitschrift für das gesamte Brauwesen, 1882, S. 370.

ABANDONS SERVICE TO MEDITERRANEAN

Canadian Pacific Steamship Routes Are to Be Changed.

Montreal, Jan. 6.—Canadian Pacific steamship service between Canadian and Mediterranean points is at an end, according to announcement by officers of the Canadian Pacific railway. The St. John will make voyages to Liverpool. It was stated, after her return to Canadian waters on the present trip, as will the Ruthenia, now at Trieste.

It is understood that this decision was reached after the Canadian railway officers received word that the Ruthenia, while at Naples, was detained a few days by the Italian government on charges of having contravened the emigration laws that relate to the regulation of men liable to military duty in Italy.

Similar alleged violation of emigration laws in Austria resulted last October in the arrest of Samuel Altman, who was the Canadian Pacific's general agent in that country. It was charged that with the connivance of the steamship agents, citizens evaded military service by going to other countries. About four weeks later Altman was released. Meanwhile the Austrian government had withdrawn the Canadian Pacific's right to engage in emigration service.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The supreme court held that the United Globe Mining and New York corporation, had acquired title to the O'Dougherty and the Big Johnny mines in the Globe mining district in Arizona, by adverse possession. The court expressly refrained, however, from passing on the question of whether a foreign corporation generally may acquire title to land by adverse possession.

TEACHERS WILL LIVE IN SCHOOL

New Rural Building Contains Comfortable Rooms for Instructors.

An innovation in rural school construction has been provided by N. A. Young, county superintendent of schools, in connection with the building of Unorganized School No. 40, in 61-16, nine miles southwest of Tower on the Pike River road. The new feature consists of a suite of living rooms for the teachers in addition to the rooms employed for school purposes.

The new building has just been completed and was occupied yesterday for the first time. In addition to two modernly equipped class rooms, there is a connecting suite of comfortably furnished living rooms for the two teachers, Miss Gladys Saar and Miss Little Article.

School No. 41 of the unorganized district is three miles away from School No. 40. It is now being rebuilt and will be ready for use within a few weeks.

AITKIN ORE DISCOVERIES

Explorations Show Continuation of North Range of Cuyuna.

Ore Bodies Are Encountered North of Mississippi River.

Aitkin, Minn., Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald).—Explorations in the supposed ore districts tributary to Aitkin which have been going on quietly and in some cases under cover for a long time have caused much activity among mineral men.

The stampede was started some days ago by Franklin Merritt, who has been operating in the district, when he paid $1,000 for an option on the Davis 140 acres, with $2,000 more to be paid if the property contains sufficient merchantable ore after two years of exploration.

Merritt was soon followed by the purchase of the Le Blanc place by T. R. Foley for $16,000 after finding merchantable ore, and then it was given out that the Olson & Berg Exploration company, under direction of M. P. Rotsford, a mining engineer making headquarters here, had struck high grade manganese ore in three holes and a low grade ore in the fourth. The first three holes show manganese going as high as 30 per cent in that metal.

What is spoken of as the Rice River district in the towns of Spencer and Morrison, 47 and 48-26, was explored merely to acquire interests by Cuyler Adams and the majority of holes although not properly completed, bottomed in ore running from 32 to 50 per cent iron. There have probably been fifty holes put down in this district, including the more recent work.

George Crosby busy.

The Crosby Exploration company under the name of the Zeno Iron company, also acquired considerable property in section 3 of Spencer and went through a legal fight to hold certain interests in that district.

The Crosby Exploration company also put down perhaps twenty-five holes in the Portage Lake district in Davidson and Kimberly, and it is said ore was found running from 42 to 50 per cent. One hole showing fifty feet of 50 per cent ore.

But the manganese find in section 23 of 48-27 by the Olson & Berg Exploration company on property belonging to George S. Carson of Iowa City, Iowa, seems to be the thing considered of most importance just at this time. It is assumed that striking the formation here at N. 70 deg. east clearly indicates that this is a continuation of the north range of the Crosby district in which the manganese ore of the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs and the Cuyuna-Duluth mines are found. The ore in this new range is similar to the output of the mines mentioned.

Engineer Rotsford has also superintended extensive explorations in the adjoining township of 137-25, being the town of Ross Lake in Crow Wing county, and not only demonstrated the continuation of the formation of the north range here but proved the existence of ore bodies that he believes will prove valuable. He has taken an option on the L. E. Fuchs property on Stark Lake in section 27, 137-25, at $150 an acre, and equipment is in that locality for further work.

These two properties being north of the Mississippi river explode the theory that ore was not to be found north of the river.

Other localities in which drilling is being done are section 30 in the town of Glen, where N. Wadsworth has proven up some ore going as high as 50 per cent. Two drills are said to be working west of Tamarack in the Sandy Lake district and two drills are at work near Shovel Lake. A well drill working on the Mahler place one mile south of Aitkin struck rich color a few days ago and B. R. Hassman, who owns a mineral interest, is figuring on further explorations. Drilling is being done on 8, 49-25 and low grade ore has been shown up in the Dam Lake district in Glen and Kimberly.

Spencer of Duluth has done extensive work on the county farm, upon which he holds a lease, and is now working in the town of Spencer. Other drills are found here and there about the county and what has seemed to be a relentless prosecution of exploration work is now promising to bring Aitkin county into her own as an important part of the Cuyuna range.

CLOQUET PROTESTS.

Mass Meeting Passes Resolutions on Copper Country Trouble.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald).—Workmen's hall was crowded here Sunday when a meeting was held, addressed by Prof. Ohl of the University of Michigan, and the conditions in the Copper country of Michigan, and the alleged treatment of miners. Resolutions along the lines of those being adopted in other places were adopted and will be sent to President Wilson, Governor Ferris of Michigan, Congressman Miller, Secretary of Labor Wilson and the Western Federation of Miners.

Prof. Ohl handled the subject in such a way as to win a loud applause, and the collection was taken up which was sufficient to cover the speaker's fee, and to send a liberal amount to the strikers in need.

CHESMAN'S HEARING.

Law Against Giving Convicts Cocaine Being Tested.

Stillwater, Minn., Jan. 6.—The first test case of the state law making it a felony to smuggle arms or drugs to inmates of state institutions will be heard before Court Commissioner George H. Crosby today when it will be determined whether Frank Chesman, arrested in New York recently on a charge of having smuggled cocaine to prisoners in Stillwater, is held legally for trial, charged with conspiracy.

Members of the state board of control and Attorney General Smith are particularly interested in the case and a representative of the attorney general's department will attend the hearing.

FATHER OF TRIPLETS GETS BACK HIS JOB.

Missoula, Mont., Jan. 6.—The birth of triplets in the family of Peter Huille, employed in the local shops of the Northern Pacific railway, saved the father his job. When the shops closed yesterday Huille and his wife were laid off in accordance with the company's policy of reducing the number of employees during the winter.

About this time Huille got a letter from his wife and was told that she had reached his home and that she had given birth to three healthy children.

He returned to the shop to find that his wife had been transferred to the hospital and that his children had been retained at the shops.

ago, where he served a term for forgery, Sam Martinson is again under arrest for forgery. He is charged with the forgery of a check for $1,000, which was cashed at the First National bank in Minneapolis. Martinson was arrested here on advice received from Minot authorities.

CUYUNA MINES AGAIN WORKING

Crosby, Minn., Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald).—Many of the mines and drills that shut down for the holidays are at work again. Repairs on the shafts and other improvements at the mines were made during the recess.

The Armour No. 1 mine, which has been closed down for some time, is expected to be opened up again when navigation begins. It is also reported that the Meachum mine is to open up.

CUMBERLAND FEELS NEW EUGENIC LAW

Cumberland, Wis., Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald).—There was an unprecedented rush to the county clerk's office for marriage licenses during the latter part of December, because the eugenic law went into effect Jan. 1. In many localities of the county it is impossible to have the examination and tests required by the law for the $3 fee. All the physicians of this city declare they will not make the Wasserman test for the fee designated by law, claiming that they cannot afford to do so, and as a result there has been a rush for Dan Cupid, as not one marriage license has been yet issued by the county clerk since the eugenic law went into effect.

IN TROUBLE AGAIN.

Paroled Munising Youth Falls From Grace and Is Sent Back.

Munising, Mich., Jan. 6.—About two years ago John Verbunker, then 18, was convicted here of unlawfully driving away a horse and buggy owned by a hiveryman. After serving six months in the state reformatory at Ionia, he was released on parole. Sheriff Joseph Pellissier, at the boy's solicitation, because of the first offense, placed Verbunker in the charge of furnishing intoxicants to two minors and was sent to the state reformatory at Ionia. Verbunker was turned over to Sheriff Pellissier, who turned him over to the state reformatory at Ionia. Verbunker will now be compelled to serve two years for violating his parole.

BURY MILL CITY MAN.

Last Rites for Jeremiah E. Smith, Old Stock Buyer.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 6.—The funeral of Jeremiah E. Smith, a pioneer of Minneapolis, who came here in 1855, working first as a tailor, later engaged in the meat business, then becoming a stockbuyer, and known all over the Northwest, was held at 2:30 this afternoon from his home.

Mr. Smith was born in Belmont county, Ohio, in January, 1827. He was married there to Miss Sarah E. Smith, who died in 1890. He had three children: Mr. Smith came to Minneapolis in 1855. He purchased an acre of wheat land what is now known as the "Wheat Field" Mansions known as the residence there with his family until 1887, when he moved to Minneapolis. He retired from business in 1887.

Mr. Smith is survived by his widow, and three children: his son, John E. Smith, who is now in the army, and two children by his second wife, Mrs. William Smith, Columbia Heights, Minn. Mr. Smith was a member of the First Baptist church of Minneapolis, and Mrs. John W. Longnecker of Hartford, Conn.

INCOME TAX FORMS ISSUED

First Step Taken to Get Returns on Taxable Funds.

Alien Residents, Non-Resident Citizens and Some Foreigners Liable.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The form to be used and regulations to be followed by individuals in making returns of income tax have been sent out by the treasury department. Every citizen of the United States, whether residing at home or abroad, every person residing in the United States, and every non-resident alien who has income from United States investments of $2,000 or more, must make such returns.

For the last year 1913 the specific exemptions will be $2,000, or $2,833.33 in the case of a married person, and in future years $2,000 and $2,833.33. Where the tax has been withheld on part of the income at the source, or where part of the income is derived from dividends upon stock of a corporation which is taxable under the corporation tax section of the law, the regulations set forth that such income shall be deducted from the individual's total income when computing the amount on which he is taxable.

Rate of Taxation.
The law imposes a tax of 1 per cent and provides that individuals who have an income over $20,000 and not more than $50,000 shall pay an additional tax of 1 per cent on such amount; on all over $50,000 and not over $75,000, 2 per cent; on all over $75,000 and not over $100,000, 3 per cent; on all over $100,000 and not over $250,000, 4 per cent; on all over $250,000 and not over $500,000, 5 per cent; and on all over $500,000, 6 per cent.

Refusal or Neglect to File Returns.
In case of refusal or neglect to file returns, except in case of sickness or absence, will result in an addition of 50 per cent to the tax assessed.

Must Ask for Extension.
An extension of thirty days from March 1, in case of sickness or absence, may be allowed by the proper collector, provided an application is made by the individual concerned. Returns must be accompanied by oath or affirmation, and must be accompanied by receipts for all payments made for the current year. The cost of tools or machinery is deductible, but not to exceed its value then replaced.

Penalties for Services.
Persons receiving fees or emoluments for professional or other services, must include all actual receipts for services during the year, together with all unpaid accounts, charges for services, contingent fees, etc., for the year, "if good and collectible."

Debts to such persons contracted

HOW MUCH DOES LIQUOR COST YOU?

Not much perhaps—in MONEY.
Doesn't make much of a dent in your pocketbook. Possibly you can easily afford THAT cost. Possibly, too, you are one of the thousands who drink in moderation.

BUT—

HERE'S THE QUESTION:

You are not figuring the REAL cost of drinking when you put down 50 or 150 per drink. The REAL cost is TOO HUGE to be counted in dollars and cents.

You may not think drinking hurts you. And it is barely possible that its effects are not noticeable—YET.

BUT IT WILL. Alcoholic poison is just as sure as death or taxes. It "gets" every man, woman and child drinking. It permeates the whole nervous system. It destroys your efficiency—your manhood—before you even realize it.

SOONER OR LATER IT IS GOING TO "GET" YOU.

Your employer, if you have one, is going to get wise to you. Your business, if you have one, is going to suffer because you are not "on the job" like you used to be. Worst of all, your family, those near and dear to you, will suffer heartaches—perhaps want.

HERE'S THE SOLUTION

Before it is TOO LATE, find out about the "Neal" Treatment. It will absolutely eradicate the last trace of craving from the system, IN JUST THREE DAYS.

Just three days of your time to make you a new man. You will come out of the Neal Institute with renewed energies. Your blood will fairly tingle with vitality. Your eyes will be clear—your mind keen and active.

No pain—no discomfort. No hypodermic injections.

Our handsome new booklet, "The Modern Method of Treating Alcohol and Drug Addiction," tells the whole interesting story. Your request, just a postal, will bring it—under plain sealed cover.

Everything strictly confidential.

May we hear from you right away?

CASE GOES TO THE JURY

Arguments Are Completed in the Trial of Joseph Crotteau.

The fate of Joseph Crotteau, Gnesen farmer, who has been on trial in district court for the past few days on a charge of having murdered his wife, Mary Crotteau, last September, is now in the hands of the jury.

The taking of testimony, and the closing arguments were made this morning to the jury by County Attorney Greene, for the state, and John H. Norton, attorney for Crotteau. Judge Ensign, after having delivered his charge, gave the case to the jury about 2:30 o'clock.

Yesterday afternoon, Alma Crotteau, son of the defendant, testified that his father was sitting down with a rifle across his knee when it accidentally exploded. The bullet, he claims, passed through Mrs. Crotteau's shoulder and into her back. John H. Norton, attorney for the defendant, also took the stand and testified regarding tests which he had made with a rifle similar to the one which had caused the woman's death. Special reference was made to the distance from which the gun must have been fired to inflict powder wounds. Dr. S. H. Boyer, a witness for the state, had testified to the presence of powder burns on the woman's shoulder.

or against a large northeastern district.

Mr. McAdoo's tentative ideas were brought out in his examination at today's hearing of the currency committee of the Merchants' Association of New York.

Hear Irving T. Bush.

Mr. Bush said the business and financial relations with New York of all cities in the Northeast were so close that it would be advisable to include this territory or most of it, in one district. He suggested that the western boundary be placed as far west as to include Pittsburgh and Buffalo. Boston, he thought, could be served better by being included in the New York district than by having a domestic bank of its own, and he believed that unless the committee decided to constitute a separate district of New England, the northern boundary of the New York district should extend to the Canadian border. The southern boundary should extend to include Wilmington, Del., Mr. Bush said, if a bank were established at Baltimore. Otherwise this district should include Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Page Gives Merchant's Views.

Edward E. Page, a New York merchant, thought that the districts should be divided according to the classes of merchandise handled in various sections of the country. As the national bank had reduced its paper, he said, it would be necessary for the governor of each bank to be relieved of his portfolio, which is regarded as being color to the paper. Gerosteti is said to have been offered the portfolio of foreign affairs, succeeding Quercia, who has been understood that he is to assume the presidency. It is said that he is to be placed on the plan only on condition that the deputies imprisoned by Huerta upon the dissolution of congress last October be set at liberty. He had many friends among the army and navy, but never been in sympathy with Gen. Huerta's treatment of them.

Under the alleged plan, Senator Gerosteti is said to have been offered a limited period, turning it over to Gen. Huerta.

Persons close to President Huerta are quoted as saying the failure to obtain funds in Europe is sinking the faith of the president in his ability to cope with the situation.

Hands Frozen to Gunwale.

The hands of one of the men who swam with him to the ladder, Gregory, which had been lowered over the side, but he did not climb the ladder. He found that the man he bore was dead, and let him sink in the ocean. He then went back to the other survivors, and one by one brought them to the ladder, where they passed to the lifeboat.

Williams and Roberts had been in the water nearly two hours. They had been clinging to the bobbing lifeboat, holding it as steady as possible and assisting the inmates.

DYNAMITERS MUST RETURN TO PRISON

on. He signed all of the checks presented in evidence as used for the purchase of explosives.

Ryan's own testimony confirms the evidence of his complicity.

Ryan was the only one of the convicted men present in court when the decision was rendered.

No effort will be made by the government to compel the return to prison of the men denied retrial pending the hearing of their petition for a rehearing of the case. If this petition is denied, it was announced by E. K. Zoline, counsel for the convicted dynamiters, an appeal will be taken to the United States supreme court.

Clancy Case Fully Proved.

Conrad Clancy, a native of San Francisco, the decision states that he conspired with the McNamara and Herbert S. Hocking, who is serving his sentence, to blow up the Llewellyn Iron Works at Los Angeles and for explosions in the East are conclusively proved.

Michael J. Young of Boston, the decision states to have been proved guilty of conspiracy in connection with explosions in Boston, Springfield, Fall River and Somerset.

Frank C. Webb of New York had his appeal rejected on the basis of letters by him and testimony by Orrie McNamara, whose evidence was frequently referred to by the court.

Phillip A. Cooley of New Orleans, member of the executive committee of the Iron Workers, and John T. Butler of Buffalo, second vice president of the organization, are declared active conspirators with the McNamara.

McNamsa Audited.

John H. Berry of St. Louis audited the books of the association with special reference to explosion expenditures, as did Charles N. Reum of Minneapolis, according to the decision.

Henry W. Leggett of Pittsburgh, personally delivered to John McNamara a case for carrying nitro-glycerin and was active in planning explosions.

Ernest W. Beacy of Indianapolis also audited explosion expenses and made threats against non-union jobs, which threats were executed, it was shown.

J. E. Munsey of Salt Lake City is declared to have personally assisted James McNamara in explosions at Salt Lake. Peter J. Smith of Cleveland, Ohio, was chiefly implicated on McNamara's evidence. Paul T. Morgan of St. Louis, William J. Reddin of Milwaukee, Michael J. Hannan of Scranton, Pa., Emil of Chicago, and Michael J. Field, Ill., and W. Bert Brown of Kansas City are declared fully implicated by McNamara's evidence.

MOONEY IS HARD AT WORK

Convicted Iron Worker Has Spent Busy Summer in Duluth.

Fred J. Mooney, the structural iron worker, whose sentence of a year and a day has been affirmed by the United States court of appeals, together with the sentences of twenty-three others of varying lengths, is working at his trade in Duluth.

Mr. Mooney was charged with being implicated in the illegal transportation of dynamite by structural iron workers.

Mr. Mooney is employed as a structural iron worker on the new Herwin coal dock at West Duluth, and could not be seen this morning.

Mrs. Mooney, who was visiting a friend on West Seventh street, was very anxious to find out if the interviewer was an officer come to get her husband. She felt better when she learned that he was only a harmless reporter, and felt still better when she learned that no effort will be made to get the men now under bond until the result of the

BALANCE ON RIGHT SIDE

City Ends Year With Big Cash Balance in Banks.

New Accounting System Will Show Taxpayers' Liabilities Also.

The city ended the year 1913 with a cash balance of $433,564.11, according to the monthly report of City Treasurer Grant E. McLean.

The public utility fund is in the best shape, showing a credit of $146,893.44. Part of this represents the proceeds of the $100,000 of bonds which were sold "over the counter" last summer under the direction of Finance Commissioner Frank Coss.

Only about half of this money was used by the water and light department in making extensions and improvements during the last season.

The permanent improvement revolving fund has $100,000 on hand but the permanent improvement fund is not in as good a condition, but their correct status cannot be ascertained from the statement as it does not show the liabilities against any of the funds.

With the new accounting system which will be installed this year this will be done.

FERRIS TALKS TO GRAND JURY MEN

Urges Thoroughness and Fairness in Copper Country Probe.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Ferris spent a portion of this morning with the grand jury which is investigating the strike violence cases. He told the members of the jury that their duty lay plain before them and that they must probe of everything brought to their attention, and urged care especially with the probe into the alleged kidnapping of President Charles Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners.

The governor desires that the grand jury members, through their care and fairness in handling all cases, no matter who is hit, can refute the claims made before him in Lansing five days ago by Clarence Darrow that the jury is made up of men controlled by the mining companies and men who will give the Western Federation of Miners "a bad deal."

The governor Ferris was invited today by a committee of citizens of Calumet to come to Calumet this evening to attend the game, but will do so if possible. He has some important conferences this evening. He has never seen a hockey game.

Municipal Lodging House May Be Closed By Mayor-Prince.

Doubtful If Benefits Warrant Expenditure of $2,000 a Year.

Mayor W. I. Prince, head of the welfare department, which is part of the division of public affairs, is seriously contemplating the closing of the municipal lodging house at Seventh avenue west and Second street.

The lodging house has been operated by the city for about one year. Its purpose is to offer temporary shelter to women who find themselves in the city without money or friends, until they can be sent to their homes or employment secured for them. From time to time women or girls have been detained there for short periods for the police.

The mayor has been carefully checking up the lodging house and has about come to the conclusion that the benefits derived fail to warrant the expenditure necessary to maintain it, which is approximately $2,000 per year. He has found that with few exceptions the lodging house has not had any considerable number of inmates at any time. Today the report submitted daily to the executive shows the institution to be without any inmates and that some days past but two, three or four have been sheltered there.

Mayor Prince states that Duluth does not seem large enough to justify the expense of maintaining a municipal lodging house for women. He points out that conditions are different from what they were when the institution, as the red light district has been closed, the disorderly women have rarely been driven from the city and the law is being enforced as never before.

The investigation which has been made has satisfied the mayor that Duluth is amply supplied with good institutions to care for any women whom it might be deemed desirable to send to the municipal lodging house. Among these are the Bethel home and the Y. W. C. A. There is also a county institution. They would have proper surroundings and receive all necessary attention. The city would pay for their board. This expense would be borne by the welfare fund, but it would be only a small fraction of the $2,000 now spent to keep up the municipal lodging house.

The municipal lodging house will not be closed immediately. It is likely to be continued for one or two more months, or until the severest part of the winter is over. But after that time there is little question but what it will be abandoned.

VACCINATE CHILDREN

No Smallpox in Emerson School But Many Are Exposed.

No Compulsory Vaccination—Allowed to Consult Their Parents.

School and health department physicians yesterday made a thorough examination of all the children attending the Emerson school, Eleventh avenue west and Third street, in the vicinity of which a dozen cases of smallpox were accidentally uncovered last week.

None of the pupils was found to be afflicted with the disease, but two were attending school in whose homes others are smallpox cases.

The doctors were equipped with vaccinating materials and many of the children were inoculated with the smallpox preventive. There was no compulsion, however, that they wished to ask their parents about it were passed yesterday, when the physicians will make another visit to the school.

Should the health department consider necessary, it has the power to prevent the attendance at school of all children who have not been vaccinated until the danger shall have passed.

Following the announcement that those who could not afford to pay a physician for being vaccinated would be treated at the health department office in the basement of the city hall, three persons were vaccinated yesterday by Dr. Webster, health director. One of these was a man whose family had the disease, and the other two were students from the Emerson school. They were brought to the office by their mother.

War Veterans Elect.

Hector R. Swift camp, U. S. V. A., held its annual election of officers last night. The following officers were elected: Fred Hengsten, commander; John Kelly, senior vice commander; Patrick Moran, junior vice commander; K. B. Patton, officer of the guard; John Larson, chaplain; F. O. Lindquist, quartermaster; H. K. Rhode, sergeant; and A. T. Ledin, adjutant.

Factory Sites.

At a meeting of fifty citizens of Superior last night at the council chamber it was decided to set aside 100 acres of the Stinson tract for manufacturing sites, and charge a nominal rental of $1 per acre with the privilege of the concern purchasing the property at the expiration of fifteen years for $200 per acre. Considerable opposition was shown, many of those present contending that the property should not be given away for a "mere song." The final vote on the matter carried by 41 to 7.

Sent to Asylum.

Harry Hetager, 21 years old, who was arrested Saturday while acting suspiciously, was adjudged insane yesterday by an examining board and ordered taken to the insane hospital at Mendota. Archie McDonald, 23, who also acted queerly on Saturday, was discharged, the board finally finding that his actions were caused by too much liquor.

Sheriff Makes ANNUAL REPORT

Gives Account of Money Expended in Policing the County.

Sheriff John R. Meining today submitted an annual report of the work done in his office during the year 1913 to the board of county commissioners which is in annual session this afternoon.

The report shows what is considered an economical handling of the growing duties of the sheriff. The receipts and expenditures were as follows:

Receipts—Total for 1913, $114,316.89; total for 1912, $100,436.63.

Disbursements—Railroad fares, $1,922.92; teams, $2,774.31; street car fares, $279.20; hotels, $2,216.64; telegrams and telephones, $63.27; postage, $205.31; miscellaneous, $590.46; witness fees, $40.60; executions, $15,538.82; redemptions, $20,750.08; paid county treasurer, $18,350.69; in bank and drawer, Dec. 31, 1913, $48,370.35; total for 1913, $114,436.28; total for 1912, $100,436.53.

Buying Whisky for Indian Gets J. O'Donnell Into Trouble.

Because John O'Donnell purchased a quart of whisky for an Indian at Cloquet on Dec. 12 last, he was arrested shortly after by the Federal authorities and was yesterday afternoon given a hearing by the local immigration officials with a view of deportation to Canada.

Shortly after his arrest it was learned that O'Donnell has been suffering from epilepsy ever since his childhood. He declares that his home is in Peterborough, Can.

O'Donnell claims that he did not know he was violating the law when he purchased whisky for an Indian.

FERRIS IS TOLD OF LIVING CONDITIONS OF COPPER MINERS

Hears Sanitation Workers Before Meeting Union Officials.

Gets Data on Men Idle and Men Now at Work.

Mysterious Night Conference Arranged—Governor Is Hopeful.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sanitary and housing conditions among workmen of the Copper country were brought to Governor Ferris' attention today in furtherance of his inquiry into the miners' strike. Generally, he was told, such conditions are of rather high grade, the chief difficulty of social service workers being to persuade the miners to adopt what Americans consider everyday precautions.

Miss Clarice Jones, secretary of the Calumet Associated Charities, and Miss Henrietta Hoffenbaker, a visiting nurse for an anti-tuberculosis society, answered the governor's questions. They said that the mining companies had always been liberal contributors to benevolent work, and Miss Jones added that last night William Rickard, president of the Calumet local of the Western Federation of Miners, had offered to co-operate in relieving any case of distress brought to his attention.

Told General Conditions. Neither witness tried to differentiate between general and strike cases. Miss Jones said 600 cases had been listed in the files of her organization since November, 1908, and that she had personally visited seventy-five homes just before Christmas last winter.

The charity workers told the governor that women who had tried to assist the citizens' relief committee in disposing of 25,000 pounds of clothing received by the Italian hall disaster had been told that the committee was not allowed to accept aid from that source. The governor indicated that he would seek an interview with some of these women later. It was because of this condition, largely that the population of Charles H. Moyer resulted, it is said.

Prepare Union's Statement. The most extended session of the governor's inquiry was for the day with representatives of the union. The men who are to present that side of the case are expected to be preparing their case, it was expected that at least six hours would be consumed in presenting it.

This morning Governor Ferris hoped.

LIGHTHOUSE WORK UNDER SEARCHLIGHT

Investigation Is Begun at Department of Commerce.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Investigation of the lighthouse service began today at the department of commerce. Secretary Redfield ordered the inquiry of his largest bureau, which employs 1,500 men and spends about $6,000,000 a year, as a result of recent charges against the conduct and economy of administration of the service.

The secretary, Assistant Secretary West and Dr. Samuel W. Stratton, chief of the bureau of standards, constitute the special committee conducting the inquiry.

Among the witnesses was to be W. J. Lavette, assistant superintendent of the Third lighthouse district, with headquarters at Tompkinsville, N. Y., who filed general charges against the administration of the service and the specific charge that a former official of the lighthouse service had been connected with a large manufacturing company, had used his influence as a former official to obtain contracts for his company.

MARYLAND HIKERS' NUMBERS DWINDLE

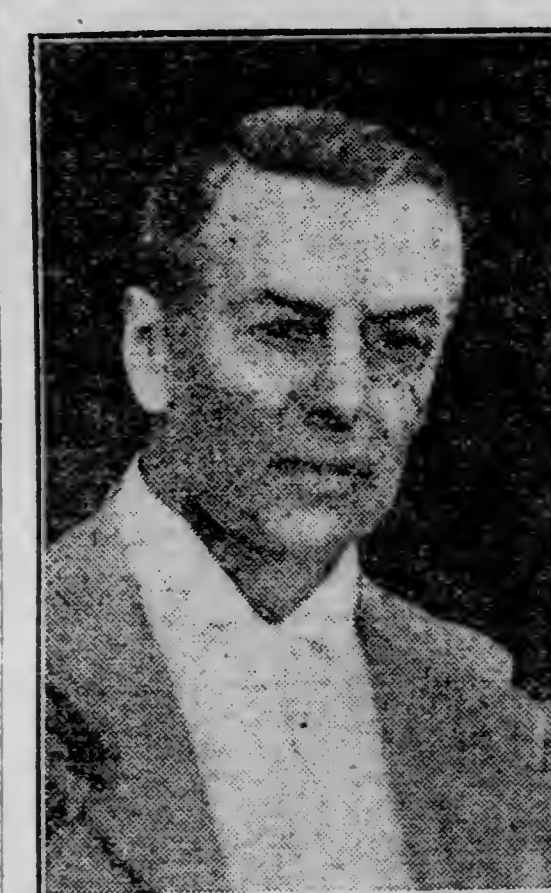

Cook Recalls One Suffragette From Ranks of Marchers.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 7.—Refreshed after a good night's rest at Severna park, the little band of suffragettes marching to Annapolis to present a petition to the legislature, resumed their hike this morning. They had but ten miles to go to complete their journey, and planned to be at the state house in time for the convening of the general assembly at Annapolis. Twenty women started on the march. Today there are only seven left.

Mrs. William Pinckney Holmes, the commissary general of the expedition, suddenly remembered at Glenburn that she had come away from him without paying her cook. Mrs. Holmes subsequently set forth to her fellow hikers that good cooks are hard to get, but easy to get offended. The question was whether the army should lose its commissary general or if Mrs. Holmes should be granted a special dispensation and be allowed to return to town and pay the cook.

Led by Life and Limb. "General" Rosalie Jones and her suffragette army this morning left the village of Glenburn to complete their march to the capital by noon. There were eleven in the little band that set out for the final thirteen miles of the 160-mile jaunt from New York city. All were in good spirits despite sore muscles. The pilgrims were met by a detachment of Albany suffragettes with a life and drum corps, at Kenwood.

ENDS THIRTY-SEVEN YEARS IN PARLIAMENT

JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN.

CHAMBERLAIN WILL RETIRE

Venerable English Lawmaker's Son May Succeed Him in Commons.

Ends Thirty-Seven Years in the British Parliament.

Birmingham, England, Jan. 7.—Joseph Chamberlain, the venerable British statesman, has decided to retire from parliament at the next general election. He has served continuously as a member of the house of commons since 1876, all this time representing West Birmingham.

In a letter addressed today to the president of the Unionist association of Birmingham, Mr. Chamberlain says: "Before leaving for the South of France I think I ought to communicate to you the decision at which I have arrived to retire from parliament at the next general election. I have not come to this decision without many regrets at the severance of a connection which has already lasted over thirty-seven years and has been marked on the part of my constituents by ever-growing confidence and support. But I cannot hope again to do my work in parliament, and I feel that our city and the constituency of West Birmingham need the services of a younger man who will take an active part in the parliamentary struggle and help to maintain the supremacy of the Unionist cause in Birmingham."

Not in House in Three Years. Mr. Chamberlain will leave his residence at Birmingham, next week, for London. After passing a few days there, he will proceed to the south of France.

WOMAN IDENTIFIED BY $120,000 BONDS

Victim of Heart Disease Proves to Be Manufacturer's Wife.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Memoranda of her bond possessions, valued at $120,000, served to identify the body of Mrs. H. Wombacher, who dropped dead of heart disease in a drug store here last night.

Identification was by her brother, Edwin H. Bosley, who said that he gave her the memoranda of the bonds which she owned, and stated that she was the wife of a wealthy manufacturer of this city.

MUDSLIDES WRECK SEATTLE HOUSES

Wind Finally Stops Rain, But Damages Wire Service.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 7.—Two houses were wrecked by mudslides last night on the steep hillsides of West Seattle. In one of them, that of Simon Booth, a baby was killed and six other members of the family were injured. The occupants of the other house escaped injury.

The rainfall for the present storm, which began last Friday, totals nearly five inches. So far the flood damage has not been serious.

A high wind early today stopped for a time at least the heavy rains which have flooded the lowlands in Western Washington the last five days, giving the swollen rivers a chance to discharge the storm water into the sea. The wind tore down telegraph and telephone lines, adding to the troubles of the railroad companies.

Reports received at the offices of all the railroads showed conditions in the mountains such as to cause no fear of snow trouble for the present.

INSIST UPON ONE BIG BANK

More New York Financiers Testify Before Secretaries.

J. P. Morgan Favors Plan, But Not Necessarily for New York.

New York, Jan. 7.—Despite the apparent opposition of Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department and Secretary Houston of the department of agriculture to the proposal of New York bankers for establishment of a regional reserve bank of over-shadowing size, the witnesses who appeared at today's hearing of the Federal reserve organization committee insisted almost unanimously that such a bank was necessary.

From the long list of New York's leading financiers who have appeared before the committee, one conspicuous name was missing. It was that of George F. Baker, who was perhaps the closest associate of the elder J. P. Morgan and who is a director of more important corporations than any other man in the country. Mr. Baker's public appearances have been rare, and instead of coming before the committee in person he was represented today by his son, George F. Baker, Jr., vice president of the First National bank, of which his father is the head.

Younger Baker Talked. Mr. Baker sided emphatically with the majority of his predecessors before the committee. "The eastern district," said he, "should be as large as it could be made to comply with the requirements of making eight districts. I don't know that my suggestions meet with general favor. But it would be better to have the New York district include New England, and go far enough west to include Pittsburgh. My theory is that this is the commercial center of the country, and whenever there have been large things (Continued on page 3, second column.)

MURDERS FATHER TO SAVE THREE LIVES

Boy Says Parent Threatened to Kill Neighbor and His Own Family.

Great Falls, Mont., Jan. 7.—To save the life of Ladinir Chadek, himself and his mother, Adolph Schuder, 15 years old, shot and killed his father yesterday.

Chadek and the elder Adolph Schuder became involved in a quarrel, Chadek fled toward his home when Schuder sought a gun. Schuder pursued his foe, firing at him, until he stopped and begged for his life. Schuder then told Chadek hand and told his wife and son, who had followed him, that he would kill them if they did not help him behind his buggy. The boy seized the gun and killed his father.

At an inquest the father testified his father had declared that as soon as the father would kill him, he would kill Mrs. Schuder and Adolph for interfering. Young Schuder said he shot in self defense, as well as to save the father from the inquest and a mob gathered before the building where he was held in custody. But officers escaped with the prisoner by a rear door and took him to Havre.

RAILROADS WANT QUESTIONS MODIFIED

Claim Commerce Commission Is Imposing Enormous Task.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Attorneys representing the fifty-two Eastern railroads applying to the interstate commerce commission for a 5 per cent increase in freight rates had a hearing today before Commissioner Harlan on the construction and interpretation of certain questions the commission has asked the railroads to answer. The shippers will be heard later.

The commissioner had asked the railroads to answer twenty-three questions during the month of January. The testimony, by various officials was intended to show that it would be highly expensive in some cases, and physically impossible in others, to comply with the request in so short a time. Modifications were suggested.

For the New York Central it was represented that to answer the commission's questions about lighters at New York would cost $5,000 in clerk hire, and require one year.

SCHLIEGMANN TO BE GREEK MINISTER. Vienna, Austria, Jan. 7.—Agamemnon Schliemann, who represents Laissa in the Greek chamber of deputies, was appointed today Greek minister at Washington, to succeed L. A. PLEASED AT LIND'S TALK

Wilson Is Well Satisfied, But Neither Tells Details.

Washington Is Getting Line on What Powers Expect.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Officials here have learned that President Wilson regards his recent conference with John Lind as very satisfactory, and that its prime purpose, to unfold the president's plans and purposes toward Mexico more clearly than could have been done by long distance communication, was very successful.

Frequent exchanges and conferences between the ambassadors and ministers in Washington are tending to unite them upon a line of conduct regarding Mexico which, while conforming to the plans of the United States, involves an understanding concerning obligations the American government would be expected to assume as the result of non-interference by foreign powers. The state department is kept informed as to the expectations through the medium of individual representations and in conversations, dealing broadly with the Mexican trouble.

Money Interests Chief. Financial interests which citizens and subjects of the powers have in Mexico present most of the problems, the position being for the first time intended to bring in the political side of the question. In fact more than one of the diplomatic representatives here has informed the government his own nation was interested in the situation, and beyond that did not care what the United States did in Mexico.

Late official dispatches today from Tampico transmit apparently reliable (Continued on page 3, fourth column.)

TYPHUS APPEARS ON IMMIGRANT VESSEL

Two Hundred and Fifty Turks and Assyrians Are Detained.

New York, Jan. 7.—Two hundred and fifty immigrants, Turks and Syrians, were removed from the steamship Roma on her arrival here today and transferred to Hoffman island for observation. A case of typhus fever broke out on this ship during her voyage over from Marseilles. Thirty others on board have high temperatures. They were placed in the isolation hospital. The other passengers will be subjected to observation for several days and the vessel will be disinfected.

Dr. J. J. O'Connell, health officer of the port, issued a statement saying that the public need not be alarmed over the prospect of an epidemic.

SWEET WILL BE NEXT SPEAKER AT ALBANY

Alfred E. Smith Chosen Leader of Democrats in Assembly.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 7.—Thaddeus C. Sweet, a paper manufacturer of Oswego, N. Y., was selected for speaker of the New York state assembly by a Republican conference at 3 o'clock this morning after a seven-hour session. All five men who had figured as candidates pledged their support to Sweet when he received a majority of the votes on the twentieth ballot.

In a Democratic caucus, Former Speaker Alfred I. Smith was the choice of speakers, a statement which carries with it the Democratic leadership. Assemblyman William Sulzer, the proposed governor, did not take part in any conference, nor was he near the capitol.

Had Left Lawful Husband in Proctor Two Years Ago.

Was Despondent After Receipt of Letter Tuesday Afternoon.

Mrs. Mame Cadwell, 36 years old, wife of W. H. Cadwell, a switchman for the D. M. & N. road at Proctor, committed suicide late last night by taking carbolic acid. Mrs. Cadwell had passed as the wife of Frank Robertson for several months.

Mrs. Cadwell was found in a dying condition on the sidewalk in front of 2716 West Huron street by Patrolman Magnuson shortly before midnight. He immediately notified headquarters and the police ambulance was hurried to the scene as she was still alive, although unconscious. When the ambulance arrived at St. Luke's hospital it was discovered that Mrs. Cadwell had died on the way and after an examination by Police Surgeon Murphy, the body was removed to the Crawford undertaking rooms.

According to information obtained this morning from a brother of the dead woman, she left her husband about two years ago, planning at that time to get a divorce. The Cadwells had been married three years when she left her home at Proctor. Last summer Mrs. Cadwell met Frank Robertson, also a brakeman for the D. M. & N. road, and they fell in love with each other.

"Mrs. Robertson." Mrs. Cadwell went to live with Robertson, who is about 38 years old. She called herself Mrs. Robertson and was known among her friends and acquaintances as the wife of Robertson. It was through two grocery and meat receipts, which were found in the dead woman's purse, that her identity was learned.

The two receipts were made to Robertson. (Continued on page 3, third column.)

HOMESTEADERS' RIGHT TO LAND IS ARGUED

Nelson and Miller Oppose Northern Pacific Claims Before Lane.

From The Herald Washington Bureau. Washington, Jan. 7.—An effort to protect Minnesota homesteaders from losing partially proved lands claimed by the Northern Pacific railroad, Senator Nelson and Representative Miller, had a hearing late yesterday before Secretary of the Interior Lane.

Most of the lands in question are in Representative Miller's district. They are claimed by the railroad under their grant of 1880.

Attorneys for the road insist that the grant gave them the right to take lands within a mile of the right-of-way in exchange for other lands that they had been classified as mineral. The original grant. Under the construction of the grant asked for by the railroad, they could exchange cheap lands in Montana for valuable timber and agricultural lands in Minnesota.

Under the construction urged by Representative Miller and Senator Nelson the road would have to show lands within one mile of the original tract. The question is a new one in this administration, and will probably be given several months' consideration before any decision is made.

TRUST BILL DATA READY

President Will Be Given Digest of Pending Measures.

McReynolds Is Believed to Want Sherman Act Unchanged.

Washington, Jan. 7.—When President Wilson returns to Washington early next week he will find Attorney General McReynolds prepared to take up in detail all the proposed "trust legislation" which has appeared in the form of bills in congress during the last nine months.

A comprehensive summary of these bills, comprising some portions of every measure that has appeared on the congressional horizon in that time, has been prepared by the department of justice and is now in the hands of G. C. Todd, assistant to Attorney General McReynolds in charge of trust prosecutions.

Not Eager for Change. Although Mr. McReynolds has not authorized a statement of his position on the so-called trust legislation, it is pretty well understood in Washington that he is satisfied with the Sherman law about as it stands on the statute books, and is not anxious to see it (Continued on page 3, third column.)

County Board Lets Con-

New Bridges.

The division of that portion of the county road fund available to be spent in improving the Miller Trunk highway between Duluth and the ranges is a bone of contention among the members of the county board. When the subject was broached at the adjourned annual meeting this morning, no two commissioners entertained the same view as to what constituted an equitable division of the money in the districts represented by each and the matter was laid over until the next meeting, Feb. 6.

The following contracts for bridge work were awarded by the board this morning: To William O'Shea for constructing a 60-foot steel plan over the Stone Brook river on the Duff road, $1,008; to the Central States Bridge company for building a 150-foot span over the St. Louis river on the Arkkola road, $1,830. The bids for both jobs were opened by the board yesterday afternoon.

The board also passed a resolution authorizing the county auditor to advertise for bids for the construction of about thirty-six miles of new road in the Seventh district. The bids will be opened at the next meeting of the board.

MOTOR TRUCK FOR SEWER GANG

Commissioner Murchison
Will Purchase Vehicle to
Cost $2,500.

Commissioner Frederick Murchison, head of the works division, has concluded to purchase a motor truck for the use of the sewer maintenance department.
The new machine will cost not to exceed $2,500, and an ordinance making an appropriation for that amount will be introduced at the next meeting of the council.
The work of the sewer gang takes it to all parts of the city, and it is said that the need of transportation facilities such as a truck would afford, has been felt for a long time. The horseless dray will not only carry the men, but will be used for hauling large quantities of material. Should occasion arise it can be used for other purposes by the works division.

Motor trucks have been utilized by the water and light department for several seasons and have been pronounced a success. This will be the first machine of that nature to be used by any other of the city departments.

Young girls placed in the industrial home school recently established by the county at Sixteenth avenue east and London road will be given training in domestic science in the future, as a result of action taken this morning by the county board at its adjourned annual meeting. The object will be to fit them for domestic service.

The board engaged the services of Miss Ethel I. House, a domestic science instructor, for a period of two months at a salary of $35 a month. It is understood that should the experiment prove to be successful that Miss House will be continued in the work.
The board also adopted a set of rules which had been recommended for the institution. The regulations apply only to the girls in the institution. Certain restrictions are placed with reference to their liberties.
The board also decided that a charge of $2.50 per week should be made for those who remain at the institution for a longer period than ten days, providing the girl has a position and is able to pay.
Mabel McPherrin, matron of the institution, will be allowed a monthly expense account not to exceed $8. This was also decided upon the board meeting today. Her monthly salary is $75.

BRITISH ARTISTS WANT AN EXHIBIT.

London, Jan. 7.—Request for official recognition of the fine arts section of the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco was presented to the British government today at the express wish of several British art societies.
In a letter to Premier Asquith accompanying the request, Sir Edward Poynter expressed the hope "that the high position held by the British school of art, which has been fully recognized at other exhibitions, will be maintained and made known in America."

L. A. BARNES.

One of the staunch followers of the curling game in West Duluth is Lucien A. Barnes. Every evening, not taken up with other duties finds Mr. Barnes on the ice at the Western Curling rink ready to sweep his rink to victory.

Mr. Barnes is playing third in George J. Mallory's rink. Next year, he says, he intends organizing his own rink and take the honor of winning some of the trophies which he claims were won by the other fellows more by luck than good playing.

The Western Curling rink will be represented in the contest for the Manly-McDonagh trophy by rinks skippered by F. H. Wade, Dr. W. E. Judson, T. F. Wieland and Emil J. Zaurt. The final game to decide the representatives was played last night when Brown was defeated by Zaurt by a score of 7 to 7.

The latter game was closely contested throughout. Starting out with a lead of four points against them, the losing rink tied and went ahead for a short time. The final head decided the game giving the Wieland aggregation the lead of one point.

This evening a number of practice games will be played in order to get into trim before the annual event of Superior which takes place tomorrow evening. At least six or possibly eight rinks will represent the Western Curling club at the Northwestern hospital next week. Among those who intend registering for the contest are the Wade, Zaurt, Mallory, Tills, Wieland and Judson rinks. The Evered, Brown, Olson and Quinn rinks are also making plans to enter the big event.

GLASS POLITICS ENGAGES STUDENTS

Many Will File for Positions of "Mayor" and "Commissioner."

Class politics is occupying the attention of the students at the Duluth industrial high school this month. The usual election of the annual executive committee of the student body is the coming election of "mayor" and "commissioners" for the school, which will be held during the first week in February.

The present mayor, John Davis, and the executive committee have plenty of opposition at the election, according to members of the student body. It is expected that fully twenty-five members of the four classes will file for the positions.

The eight commissioners are Page Cashin, Russell Kilton, Daisy Wallace, Essie McKinnon, Isabelle Felix, Marie Haney, Otto Blais and Chester Dunston.
The campaign for the various candidates is expected to be fully under way before the annual election. It is expected that nearly every candidate for office will make a campaign, and the duties will be to make the "stump" speeches and play up the merits of their own candidates. "Mass meetings" will be held in the assembly hall of the school two or three times each week during the campaign, at which the candidates and their managers make speeches. The mass meetings are planned to be held outside of the school building.

GOOD PROGRESS MADE.

Extensive Improvements at Holy Apostle's Episcopal Church.

The work of remodeling the Holy Apostles' Episcopal church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Ellnor street, is progressing rapidly. The contractor in charge of the work has already raised the building and has the excavation for the basement nearly completed.
The work includes putting a full basement under the church and arranging it for society rooms, changing the front so that it will rest off Fifty-seventh avenue, instead of Ellnor street as at present and redecorating the interior and exterior of the church. The work will cost about $3,000 and is to be completed April 1.

WOULD PAINT FOR COUNTY

Duluth Artist Would Decorate Memorial Hall at $30,000 Cost.
Offers His Services If Given Retaining Fee of $10,000.

Rich and beautiful paintings in which famous war scenes would be gloriously reproduced by the artist's brush, would grace the walls of Memorial hall, courthouse, if the dream of David Ericson, Duluth artist, came true.

Ericson has just returned from a trip abroad, where he has been for the past year. He is now established in New York city and in a letter which he has written to the county board he offers to decorate the Memorial hall, and offers himself as a candidate for the job. He says that he would be satisfied with a retaining fee of $10,000.

"Art is long and time is fleeting," quotes Ericson in his letter. He states that the work would take the best part of two years, and says that he will not write again and offer his services.

The letter was received and filed.

Superior

DOCTORS BLOCK MARRIAGES.

Refuse to Examine Applicants for Licenses Because of Low Fee.

As yet no applicants have applied at the clerk of court's office for permission to get married. It is intimated that a number of physicians have refused to make the examination necessary, claiming that the fee of $2 is too small. The matter is to be taken up by the meeting of the Douglas County Medical association tonight and it is probable that some agreement may be reached.

It is claimed that there are many waiting and patiently hunting for a physician who is willing to make the examination. This afternoon was announced that two Superior doctors would make the necessary examinations but their names were not given.

Seeks Legal Advice.

At the meeting of the city commissioners this morning instructions were given to the city legal department to investigate the city's right to start condemnation proceedings in the Tenth ward for the purpose of laying sewers. An opinion on the matter is to be given next week.

OBITUARY

Duke Alain Charles Louis de Rohan, prince de Leon, died in Paris, Jan. 7, in his seventieth year. He had been a royalist member of the chamber of deputies since 1876 for the Florence division of Morbihan. In the Franco-German war he was a captain of the Mobile guards. He took great interest in sports and was a member of the French aero and jockey clubs.

C. C. Riley, general superintendent of transportation of the Baltimore and Ohio system, was stricken with a hemorrhage of the brain and died Jan. 6 in Washington, D. C. Mr. Riley formerly was connected with several western railroads in an official capacity and was a resident of the Kansas City Southern and held other offices on railroads.

Theodore A. Blake, member of an old Quaker family and prominently identified with early exploration work in Alaska, died in N. Y. City, Conn., Jan. 6, aged 60 years. He was a graduate of Yale, and a brother of the late Prof. James R. Blake, the geologist.

INDEPENDENT PHONE INTERESTS MAY UNITE

Question Is Expected to Come to a Vote at Chicago Convention.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—A proposed consolidation between the two national independent telephone organizations was expected to come to a vote here today at the meeting of the Independent Telephone Association of America. The National Independent Telephone company, with which it is proposed to consolidate, will meet here next week. "There were two types of telephone men," said C. B. Randall of St. Paul, who voiced the views of members opposed to the merger, "those who are in the business to stay, and those who are in the business to sell out to the Bell interests. This association will always hold its meetings with no member of the trust present."

CHAUTAUQUA SALUTE MENACE TO HEALTH

Flutter of Handkerchiefs Is Denounced as Spreader of Disease.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The Chautauqua salute is the latest institution to come under the ban as a distributor of colds, influenza and tuberculosis. Resolutions condemning the familiar flutter of handkerchiefs which marks many gatherings were presented today to the public health service and to the Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, by a local aid organization which works actively for the cure and prevention of the white plague.

VOSE PIANOS

Emerson told the truth about the triumph of merit when he wrote the little sermonette about the world wearing a beaten track to the door of the preacher, author or mouse trap maker who did their work BETTER than their neighbors.

Sixty-one years ago James V. Vose proved this truth. 70,000 families have come to the house VOSE because they knew where to get the best pianos.

Today VOSE is the piano world what Shakespeare is in the world of drama; what Edison is in this age of electricity.

There's only one reason for VOSE supremacy. It is as Emerson said: "Vose" built better than his neighbors."

You have not put yourself in a position to compare and contrast pianos until you know the VOSE. This is our invitation. Please call and let us show you.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no loss of time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me, Eugene St. Paul, 107 Marine Avenue, Duluth, Minn., I will send you a complete cure without operation. I will send you a complete cure without operation. I will send you a complete cure without operation.

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN MEET

League Opens Sessions in Washington—No Suffrage Debate.

Mrs. W. A. Cullop Sure of Election as President.

Washington, Jan. 7.—With her election to the presidency practically assured by an unusually large number of pledged votes, Mrs. William A. Cullop, wife of Representative Cullop of Indianapolis, and acting head of the Women's National Democratic league, called the league to order here today in its second annual convention. More than 500 delegates, representing every woman's organization affiliated with the Democratic party in the United States, were in attendance. The meeting promised to be the most important in the history of the league.

W. F. Folk, editor of the state department, spoke in his stead.

No Suffrage Action.

Mrs. Grace Porter Hopkins, field secretary of the league, announced today that the convention would not undertake to recommend any new legislation, but would remain neutral until congress or the administration acted upon the bills now pending.

The suffrage question, she explained, was now before the house committee. President Wilson, and that until some disposition of it had been made no action would be taken by the league.

According to the best informed members today it appeared that Mrs. Dunham C. Fletcher, wife of the senator from Florida, and Mrs. Luke Lea, wife of the senator from Tennessee, are prominently mentioned for the first vice presidency.

Improvement Club Appropriates Money for Skaters' Benefit.

The Fifth Ward Improvement club appropriated money for installing lights and guaranteed the payment of their maintenance for the winter skating rink at Ninth avenue and Third street at its meeting in the Emerson school, Eleventh avenue west and Third street last night. The rink has been without lights since its opening before Christmas and the young people who enjoy the sport in the evening have been compelled to skate in the dark.

An electrician will be put to work today to install the wires necessary, and it is expected that this evening the rink will be lighted for the first time. The action was taken on account of the refusal of the city to go to the expense of installing the lights. The members also discussed in an informal manner the proposed milk ordinance. All of these present opposed the new law. The club postponed the election of officers until its February meeting at which time it is proposed to have a list of good speakers present.

Swedish Baptist Notes.

The Young People's Society of the Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, held a social last evening in the parlors of the church.

INDORSEMENT FOR SOCIAL CENTERS

Miss Culklin Interviews Mrs. Ella Flagg Young of Chicago.

Miss Marguerite Culklin, director of Duluth social centers, who has just returned from Chicago, received a hearty endorsement of social center work from Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of the Chicago schools, while in that city.

"That social centers are indispensable and that they should be accepted without question was the opinion of Mrs. Young, says Miss Culklin.

"Social center work in Chicago differs from that in Duluth in that the former city is under the direction of teachers instead of a department of the city government," said Miss Culklin. "Mrs. Young favors this system because it trains the teacher to carry out the social idea in school work and makes schools something more than mere classrooms."

"Mrs. Young considers social centers the most effective means of training in the future."

There should be no conflict between day and night school buildings. In Chicago teachers have charge of social centers as well as day classes, and are not troubled with the problem of finding fault with conditions created at night under their own direction."

CRUSADE ON FOOD CHEATS LAUNCHED

Dr. Alsberg Asks Women to Help Government in the Work.

Washington, Jan. 7.—A nation-wide crusade against "cheats" and "hoaxers" of food products, was launched here with an address yesterday by Dr. Carl Alsberg, chief of the bureau of chemistry department of agriculture, before the women's department of the National Civic federation.

Dr. Alsberg emphasized the imperative need of strengthening and extending the scope of the pure food and drug act, and urged the women to cooperate with the government officers in an effort to secure legislation for food supplementing the present laws.

Pointing out the inadequacy of the existing law, Dr. Alsberg said legislation was needed to permit Federal inspection of all foodstuffs, whether sold in bulk or in small quantities, and that such a law, he declared, would within several years do away with epidemics of typhoid fever or similar dangerous diseases.

LITTLE ORPHANED BOOTBLACK BECOMES ENGINEER AND INVENTOR

Former Duluth Boy Rises From Poverty to Position of Importance By Sheer Persistence.

The excellent results that persistence and a little timely assistance and advice may bring, are shown by the history of a former Duluth boy, who as a poor orphan lad sold newspapers and polished shoes on Superior street not many years ago, but who now has risen to be an efficient electrical engineer and inventor.

The former Duluth boy is Dominick D. Leone and his early counselor and helper was E. R. Cobb, who is now treasurer of the Duluth board of education and secretary of the Duluth Builders' exchange.

Mr. Cobb is in receipt of a letter from the inventor giving the information that the latter is now in Chicago on business relating to an invention by him which has just been patented. The invention is an apparatus for preventing kettles from boiling dry, and which, demonstrators say, is an invaluable household aid.

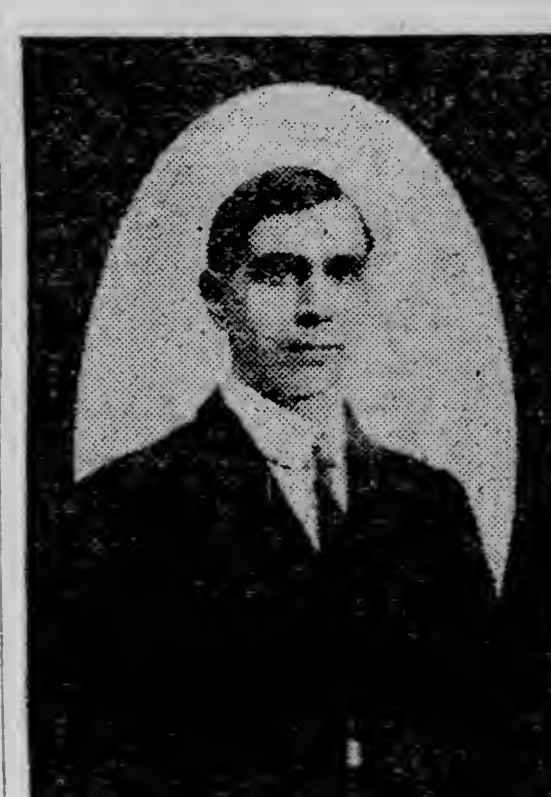

The young man is working on another invention also, upon which he has not yet received a patent. The inventor, Mr. Cobb believes will bring fortune to its possessor.

The life history of the boy is almost like a romance.

Lad was Ambitious. "About fifteen years ago," said Mr. Cobb, "Dominick lived at Hunter's Park, near the Forest Hill cemetery, with his uncle, Frank Janetti. He was then known as Dominick Janetti, although his real name was Leone. At that time I was a conductor on a street car and often saw the lad on my car. He had a bright, intelligent face, and looked honest and conscientious. I became quite friendly with him, and I told him I would help him in any way I could, and I finally asked him to come to my home and live with me. I let him have some text books, a few reference books, and gave him a very good encouragement and advice as I could. He seemed very responsive to kindness and followed my instructions very well.

I gained a great deal of satisfaction in helping him because he made the best use of what I gave him. In spite of the fact that he attended school but three months out of the year, he managed to study enough by himself to almost keep up with those who attended classes nine months in the year.

Became Fireman. "He left home when about 15 years old and became a fireman on the Duluth & Anaconda railway. Later he became an engineer. He still has a good study and took several degrees in a correspondence school, becoming an expert electrical engineer. He lived at Anaconda, and has been in the employ of the company until recently when he left for Chicago to attend to business in connection with his invention. "Mr. Cobb has in his office two pictures of recommendation written for Leone without request by his former employer, which are couched in the highest terms of his ability and character. "A newspaper in Anaconda, Mont., has the following regarding Leone's invention: "Dominick D. Leone of this city has just received letters granting him a patent on cooking utensil which he believes will prove invaluable in the kitchen. Mr. Leone's invention is to keep kettles from boiling dry. A tank of variable capacity is made with attachments to it so it will fit on almost any kind of dish. A small pipe extends from the tank into the kettle. When the water boils down to a certain point, more water is automatically let into the kettle. The water is heated by the pipe. The water is automatically shut off. By use of this device he declares food can be boiled without ever removing the cover or paying any attention to it."

BRYAN DELIVERS SPEECH OF VICTORY

Tells What Wilson Has Done and Speaks of Future.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 7.—Secretary of State Bryan put in a busy day here yesterday, attending a round of receptions, conferences with politicians, committee meetings and luncheon, with a speech at the annual banquet of the Lincoln Commercial club, at which he was the guest of honor. The crowd taxed the capacity of the Commercial club dining room, where Mr. Bryan spoke on "The New Era."

Mr. Bryan's speech was one of victory. He exulted over the accomplishments already attained by the administration, over what he said were the prospects of victory in the near future, and he said that the country was now in a position to meet the plans of his administration with those of the Republicans. The contrast last night in his exposition of "new era."

Nine points were set forth as the landmarks of the present day advance. These were, he said, the tariff law enacted in the interests of all the people, the confounding of the prophets of hard times to follow a tinkered tariff, the income tax which the cost of government is given to those who are able to bear it, the burden, the currency law which breaks the power of the money trust, the coming trust legislation that is promised to break the power of the money trust, the peace movement and its rapid spread over the world.

Emphatic on Currency. Mr. Bryan, dealing with the currency question, drew emphatic. His most caustic comments and his keenest satire were directed at the arguments advanced by the bankers against this measure.

The secretary of state commented briefly upon the Mexican question. He proclaimed the president an advocate of peace, and declared that he would settle the existing differences in that way. "The president does not doubt the patriotism of the country's young men," said Mr. Bryan, "and he is sure that if at sunrise he should call for 1,000,000 men they would be in line before sunset. But Woodrow Wilson knows God did not intend men should kill each other to settle their grievances."

CAPTAIN TELLS OF LOSS OF HIS SHIP

Says Spanish Vessel Neared Oklahoma, But "Just Fooled Around."

Doston, Mass., Jan. 7.—Capt. Alfred Gunter and seven other officers and men of the oil tank steamer Oklahoma arrived here early today on the Hamburg-American liner Bavaria from Philadelphia. The story which they told contained a highly sensational breaking in two of the vessel. There was no explosion, Capt. Gunter declared. He could advance no definite theory as to the cause of the buckling. Some of the officers expressed the opinion a weakness was developed amidships in the big tanker under the pounding of the heavy seas. As to the breaking up of the steamer, Capt. Gunter said: "I was standing on the bridge with the storm raging about us, when there was a slight tearing sound. The sound increased, the ship seemed to be torn in two, and the fore and aft parts floated clear of each other. This was

REELFOOT LAKE IS STATE'S PROPERTY

Tennessee Condemns the Scene of Famous Fishermen's Uprising.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 7.—Reelfoot lake, the noted Tennessee fishing and hunting resort, scene in 1908 of an uprising by fishermen who lynched Capt. Quentin Rankin, a prominent Tennessee lawyer, has become the property of the state. It is believed its acquisition by the state forester will end disturbances over fishing rights in the lake region. A condemnation suit gave the state possession.

The fishermen always regarded the lake as public property, and when Capt. Rankin and Col. R. Z. Taylor, Tennessee's game warden, went to Walnut lodge in 1908 to look after the title to property claimed by a land company, they were attacked by night riders. Capt. Rankin was shot and hanged to a tree. Col. Taylor escaped under fire by swimming a bayou.

Governor Patterson took the state militia to the lake and declared martial law. A number of night riders were sent into custody and the night riders freed. Occasional minor disturbances have been frequent.

COURT ORDERS CUT IN CABLE TOLLS.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 7.—A permanent injunction restraining the Commercial Cable company from charging the Western Union additional tolls to transfer messages from the latter's land lines to the cable company's lines has been issued by Superior Judge Sewall.

According to counsel for the telegraph company, it has been the practice of the cable company for years to insert in every message turned over to it the words "via San Francisco," and the date. For each of these words the Western Union was compelled to pay $1 in addition to the date, which would add approximately $1 tolls to every cablegram accepted for transmission.

Judge Sewall held the extra words were unnecessary and therefore should not be inserted in the future.

HARD TO FIND GOOD HELP APPEALS TO CANDIDATES

President of Merchants' Association Wants Course in Salesmanship.

Says Public Schools Can Raise Wages Quicker Than Legislature.

That the problem of finding efficient clerks is becoming more and more difficult of solution, and that proper training would bring higher wages for clerks in retail stores more quickly than minimum wage laws, is the statement of John I. Moe, president of the Duluth Retail Merchants' association.
Mr. Moe does not oppose a minimum wage law, but says the merchants would be more than willing to pay fair minimum wages, if they could have some assurance of efficiency with the clerks. He believes that the high school is the place to train the young people to become salesmen or saleswomen.
There are thousands of young men and women now working in stores who are not mentally equipped to earn the minimum wages prescribed by the laws in many states, he said. "If a minimum wage law were passed in Minnesota today it would force merchants to discharge many clerks who are drawing low wages. These clerks are not trained to earn any more than they are getting now. I believe any reliable merchant would willingly pay any reasonable wage scale and more if he could get clerks who would earn it."
Others Face Problem.
The merchants are not the only business men who are finding it difficult to secure efficient help. This problem of getting well trained assistance in any line of business seems to be growing more and more serious.
The employer of labor gets a much lower return from the $4 a week salesgirl than from the $15 or $17 a week girl. Cheap help is costly but most merchants find great difficulty in getting help that can earn the higher wages.

"I believe that our public schools can help solve the problem, and this belief is based on the record made by the school founded by Mrs. Leland W. Prince in Boston. It is called the Union School. Salesmanship was established in 1905. It is conducted under the auspices of the Women's Education and Industrial union and by Simmons college.
Mrs. Prince, the director of the school and now has three associate directors, one of whom is a physician, a woman, who is in charge of the course in hygiene. An advisory committee consisting of the directors of the leading department stores of Boston form invaluable allies in helping to plan the work and keep the close vital connection between the courses in instruction and the actual day's work of selling goods in stores.
Students Are Paid.
The students of the school are saleswomen employed by the department stores. They receive full wages while attending the school, and their day's work is divided about equally between school and store. They are paid $1.30 a week, plus the wages they receive at school from 12:30 to 5:30 p. m. for closing hours at their places in the stores.
Those unfamiliar with the manner in which the purpose of the school is carried out may wonder how the stores can afford to pay the wages to half-time workers.
The store superintendents and floor managers testify that those girls who are attending the school sell more in their afternoons at the store than their co-workers do in the entire day. An interesting sidelight is thrown on this question of the practical esteem in which the girls are held by the director's statement that some years ago in the early days of calling the girls to the store, the managers sent their lowest paid girls whom they felt could be easily replaced. Now they send their best and most promising employees to the specialized training.
Last winter 125 graduates of the school of salesmanship were interviewed with the purpose of determining whether the training had paid in terms of cash increasing wages. One hundred and forty-five of the girls had received an increase within the year. Thirty-four of these had advanced $2 a week, eight had advanced $3 a week, two had advanced $4 a week, two had advanced $5 a week, one had advanced $6 a week, one had advanced $7 a week, one had advanced $8 a week, one had advanced $9 a week, one had advanced $10 a week, one had advanced $11 a week, one had advanced $12 a week, one had advanced $13 a week, one had advanced $14 a week, Woman's Team

A reading of Parley's "Diasia" by Miss Rachel St. Clair, given yesterday at the meeting of the study class of the Duluth branch of the Drama League, held every one of the members present intensely interested in the last.

Her interpretation of the characters was excellent and Miss Elizabeth Olcott gave an analysis of the play which was comprehensive and interesting. Miss Olcott pointed out the grasp of human nature and the shrewdness of the eminent statesman as special points and she spoke of Parley's love for pageant effects cropping out in the fourth act of the drama. She spoke of the work of the Drama League in New York in preventing the play from being taken off the stage.

HER PET WOLF BIT BUTLER; $400 DAMAGES

—Copyright by George Grantham Bain.

PRINCESS PAUL TROUBETSKOY.

This is the Princess Paul Troubetzkoy who arrived in New York Saturday. She is the beautiful woman who astonished Paris by taking a wolf with her on a chain when she went on her daily walk in the Bois de Boulogne. After a time the wolf bit a piece out of the leg of the princess's butler and it cost the princess $400. The wolf was shot. When the butler's case against the princess was on trial, the judge said that the keeping of blood-thirsty animals as pets was a return to the customs of decaying Rome.

The bride wore a gown of real lace trimmed with pearls over white champagne and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by Miss Ida Levine as maid of honor, Miss Anna Levine, Miss Sadie Postoff, as bridesmaids and Mr. David had as his best man, Roy Levine, brother of the bride and Jack Levine and Michael Levine as groomsmen.

A wedding supper followed the ceremony and covers were laid for 400. The out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Leonard, St. Paul; Miss Fanny Scheinbaum, Sioux City, Iowa; Miss Adele Zalk and Mrs. Zalk, St. Paul; Miss Sarah Polin, Minneapolis; Miss Meyers, St. Paul; Mr. and Mrs. Stiel, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Hibbing, Minneapolis.

Seal Sales Set Record.
The receipts for Red Cross seals in broken last year's record by a good margin. Up to date $834.01 has been received, while the record for 1913 was but $800. It is expected that the total receipts this year will be $1,000. Some of the largest stores have not yet made their report on sales. These reports are expected to swell the sum considerably.

Fined for Larceny.
Steve Vocellio, 23 years old, who was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of stealing a suit of clothes from A. Weiner, 713 West Superior street, pleaded guilty in police court this morning and was fined $50 and costs or sixty days in the county jail.

New Policeman.
Chief Trovay this morning appointed Roy Gamache a patrolman on the Duluth police force and the latter will assume his duties at once. Gamache lives at 1229 North Fifty-seventh avenue west and is very well-known in West Duluth. He is the last of the eligibles for appointment and a new examination will be held shortly by the civil service commission.

A Dainty Lunch
Served steaming hot every day at the St. Louis Hotel buffet.

Named on State Board.
Dr. C. W. Benson, one of the city's youngest but best known dentists, has just been appointed a member of the state board of dental examiners. Dr. Benson's appointment to this office comes as a result of the recommendation of the state dental society made at its convention at Minneapolis last summer. He succeeds Dr. Robinson of Wabasha.

Give Lihen Shower.
Mrs. Irving Logsdon and Mrs. Frank Peterson of 113 Park avenue, entertained at a lovely reception last night. Miss Gladys Broadbridge last night. The rooms were beautifully decorated in red, blue, green and Florida palms. Luncheon was served to twenty-five guests.

Seeking "Miss Green."
Chief Trovay received communication this morning from the Hennepin county morgue asking him to locate Miss Gerota Green, who is supposed to be in Duluth, and who may have the authorities in Minneapolis some information regarding the identity of a man named Muldoon, 47 years old, who was found dead in a rooming house yesterday morning. On a small piece of paper near the body was written the name of Miss Green, Duluth.

January Calendar Called.
The January 1914 term of the district court opened this morning at the pre-emptory call of the calendar of civil cases before Judge Cant. The calendar consists of 243 cases and the majority of them marked for trial. The divorce cases will be tried first and it is expected that a number will be disposed of tomorrow.

VACCINATE PUPILS.

Dozen Cases of Smallpox Reported at the Emerson School.

The vaccination of children at the Emerson school was continued this morning by school and health department officials. Last week a dozen cases of smallpox were discovered by the health department in the vicinity of the school, which is located in Eleventh avenue west and Third street. The vaccination was started Monday but the supply of vaccine was nearly exhausted and was continued until today so that an additional supply could be obtained.

GRAND JURY IN SESSION

About twenty-five cases will be brought to the attention of the January grand jury by Mason M. Forbes, first assistant county attorney, this week. The jury convened this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and after receiving a charge from Judge Cant retired to the grand juryroom to take up its work.

No intimation has been received as to whether or not the grand jury will investigate the charges made against the police by the News Tribune a few weeks ago. The grand jury may proceed on its own initiative in the matter.

STUDY CHICAGO SMOKE CONDITIONS

J. W. Schneider Will Work Out New Methods for Duluth.

After he has absorbed the knowledge now in the possession of the city pertaining to smoke prevention, J. W. Schneider, electrical inspector, will be sent to Chicago to make a study of the methods followed in that city in handling the smoke nuisance. This conclusion was definitely reached this morning following a conference between J. B. Crane, chairman of the Commercial club committee, which recently investigated smoke conditions in Duluth; Mayor Prince, head of the division of public affairs, which includes the smoke inspection department; and Inspector Schneider. Inspector Schneider will combine the smoke inspection with his electrical inspection work. Mayor Prince states that the smoke nuisance is at its height during the winter months, when the electrical work is at a low, enabling the two positions to be effectively combined without additional expense to the city.

LINDBERGH TO HEAD BULL MOOSE TICKET?

St. Paul Paper Says He Would Accept Nomination for Governor.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Dispatch this afternoon says: Word has been received by St. Paul Progressives indicating that Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh of the Sixth Minnesota congressional district will be the Progressive candidate for governor, if his candidacy meets with the approval of the Progressive conference to be held in St. Paul Feb. 12.

COUNTY BOARD APPOINTMENTS

Few Changes Made Among Employees at Court-house.

W. F. McKay, supervisor of assessments for the unorganized territory of St. Louis county, was reappointed to the position by the county board at its adjourned annual meeting this morning.

The board also made a number of other appointments. Thomas W. Dyer was appointed assistant county engineer at a monthly salary of $125 over and above expenses. Dr. F. E. Chier was appointed jail physician at $50 per month and Dr. J. J. Murphy was continued as chairman of the county board of health for another year at a monthly salary of $20. The other members of the board of health are: County Commissioners, Walter Swanson and Grant McMahon.

The board also confirmed the appointment and salaries of deputies employed in the various county offices. Few changes were noted in the list.

OLD COURTHOUSE SITE AS RINK

County May Permit Its Use for Skaters and Hockey Games.

Although the ban was placed on baseball games on the old courthouse grounds at Sixth avenue east and Third street last summer, the county may permit the site to be used for ice skating and hockey rink during the winter months.

The matter came before the county board at the adjourned session of its annual meeting this morning when the commissioners considered the petition of the Duluth Universal Milling company's hockey team for permission to use the grounds as a rink during the winter months.

It was referred to a committee and if no objections are raised the sheriff will be directed by the board to banish one crowd the hockey team has agreed to take care of the rink.

GERMANS WEED OUT TURKISH OFFICERS

Nearly Three Hundred Go Under Reorganization of Ottoman Army.

Constantinople, Jan. 7.—Two hundred and eighty high Turkish army officers were retired today as a result of changes in the military administration, introduced by the new German advisers of the Turkish government. Among them was Hadide Paasha, chief of the general staff. The report of the resignation of the Turkish grand vizier, Prince Said Halim, published some time ago, was erroneous.

HELP COLLEGE FIRST.

Fargo Has Scheme to Shift Army-Auditorium Subscriptions.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the purpose of completing the Army-auditorium and also to increase the subscriptions to Fargo college it has been suggested that subscribers to the former consent to transfer their subscriptions to the college and that the city vote to bear the entire expense of the Army-auditorium. The matter is somewhat in its preliminary stages, but the plan is generally favored by the leading business men. It may require persuasion to induce some of the subscribers to shift, and a special election would be necessary to endorse a bond issue for the city to take over the auditorium. There is little doubt but that the plan would carry by a large majority.

Great 85c Shirt Sale this week at The Big Duluth. PAY $60 AN ACRE FOR UNPLOWED LAND

Bidding at Cass County, N. D., Land Sale Quite Spirited.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sale of Cass county school lands was completed this morning by the disposition of the last tract advertised. There were evidences that in many localities bidders had reached an agreement to bid more than the appraisal value; in others there was too much rivalry.

COMMISSION IS WIPED OUT

Court Ruling Abolishes Thief River Falls Utilities Commission.

Judge Grindeland Holds That It Was Not Legally Created.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The recently appointed public utilities commission of this city which has been a bone of much contention is no more as the result of a ruling just made by Judge Grindeland at Warren in the quo warranto proceedings instituted to test the legality of the commission.

The contention was made by the parties instituting the proceedings that the three members of the commission were holding positions legally created by the council contrary to the laws. Last spring the resolution in question was passed by the council but was vetoed by the mayor.

The matter was then made the subject for further consideration but nothing was done with it until last fall after the council was elected at the November elections.

Passed Over Mayor Veto. It was then taken up from where it was left in the spring and passed over the mayor's veto. The council, being Socialist, appointed three Socialist commissioners. Judge Grindeland held the commission, it is likely that the case will be appealed.

BURY CLOQUET CHILD.
Last Rites for Ruth McKenzie Who Died After Brief Illness.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Ruth McKenzie, aged 10, who died Monday night after a brief illness from a cold that developed pneumonia, was held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Carlton, avenue 10, between 10th and 11th streets. The out-of-town people here for the funeral were Mrs. E. L. Klock, a sister of Mr. McKenzie from Duluth, and Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie from Duluth.

The little girl was born and reared here and well known and popular among a wide acquaintance.

SCHWAB IS DEFENDANT.
Steel Magnate Sued in Montana By New York State Officer.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 7.—An echo of the Carnegie trust failure of 1911 in New York city was heard here Tuesday, when George O. Van Tassel, jr., superintendent of the state of New York, started suit against Charles H. Schwab, head of the Bethlehem Steel company, John J. Ramsey, nineteen others to obtain the courts order for an assessment of $1,500,000 and other costs.

The matter has been filed in this county because there are resident stockholders. Similar actions are being taken in every state.

A HAPPY CHILD IN JUST A FEW HOURS
If Croup, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and your baby has a happy, healthy child again.

Children simply will not take the medicine from play to play, their bodies are becoming tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When croup, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it and it cannot cause injury. No difference what ails your little one, if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomachache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 5-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

ARREST TIMEKEEPER.

Caught in Mill City on Beltrami County Charge.

Beltrami, Minn., Jan. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff G. A. Johnson went to Minneapolis yesterday and arrested Hal Wilkinson on charges referred by the International Lumber Union. Wilkinson, who is a timekeeper in a lumber camp at Beltrami, was employed as a timekeeper in a lumber camp at Beltrami and at the same time checks work and more than $150 disappeared and later it was learned they had been cashed.

HAD PRISON BRAND.
So North Dakotan Welcomed Return to State Penitentiary.

Minot, N. D., Jan. 7.—Sam Martinson, who he again played in the penitentiary, was greeted yesterday when Judge Leighton sentenced him to two years for forgery. Martinson, who served several weeks ago, after serving three years for forgery, became discouraged, he says, because of "being branded" and because one would have anything to do with him. Deliberately, he says, he went about the second forgery for the purpose of again landing in the penitentiary and finally smiled when sentence was pronounced.

MOTT WELCOMES ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

Mett, N. D., Jan. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—When the electric lights were turned on the people made it an occasion of celebration. Practically every one in town invaded the business district and the occasion was a "being branded" and because one would have anything to do with him. Deliberately, he says, he went about the second forgery for the purpose of again landing in the penitentiary and finally smiled when sentence was pronounced.

SHELDON, N. D., PLANS POTATO WAREHOUSE.

Sheldon, N. D., Jan. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—So greatly has the popularity of the potato crop grown in this county increased that the time has come when it is necessary to have a warehouse to store the crop. A preliminary effort shows many business men and farmers are interested and it is planned to build a large warehouse when proper officials will be selected to take the matter in charge.

WILL RAISE ALFALFA AND FATTEN CATTLE.

Flasher, N. D., Jan. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—John H. Hanson kind of this place will put 100 acres in alfalfa this spring. He is the owner of a large herd of cattle and has become convinced that alfalfa is the proper grass for both cattle and hogs and he intends to give it a thorough trial. The alfalfa will be seeded in bottom lands. Recently seventeen farmers agreed to put in 125 acres.

FARMERS RAISING HOGS.

Tagus, N. D., Jan. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a result of the change in the methods of farming here from the one crop of grain, the farmers have gone heavily into hog raising. They are now beginning to ship them out in carload lots and the indications are the industry will be a profitable one.

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP By BRUCE

HEY don't come back. No, of course not. Well, then why the fume and fuss regarding the attempts of some of the once great athletes to run of supremacy? Because, Bill—welcome back—human nature is the most emphatic, elastic and complex institution in the world. Oh, no, no indeed. It is not confined to the prize ring, where we get the most glaring examples of its complete and magnificent failure. No; not by any means. There is the man of over fifty, who, suddenly, his stomach or liver or heart or something else gets out of order. Serves him right, you say? Well that is neither here nor there.

This man goes to a gymnasium, or hires a trainer like Friend Trepanier, and after working for a while turns himself on the chest and proudly cries to Friend George: "I'm as good as ever, feel like twenty. I could go right out now and run a mile." Now the most peculiar, let us say amazing, part of the whole thing is that the man of over fifty, who has drunk several high balls before dinner every year, who has dined heavily in the middle of the day, and who has started smoking the big black ones immediately after breakfast, really has kidded himself into the belief that he could run a mile. Let him go out and try it. If he ran a block he would be going some.

There is also the tired business man—legitimate we have been told of him. He has some kind of a nervous breakdown; can't keep his "off" business. Finally he is compelled to go off to the hills and hills and babbling and purring brooks for an enforced rest. He doesn't really rest, but nature has some small chance to take the slight rest gained between rounds, and he comes back to the desk and a greeted by the stenographer with the fatal words: "How well you are looking." The tired business man kids himself that he is as good as ever. He plunges in once more and yet some people wonder why some other people die at an early age.

They say Corbett kidded himself that he was as good as ever the second time he fought Jim Jeffries. A man does feel right in the gymnasium simply because perhaps he does not call on the last reserve. It is when the call for some superhuman effort comes that the brain swiftly and tragically telegraphs the knowledge of weary muscles and out nerves. Volgaist perhaps thinks he is as good as he was in the old days, when he could flail through twenty rounds and never draw a long breath. He is all human, and he is as good as the fighters, and we are prone to believe that we are as good today as in the unspent youth of yesterday. Hence this grave fallacy regarding the comeback.

We feel good, we take a little exercise and feel better. The optimism in man rises up and kicks its heels together. We believe we are there; as good as ever. But when the tired muscles ache, and there is a sick and faint feeling in the stomach, and the heart is kicking a hole through the ribs, the inner voice sometimes speaks gently and says:

"Nay, nay, the little walk down to work and fussing around with the lawn mower is about all for you."

Crowding the Game.
ON the endeavor to get cards that the fans will engage over some of the promoters are overreaching themselves. We have in mind the matching of Bud Anderson with Leach Cross. Anderson was taken off the farm and put against one of the best of the lightweight class. The result—a foregone conclusion—was the senseless beating up of a nice, clean boy, who should be back telling some nice country girl how irresponsible she was, instead of being smeared over the ring by a professional pugilist from the East side of New York.

Here is what Harry Carr, one of the best sporting writers on the Pacific coast has to say about it: "If the Pacific Athletic club really desires to stop boxing in California, it would be simpler to sign one of the anti-fight petitions than to stage any more fights with Bud Anderson as one of the participants."

"This has become a big-league city. Big league prices are charged by the boxing promoters and the public has a right to expect the employment of skilled big-league boxers."

"Bud Anderson is an honest country boy, but as a boxer he is a weird performer. The most amazing sight I ever saw in a ring took place just before the referee signaled for the fight to begin. As the chairs were taken from the corner, Bud Anderson's manager and trainer ducked into the ring in front of him, and, with frantic gestures, showed him the position in which he should hold his hands. Imagine giving a fighter a lesson in the first rudiments of boxing as he prepares to leave his corner. Let us pray to be delivered from any more 'promising' signers. There are plenty of seasoned, experienced, skilled boxers in the ring without invading the hick circuits. To make matches for boxers so miserably lacking in skill as Bud Anderson is simply inviting another Bull Young disaster."

FROM Minneapolis comes a denial of the story that the authorities of the old soldiers' home have asked the Cantillon for waivers on the majority of the players on their team.

Well, It Was Different.
IF some of the American league magnates should set up an awful holler regarding the attempts of the Federal league officials to grab some of the players of their league, some one in one of the dark corners of baseball might yell forth that the American league officials considered the same line of procedure very cute and clever in the days when the younger of the majors was coming into his piratical own.

One of the Very Best.
CRITICS of the wrestling game are unanimous in agreeing that Gustav Fristensky, the wonderfully constructed Bohemian, is one of the greatest wrestlers who has come to this country since the arrival of Yussif Mahomet.

It is said that the big fellow is fast and wonderfully muscular—but better yet, really knows how to wrestle and wrestle in the catch-as-catch-can style. Fristensky is said to more closely resemble Frank Gotch in his movements than any of the American wrestlers of the present time. If the big fellow is as good as those who have seen him work say he is, then the wrestling game will be benefited by a wrestler of real ability.

TWO SMASH RECORDS. Americans Make New Track Marks in New Zealand.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 7.—According to advices received here, Power of the Boston Athletic association and Templeton of the San Francisco Olympic club, members of the all-American track team, broke records yesterday in the most being held in Wellington, N. Z.

Power established a new record of 1:58.2 for the mile, which is a fifth better than the record made by Burke in 1906. Templeton broke the New Zealand and Australian pole vault record by clearing 11 feet and 2 inches, which displaces the former mark of 11 feet and 1 inch. Templeton broke his pole at this height and was unable to continue for a better mark.

Parlor, the sprinter of the team, is laid up with a pulled tendon and will not compete in the 100 yard dash. The weight man, won the shot put with plenty to spare. All events were handled.

SPARS FOR DEFIANCE. Hollow Masts Shaped for Equipment of Cup Defender.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 7.—Two sets of spars are being made here for the Defender, the American cup defense sloop, to be built at Bath, Me., for the syndicate of New York, Philadelphia and Boston yachtsmen.

Two hollow masts will be shaped. For one of these a fir log, 120 feet long and 26 inches in diameter, was sawed by hand, requiring three days' work, as no machinery in the city was adequate.

WILL TRAIN YANKEES. Thomas P. Daly, Former Anson Catcher, Engaged By Chance's Team.

New York, Jan. 7.—Frank Chance has been looking for a veteran coach to handle the New York American league club's pitchers this year, and the acquisition of Thomas P. Daly, at one time a leading National league catcher, is announced. Daly was signed by President Barrell on Chance's recommendation and he will go to Houston, Texas, to assume his duties on March 1.

Daly became famous as a catcher under Anson, who signed him in 1889. Daly caught John K. Tener's curves in those days, and also made the trip around the world with the Chicago team. He has been a scout for several clubs in recent years.

Portage Lake Wins. Calumet, Mich., Jan. 7.—Portage Lake defeated Calumet 4 to 2 in the opening game of the western section of the American Amateur Hockey association here last night. Portage Lake represents Houghton and Hancock.

TOURNEY IS CALLED OFF

County Attorney Forbids Amateur Boxing Exhibition Being Held.

In Violation of State Law, Is Attorney General's Opinion.

After the consent of Mayor Prince, Commissioner of Public Safety Hickson asked, despite the fact that I was asked to give the sanction of the Amateur Athletic Union of America, County Attorney Warren E. Greene last evening ordered the amateur show called off, after he had received an opinion from the attorney general's office that it was in violation of the law.

Similar exhibitions, it is asserted, have been held in Minneapolis, several of the amateurs who were to compete here having engaged in the Minneapolis tournament last year.

All of the principals that were to engage in the tourney were on the ground and every detail of the holding of the exhibition had been completed. The decision of the county attorney, following the communication with the attorney general, means that there will be no more amateur boxing in this city of any public nature, and that in the future all exhibitions of the gloves, no matter how friendly a nature, must be strictly tabooed.

Kick at Athletics.
"This takes an awful kick at amateur athletics," said A. L. Ryberg last evening. "I have been interested in the development of the best kind of athletics here and have had the honor of Mayor Prince and Commissioner Hickson from the start. Our aim has been the development of clean athletics and better boys, at least from the physical standpoint. The exhibition of the past have been attended by the city officials and have received their unanimous commendation."

"Chief of Police Trever attended the show of last year at the Auditorium and declared that there was absolutely nothing objectionable. It was the opinion of the city officials at the time of the show of this evening. However, if the glove contests between amateurs who have been carefully selected to register in the Amateur Athletic Union of America, it is considered in the light of prize fighting, the game will have to be stopped."

Great interest was evinced in the show. Most of the boys had been prepared for the past few weeks, and it was expected that the exhibition would prove to be one of the best ever held here.

MEETING OF MARKSMEN

Northwestern Gun Club Holds Annual Election of Officers.

With a large number of persons present, the annual meeting of the Northwestern Gun Club was held last evening. One of the important matters discussed was the establishment of a permanent club house and grounds, and this matter proved to be taken up at an early date.

Fred Dryer was elected president; John Oakes, Sr., vice president; Frank Hickson, secretary; John Wood, treasurer; Charles Krelwitz, field captain; and Walter Grams a member of the auditing committee.

It was decided to spend about $1,500 on the clubhouse at the Northwest. It was also the intention of the officials of the club to erect one of the finest shooting lodges in the Northwest.

Think of having the grounds of the club on Park Point, in the vicinity of the Central Gun Club, the officers of the club and one of the best seasons in the history of the club. The Northwestern Gun Club is a healthy financial organization and plans for even more activity than has been undertaken in the past, it is being made.

One of the projects in view is the holding in Duluth of the Northwest clay bird championships. Officers of the Northwestern Gun Club and the promoters of the event are working for this end.

It was decided to spend about $1,500 on the clubhouse at the Northwest. It was also the intention of the officials of the club to erect one of the finest shooting lodges in the Northwest.

FRANK GOTCH UNDECIDED World's Champion May and May Not Return to Mat.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 7.—Frank Gotch was a Minneapolis visitor yesterday for a short time, confining here to attend to some business matters.

"I have received some flattering offers to wrestle, but as yet have not accepted any of them," said the champion when questioned regarding the numerous reports to the effect that he would return to the mat.

"A tournament between all of the foreign wrestlers will be held in New York this month and the promoters want me to appear. Maybe I will, and maybe I won't. I haven't made up my mind yet."

Nothing is so nothing that story about my being barred from wrestling in Chicago. I have had several offers for big matches in Chicago and the promoters inform me that the city authorities are not opposed to my wrestling there.

POOR WEATHER FOR CURLING

Members Worrying About Ice for Bonspiel—Tuesday's Scores.

The weather man is imposing severe handicaps on the curlers. The ice at the club is in wretched condition and good curling under the present conditions is next to impossible. Despite the fact that the ice was announced last evening that unless the thermometer dropped there would be no games on for tonight.

Following is the result of the games played last evening: Field event—Warren, 15; Graham, 10; Spalding defaulted to White; Hurst, 11; Dillman, 10; Cleveland, 16; McGregor, 9.

Bagley event—Grady forfeited to Jones; Schiller, 13; Helmick, 9; Richardson, 13; Michael, 8; R. J. McLeod, 12; Treadway, 7; Pierce, 14; Plotniky, 2.

Manley event—Ron Smith, 15; Stronman, 7; Catterston, 12; Harris, 11.

RAILROAD MEN ARE COMING TO THE SPIEL.

Secretary Harter of the Northwestern Curling association today received the official entries of two more Winnipeg rink. The Canadian Northern railroad is going to send two rinks down, Robert Creelman, the general passenger agent of the road, and who is very well known here, will skip one of these rinks, and L. Dow will skip the other.

Hunter of Minneapolis is going to bring a rink here and word was received from Dr. Nelson of 340 Paul that the Saint City rink was going to send at least six rinks and possibly eight.

PLAYERS ARE VICTORIOUS

National Baseball Commission Grants All But Two Requests.

Considered Shrewd Move to Stop Jumps to Federal League.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 7.—Only a few of the many notables of the baseball world who have been in attendance at the sessions of the National baseball commission remained today to witness what was expected to be the final meeting of the commission for the present.

Only routine business was to be passed upon today. General congratulations were exchanged on the outcome of the prolonged meeting yesterday.

The extreme liberality with which the commission dealt with the Players' Fraternity was said by prominent baseball men to be a wise move inasmuch as they believe it will tend to conciliate the players and keep them from jumping to the Federal league.

The exodus of baseball leaders began after midnight last night, and there was no intimation given out by them on leaving that any riders or deals had been made since the national commission went into session Monday.

The commission was in session almost until midnight last night, considering the requests of the players' fraternity. When the night session had been concluded all requests had been disposed of, the fraternity having agreed to the contract to run a compromise was noted in two minor recommendations.

Re-wording of Rules.
Six requests were considered. These were discussed earlier in the day and passed on to the night session. The first one of them was decided in a compromise when it was decided to insert the word "negotiate" instead of "demand" in the rule. This now reads:

"When a player receives ten days' notice of an unconditional release, he shall be free to negotiate with any team immediately after the expiration of the ten-day period."

No 2 request was modified to include a five-day notice of release of a player from a team. This was a request of lower classification. This league of lower classification, the league originally asked that National League players shall receive ten days' notice before they can be released unconditionally.

Request No. 3 which read, "When a player is transferred, he shall be paid for the balance of the year the contract," was conceded by the commission to adjust.

Request No. 5 was also amended, the club making such an agreement as to the number of twelve years. Request No. 12 was modified to read that if a player is notified of his release or class AA league will be released and no other club in such league desires him.

Love Feast Follows.
After considering the list of requests the baseball magnates and others to the number of 100 were the guests of August Hermann, president of the club, in which the meeting of the commission is being held.

The members of the national league and that of the players' fraternity, with the exception of Dan Brouthers, who was unable to be on hand.

President Fultz of the Baseball Players' fraternity said after the meeting last night:

"Of course we would like to have the baseball commission and the minor league committee all our requests granted, but we are perfectly satisfied. We got as much as we expected, and possibly a little more. We were treated royally."

LOS ANGELES GETS BIG AUTO RACES

American Classics Will Be Run Next Month on Santa Monica.

New York, Jan. 7.—For the first time in the history of American automobile racing, the Grand Prix and Vanderbilt cup events will be held this year west of the Mississippi river. The two major motor car contests were awarded to Los Angeles by the Motor Cups Holding association. The races will be run on the famous Santa Monica track on Feb. 21 and 22. The grand prize on the latter date.

Announcement of the conclusion of negotiations for staging of the races in California was made by Leon T. Shettler, vice president of the Western Automobile association, which will conduct the events. Mr. Shettler had been in touch for six weeks with W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Harry Payne Whitney and others identified with national and international automobile racing. He formal agreement was reached between Mr. Shettler and Henry B. Anderson, president of the Automobile Club of America, and representatives of the Motor Cups Holding association.

The Automobile Club of America has sanctioned the Grand Prix race for Los Angeles, and Mr. Shettler said he had been assured that the American Automobile association would shortly sanction the Vanderbilt cup event.

San Francisco, Milwaukee and the Long Island Motor Parkway officials did not bid for the races this year. It is understood that the Western Automobile association was the only organization which sought actively for the privilege of running the events.

According to Mr. Shettler, who has been in communication with automobile makers, a list of entrants for the Vanderbilt event, larger than for any previous national race, has been assembled.

JOHNNY TILLMAN WANTS TO FIGHT PAUL BROWN

Minneapolis Lightweight After Chance to Meet the Hibbing Boxer Before the Twin Ports Club Next Month.

Johnny Tillman, the crack Minneapolis lightweight, has consented to a meeting with Paul Brown before the Twin Ports Athletic club for some time in February. Announcement of the consent of Tillman to the meeting was received from Minneapolis today.

For some time Mr. Abrams of the Twin Ports Athletic club has been casting about for a fit opponent of the Hibbing boy, as Paul has promised the Hibbing officials that he will serve in this section of the country. The statement that Tillman, who has been coming to the front very rapidly within the past few months, has consented to the meeting, means that one of the best bouts that has been staged in the section of the country under the Harding law, will result.

Tillman is Very Clever.
In a twenty-round contest many of the fans at the Head of the Lakes would back Brown to defeat the shifty and clever Minneapolis man. In ten rounds the proposition is quite another shade. Tillman is clever and shifty, there is no denying that. Jimmy Murphy slammed Steve Gardner around the ring, ripping in short smashes and the squatty Italian was expected to wreck the countenance of Tillman. The two hardly laid a glove on Tillman during the ten rounds of miling.

Since leaving these parts it is stated that Brown developed a straight left, so the reports say. Paul is a long-sured, while a large entry list in the other prize contest is also certain.

"Line Busy"—Its Meaning

It is very unlikely that the operator is negligent who reports "Line busy."

It lightens her burden to get the connection at once.

It takes less work for the operator to complete a connection than to report "Line busy" and be called again.

Line in Use
"Busy" means that the line—not necessarily the telephone called—is in use.

If the person called has a "party" line and one subscriber is using it, the line is "busy."

If the party called has individual line service, "Line busy" means that the telephone called is being used.

If the party called has more than one line, and all are in use, the operator reports, "All lines busy."

SUSPECT ARRESTED AND ADMITS SHOOTING OFFICER

Joseph Zori, 21 years old, arrested in South Superior shortly after noon today as one of the men suspected of shooting Patrolman Neil J. Mooney is alleged to have confessed after an examination by Chief of Police Trower at headquarters at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Zori bears marks of the struggle with the patrolman and is said to have admitted being the one who fired the shot. He does not know where his companion has gone, claiming that the latter went in another direction after the shooting and that he had not seen him since.

Shortly before noon today Zori came to a window in the Duluth Police office station at South Superior and saying that he was planning to take an early train this afternoon, the station agent immediately suspected Zori, having noticed the marks on the latter's head, and he telephoned Superior headquarters, once. In the meantime the station agent arranged with a brakeman to follow Zori and this he did, until the police arrived and placed the fugitive under arrest. He was taken to headquarters, where he was held until Chief Trower and Detective Terry arrived and brought him back to Duluth.

Zori said at headquarters that it was his hat that was found at the scene of the struggle and also identified his revolver. He said that he had gone back to his rooming house after the shooting and secured another cap.

The prisoner declared that he had been wandering about all night and had made his escape to the Wisconsin side of the river just before daylight. He was planning to leave for St. Paul when arrested, he said.

Zori gave the name of his companion who was with him when Patrolman Mooney was shot, as follows: A. Thomsen, who is now being made to find him.

Patrolman Mooney is reported in a very low condition.

MORE GAME WARDENS ARE TO BE DROPPED

State Game and Fish Commission Elects Officers at Annual Meeting.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 7.—Officers of the state game and fish commission, were elected at its annual meeting, held at the Hotel St. Paul, today. The commission is composed of five members, elected for a term of two years. The position pays $2,500 annually.

George J. Bradley of Norwood is president; D. L. Durkin of Frazee, first vice president; E. L. Ogilvie of South St. Paul, second vice president; and O. O. Outhun of Glenwood, secretary. E. W. Cobb will retain his position as permanent secretary at $1,500 a year.

Drop More Wardens.
The commission decided to drop eight more wardens from its appropriation. This makes twenty-five wardens who have retired since Oct. 1. It is probable that many of these will be employed again after Aug. 1 of this year when another appropriation is available. The list of those to be dropped has been decided upon by the board, and only the number to be retired was given.

HAS ALMOST HALF MILLION

County Has Comfortable Sum on Hand in the Banks.

At the close of the day's business yesterday, the county treasury contained $481,116.09 of which $28,121.76 was in the office vault and $452,994.33 was on deposit in the various banks of the city and county. This was disclosed after an examination of the treasurer's books by an auditing committee from the county board.

The audit is required by law twice a year. At 5 o'clock last evening the amount on deposit in the various county depositories was as follows:

American Exchange National, Duluth, bond account, $2,188.47; First National, Duluth, 27,881.68; American Exchange National, Duluth, 28,381.65; City National, Duluth, 26,627.40; Northern National, Duluth, 12,815.31; Western State, Duluth, 10,000.00; St. Louis County State, Duluth, 15,000.00; Duluth, 8,000.00; Central State, Duluth, 8,000.00; Citizens' State, Duluth, 10,000.00; State bank, Aurora, 10,000.00; First National, Itasca, 10,000.00; First State, Ely, 10,000.00; First National, Eveleth, 10,000.00; First State, Eveleth, 10,000.00; First State, Floodwood, 2,000.00; First National, Gilbert, 8,000.00; First National, Duluth, 20,000.00; Merchants and Miners' State Bank, Hibbing, 10,000.00; Security State, Hibbing, 10,000.00; Proctor State bank, Proctor, 10,000.00; First State, Tower, 10,000.00; First National, Virginia, 10,000.00; American Exchange, Virginia, 10,000.00; State bank, Virginia, 10,000.00; Certificates of deposit, 20,000.00.

Total, $481,116.09. The amount on hand is smaller than usual owing to the fact that little money is being collected from the usual sources of revenue. The amount of cash and checks on hand in the county treasury at the close of the day's business yesterday was $452,994.33.

CRUPPS HAVE A LIGHT BOMB.
American Mechanist: A German authority describes an illuminating projectile of a new type manufactured by Krupp. The projectile, built like a shell, contains a number of layers of flame bulbs in a black powder matrix separated by thin annular partitions. A fuse runs through the center of the projectile like a core. The base of the projectile is filled with six "flashes" made of thin metal, which are held in place, folded up, and project outwardly.

When the projectile reaches the highest point in its trajectory, an automatic arrangement releases the "flashes" at the base, arresting its flight and causing it to burst through the center of the projectile. At this moment the first layer of flame bulbs is thrown out, and the others follow in quick succession, lighting up the field.

EXPLAINS WHY MEN ARE NOT PROSECUTED

Department of Justice Issues Statement on Railroad Mismanagement.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Attorney General McReynolds, in answer to a question asked during the hearing on New Haven railroad affairs, today made plain that his department has not yet determined whether it would prosecute criminally former officers and directors of the New Haven road. The question, he said, would be settled after the reorganization problem had been worked out.

The department of justice issued this statement:

"The department of justice is constantly receiving letters inquiring why it does not direct the prosecution of officers and directors who have been responsible for the financial irregularities in the management of railroads, as disclosed from time to time.

"These inquiries proceed from a mistaken but very common view of the powers of the department of justice. There is no law under which it can prosecute the officers, directors or other agents of a railroad company for improvident or dishonest management of the financial affairs of that company, since congress has not undertaken to regulate the issuance of securities by corporations created by the states, or the conduct of fiduciary relations of their officers, but has left those matters to the states respectively."

GERMAN FACTORY METHODS.
Commercial Agent P. G. Bolles in Consular Reports: There is a general tendency throughout Germany to discourage the use of beer by factory employees during working hours, a custom which has been quite general for many years. Many of the factories now absolutely prohibit the drinking of beer in the factory and provide a wash basin for the workers with a very nominal sum.

As an example of how this is handled may be cited the method used at the works of Ludwig Loewe & Co. of Berlin, where 3,000 men are employed. Two pounds of beer (two liters) are dissolved in 20 liters (21.4 quarts) of water, 4 pounds of sugar (4.28 quarts) are dissolved in 18 liters (19 quarts) of water; these two concoctions are then mixed together and 65 quarts of water added, making a total of 100 liters (105.2 quarts). The tea is then put into 100-liter (1 pint) bottles and sold to the men for 3 pfennigs (about three-fourths of a cent) per bottle. This practice has practically eliminated the desire for beer, and it is estimated that the saving to the men in ten years will be about 60,000 marks ($152,320).

As may be seen, the distribution being made by trucks hauled about by boys. Coupon tickets are issued which are accepted in payment. A dining room is provided for the men where good lunch may be had for 60 pfennigs (14½ cents). Lunch is served from 11:45 to 1:15, a one-hour day being observed in all departments. Steel lockers and white enamel troughs for washing are a part of the factory equipment.

Boys are apprenticed for four years. The first six months being without pay. During the apprenticeship period the boys are taught arithmetic, drawing and geometry.

Various amusements are provided, such as football, tennis, and excursion parties to the country, which take place on Sundays. The cost is shared equally by the firm and the employees.

At the plant of the Heidelberg-Linien Cement works a huge swimming tank, inclosed in a fine pavilion, had been provided for the use of the employees. This concern has also a fine hall with stage and dancing floor where weekly entertainments are indulged in. A kindergarten has been provided for the younger children. A brass band of about 25 pieces and sing-songs provide good music when occasion demands.

These features may be found at nearly all of the larger establishments, and it is not unusual to find the entire working force housed in the same dwelling furnished at very nominal rents by the owners of the works. Annual prizes are offered by the companies for the neatest kept house and garden, and employees are advised and suggested as to how to furnish their homes comfortably and cheaply.

NO AFFIDAVITS WITH THIS STORY.
From Elizabeth Goldsmith's "The Story of a Day." Someone, so the yarn goes, to illustrate the intelligence of the collie, tells of one who possessed with the desire to take his naps on a bed in a certain room. Each time he attempted to do so, he found that the collie could catch him, and that he could not sleep, but sleeping innocently in some corner on the floor. Suspecting him, his master placed his hand on the bed one day and finding it warm he pushed the collie again, following day another day, and so it went, until one day he found the collie standing with his forepaws on the bed blowing on the spot where he had been lying to cool it off.

ALL ABOUT PRUNES.
Leslie's: The prune in its fresh state is a beautiful bluish plum, either lusciously sweet or tartly sweet, according to the variety. The very sweet are the French and the tart the Italian and German. While any variety is having the requisite amount of sugar and solids will make a prune the great mass of production is confined to the varieties above named. California is the home of the prune in America, although large quantities are now produced in Oregon and Washington. But it is the climate of California, with its dry, rainless summers, warm days and cool nights, that make it ideal both for producing and drying.

The first large prune orchard in California was planted in 1870 and today the state crop is gathered from thousands of orchards representing nearly 5,000,000 trees in the aggregate, and the products in California alone have reached the enormous figure of 200,000,000 pounds, to produce a crop of 900,000 pounds of the fresh fruit must be gathered and dried, for it takes about two and a half pounds of fresh fruit to produce one pound of the dried or "cured" product.

THE GERMAN HOUSEWIFE.
Indianapolis News: "The German housewife is not much given to troubling her head about the high cost of living and its causes. Rather, she writes a friend in the Vaterland, 'she makes her expenses as low as possible, her income! The less money she has the less she spends, and she smiles on placidly just the same.'"

But whether her income be large or small the good German housewife has certain fixed rules which are quite well worth quoting.

"Pay cash for everything."

"Do your own buying and marketing."

"Be careful in your selection of food."

"Study out at the beginning of the week just how much you can spend that week."

"Manage your own household; leave nothing to the servants."

"Figure out a system of utilizing all materials, even the left-overs from a meal can be made into something the next day."

"Do not regard this system of economy as a burden, but as a pleasure and the duty of a wife to her husband."

SILENCER FOR THE TYPEWRITER.
Popular Mechanics: The noise making of the typewriter will soon be no more than a disagreeable memory. If the typewriter silencer which a Cleveland man has just invented proves a success. It does not make the typewriter absolutely silent, but it reduces the sharp click to a soft, dull thud which is not so annoying to the nerves. The noise is so much reduced that an operator can receive dictation given in a natural tone of voice while the machine is running. The silencer consists of a core for the platen which eliminates the greater part of the noise made by the type striking the paper.

SWIMMING CHICKENS.
New York Sun: Christopher Helt, whose farm is in Redding township, adjoining Sand Creek, Jackson county, Ind., has a number of chickens that take their daily plunge in the stream and seem to enjoy it.

The swimming habit has become so common with some of the chickens that they seem to prefer to stay in the water to staying on the land during the hot hours of the day. Mr. Helt believes the birds have acquired the habit because of their proximity to the stream.
